

Social Circles

The bride's gown was of white mousseline de soie, and she carried bride roses. Fred Lyckell was best man.

This evening a reception will be given at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. F. Ryan, 2304 Fourth street N., when Mr. and Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Jane Gilligan of Anoka, mother of the bride, will receive with Mr. and Mrs. Hutton. The refreshments will be arranged with formal effecting the deep red of American Beauty roses. Pink carnations arranged with smilax will be the centerpiece in the diningroom.

During the evening a number of piano solos will be given by Mr. Peir. After Aug. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Hutton will be at home at 2304 Fourth street N.

The wedding of Miss Floy Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. E. Gilbert, and Dr. Hubert T. Sherman of Becker, Minn., formerly of Minneapolis, is announced to take place Monday, Aug. 15, at Fair Oaks, Anoka.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Miss Edith Scott and Miss Grace Golden are in St. Louis.

Miss Bertha Deetz is visiting friends in the White mountains.

Miss Mildred Bliss of Hartford, Conn., is visiting Miss Lillian Swanson.

Miss Mabel Jeffrey is spending the month of July at Banff, in the Canadian Rockies.

Miss Lillie Harris returned Saturday from a tour of the deep red of American Beauty roses. The reception hall was decked with daisies, while in the library the color note was given by the dark red sweet peas. Clusters of buttercups and small white flowers were on each small table in the diningroom. The bride's place was marked with a bunch of white daisies, tied with white ribbons. The reception was pretty conceits in the shape of wedding bells.

The guest of honor was presented with a mystery basket, in which were parcels accompanied by quotations, and each guest was given a remembrance gift. The eighteen reminiscences, which were told while seated about the fire, were greatly enjoyed by the two young guests.

The marriage of Miss Lillian M. Gilligan and Bert C. Tatton was solemnized this morning at 2:30 o'clock in the Church of the Ascension, when Father Harrington read the service. The bride party appeared as Professor Beck sounded the wedding march. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Frances Gilligan, who wore a gown of gray voile over lavender silk, and carried pink roses and smilax.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

One of the greatest American millionaires once said to his physician, "A million dollars, Doctor, for a new stomach," and then the sick man groaned and turned away. One of a man's greatest pleasures is that of a keen appetite, vigorous digestion and a good dinner, and this belongs to many a good fellow who is living on small wages, but the rich man without a stomach has to forego the good things of the table because his stomach rebels. Without a healthy stomach and a good digestion, our blood is thin, watery and poor, our heart action is weak, our liver does not do its duty, and man is miserable and unhappy. In this condition man is prey to the germs of influenza, consumption, malaria and all the ills that he is heir to. Consumption can be treated by natural methods which are as close to nature as possible.

Dr. F. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., years ago understood this disease, and after a long period of experiment discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them up in a form that would be easily procured and ready to use. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It gives no false stimulation because it contains no alcohol and no narcotic. It helps digestion and the assimilation of such elements in the food as are required for the blood. Instead of a cod liver oil, against which the already sensitive stomach will declare open rebellion, this tonic exerts a purifying action upon the sensitive stomach and gives to the blood the food elements the tissues require. It maintains the patient's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and in this way fever, night sweats, headaches, and all the "away with it" fortifies the body against the germs of consumption, grip and malaria, and it builds up the tissues and puts on healthy flesh.

When the druggist says he has something that is "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, he says so because he hopes to make a better profit, but his own mistake have not stood the test of long experience nor had the success that Dr. Pierce's medicines have had.

TEACH THE CHILDREN

A delicious dentifrice makes the tooth-brush lesson easy. SOZODONT is a fragrant liquid cleanser, penetrating the little crevices of the teeth it purifies them.

SOZODONT TOOTH POWDER

polishes the delicate enamel, but does not scratch, thus it prevents the accumulation of tartar, without injuring the enamel, a property found only in SOZODONT.

3 FORMS: LIQUID, POWDER, PASTE.

MELLIN'S FOOD

All goes well when the baby is well. Keep the baby well by giving him Mellin's Food, it will nourish him, make him grow strong and keep him happy. We are sure of it; try it. Ask the mothers of Mellin's Food children. Send for our free book about Mellin's Food.

MELLIN'S FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

POMPEIAN MASSAGE CREAM

The latest fashionable aid to the toilet. Unlike any other. Contains no grease, does not clog pores and glycerine, nothing harmful. Produces smooth, soft skin and charming complexion. Removes the blackheads and all impurities from the pores.

Ladies from all parts of the country praise Pompeian Massage Cream for developing the bust.

Price 50c, or $1 a Jar.

Rubber Compulsion Soap, price 50c. May be used to advantage with the cream. For sale by druggists, all dealers in toilet articles.

