Republican Candidate FOR City Comptroller

CHARLES A. NIMOCKS. The only candidate who has ever been engaged in any active business enterprise, who has ever been an employer of labor, who has ever examined and checked up the accounts in the City Controller's office, who is familiar with both the old and the new systems of accounting in this office, who has ever kept a system of accounts in this city, who has ever made a study of municipal government, city charters and taxation. The city of Minneapolis is the largest business enterprise in the northwest. The City Controller is the accountant, the financial officer and business manager of the city. Would any business man place a business involving such vast interests in charge of a man without experience? Every taxpayer and voter should consider this matter carefully before casting his vote at the Primary Election next Tuesday.

SEEKING HIS WIFE

Louis Hodge Asks Twin City Police to Find Her. Mrs. Louis Hodge of Winnipeg Junction, who deserted her husband and family a week ago, is thought to be in Minneapolis and Mr. Hodge is in the twin cities looking for her. A man named Aber, whose home is in Fargo, N. D., is also missing and at these two ran away and met once before, Mr. Hodge thinks they are together now. He has asked the police to help find his wife.

Saturday was a gala day at Kerr's, Seventh and Nicollet. The fall opening was the occasion and hundreds of women took advantage of the opportunity to see splendid millinery and fall suits, coats and skirts. An orchestra played during the afternoon and evening.

According to a dispatch received from Hazen, Nev., I. E. Howe, formerly of Minneapolis, was held up while waiting for a train at that place. He was set upon by four highwaymen and on his refusal to give up his money was severely beaten. When he lived in Minneapolis he was employed in the city engineer's office.

Announcement has been received at the postoffice that all papers sent by one firm to be delivered at one office must be tied up in a single bundle. The fact that many firms of this city were using mailing machines, which wrap and address each piece separately, was reported to the postoffice authorities at Washington. Special cards will be sent to such firms by the Minneapolis postoffice stating the order received.

Two new examinations are offered by the civil service commission to be held on Oct. 12. GERMAN TURNERS MEET

Quarterly Reunion of Minnesota Ver-eins Held at St. Paul. Five ver-eins were represented at the quarterly reunion of the German turners at Fort Snelling, Minn., at St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20. The ver-eins were: Germania, N. D., New Ulm, Minneapolis, St. Paul and West St. Paul. The afternoon was devoted to drills and athletic exhibitions. The evening was spent in dancing and merrymaking.

The most attractive number of the afternoon was the exhibition drill by the young women's class from New Ulm under the direction of Herman Hein. The class was composed of Misses Ida Patry, Anna Kobusch, Ella Stoll, Emily Engel, Myrtle Engel, Helena Engel, Lulu Huse, Helga Bolstad, Loida Beaumann, Aurora Neumann, Lotie Miller, Irma Krause, Laura Krause, Elsie Koch, Maud Hagberg and Selma Kiesling.

The boys' classes from New Ulm also attracted attention. The men, some fifty in number, gave a less drill on the buck, horse, ring, horizontal and parallel bars, the finale being general turning and the amusing game of "ruecken schengen." The program was directed by Professor C. O. Gysel, physical director for the St. Paul ver-ein, and his predecessor, C. J. Herrmann.

The Minnehaha club, organized in Minneapolis for promoting "athletic games and sports," has had articles filed for incorporation. Harry Frank is president of the organization; Nicholas Hoebe vice president, and Fred La Page, secretary and treasurer.

BAKE'S BODY FOUND

A Little White Coffin Evidently Dug up by Dogs. The skeleton of a 4-months-old child was found in the woods near Snail lake, nine miles north of St. Paul, yesterday afternoon. Near the remains was found a small white coffin. None of the neighbors knows anything of the identity of the remains. They were removed to St. Paul and will be interred in the potters' field. Indications are that the child died a natural death and was buried in an out-of-the-way place to avoid notoriety or expense. The casket appears to have been dug up by dogs.

OLD MAPLE HILL IS A BIG PUZZLE

DISPOSITION OF ABANDONED CEMETERY STILL A PROBLEM. Residents of the Vicinity Want Something Done, as the Tract is Unsanitary and Has Become the Gathering Place for Disorderly Characters—Some Bodies Still There.

The question of what to do with the Maple Hill cemetery has been puzzling the residents in the immediate neighborhood and has been a problem to the city and the original owners, the Cummings family, for many years. The tract has been abandoned for years as a burying ground and is now surrounded by a populous residence district. Not only is it far from sanitary, but the place has become the rendezvous for divers disorderly people.

Several bills have been proposed for making a good use of the grounds, any one of which would be welcomed by the city, but the property is so entangled that no definite steps have been attempted. The report was recently circulated that the entire property was going to revert to the Cummings estate. Mrs. Martha J. Cummings this morning stated that she had no knowledge of such a movement. The only way in which it could revert would be to have the bodies removed. The cemetery was the private property of the late R. W. Cummings, and deeds to the lots specified that they were to be used for burial purposes only. Many of the bodies have been moved to other burying grounds and many of the lots have never been paid for; but at present about half the tract is owned by him and it would take years for the property to revert in this way.

