10 Social Circles

The marriage of Miss Roberta Pratt and Cassius M. Locke took place last evening at the home of the bride's father, Robert Pratt, on Bryant avenue N. About seventy-five relatives and near friends gathered in the flower-decked rooms to witness the service, which was read by Rev. W. H. Locke of Chicago, a brother of the bridegroom. The service was read in the livingroom, which was hung with asparagus vines, and palms were placed about the wide bow window. White marguerites and pink asters were the only flowers used with the green and a great basket of the marguerites was effectively arranged at one side of the green tangle. In the diningroom pink asters and sweet peas gave touches of dainty color on the table and sideboard. The bride was unattended and entered alone. She wore embroidered Brussels net over batiste and lace slip and carried bride roses.

The service was followed by an informal reception and a group of young women—the Misses Jane Snyders, Julie Kriedel, Sarah Pratt, Mildred Case, Frances Skinner, Ella Brown, Helen, Cora and Alice Pratt—aided thru the rooms and alternated in the diningroom and in serving refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt went east for their trip and they will be at home at 1603 Bryant avenue S after Oct. 1.

Among the weddings of last evening that of Miss Ida Howard and Harry Sargent of Osakis, Minn., which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Howard, on Madison street NE. Palms and vines, the glossy green of leaves and tendrils, relieved with the brightness of golden-glow, made a pretty setting for the bride and groom. The bride wore a white gown and a great cluster of the white and purple flowers adorned the table, while garlands of sunnys fell from the chandelier. Miss Beatrice O'Brien sang a nuptial song just before Miss Mae Cooke sounded the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus. Miss Anna Howard was the sister of honor and the only flower pink muselinge de sole and carried pink sweet peas. The bride was in white crepe de chine elaborately embroidered and her bouquet was of bride roses. Bert Langbehn of Osakis was best man and the service was read by Rev. W. J. Gray of St. Paul, while Miss Cooke softly played an accompaniment. At the informal reception which followed, the Misses Elizabeth Stanley, Emma Heffner and June Johnson, classmates of the bride at St. Cloud normal school, presided in the diningroom.

Mr. Sargent and his bride left for Spokane to visit relatives and they will be at home in Osakis, Minn., after Nov. 15. Mrs. Sargent's traveling canopy was of blue cloth and her hat was of tulle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Casselman have issued the invitations for the marriage of their daughter Evelyn to Harvey O. Talbot, which will take place Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, at 8 o'clock at their home, 725 Twenty-seventh street. Saturday afternoon Mrs. E. Webster will give a parcel show for the bride at her home, 1776 Dupont avenue S.

Lambda Sigma fraternity closed its national convention last evening with a banquet at the West Hotel. Paul A. Brodman of Minneapolis was toastmaster and covers were placed for ninety delegates, representing eighteen chapters.

About twenty young ladies were entertained last evening by the Misses Beckel at their home on Girard avenue N, in honor of Miss Nettie Hunter, whose marriage to John A. Leach will take place Wednesday. The parlors were gay with asparagus ferns and garden flowers, while the bride's chair was decorated with pink roses and white ribbons. Each guest was given a paper heart on which to write an original poem and after the verses were read, they were tied to ribbons and presented to the bride. Miss Langbehn gave several pleasing recitations after which a game was played to determine which guest would be the next bride. Kitchen utensils of all kinds were carried to the bride in a wheelbarrow, and after the contents of each package was duly commented on, light refreshments were served.

Miss Blanche Allison of Park avenue entertained at dinner last evening for Miss Root of Menominee, Mich., and Mrs. W. A. Kruse of Des Moines, Iowa. Covers were laid for eight and the table decorations were all in pink.

The Misses Isabel and Kate Kane gave a very pretty luncheon Tuesday at their home on Oakland avenue, for their cousin, Miss Alice Phyllis Kane, who is soon to wed Louis Thompson. The chosen color was pink, and a mound of La France rose formed the

UNION OF FIFTY YEARS
WILL BE CELEBRATED
Reception Planned for Mr. and Mrs. William I. Lewis, Pioneers of Wright County,
on Sept. 10.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM I. LEWIS OF DELANO, MINN.

Special to The Journal. Delano, Minn., Sept. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. William I. Lewis will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Sept. 10.

