MINNESOTA BOOM TIMES COMING AGAIN

PLANS OF PICKANDS AND MATHER ON THE MESABA.

Options and Leases Taken in the Vicinity of Biwabik and Many Drills to Prove Ore Put in Operation—Ore Bodies at the Duluth Being Stripped.

Special to The Journal. Eveleth, Minn., Dec. 26.—Portions of the Mesaba iron range seem about to equiptment to a...

Beginning at Eveleth and going eastward along the range, Pickands & Mather have the Troy mine developed and ready to put on ore when they want it.

Options on two or three properties in township 58 north, range 15 west, fourth principal meridian, and in the same township have leased one mine on which they have begun to sink a shaft 200 feet deep.

Of these options, one is on lots 5 and 6, in section 4, owned by George St. Clair and proved in the last few months by him, Cole & McDonald of Virginia are operating five drills there now in order to verify Mr. St. Clair's claims.

As it is positively known that the other two or more will be it remains only a question of time before the final papers are signed, as they were in the case of the Syracuse mine.

The other option is on the two forty-five sections 4, township 58, range 15, adjoining the Miller mine on the west. Cole & McDonald have three drills there also, and the other propositions that Pickands & Mather have taken up.

Archibald McCallister, identified with Robert's mine at McKinley and the Longyear mine at Hibbing, has returned from the Arizona copper district to become superintendent of the Syracuse mine.

It is difficult to make any prediction in regard to the time when ore will be reached and mining commenced, but from the way in which things are being pushed it would seem that the company is bent on being ready for the 1905 season.

Great activity is also seen at the Duluth mine, owned by the United States Steel corporation. The point was reached in the mine's management last fall where it became absolutely necessary to remove the remainder of the ore body if further mining was to be carried on by the milling system.

It was decided to do the necessary stripping this winter, and to abandon the old shaft and sink two new ones. This work is now being carried on.

MINNESOTA NAYLOR'S NERVE IS PUT ON EDGE

BEMIDJI MAN RECEIVES A COFFIN ON CHRISTMAS.

It is a Perfect Fit and the Unknown Giver Says 'It Should Be Used at Once'—Naylor Can Find No Humor in the Strange Affair, and Will Have It Investigated.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 26.—E. L. Naylor of Bemidji received a gruesome Christmas present. It was a coffin, and a measurement of it disclosed the fact that it is a perfect fit.

It was shipped to him by express from Ferguson Falls, and Mr. Naylor does not know whether the coffin was a joke or carries with it a covert threat of some unknown enemy.

On the outside of the box was a card with the following inscription: "Perishable; should be used at once." Within was another card on which was written the compliments of the season, and the donor expressed the hope that this day, probably meaning Christmas, will be the recipient's last.

Mr. Naylor is at a loss to explain the motive for the repulsive gift. He does not connect it with any intended malice, he is nevertheless anxious and intends to investigate the matter fully.

If Mr. Naylor's endeavor to detect the identity of the sender and discover the latter's purpose in casting a pall over his Christmas observance is unsuccessful, it is probable that the authorities will begin an investigation.

MINNESOTA MURDER TRIAL AT GRAND RAPIDS

JOSEPH GARDNER CONVICTED IN THE SECOND DEGREE.

Shot and Killed William Garrison, a Neighbor, on July 25—Spear, for the Prosecution, Proves that Gardner Was the Aggressor—New Trial to Be Asked.

Special to The Journal. Grand Rapids, Minn., Dec. 26.—Judge Spooner imposed sentence in the Gardner murder case on Tuesday afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of murder in the second degree.

On July 25 last Joseph Gardner shot and killed William Garrison, a neighbor at the house of the latter, two miles and a half from Gardner's place. Gardner immediately started for Hibbing, some seventy miles away, and there notified the authorities.

Investigations made by the sheriff early the next morning and statements from Gardner disclosed the fact that Garrison had been thirty-two feet from Gardner when shot; that Gardner's rifle was thirty feet from the latter, and that at the time the firing began Gardner was only twenty feet away from Garrison's weapon. At Hibbing Gardner made the statement that he had killed Garrison just as the latter was raising his rifle to his shoulder to shoot.

Coroner Russell performed an autopsy and found that Garrison had been shot, but once, the bullet entering between the neck and the point near the armpit, both wounds being on the left side of the body. If the two men had been facing each other it would have been utterly impossible for such a wound to have resulted.

No Lack of Friends. The trial consumed eight days, day and night sessions being held. Gardner had been engaged in some coal explorations and had also been interested in pine lands, and among his friends numbered Postmaster Thomas of Superior, Judge Steele, William Elliston of Superior and H. J. Shepley and C. F. Miller, attorneys in Duluth. These all participated in the trial, giving evidence of the unimpeachable character of the defendant.

The defense proved that Garrison on at least six occasions had threatened to kill Gardner. Also that Gardner was a man of violent temper and physically superior to the defendant.

On his part the state showed that Gardner had gone to Garrison's on the night of the shooting knowing not only the character of the man with whom he was dealing, but his strength and physical ability and, further, that Garrison had threatened to take his life.

