GIRL CHASED HIM
Thirteen-Year-Old Miss Puts Burglar to Flight.
A bold, bad burglar who tried to rob the residence of John Conger, 43 Mackubin street, St. Paul, Sunday night, was out to fight by Miss Marion, the 13-year-old daughter of the household. The Conger family was just returning from church when they found the burglar in the house.
He tried to run past them, but the girl tripped him and tried to hold him on the floor. He struck her in the face and ran into the pantry and she tried to lock the door behind him. He broke out again and ran out the back door just as several neighbors appeared at the house.

FROM REAL LIFE
A young man writes of his experiences with Journal Want Ads as follows:
"It may interest you to know what your cent-a-word ads did for me. I am getting $15 with very congenial work in Minneapolis to make my living without work, and hardly any money. I invested two cents in a Journal (a most lucky investment as it afterwards turned out), and answered an ad for an elevator operator at $6 a week. There were some other applicants, but the above fact of the block said my personal appearance got me the place. He said the salary did not indicate what I might get if I was a good man. To make the story short, I took the job and ran the elevator eight weeks, at the end of which time I was put in the owner's office at $10 a week, and today I am getting $15 with very congenial work. Reading Journal Want Ads put me on my feet. Put me down as a believer in them. Gratefully, etc."
The above fact of the block is true and only prove again that Journal Want Ads can help anybody to satisfy any want. Try them the next time you want anything, and you will see they work wonders.

WOMEN WILL VOTE
A Meeting Held in Ninth Ward Is Largely Attended.
A meeting of ninth ward women in the interests of school suffrage held last night under the auspices of the Alice W. Palmer W. C. T. U. at 941 Twenty-fourth avenue NE, was attended by over seventy women, and a sprinkling of men for escorts. Those present pledged themselves by card to register and were urged to work to get their neighbors both men and women to vote on the school bonds, and for the woman candidate for the board of education. Mrs. Bessie Laythe Seovell. It was announced that carriages would be furnished by the women on the day registration day, Saturday and election day to take women voters to the polls.
Mrs. Nellie Mattison, president of the union, presided, and the speakers were Mrs. A. T. Anderson and Dr. Martha G. Ripley. Mrs. Anderson urged making use of the limited suffrage in order to pave the way for its extension and gave particular attention to the school bond question, pointing out the need of added school accommodations which can only be secured thru a bond issue.
Dr. Ripley spoke especially in behalf of a woman member of the school board, representing it as a duty for women to vote for the woman candidate. The speaker criticized the present school system for its methods which turn out pupils exactly alike.
William Gibson, of the prohibition party which nominated Mrs. Seovell, spoke earnestly in her behalf. A duet by Miss Emma Lenner and Walter Campbell and comic recitations by Charles Maine lent variety to the program.

FRESHMAN MEDIC DOES TOE DANCE

GRACEFUL STUDENT ENTERTAINS A CLASS IN ANATOMY.

He Asked What Muscles a Ballet Dancer Used and Was Invited to Dance in Order that His Question Might Be Answered From Careful, Expert Observation.

Twisting and turning with all the grace and abandon of a premier danseuse, Isaac Friedman, a freshman medic at the University of Minnesota, danced at the request of Dr. Erdman on the platform of the anatomy lecture room this morning. It was probably the first affair of the kind that the faculty ever witnessed. Friedman danced at the request of Dr. Erdman.
Following a lecture on ligaments and particularly the joints of the foot, Dr. Erdman asked the class for questions. Some of them were easy, but the query of Friedman staggered the instructor.
"What muscles does a ballet dancer use?" asked Friedman and the answer, "Come down here and show us," came back to the seeker for knowledge.
Friedman then danced in word, and, judging by the applause with which his agility was greeted, the 100 members of the class arrived at a satisfactory answer for his question.

GOLDENROD CLUB COMES TO COURT

FAIR CINCINN PLAYERS ATTEND TRIAL OF A MEMBER.

Large Attendance Causes Removal of the Case to a Bigger Room, Where a Jury Hears the Evidence—Mrs. Gerber Tells How She Lost Her $20.

