CAN SEE ONLY RELATIVES

Murder Suspects Will Be Closely Confined Until Trial. Only relatives will be permitted to see Kolb and Hammon, the Columbia Heights murder suspects held in Minneapolis, from now until their trial in March.

This order was made by Sheriff Dregler this morning, because so many persons had called out of pure curiosity. The prisoners are satisfied with their quarters and say they can stand the long wait.

Superintendent of Police Conroy said this morning that reports to the effect that a fourth man was wanted were without foundation. He is satisfied that his department has enough evidence to convict the men now under arrest, and there will be no more "sweating."

Edward Mingo, one of the victims, discharged from St. Mary's hospital yesterday, is at his home, and continues to improve. He will not see the suspects for several days, as he is not yet strong enough.

BUYING IS HEAVY

Influx of Orders May Keep the Mills in Motion.

Prompted by the advancing wheat market and consequent strength in flour prices, buyers of flour sent orders into Minneapolis very freely late yesterday and this morning, and it was estimated on "change" that the sales to noon would aggregate 150,000 barrels.

An influence upon flour buyers has been the Argentine situation, the drought over the Ohio valley, and the southwest, all of which reports of injury to winter wheat. This morning the Missouri state report came out, making the condition of the growing wheat crop in that state 78, or nineteen points under October, and twelve points under this time last year.

SALOON PATRON SPENDS FORTUNE IN RIOTOUS FASHION.

Throws Money Out Like a Traditional Prince and Treats 'The Whole Gang'—Spendthrift Supposed to Be Otto Schmid, of Northome, Who Late-ly Inherited a Small Fortune.

Declaring money a worthless burden and unfit for a decent man to carry, a man dressed as a common laborer entered a saloon at Cedar avenue and Fourth street yesterday afternoon and after throwing several hundred dollars in currency on the floor, he trampled the bills under his feet.

"There's only a thousand left," he said, "but we'll spend it just the same."

The startling disregard for money took the proprietors by surprise, but at the laborer's invitation they allowed the hangers-on and others to make merry at his expense.

When he received the money, he proceeded to get many of the inhabitants of the town in a joyful mood, and they purchased everything he saw.

When the actions of the mysterious stranger were reported to the officials last night, they decided that the man of money who had started South Minneapolis, must be the missing man from Northome, and two officers were detailed to find him.

COUNTRY MEMBERS EAGER TO SERVE ON AMES JURY

ASK QUESTIONS AT PLEDGING THEIR SUPPORT TO CLAPP FACTION.

But Three of the Ramsey County Representatives Have Signed the Written Pledges Asked by the St. Paul Jobbers' Committee—Haskell Demands that the Committee "Play Fair."

The senatorial contest, so far as the efforts of the Clapp workers are concerned, interested Ramsey county today.

Country members approached for indorsement of Clapp have invariably asked: "How does it happen Clapp's home delegation has not indorsed him?" and are refusing to be pledged.

Today the St. Paul jobbers' committee is still more busy trying to get written pledges. Edward R. Smith, secretary of Congressman Stevens' committee, has been added to the committee.

Their strenuous efforts have brought out the fact that but three of the Ramsey representatives have signed pledges. John T. Rosenthal's written pledge was secured before election.

Yesterday the St. Paul jobbers' committee set up at the usual time this morning the complete list of the Ramsey delegation as pledged to Clapp in writing.

Mr. Haskell in the presence of a Journal reporter this noon expressed surprise at not finding the Ramsey delegation as pledged to Clapp in writing.

But few country members of the Legislature were in St. Paul today. Those who appeared were little molested by the Clapp men, who are bending all their efforts to set up Clapp's home delegation first.

Dr. Fulton, chairman of the Ramsey delegation, is authority for the statement that any caucus in Clapp's behalf is still a matter of the dim and distant future.

D. P. JONES GAINS IN THIRD WARD GETS TWO MORE VOTES WHILE HAYNES LOSES ONE.

Difficult Questions for the Referees to Answer—Aldermanic Contest in the Third Is Close—Some Disputed Points as to Ballot Marking Will Be Taken into Court.

David P. Jones secured a net gain of three votes and has accepted the position in the first five districts of the third ward which have been recounted by the referees in the mayoralty contest.

In the third district Mayor Haynes lost one vote and the referees have gained two votes. One of these may be disputed, however, in case it makes any material difference. On this ballot the voter, instead of making a cross opposite the name of D. P. Jones, had drawn only one line. No other candidate for mayor had any kind of a mark, but the voters had invariably used a cross for his choice of candidates for the other offices.

The referees, who are N. F. Hawley, Samuel H. Chase and John A. Larimore, counted the ballot for Jones. A ballot marked with a cross for Jones and a partial cross for Haynes was not counted for either, but exception was noted and the ballot was given to the referee on Mr. Jones' behalf.

An Aldermanic Recount. While the mayoralty recount was going on in one room the referees in the third ward had a contest, were making better time, as they had completed seven districts while the others had completed but five. In these seven districts Mumm made a possible gain of one vote, but the district will be counted again, as O. G. Rosing disputed the correctness of the count.

A ballot on which Rosing's name had been written with a pencil and no cross made opposite his name, will be submitted to the district court, and another ballot which had a cross opposite the name of Claus Mumm and opposite the blank line. The former had been counted by the election judges for Rosing and the latter for Mumm, and it is believed that the district court will hold that both were legally counted.