E. H. Weinhold, 6th and Nicollet and West Hotel.

A. D. Thompson Drug Co., 1st Ave. So. and 3d St., Nicollet and 4th St.

W. H. Hegener, 207 Nicollet Ave.

Western Barber Supply Co., 218 Nicollet Ave.

LAKE MINNETONKA

The members of the Minnetonka club are discussing the problem of rebuilding. Tennis work is coming and has brought the desire for a permanent clubhouse home once more to the minds of those who are interested in the progress of the club. The island on which the beautiful club home stood has now been cleared, and the ruins which affected the looks of the pretty bay have been removed. Wetmore is believed to concede one of the best spots for rebuilding by some of the club members, while again there are those who would prefer the spacious grounds of the former Hotel de Ville. The points are beautiful in location, and everybody is curiously awaiting a decision either in favor of an island or an inland home.

Last week many of the club members and their friends came out to the lake, and over Sunday there was a full house. Saturday evening a party was well attended, and the good music and the dancing made the evening a delightful one for the younger people. Mrs. J. A. Campbell and Miss Corinne Campbell of Chicago, who went east for a week, have returned to the club. Mr. and Mrs. Matt Farmer of Minneapolis, Miss Patrick of Urbana, Ohio, were guests at the Sunday party. Mr. J. Thompson of Chicago, Harrison E. Fryberger, Mr. and Mrs. L. Metzger and Miss Stella Metzger and M. Adelsheim of Minneapolis were also among the Sunday guests.

An automobile party made the trip to the lake and remained at the Minnetonka club for the day, including W. E. Roberts, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. A. Ferguson, Duluth; D. B. Smith, Jr., F. A. Stewart, George N. Space, St. Paul; A. L. Warner, C. A. Dickinson, Minneapolis, and S. C. Galley, Chicago.

Mrs. J. T. Smith, Minneapolis, Mrs. E. Hasen, Duluth; Harry McCarthy and Lindsay Smith of Minneapolis made a tour of the lake with the Minnetonka clubhouse as the goal.

Mrs. Rollin E. Smith and Mrs. Dalrymple spent Saturday at the club. Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Peterson and Miss S. R. Peterson of St. Louis are at the club. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stevens and Eugene Stevens, Jr., have been visiting at the club. James A. McLeod of St. Paul, Charles Gale of Minneapolis were out for over Sunday. Guests during the latter part of the week were Frank A. Gowlin, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wakefield, H. A. Gray of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blackmar of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gray of Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bennett of Tonka Bay gave a party over lake luncheon Saturday, their guests being Miss Van Buren formerly of Owatonna, who is teaching at the university summer school, and a group of out-of-town guests, who are visiting Miss Van Buren. Mr. and Mrs. Carl K. Jensen of St. Paul have arrived at the cottage to spend two weeks.

A lawn fete will be given by the ladies of the Excelsior Congregational church tomorrow afternoon and evening. Fancy-work and candy tables, refreshment booths and a fish pond for the children are among the attractive features which the women have planned for the fete. A Japanese booth and a talent table will be a novel addition to the many pretty features.

The Apollo club members came out on the 5 o'clock train Saturday for an outing, and after being served a sumptuous dinner at the Hotel Johnson, proceeded down the shore, serenading W. M. Crose at his cottage. The Victor was chartered for a moonlight ride, and with song and music toured the shores of beautiful Lake Minnetonka. A stop was made at the Beach casino and the club serenaded the members of the Minnetonka Boat club, singing a number of its club songs. Before taking the train back to the city Mr. Heywood of the Excelsior casino and his guests were entertained at a musical program. Among the party were Messrs. Stuart, Barrow, Grosscup, McLean, Laird, Eustis, Walker, Brown, Thompson, Roberts, Brimmer, Woods, Euteneier, Jones, Bingham, Price, Norman, Keeler, Brown, Goddard, Elliott, Simmons, London and Hal Woodruff, director of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Lyman entertained at a supper dance Saturday evening at their summer home at Linwood for their younger daughter. Sixteen of the younger set had been invited. Supper was served on the piazza, which was handsomely decorated with maidenhair ferns and cactus plants. After supper the music steamed to the dock to take the party to the Minnetonka clubhouse at Deephaven for the dance.

Mrs. Henry J. Bauman of Tonka Bay entertained the Matinee club yesterday at her home, Sunset cottage, Tonka Bay. Forty guests came out in the morning, and the luncheon was served on the spacious veranda around the cottage.

Whirlja, the London boat, capsized off Fairview yesterday afternoon, carrying a heavy load. Hugh Loudon was sailing the boat as a fierce squall struck her. She turned turtle, but none of her occupants suffered by the accident, the exception of a knee-length wetting.