Society broke into the police court today when all the members of the Goldenrod Cinch club, as well as many of its friends, were present. Mrs. Hannah Larson, 1523 Fourth street S., was on trial charged with stealing $20 from Mrs. Ella Gerber, 712 Fifth street NE, at a meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. O. W. Brown, 3013 Park avenue, Oct. 13.
Mrs. Larson had demanded a trial by jury and Judge Holt adjourned court to the larger courtroom used by the civil branch. It was noted that he did so for the crowd present could not have been accommodated in the criminal room. A jury was secured and after opening addresses by City Attorney Finney and F. H. Ayers, attorney for the defense, the taking of evidence began.
The witness testified that she attended a meeting of the club, although not a member. She paid her fee of 10 cents and had $20.05 left in her purse, which she kept in her lap. When the last game was finished she missed her purse and demanded that the women be searched. The purse was not found when the other women's purses were examined. Mrs. Larson had $20, as did the other women. Mrs. Larson had left the room in the course of the play and was suspected.
Mrs. Gerber said that her money consisted of an old ten-dollar bill, an old five-dollar bill and a new five-dollar bill. On cross-examination, however, she admitted that while the search was being made she had said that she had lost the money. She explained that when her husband reminded her of the fact, she remembered that it was one ten and two fives.
Mrs. O. W. Brown, the hostess, testified that she attended the club and to having received the report of the missing purse. She had assisted in searching the women and had found $20 in Mrs. Larson's purse. She also said that Mrs. Larson left the room while the play was in progress and that later the play purse was found in the room where the ladies' wraps had been kept. Mrs. Larson was not present at the defense will be the testimony of Mr. Larson to the effect that he had given his wife $20 to pay a coal bill.

WOULD BROADEN PRINCIPALS' WORK

IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE REPORT MAKES SUGGESTIONS.

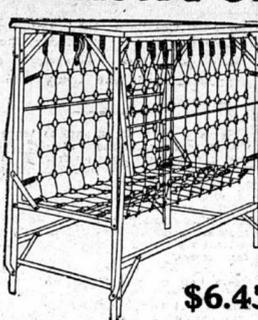

The Same Report Calls for More Women on the School Board—More Individual Instruction, Fewer Pupils in Lower Grades and More Provisions for Coping With Truancy.

Pointed suggestions in regard to public school management were made this afternoon in the report of the education committee read at the annual meeting of the Minneapolis Improvement League. A broadening of the work of school principals was among the needs indicated.
The league has made a study of school conditions through the committee of the report of the chairman, Mrs. A. W. Rankin, was full of meat which will furnish the members with much food for thought. The report was the subject of discussion wherever teachers or principals are gathered. The committee wants more women on the school board, at least two, and three would be better; more individual instruction, fewer pupils in the lower grade rooms and more industrial training reforms.
There is a request for the emancipation of the individual teachers and for university educated principals. The truancy schools should be separated from the regular schools. The school officers are wanted and there should be a juvenile court, declares the committee.
The position of the league in regard to the salary of principals is that the school buildings is well known from the war waged last spring. The committee has not moved so much as a sixteenth of an inch from its original position and still energetically insists that school buildings should be cleaned as often as an office.

GRAND JURY NOT THROUGH

DOES NOT APPEAR TO HAVE ENTIRELY PASSED UP MUNICIPAL INVESTIGATION.

The case of John Leon, the South Minneapolis Chinaman accused of criminal assault, was under consideration by the grand jury this morning. Several witnesses were examined. It is reported that a "no bill" will be returned.
Shortly after noon the grand jury reported to Judge A. M. Harrison on the case. The jury was asked if it had finished its work. Foreman P. M. Joyce said it had not. The court said that the term of the grand jury will be made to last. "We will be thru this afternoon or tomorrow morning at the latest," was the foreman's reply.
Several members of the Voters' league have been subpoenaed.