After the sixth precinct had been reached, James T. Kane demanded that special attention be given to the socialist ballots to ascertain if there had been any suspicious marking of ballots for Mr. Mumm. In Mr. Rosing's bill of specifications Mr. Kane is accused of having marked twenty socialist ballots, which were blank as to alderman, for Mr. Mumm and he insisted on the charges being investigated. It was found that Mr. Rosing did not have twenty socialist votes in all, and that more members of this party voted for Mr. Rosing than for Mr. Mumm.

T. D. O'BRIEN GETS BIG STATE PLUM

Governor-Elect Johnson Appoints St. Paul Lawyer Insurance Commissioner.

THOMAS D. O'BRIEN, St. Paul Attorney, who will be the new Insurance Commissioner.

Thomas D. O'Brien of St. Paul has been elected and has accepted the position of state insurance commissioner.

Governor-elect Johnson made the announcement of the appointment last evening, and O'Brien corroborates the statement that he will accept.

Mr. O'Brien has been contesting the election of Oscar Hallam to the district bench of Ramsey county, but in view of his acceptance of the state appointment will withdraw from the contest and leave the district bench position for Mr. Hallam.

Mr. O'Brien has a remunerative law practice and many of his friends cannot understand how he can afford to resign for a position which only pays a salary of $2,500 a year. But in connection with this salary are fees from insurance companies which amount to some $20,000 a year, thus making the office probably the most remunerative in the state.

STATUES FOR THE CAPITOL

State Art Society Gets Casts from St. Louis Fair.

The Minnesota State Art society purchased at the St. Louis fair two beautiful casts for the adornment of its rooms in the new capitol. These are reproductions of Donatello's John the Baptist and of "The Gooseman" by Adam Kraft, a German sculptor.

The society also secured an option on the figure representing Minnesota, modeled by Gustav Griebel of Hoboken, N. J., which stood in the parade of streets. The report of these transactions was made yesterday at a meeting of the governing board of the society.

Designs for furniture for the new rooms were submitted, but no selection was made. The selected designs will be submitted to the capitol commission.

It was announced that the annual exhibition of art work will be given in Winona, but the exhibit will be shown in the capitol for two weeks before being sent there. The exhibition will be held in February or March. The society has engaged J. Q. Adams of Philadelphia for an address on "Art and the Day's Work," Tuesday evening, Dec. 27, given for the Minnesota Educational association.

AN APPEAL PROBABLE

CONTROL OF COURTHOUSE AND CITY HALL MAY NOT BE RENDERED WITHOUT A FIGHT.

It is intimated that an appeal will be taken from the order of the district court directing that the courthouse and city hall be turned over to the new building commission. Frank Healy, city attorney, who conducted the case for the city council, says that he has no instructions, but thinks the matter of sufficient importance to be taken to the court of last resort.

The building commission, organized a year or so ago with J. C. Haynes as president, and E. Barney vice president, and C. Scott secretary, and C. S. Hulbert treasurer, will be called together as soon as Mayor Haynes returns. Having been formally organized, the commission sees no reason why it should not take immediate charge.

A member of the new commission said this morning that he would not favor any immediate changes. There would, however, be a program covering the saving $1,500 a year, but the present force would be continued for a time at least. On the city side there are ten janitors and one elevator attendant, and on the county side there are ten janitors and ten employees in the engine, dynamo and boilerrooms and three elevator attendants.

The member in question said that questioning a considerable saving could be effected. He expressed the opinion that entirely too much of the building was being heated and that there was much waste in electric lighting and in other ways. Nevertheless, it was doubtful if the building could be maintained for less than $50,000 a year. The appropriation for 1905 is about $68,000.

BAR PAYS TRIBUTE

Judge Lochren Presides at the Nelson Memorial Meeting at St. Paul.

The bar of Minnesota paid tribute to the memory of the late Judge Benson Nelson in the circuit courtroom of the federal building at St. Paul this afternoon. Judge William Lochren presided, and with him on the bench were the judges of the supreme court of the state and of the district court of Ramsey county.

The memorial was read by E. C. Stringer, president of the state bar association, and chairman of the memorial committee. The memorial was signed by Mr. Stringer and the other members of the committee: John M. Gilman, Judge Thomas Wilson, C. D. O'Brien, Judge Austin H. Young, Greenleaf Clark, Judge M. J. Severance of Mankato, George W. Bacheider and George N. Baxter.

FOR BETTER ROADS

Association Will Ask Legislature to Provide Special Tax.

The legislative committee of the Good Roads association will meet at the Commercial club, Dec. 15, to discuss needed legislation. It is desired to have a tax levied for the betterment of roads. County Surveyor George W. Cooley says on the subject:

"What we want is one-third of a mill on all the taxable property of the state. This should be distributed among the counties so that no county would receive more than 3 per cent or less than one-third of 1 per cent of the state, to pay one-third of the cost of constructing the highways."

The following counties will be represented at the meeting: Hennepin, Ramsey, Anoka, Watonwan, Nicollet, Freeborn, Olmsted, Blue Earth, Houston, Stearns, Benton, Sherburne and McLeod.

There are more than a dozen business women in Chicago enjoying incomes of from $3,000 to $10,000 a year resulting from their own enterprise.