Manager C. H. Godfree of Hotel Tonka Bay had the "fullhouse" sign out for Saturday night, which has been the most of visitors at the hotel was the largest of the summer. All day Sunday automobile parties came to the hotel, and the grill-room spaces were filled with guests. The full capacity. In the evening the orchestra of the hotel gave a veranda musicale for the pleasure of the guests. One of the pleasures of the evening was the music for the week will be a large dance on the Priscilla. Miss Mary Louise Foster will entertain quite a large gathering from the city for the hotel on Saturday night. She will invite their particular friends. A trip by moonlight will be made into the upper lake, and the full orchestra will play for the dance. The hotel will also give a lawn fete, with a gypsy tent, fortune-telling, and there was a platform on the lawn for dancing. The hats which the young women wore at the party were before were raffled off, and there was great fun. Friday night of this week Miss Foster will give pictures from "Life," in which the guests have been placed. Wednesday night the guests had a marsh-mallow roast on the beach, as a farewell to the summer. The party was given in the parlors, and the prizes, pretty lake souvenirs, were won by Mrs. J. J. Adler of Parsons, Kan.; Mrs. Peterson of Iowa, Mr. Adler and Miss Rochette.

Among the many over Saturday and Sunday parties at the hotel were: Miss Florence G. Van Woermer, San Francisco; Mrs. James McKoy, Miss Foye of Cleveland and Mrs. James Calder, Minneapolis; Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Clark, Mrs. B. H. Fuller, Minneapolis; Mrs. E. Peterson, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. W. Ensign, Miss Julia Lamb and Mrs. E. M. Agnew, St. Paul; W. F. Schwyzer, Zurich, Switzerland; Mr. and Mrs. Will Alexander of Chicago; Mrs. Gillespie and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks, Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McGee, Chicago; Miss E. Slenkard, St. Louis, and Miss Myrn Stoddard, Minneapolis.

S. N. Dietenhofer of St. Paul entertained a party of six at the grillroom, making for the trip to the lake in his automobile. In another automobile party were Mr. and Mrs. S. Harper and a party of five from Minneapolis. They dined in the grillroom. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gibson of Anoka are entertaining guests from Chicago and had a luncheon in the grillroom.

Other guests over Sunday at the hotel were: H. D. Pimpton, J. E. Pimpton, Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Kahn, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Shaw, Omaha; W. M. Sherwin, J. W. Candary, New York; T. Tyerson, Chicago; Mrs. A. C. Durny, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bunn, and Mrs. W. M. Johnson, H. B. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hammond and Trading Stamp Week.

With every purchase throughout the store this week, we will give Trading Stamps on cash, charge, contract, or C. O. D. accounts.

We want to reduce our stock before August 1st, therefore this "Grand Offer."

Now is the time to fill your books, or start one. We are informed by the Green Trading Stamp Company, that their stock of Prizes are larger and greater in variety, than any time, since opening their store in this city.

We have placed bargains too numerous to mention, in all our departments.

We will make the most liberal terms to those wishing to furnish a home or an office.

ROUTELL BROS.

The Store That Saves You Money.

First Ave. S. and Fifth Street.

WHAT WOMEN WANT TO KNOW

By Marion Alcott Prentice.

For Inflamed Eyes.—Am quite sure there is nothing serious the matter with my eyes, but they are so weak and inflamed that they are very annoying. Do you recommend smoked glasses for weak eyes?—Viola.

Eyes which have become weak and inflamed from overexposure to the glare of sunlight, whether by land or sea, should be protected by colored glasses, and all treatment of eye soothing nature should be discontinued. Glasses of a delicate gray are most restful; the very dark glasses, while more protective, are apt to strain the sight if an effect is made to see any object clearly; hence, this benefit is doubtful unless dense shade is imperative. When the glasses are not worn be careful to carry a parasol of the most restful shade; white and red parasols are simply ruinous to the sight and should not be used. If the eyes itch and feel irritated do not yield to the temptation of rubbing them, for the unnatural motion and the atoms of dust on the fingertips will increase the inflammation to a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled water, or falling this, use two parts of witchhazel to one part of water. Use a medicine dropper to put the solution directly into the eye, hold the head backward, drop in the solution and wink the lids several times to force the remedy under a marked degree. Almost instant relief is felt by bathing the eyes with cold water in which has been dissolved just enough fine table salt to give the saltiness of tears. If the pain is great, hold a cloth saturated with cold water on the eyes for a half-hour or longer, keeping it cool by redipping occasionally. Bathe the eyes occasionally with a solution of boric acid, ten grains to one ounce of distilled