TWIN CITY CHINESE NUMBER TWO HUNDRED

Determination of Chinese dates is almost impossible in the making out of Chinese immigration certificates even with the help of an interpreter, and as the Minneapolis office of Chinese inspection is not equipped with a celestial word changer, the department of commerce and labor today presented the local inspectors with a directory of names which it is hoped will do away with the uncertainty and confusion that has attended the making out of certificates in the past.
The book is compiled by J. A. Gardner, Chinese interpreter and inspector at San Francisco and covers the years between 1849, when gold was discovered and the first batch of immigrants came over, to 1914.
Inspector R. F. Davis returned from New York today from a deportation case. He was much interested in the new volume and said that it is not only an important addition for the work of the service, but is a valuable addition to our literature on China.
"When a Chinese witness is asked the date of his original arrival in the United States, he usually would give it in this order, 'Kwong Sui, such a year, such a month, such a day.' Kwong Sui is the name of the reign of the present emperor, which began the 6th day of February, 1875, and reigns previous to the present reign, beginning with 1849, were Du Kwong, Hsin Ming, and Hsin Chien. The arrangement of the English and the Chinese dates side by side will be of invaluable help.
When asked if Chinese immigration to Minnesota from other states in the past few years had been remarkably large, Mr. Davis said that the office had no figures compiled at present to prove the assertion, but that the number of Chinese in the twin cities had increased until the Chinese colonies have over two hundred members.

MR. JOHNSON'S PLURALITY

TRAVELING MAN WHO "MAKES" 263 TOWNS, SAYS THIRTY THOUSAND.

"I see Mr. Dunn has an explanation for the opposition of the traveling men to the present commercial governor," said a well-known commercial traveler, "and he says that we are against him because when he was auditor he raised the tax on the companies, and we are taking it on the backs of the people."
In the first place, that is an insult to the independence of the traveling man, who thinks for himself on matters outside their business. However, I don't know anything about Mr. Dunn's relations with the Minnesota houses. My concern is located in Ohio and pays no New York taxes. I don't know what we are situated the same way. We are citizens of Minnesota, however, and have a decided opinion on the government, but in an exception the knights of the grip are against Dunn, because they have a different idea of what a governor ought to be. They are not in the least interested in the fair means, and they believe in fair play in politics as well as business.
I have taken some pains to get a line of names for which I have made up my mind on it. I make 263 towns in Minnesota from Wadena south to the Gulf of Mexico, and I have improved all my opportunities to talk with the business men and with the farmers as they come to the state. I don't know the Dunn men decidedly in the minority. There are some to be found, but they are not enthusiastic over Dunn. They are not in the least interested in the fair means, and they believe in fair play in politics as well as business.
I believe, however, that I can carry Minnesota by about 60,000, for there will not be a very heavy vote cast. On that basis, I look for about 30,000 plurality for Johnson, or Johnson will be elected by 75,000. It will mean 18,000 to 20,000 for Johnson. I don't believe the Roosevelt vote will run up so high that it can wipe out the Johnson has in the hearts of the voters of the state."

ANTI-SPIT WAR RENEWED

FOUR THOUGHTLESS ONES ARE GATHERED IN BY THE EXPECTORATION SLEUTHS.

It's again in order for persons who really spit to depart on the street to walk to the curb.
The health department's campaign against spitters of the anti-spitting ordinance was renewed yesterday and as a result four prisoners who were in police court this morning paid fines of $1 each. The prisoners were J. L. Clark, Neal Hanson, James Hurley and Robert Hilson. They were arrested by Inspectors Loveland and Gillespie.
Clark was found on the corner at Washington and Hennepin avenues, where he stood absentmindedly chewing the stub of a cigar and spitting on the sidewalk. The inspectors watched him for several minutes.
"You are under arrest for spitting on the sidewalk," said Inspector Loveland, advancing.
"Say, is that against the law?" asked Clark in surprise. "You see I'm a stranger in the city. You'd better let me go this time and I'll not repeat the offense."
Clark was escorted to the central police station, where he deposited $10 bill to insure his appearance in court this morning.
As the health officers were walking up Nicollet avenue their attention was attracted by a man who stood beneath an awning at 308 Nicollet avenue. He was smoking a pipe and was giving the sidewalk a goodly amount of having been passed over by a fourth ward street sprinkler. He was gently gathered in and was registered as "Nole Hanson."
In front of 620 Nicollet avenue, three well-dressed young men were standing. Two of them expectorated on the sidewalk as the officers approached, but the third, who had received his education on the question in St. Paul, did not violate the law. The two violators were arrested and three young men laughing at their predicament, went to the central station. The two arrested gave the names of James Hurley and Robert Hilson.
"Why, it was only last week that I was talking about this ordinance," said Hilson, "and gave it my unreserved approval. Altho I have been caught by the enforcement is right. I spit on the sidewalk and will take my medicine, but the next time I stop to talk on the street I'll stand near the gutter."

