A MEMORIAL THAT SERVES PURPOSE

PILLSBURY LIBRARY KEENLY APPRECIATED BY EASTSIDERS.

Hundreds of Books Are Issued Every Week While the Reading Room Has Been a Popular Feature Even Through the Summer—Children Enjoy Arrangements for Them.

From 800 to 800 books are taken out and exchanged at the Pillsbury public library on the east side every week. These are the records of the summer months, when scholars and literary lovers were closed, and it is safe to prophesy a steady increase in the weekly attendance. Readers of all ages frequent the building which contains treasures of wisdom and entertainment for old and young, and it is particularly interesting to note that the younger people are among them out studios readers. It is that little boys and girls come regularly each afternoon to exchange their books. The children's reading room is almost proving too small for use and there are days when the general reading room has to be partly used by the readers of juvenile age. That is one of the reasons why it is hoped that the extra room not yet furnished may soon be turned over for the younger people and be opened to them as the "Juvenile Reading Room."

Miss Caspara M. Bredesen, who is at present in charge of the library, finds the little people the most delightful visitors. Miss Bredesen has been for nine years distributing books at the North Side station, at the time the library had a branch at Vogel's, and she filled the place of Dr. Nelson at the East Side branch, after his resignation. She finds that the juvenile department is growing more and more in popularity and the boys and girls are so interested in their reading room that they take the best care of the books and straighten up nicely after their literary sessions. The funny papers make a decided impression on the young minds, and it takes several gilt-print signs "Quiet in this room" to suppress outbreaks of laughter by the boys and girls. The juvenile room is fitted up with kindergarten tables and chairs, while larger ones fill the other half. "The American Boy," "The Youth's Companion," and "S. Nicholas" are the magazines most enjoyed by the young readers. Just now there is evidently a run on books by Mendel and the "Mendel" constantly for "A Girl in Ten Thousand," "Polly," "A World of Girls," "Lillie and Drisdale" are also very popular authors at the present.

The grown-up people are showing their decided liking for Churchill's "The Crossing," preferring it to almost any other book. "The West's Mission of Life" is another of the popular books which is out continually. "The Russian Advance," by Beveridge attributes its popularity to the fact that it is a case-Bussian war, and its pages show that they are being turned continually. The library opens at 12:30, half an hour earlier than other branch libraries, and closes at 9 o'clock. Miss Bredesen has an assistant—Adolf Brosius—one hour each evening, and the two busiest Saturdays of the year. The library rooms are comfortably heated, well-ventilated and brilliantly lighted at all times of the day and evening. The handsome furniture of mahogany and fixtures of brass add to the surroundings.

roundings, and are greatly appreciated by the readers. Of late several fine literary works have been added to the bookshelves, already containing over 3,000 books in the English, French, German and Scandinavian languages. They are Stoddard's "Lectures," "The World's Best Essays" in ten volumes by David J. Brewer, and Charles Dudley Warner's "A Library of the World's Best Literature," in forty-five volumes. Daily papers from the local and out-of-town presses are also found in the general reading room. The lecture room is unusually well adapted for lectures and club meetings. It is handsomely furnished in oak, has a small platform, a dressing-room, and a seating capacity for over one hundred. The Pillsbury library is more appreciated day after day and their ending public on the East Side finds it a cause for great gratitude to the late Governor Pillsbury.

LOCAL POLITICS REGISTER OR LOSE VOTE

COUNTY COMMITTEES WILL BEND EVERY EFFORT TO GETTING OUT A FULL VOTE.

The republican county committee will make a great effort to bring out the vote election day. Polling lists are being gone over with care, and every republican not already registered is to be shown his duty. With this in view, the committee is preparing to bring to special attention of voters the fact that Oct. 24 and Oct. 29 are registration days, and those whose names are not now on the poll books must then register or lose their votes.

Democrats claim they will surprise the public with their vote. Republicans have been alleging that because of their light vote at the primaries, there would be few democrats in the general election. The democrats reply that at the primaries hundreds of democrats voted for certain republicans. Dr. A. A. Ames was one so favored. In so voting, they became classified as republicans. At the general election, it is declared, they will vote the straight democratic ticket.

RESTING BEFORE CAMPAIGN

D. P. Jones Seeks Quiet at the St. Louis Exposition. D. P. Jones, republican nominee for mayor, has gone to St. Louis for a few days' rest from politics. Mrs. Jones accompanied him. He will return early next week and will at once begin active work. A. M. Geesaman, who has undertaken to represent Mr. Jones in his campaign for election, as he did in the campaign for the nomination, has already reopened the Jones campaign committees on the second floor of the National Bank of Commerce building. W. Hofflinger, chairman of the old committee, and a neighbor and warm personal friend of Mr. Jones, will be again associated with Mr. Geesaman.

DEMOCRACY WILL DEMONSTRATE

Three Big Rallies Are Planned for This Evening. Democracy will let loose Friday evening with three big rallies. One will be in the fifth ward, at 620 Seventh street; a second in the fourth ward, at 69 Western avenue, and a third in the seventh ward at the seventh ward democratic wigwam. The speakers will include M. C. Brady, candidate for county attorney; C. H. Hayes, asking re-election as mayor; C. A. Proctor, candidate for county auditor; F. N. Stacy, nominee for city controller; J. K. Gilmore and J. H. Adams, would-be legislators; Peter Nelson and George W. Benz, nominees for county commissioner; Louis Engvall and W. J. Rohr, candidates for aldermen in the seventh and fifth wards.

WORKING FOR THE WARD

Swedish-American Political Club Is a Non-Partisan Organization. The Swedish-American Political club has been organized in the thirteenth ward. The club is non-partisan and will stand for those things which are of most benefit to the ward, regardless of party lines. Such candidates will be endorsed by the club for election as are believed by the club members to be the best men for advancement of the ward's interests if elected. All members of the club in the thirteenth ward are eligible to club membership. The club meets regularly at the residence of Charles Ingleson, 3619 Harriet avenue S., every Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The organization intends in the near future to rent permanent club quarters.

GIRLING SAYS 'NAY'

He Says the Aggregate of Assessments Is Lower. Thomas Girling, chairman of the republican county committee, this morning gave out the following statement to The Journal: "This committee is not a Dunn committee; it is not a Jones committee, nor a Fletcher committee. It is a republican committee for the interests of the whole republican party, from top to bottom. When the nominations were made, the committee started out to elect those nominees—and we're going to do it. I have been a member of the Hennepin county republican committee for the past fourteen years. I believe this year we have one of the best committees we have ever had and all have the interests of the entire republican ticket at heart.

"As to assessments of candidates, in the aggregate the amount is lower than at any previous time, and so are assessments, with the exception of the aldermen whose salaries have been raised and one or two others. This committee does not play favorites, and no more money will be expended in this county by the committee in the interests of R. C. Dunn than is his due as the head of the state ticket."