Another proposal is that the city take the grounds for a public park, and the tract be smoothed over. A large tract in the cemetery was devoted to a potters' field and there would be no difficulty in that direction, but it is anticipated that there would be some trouble with the owners of the other lots. If it was turned into a park the park board would have control and the objectionable visitors would be kept out.

The next suggestion, which has received considerable support, proposes that a sanatorium be erected on the property, but the site would be ideal for a sanatorium. It is high and wooded and would have at hand all city benefits, such as sewerage and water. Tenants could be erected and a central building with baths and kitchens. This plan would benefit those who object to having their friends so near some inaccessible spot such as the city poor farm, where there would not be good sanitary arrangements.

BIG FLOUR BUBBLE

Pillsbury-Washburn Company Will Use Monster Auto Truck. The largest truck automobile in America has just been finished by a New York firm for the Pillsbury-Washburn company of this city, and will be used to deliver flour in Minneapolis. The truck will do the work of at least three ordinary teams, and flour will be delivered to the grocers in much quicker time and in absolutely perfect condition. The truck is propelled by electricity, having a storage battery of forty-four cells. It is geared to run twenty to fifty miles per hour at a rate of six miles an hour at a loaded capacity of 10,000 pounds. It is approximately 20 feet long, 8 feet wide and 10 feet high. The wheels have 7-inch solid rubber tires. There is no skill required to operate this machine, as the controlling mechanism is so simple that a simple movement of a lever the operator can practically do anything with the car that he desires.

The truck is painted pure white, and is artistically decorated with appropriate advertising designs. The running gear is painted green. It is so constructed that the contents are protected from rain or snow.

MUCH TYPHOID FEVER

Reports of Many Cases Received by State Board. Reports to the state board of health show an unusually large amount of typhoid fever in the smaller cities of the state. While Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth have few cases, there are a number reported from St. Cloud, Mankato, Little Falls, Crookston, Brainerd, Moorhead, Albert Lea, Ellow Lake, Elmora and Eveleth.

Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the board, says the disease is called epidemic in any of these places, but the number of cases is alarmingly large, and furnishes a strong argument for improved water supply, subject which the board has taken in hand.

WARNS AUCTION CROWD

John Murphy Tries to Block Purchases and Is Put Out. John Murphy sought to warn prospective purchasers in a Washington avenue auction store. The auctioneers overheard him and, according to the story, two coppers put him out of the place. He has complained to the police, and asked for a warrant, holding that such stores are public places, and seeks redress.

POLICE EXPECT TROUBLE

Moneyless Men, Back from Harvest Fields, Are Closely Watched. Nearly two hundred laborers who have returned to Minneapolis from the wheat fields because there is no employment will, it is feared, make trouble for the police.

Superintendent Conroy said this morning that he had visited the lodgings to keep track of the men, and that most of them were practically penniless. There is not much work in the city, and a crusade of petty stealing becomes imminent.

Mr. Conroy noticed three men in one house who acted suspiciously and who in low tones seemed to be making some bargain. Yesterday these three men were arrested for highway robbery. In Conroy's opinion, there are many such characters in the last bunch of men that came to the city, and if their plans are sniped in the bud the police and courts will be saved a great deal of trouble.

PEDALING DOWN RIVER

St. Paul Men Leave for St. Louis on a Water Cycle. Two venturesome St. Paul citizens, gifted with giddy legs, are peddling down the turbid waters of the Mississippi, tippily seated on a water cycle of home construction. The travelers are Louis Sero and Clarence Mayer, and their destination is St. Louis. The machine is constructed principally from two bicycles, connected on a float.

The bridge and the water main bend gracefully to the pedals yesterday afternoon and glide grandly down the deep until the rounding of the first curve hid them from sight. They carry a chest full of clothing, ammunition and food, and expect to reach St. Louis within three weeks.

LOVE'S LIGHT GOES OUT

Despondent Wife Tries to Leap from Steel Arch Bridge. Clarence Lee and Samuel Gustum, 108 University avenue SE, reported to the police last night that while they were walking across the steel arch bridge they prevented a young married woman from committing suicide.

They affirm that they were but a few feet from her when she climbed over the railing. They hastened to her and with some difficulty she was taken off the bridge and returned to her husband who she said was the cause of her despondency. She refused to give her name, but simply said that her husband did not care for her and that she would end her own life yet.

TO STUDY MINNEAPOLIS

"U" Students Will Investigate the City. The students of the sociology department at the university, under the direction of Dr. S. G. Smith, will make an inquiry into every branch of this city's life. Dr. Smith has appointed the work among the students, and the facts obtained will be placed on the shelves of the university library.

PREPARE FOR A DEFICIT

SOLDIERS' HOME TRUSTEES WILL MAKE NO CHANGE ON ACCOUNT OF PENSION RULE. Rather than cause hardship by sending away inmates of the Minnesota soldiers' home, the trustees have decided to run at the same rate as before, and trust to the legislature next winter to make appropriations to care for the deficit caused by the new rule requiring pensions to be turned over to the inmates.

For the year ending June 30 this deficit will amount to about $11,000, as the last quarter of pension money was withheld just before the new order was made, and the home will lose a corresponding amount of federal aid. The legislature will not only have to make up this deficit, but grant an increased appropriation for the current year and those to come, unless the efficiency of the home is to be seriously impaired.
