WHAT WOMEN WANT TO KNOW

By Marlon Alcott Prentice. Washing White Silk Waists—Is there any way to wash a white silk waist and keep it from getting yellow? J. B. L. I know of no reliable method whereby a waist of white silk may be washed and yet retain a perfectly pure white color without injury to the silk. Either a pure white or cream white silk can be washed so it will be beautiful as when new, with only a slight tint of cream resulting which, from an artistic standpoint, adds rather than detracts. Proceed in the following manner: Put the waist in a tub or basin, with the result. Shave one-fourth of an ordinary bar of white laundry soap in a quart of hot water, dissolve and strain through a cheese-cloth bag into a tub one-half filled with lukewarm water. I cmphasize strain as any particle of undissolved soap lodged on the silk would cause a shiny yellow spot when the garment was ironed. Plunge the waist in the suds and gently squeeze all parts until saturated, let soak for ten or fifteen minutes, repeat the squeezing process, rubbing only when absolutely necessary; then rinse quickly in two clear lukewarm waters. Put plenty of clear, cold water in a tub, dissolve a little bluing in a quart of water and strain enough of the fluid thru the muslin to slightly tint the water. Very little bluing will be used or the silk will look blue and grimy. Always test the water by dipping into it a small piece of clean muslin and see if it will dry quickly; while still damp, but not wet, iron it on the wrong side, using as cool an iron as will suffice to remove wrinkles. Hot or very warm water or irons, coarse soap and much soaking or rubbing will ruin the texture and color of white silk waists.

QUESTION FOR TOMORROW

Modish Suit for Cool Days—I want to make a white shirtwaist suit of mo-hair and you suggest some pretty color? Should I combine it with some color in the way of trimming? I am a brunette, medium in height, rather slender and 26 years old? Mrs. LeV.

LINDEN HILLS PROTESTS

RESIDENTS DISAPPROVE IDEA OF PUBLIC DANCES AT HARRIET PAVILION.

The talk of possible public dances at the Lake Harriet pavilion does not seem to strike the residents of Linden Hills favorably. The Journal's report yesterday stirred up considerable commotion. In an interview, H. C. Chapin, president of the Linden Hills Improvement association, said: "The idea of having public dances in the pavilion would be strenuously opposed by our citizens, and I should say, by citizens generally. It has been the custom of Miss Shattuck for several winters to give dancing lessons in the Young Folks' hall at Linden Hills. There is no hall suitable for this purpose and it has been suggested that the coming winter the dining-room in the pavilion might be used for this purpose. "The petition to the board was the result and was signed by a good many residents. I understand. Had they any idea that this would ever lead to the use of the pavilion for public dances, probably not one of these signatures could have been secured. "Miss Shattuck is known to the Linden Hills people as an estimable young lady and competent dancing teacher, and there would appear to be no special objection to her having her neighborhood class meet at the pavilion once a week during the winter months. It is likely there would be other dancing classes, as lectures and concerts, that could be accommodated at the pavilion in the winter time, and bring considerable revenue, without doing any harm to anybody or anything. But public dances, at any time of the year, would be a very different proposition."
