

Normannaheimen LIKES AMERICAN HOMESTEAD LAWS

JUDGE FAHLORANTZ RECOMMENDS THEM FOR SWEDEN.

The Eminent Swedish Jurist Visited John Lind This Week and Expressed Approval of Many American Laws—Admiral Jewell and American Jackies Well Received in Christiania.

Gustaf Edvard Fahlorantz, an eminent Swedish jurist who represented his country at the international congress of law men in St. Louis, finds much to recommend in American law, and promises to use his influence to have Sweden adopt some of the features that attracted his attention.

Herr Fahlorantz, who holds a judicial position at Stockholm, was invited to the congress to read a paper on Swedish jurisprudence. Being a very busy man, he could not give the time to a tour of the country, but stole away long enough to make a flying trip to Minneapolis to spend the day with John Lind, and in so doing was compelled to send regrets to an elaborate banquet arranged by the bench and bar of Chicago in honor of Sir William Kennedy and other distinguished delegates to the world's congress.

Herr Fahlorantz is particularly impressed with the beneficial effects of the homestead and homestead exemption laws of the United States, and has endeavored in the past to have something similar adopted in Sweden. The crown is in control of vast stretches of country, which is well adapted for agriculture when it has been cleared. Could this land be apportioned among the peasants of the country who are now merely tenants of farm laborers, the country would receive immediate benefit.

The American homestead system has not met with approval for two principal reasons, one being the belief that the peasants would not long own the land, but would allow it to slip away to the big lumbermen and speculators who already hold more land than the government approves of. Another argument against the American system is that it smacks too much of paternalism, and to provide any restrictions regarding the disposal of property is to take away from a man his freedom of action. The latter argument seems a specious one to Americans, who suppose that they have advanced ideas on liberty.

In an effort to bring the peasants to the soil and make them free holders, a fund of 10,000,000 kr. has been obtained and from this loans will be made to those who wish to obtain land. The terms will, of course, be very easy. Herr Fahlorantz thinks that the plan will prove popular tho it may not prove as satisfactory as the American system.

Herr Fahlorantz expresses surprise over the laws which require a defendant in an action to produce the books and records of his business in court. Sweden has no restriction of this character, on the ground that it would constitute an infringement on freedom, the freedom to conceal the truth being apparently inviolate. He approves of the law which requires the wife's signature to a deed to make it valid and other measures meet with his hearty approval.

Coming from an old, conservative country like Sweden and from a profession so conservative as that of the law, Herr Fahlorantz impresses one as unusually progressive even to the extent of being a reformer along moderate lines, however.

JEWELL VISITS NORWAY

Admiral and American Tars Well Received at Christiania.

Admiral Jewell took his squadron up thru Christiania fjord and anchored it in the harbor on Sept. 15. His vessels exchanged salutes with the forts at Akershus, and then followed an exchange of courtesies.

Consul General Bordenwich was the first official visitor. Admiral Bordenwich of the Norwegian navy appeared in duo time.

Consul Bordenwich gave a dinner in honor of the officers of the squadron. Captain Jewell, a son of the admiral, proposed the toast for King Oscar, and Mr. Bassoe spoke for America.

The ships of the squadron—which includes the Olympia, the Cleveland and the Des Moines—were visited by large numbers of Norwegians, and Uncle Sam's jack tars were very popular. The band of the fleet gave a concert on Sept. 17 for the benefit of the vacation colonies, which was well attended and yielded a neat sum, altho the admission price was only 5 and 10 ore.

MUSCOVITES AWAKE

They Patrol Scandinavian Coasts and Scare Inhabitants.

Sweden, Norway and Denmark were somewhat excited about a fortnight ago over the activity of the Russians in Cattogat and Skagerack straits, the North Sea, and the Baltic. The Danish tugboat Nijolner, the tug Isbjorn of Gothenburg and the fast Norwegian steamer Tourist had for several days been making mysterious movements, sailing ostensibly for one port and then appearing unexpectedly at another. The vessels were in all cases engaged by Russian consuls and the people were alarmed, altho assured by the Russian officials that the czar had no designs on Scandinavia.

It appears that there have been rumors of Japanese torpedo boats in the North sea and Russia wants to be sure that they are not lurking behind the numerous islands along the coast of the three countries waiting to do damage to the Baltic fleet.

BURIAL MOUND OPENED

Big Mound at Osberg Found to Have Been Disturbed.

The remains of the viking ship found in a burial mound on Osberg, near Tonsberg, Norway, proves to be of great historical and archaeological value. The vessel is in a poor state of preservation and it is doubtful if it can be restored as was the famous Gokstad ship, which was dug up twelve or fourteen years ago. Two large chests were found in the chamber and here and there were found several articles of iron, two staves for a hand mill, and a large blanket on which was woven the figure of a knight. It was plain that the vessel had been entered before and plundered of its jewelry and weapons. The positions of the skeletons indicated plainly that they had been disturbed.

Defies Bishop and Ministry.

Rev. Mr. Berthelsen of Harboere, Denmark, is both a stubborn and independent pastor. He was called to officiate at a christening but refused to perform the rite when he learned that Rev. Anton Jensen, a Unitarian preacher, was to be one of the sponsors. An appeal was taken to the bishop of the diocese, but Rev. Mr. Berthelsen refused. The minister of ecclesiastics retained the bishop, but the parish priest remained obstinate. Now he will probably be disciplined.

Another Big Strike.

Swedish laborer are talking of a general strike. Ten meetings were held in Stockholm to discuss the matter, but only one meeting favored such a demonstration as early as 1905. In one meeting a debater who criticized Editor

Alexandra's Adventures.

Queen Alexandra recently cruised along the western coast of Norway and was so much pleased that she promised herself to return again very soon. She was fond of getting off the Victoria and Albert announced and visit unfrequented places with her party, especially as Danish tourists, and had in consequence many amusing adventures. She gave $2,500 to the poor of Aalesund.

Rabbits Multiply Rapidly.

Vader island, off the coast of Holland, Sweden, is overrun with rabbits and they have become a pest. Some persons are imprudent enough to turn a few rabbits loose on the island, and they sustained their reputation of being able to multiply rapidly. The forerunner has shot 3,000 this year, but alone is not able to subdue the growth.

Playing at War.

Extensive army maneuvers are held this fall in Norrland in which will participate the mounted life guards and the Life and Norrland dragons; the Second Svea and Norrland regiments of artillery; Dal, Vesterorrland, Vestmanland, and Vermland regiments of infantry; Svea engineer corps, Svea and Norrland train corps; Juntand Jaegers and Divisions 5 and 6 of the field telegraph corps.

Speak Gently of Czar. It won't do to speak too harshly of the czar in Sweden. Editor Peterson of Norrtelje expressed his views in two newspaper articles and must have been quite rough, for the government took official notice of the articles and began criminal prosecution. He was fined 2,000 kr. and both editions of his paper were confiscated.
