Delivery Service.

ONE OF THE MOST necessary and important adjuncts of a big business, such as ours, is the delivery service. When you buy the goods you want to know that your purchases will be delivered on time and in good condition. To feel certain, when you are told the goods will be sent out at 1:30 o'clock, that they go then. Our deliveries are very systematic and cover every inch of ground in the Twin Cities—no location being too remote to reach. It is just as necessary to the successful conduct of the business that we have system in delivery as well as in bookkeeping or any of our other numerous departments. It is under the immediate control and direction of one man, who attends to all details, routes the wagons, etc., and to whom all drivers report regularly. The equipment consists of twelve wagons for the regular store delivery, in addition to which there are two flower delivery wagons, two furniture vans and large freight wagons, and during the summer months an automobile is used for quick delivery to St. Paul and interurban districts. Special delivery boys are also employed for quick service to hotels and depots. Three regular deliveries are made daily—at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 and 5:00 p.m. This has been found sufficient to cover all needs and give general satisfaction. The barns for housing the horses and wagons are located at Eighth avenue and Third street north. The building is 50x125 feet, two stories and basement, and is splendidly equipped for the proper care of the horses, being modern and sanitary.

IF THERE WERE NO PROFITS in this business we would not be in it. Yet, there is something more than a sordid greed of gain, as there is in anything which is permanently successful. We are constantly striving to make this a store of the people and for the people, and anything that tends to its betterment in its capacity of serving you is at once introduced and made use of. We may be prejudiced, but we don't believe you can get better bargains in town than we are offering for tomorrow. It remains with you to prove whether you can or not. You are in a position to look over the entire field—if you've got the time; but if you haven't, and want to save time and money together, take our advice and come direct to Donaldson's Glass Block Store.

Mail Orders Will Be Promptly Filled at the Special Prices Quoted.