Mr. Lewis was born in Springfield, Mo., Jan. 25, 1852, and his wife, whose maiden name was Susantha L. Walters, was born in the town of June 2, 1858. They went to school together and on Sept. 10, 1854, were married and continued to reside in Springfield until 1857, when they came to this place and settled on a home- stead, which almost joins the corporate limits of Delano.

They resided there until a few years ago, when they purchased a home in the village and retired from farm work. They have only two children living, Mrs. John Borrell, who resides with them, and Mrs. Ed Wood, who lives on the home- stead. One son was born, but died many years ago. Mr. Lewis is a veteran of the civil war. On the 10th they will be given a reception by friends.

Albert Foster, candidate for the nomination as congressman of the sixth district, will speak here on Friday evening. The chances seem to favor Buckman so far as Wright county is concerned.

WHAT WOMEN WANT TO KNOW
Renovating the Wardrobe.—How can a woman keep her gowns so she will have something fresh at the end of the summer? Everything I have is so faded and limp and I do like to be crisp and fresh.—M. N. B.

By Marion Alcott Prentice.

The clever woman knows it is useless to attempt to wear a faded hat, which was prepared early, the entire summer and still look presentable at the close of the season to avoid looking conspicuously poor she manages in this manner. At least one handsome thin gown is kept in reserve or a new one is made up during this month, when pretty fabrics are being sold at such low prices. If the goods are wisely selected and the garment well made it will do for all informal affairs at home during the winter. Batiste, nets, or fine muslins are always safe to choose. It is false economy to wear a faded hat; nothing looks quite so forlorn on a warm day as faded, dust-stained finery; less should be panted on gowns if they are to be smart, fresh hat and veil are imperative. Shoes and gloves can always be kept in perfect style and condition regardless of the season. For little journeys into town from the country or for a day's jaunt to the seashore, a hat and gloves are a necessity of linen or mohair is ideal worn with a dainty shirt waist of white. Elaborate silk waists should be sent to the professional cleaner and worn places concealed by fresh trimmings. Cotton waist and gowns which show breaks in the lace or embroidery should be carefully mended before laundering. Discolored ruffled neckings, faded ribbons and the like and replace them with new. Remnants can now be bought for small sums, and they are just the thing for late summer renovating. Just a word about the purchase of new ribbons. The ribbons of a softer shade than that originally used on the garment so that the harmony may be better in case the waist or gown has faded some, as it probably has; to be more exacting in the choice of ribbons, a garment not a new piece of the fabric. For the sultry heat of late August and early September, nothing is quite so comfortable as waists with round or square Dutch neck and elbow sleeves for the house and simple evening gowns. This suggests a clever way to renovate waists which are not quite up to the mark. Buy a new waist and neck, by simply cutting out the neck and shortening the sleeves. Up-to-date belts and girdles are important, and it is pre-arranged that buttons and hooks are kept in order at all times.

Missionary society of Ladies Aid and Congregational church, Mrs. Simmons, 2620 West Forty-fourth street, 3 p.m.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS—Mrs. E. Palmer W. C. T. U. will take up the report of the year, and an interesting series of addresses will be given at the meeting Tuesday. Franchise will be discussed at the next meeting, and a good program has been arranged.

The Oak Hill Social and Literary club will hold its opening meeting in the parlors of the Western Avenue M. E. church tomorrow evening. Miss Harwell, who has recently returned from her missionary work in China, will speak tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of the Missionary society of the Congregational church, at the home of Mrs. Simmons, 2620 West Forty-fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore issued invitations yesterday for the marriage of their daughter Florence and Dr. Harry B. Child, which will take place Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 14, at 5 o'clock, at their home, 908 Seventh street S. Only the family and a few near friends will witness the service.

Saturday afternoon Miss Pansy King will entertain for Miss Moore at her home, 3108 Stevens avenue.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL
Dr. Mark B. Smith is home from a trip to the coast.

Miss Katherine Gibbs is home from Prior Lake, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Currier and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bardwell are home from Boston.

Miss E. L. Trevelick has returned from her trip to California.

Miss Mae Kilbourne left last evening to attend the funeral of her uncle, William Schaus, at Greenville, Ohio.

Mrs. J. P. Moore, 1000 Mount Curve avenue, returned Tuesday from a two months' trip to Spokane and Seattle.