HAD A MURDEROUS MANIA

MRS. WEISLER SAYS BROWN CAME OF A FAMILY MARKED BY INSANITY.

According to Mrs. Pauline Weisler, who was shot by Charles Brown, Sunday night, her assailant comes from a family afflicted with a mania for murder and suicide.
Mrs. Weisler says that when Brown was boarding with her he often spoke of the peculiarities of his family. His father shot a woman and then himself after a lovers' quarrel similar to that which occurred Sunday. This occurred in Germany when Brown was a small boy, but the tragedy always preyed on his mind. An uncle of Brown also killed a woman while in a jealous rage, and Mrs. Weisler says that if his stories were true the entire family was afflicted with the dementia. Charles Brown, in her opinion, was wholly insane for several days before he attempted the murder, and that insanity aggravated by drink made him desperate.
She May Recover.
Mrs. Weisler is improving at the city hospital, and the physicians now say that she will recover.
Brown's body is still at the county morgue and has not yet been claimed by the relatives or friends. Unless claimed by tonight the body will be according to law be turned over to the university medical department.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Man Caught Between Bumpers on Freight Cars in Yards.

Thomas Judge, 1011 Fourth avenue N, was caught between the bumpers of two freight cars in the Northern Pacific yards last night and died from his injuries an hour later.
Judge, an employee of the Minnesota depot of the Moline Plow Works, was crossing the tracks on an errand when the accident occurred. He little could be done to relieve his suffering. He was 45 years old and leaves a wife and five children.
PATENT GRANTED
Thirty-six Acre Tract Believed to Contain Rich Iron Ore.
State Auditor Iverson has received the patent from the United States general land office, finally granting full title to the state on the famous thirty-six acre swamp land tract in section 58-17, near Virginia, known as the "silver" or "flint" piece.
This is the valuable mineral tract believed to contain 2,000,000 tons of iron ore, which was leased by R. C. Dunn to Mabel Evans of Princeton, Dec. 30, 1902. Miss Evans now holds a fifty-year contract to take ore from the land, and her representatives, Flinn & Patterson of St. Paul, are making preparations for developing the tract and making a producing mine of it.
The British government is experimenting with a new torpedo for destroying submarine mines. Its mechanism is such that, if it misses the mine it has been fired at, it sinks when it reaches its limit range.

MADE TO DISCLOSE

Storage Companies Must Allow Inspection for Tax Assessment.

Thru a decision handed down by Judge Brooks in the case of Hennepin county against the Produce Refrigerator Co., the company is made to disclose in the sum of $6,000 and a precedent has been established which will mean thousands of dollars in the future.
Hereon the storage companies have refused to allow tax assessors to inspect their stocks, which contained large quantities of goods stored to escape the taxation. In the case just decided the company was made to disclose and the taxes were assessed upon the owners of stored property.

BOILERMAKERS' STRIKE

Claim Work Given to Structural Iron Workers Belongs to Them.

Two labor unions at the Link Belt Boiler works are at loggerheads over the division of the work and as a result one of the unions is on a strike. It is hoped that the Trade and Labor Council and the Building Trades council will be able to settle the trouble without further friction.
The boilermakers are the aggrieved ones, alleging that certain work, belonging to their craft has been given to the structural ironworkers. As neither the employer nor the structural ironworkers recognize the demand of the boilermakers, all of them in the shop, six in number, have left their work.

SCOUTS TRADITIONS

Rev. David Morgan Does Not Believe in Miracles.

Did George Washington cut the cherry tree? That is a question and it is troubling the St. Paul Methodist Ministers' association. Rev. David Morgan doubts the ancient tradition and he stated it in plain words at the Hotel Bethel yesterday. "No 'kid' ever grew up," said he, "who never told a lie."
There were several other questions that have bothered Mr. Morgan in the past, but he said that he has gotten around them by reading library books and that one time he was as orthodox as Professor George S. Innis at Hamline, but now he only believes in one miracle, the resurrection. "In his sermons he preaches merely the divinity of Christ, not the miracles which some people bring up to prove the divinity."