Damaging evidence was also produced in the testimony of witnesses that Gardner had said that he had "finished Garrison." Gardner's own statement was that after shooting Garrison the latter had turned and made his retreat over a three-rail fence near the house and that the defendant had afterwards gone to where Garrison was down on his hands and knees bleeding from the wound, and had said to Garrison, "You have been working for me for some time, and now you've got it," adding a train of abuse so vile as to be unprintable.

Gardner had then turned away from his victim and, taking the rifle of the latter, had gone home. Gardner was obliged to admit this while on the stand.

New Trial and Appeal. Gardner is a married man with a family, and this fact and his heretofore unblemished name, probably account for the verdict in the lower court. The case was represented by County Attorney Spear and the defense by ex-Senator C. C. McCarthy.

An appeal will undoubtedly be taken to the supreme court should a motion for a new trial be refused. Papers for the purpose of a motion for a new trial were filed yesterday.

The case against William Reynolds, charged with having set fire to a resort near Nashwauk, a mining town near Hibbing, but in Itasca county, will probably be finished by Tuesday night and the verdict returned by Wednesday.

DEADWOOD, S. D.—Victor E. Moon, who stole a team and buggy from George Renner of this city, was sentenced to one year. He pleaded guilty. Seymour Harris of Rapid City was fined $25 for petit larceny.

WISCONSIN HOLIDAY JOYS TURN TO TRAGEDY

THREE INSTANTLY KILLED BY A FAST TRAIN.

Were Returning from a Happy Family Reunion When Run Down in Sight of Their Homes—Passengers Work an Hour and a Half in Gathering Up the Remains.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 26.—Returning from a happy family reunion, and within sight of their homes, Frank Woods, Mrs. Appel and Miss Lowell were struck and instantly killed by a fast North-Western train last night. The train in which the three were riding was completely demolished and their bodies hurled hundreds of feet.

Death must have come to each instantly, for their bodies were horribly mangled. That of Mrs. Appel was almost crushed to a pulp, and pieces of her arms and legs were scattered for many feet in all directions.

The trainmen realized the danger too late, and were consequently powerless. As nearly as they can appreciate the situation, Woods, who was driving, did not hear the approaching train nor the repeated whistles.

After the accident the train was stopped and the bodies of the three were gathered up in the wreckage. Indicating the manner in which the bodies were cut up is the fact that the searchers were unable to find a half in gathering fragments of bone and flesh.

COURT RESCUES BOYS Deformed from Overwork and Beaten by Inhuman Parent.

ASHLAND, WIS.—Judge McCully took today from George Otto, a farmer residing near Butternut, the custody of two boys, aged 14 and 15, and committed them to the custody of Herman Zoesch, who will give them a good home.

The boys were taken from Otto some time ago by the authorities on account of his inhuman treatment of them. Otto was dealing with his two sons as he did with his horses. They were worked hard from daylight until long after dark and were beaten with chains and ropes when they failed to do his bidding.

Both of the boys are deformed from overwork and could not speak intelligently. Until brought to Ashland about two months ago they had never seen the inside of a railroad coach or a street car. In fact, had never stirred from the boundary line of their farm except when they were forced to go with their father to cut wood.

Neither had ever seen a school and had no idea that there was such a thing as Christmas. Fourth of July and Thanksgiving were unknown to them. The father will probably leave for parts unknown as the town of Butternut will be made too hot for him to live in.

Young Broker was taken sick in Minneapolis as he was on his way home from the world's fair at St. Louis. He recovered sufficiently to warrant the physician in sending him home and Mrs. Borgerding was not informed of his illness at all.

The journey from Minneapolis to Melrose proved too much for Mrs. Borgerding, who died here at daylight on Monday, Dec. 20, after a long illness. She was 66 years of age and had been in poor health for some time.

IOWA JUSTICE FOR LOWA REGIMENTS

GOVERNOR CUMMINS APPEALS TO WAR DEPARTMENT.

Secretary for the Shiloh-Battlefield Commission Roudly Scored for His Attitude of Hostility to Iowa Soldiers—Controversy May Reach the President and Congress.

Special to The Journal. Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 26.—In Governor A. B. Cummins' final appeal to the war department for proper recognition of the Shiloh battlefield monuments and tablets for veterans of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Iowa regiments, the governor exposed the lack of courtesy and justice which has been extended to Iowa by the Shiloh commission, and roundly scored Major Reed, secretary of the commission.

A spirited correspondence has been made public in which Major Reed charges that Iowans have sent inscriptions to be placed on tablets and that a careful investigation shows that Iowa claims are untrue. Major Reed gives the governor a calling down for trying to secure monuments and tablets for the Iowa regiments. Having written a history of the battle of Shiloh, with which claims of Iowa soldiers do not agree, Major Reed declines to give in.

The governor has now addressed to Secretary Oliver the following curt and breezy letter: "I do not care to hope that Major Reed would take any other view of our case than he has. He has arranged the battle of Shiloh to suit himself and possibly every man in his place there, and if I have any doubts as to the accuracy of his report, I will refer to the records and they should be found to be inconsistent with Major Reed's findings. I believe the honor will be accorded a personal interview. I am perfectly willing to have the time of the engagement in the manner shown in the report of the Shiloh commission. Major Reed says that some of the statements of the inscription are not true. All that I stated to you when I was in the honor to be accorded a personal interview.