Mrs. C. G. Borsen is entertaining a house party of young people from her former home, Delano, during their visit.

The Mothers' club of Unity house will give a ice cream social Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 10, at Washington avenue N.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Wallace and little son of London, England, sailed today for America via the route of the Wellcome of Dr. Williams.

Miss Alice Tomkin had a pleasant surprise arranged by Misses Florence German and Tomkin Tuesday evening. A musical program was given by Misses Sara J. Walstein, Dea Cawfield, Minnie German and Tomkin. Garden flowers gave a festive air to the rooms.

Miss L. Christianson who has charge of the Donaldson's dressmaking department, sailed for the United States last Saturday.

SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES

The September Housekeeper comes in the autumnal colors, red and yellow, and it contains a feast of good things. The stories are all interesting and include "The Rainbow Queen," by Robert Roscom; "The New Parlor Maid," David Merrill; "Soligried's Child," Thorndike Colton. The article on "Artistic Homes at Low Cost," is practical and helpful, and is supplemented in the regular department matter. Constance D'Arcy Mackay writes of children's theaters and child actors and M. E. Dudley tells of a jolly vacation outing in a house on wheels. There are two pages of pictures of September scenes in the United States. The department on "Hints for the care of the sick" hints for the housewife. Peter Push Plane's new things for boys, hints for home dressmakers, ideas for fancywork gifts for baby, suggestions in regard to the serving of the autumn fruits, and the children's page has many pleasing features.

The evolution of the country porch from the old-time doorstep to the present ample room is told in picture and text in the September House Beautiful, by Walter E. Andrews. The department gives some amusing experiences hunting antiques in England and the story is illustrated by pictures of several once-famous homes which are now in ruins. There are hand shops. There are few matters connected with the home which are not touched on in some one of the numerous attractive features of the magazine.

Countess Karolewitz writes of some famous women spies in the September number of Madame and shows the important part that they are playing in the war between Russia and Japan. Russia has representatives everywhere, bright, clever women, who exist on the excitement to those of others equally well trained in European diplomacy. Another feature which has a timely interest is on Korea and is by Clarence W. Hess.

Only $2.90 to California. Via the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad. Tickets not sale Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Through tourist cars without change. Call on J. G. Rickel, C. T. A., 424 Nicollet.

GAY FALL HATS

Brilliant Colors Favored by the National Milliners.

New York Sun Special Service.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—How would you like to wear burnt orange if your complexion is just your own? Or gaslight blue if your eyes are green?

You must wear either one or the other in your hat this fall, according to the verdict of the National Milliners' association, which opened its fourth semi-annual convention in the Fine Arts building last night.

Mrs. Hunt, president of the association, is displaying some of the new styles, which are so elaborate that the average woman begins to wonder in what department of her housekeeping she can retrench in order to pay for one.

A stylish French sailor with the same enormous crown as last season is of champagne felt, with bands of brown, burnt orange, green and white, while dozens of yards of narrow ribbons in these colors are made up into curly rosettes, which are topped by a generous bunch of white ostrich tips.

A "poke" ordered by a young girl in Florida is a one-sided brim with a bell crown of burnt orange panne velvet. The brim is made of white shirred silk, while velvet and feathers form the trimming. The pokes are much larger than those of last winter, and it takes a courageous woman to wear one.

Here are the only shades that are "the" thing, and if you do not have a hat of one of them you are not in the smartly millinered set: Terra cotta, burnt orange, wood brown, crushed raspberry, "Irish" green and rose.

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is. You know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

A GOWN OF RIBBONS

Novel Creation Shown the National Dressmakers' Association.

New York Sun Special Service.

New York, Sept. 1.—The newest gown is to be one of ribbons, and will cost at least $50. The National Dressmakers' association, now in session here, has so decreed it.

Mme. Baker, who demonstrated on the new creation, has this to say about the gown:

"No one can deny that it is most artistic and fetching. Ribbons of soft satin are plaited vertically, and six-inch bands circle about the skirt and are caught up in front in large fancy bows, showing beneath some fine lace. There is lace for the sleeves and a tinted lace bertha. Nothing enters into the gown of ribbons except the few bits of lace at the sleeves, bust and under the bows across the front. It is the large bows across the front that give the dress a distinct element of originality."
