MINNESOTA STEPHENS POINTS OUT SOME FLAWS

Change from County to District Bond System Will Be Expensive for the Farmers, as Will the Loss of 3 Per Cent Money from the State-Committees in Both Houses Have a Plan to Substitute.

Special to The Journal. Crookston, Minn., Feb. 1.—The entire northern portion of the state is generally interested in the character and provisions of the new drainage law that will be passed in connection with the new code. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have already been spent in drainage in this section and in every county there is still much more to do. Millions must be expended before all the land is properly drained.

Senator A. D. Stephens, before leaving for St. Paul last evening, was interviewed regarding the pending legislation. He stated that in this section of the state, and said: "I cannot answer the question as to whether the code revision will pass, but the legislature will certainly do its best to make use of the good work that has been done by the committee. However, it would be dangerous to pass it without close scrutiny. No one man can look through it. I have paid most attention to the drainage law, and evidence of the same existing in the state were not taken into full consideration by the framers of the measure.

"One of the changes proposed was from a county to a district bond system. Our county bonds for drainage purposes are sold at about 95 to 100 per cent, while a district bond would probably not sell at all. If it could be sold at a very much higher price, it would be demanded, which would have to be paid by the farmers.

"The drainage revision, in its present form, also goes away with the opportunity to borrow money for the construction of ditches from the state at 8 per cent interest. As the state has approximately $270,000 of state money used for ditch construction at 8 per cent, it can readily be seen that such a change would be detrimental to the interests of drainage and put an additional burden upon the farmers, who would have to pay the freight.

"The drainage committees have had several meetings, the best one being held with the state association of civil engineers, when final plans were worked out and approved, leaving its essential features intact. It will be the aim of the drainage committee in both houses to have this bill substituted for the measure presented by the revision committee in the new code.

WHY DOCTORS FAIL AND MRS. PINKHAM SUCCEEDS Plain Reasons Are Here Given to Explain Why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures When Doctors Are Powerless

A woman is sick; some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story. She holds something back. Lovers head becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and thus completely mystifies the doctor. It is any wonder, therefore, that the doctors fail to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the doctor for it. It is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. It was for this reason that years ago Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., determined to step into the shoes of her army of her fellow-beings are today constantly applying for advice and relief, and the fact that many thousands of them have been cured by following the advice of Mrs. Pinkham during the last year is indicative of the grand results which are produced by her unequalled experience and training. No physician in the world has had such a training, or has such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills, from the simplest local irritation to the most complicated womb disease. This, therefore, is the reason why Mrs. Pinkham, in her laboratory at Lynn, Mass., is able to do more for the ailing women of America than the family physician. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own suffering who will not take the trouble to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

INSURANCE COMPANIES GIVE UP THEIR FIGHT FOR THE NONCE. Anti-Compact Law Passed Two Years Ago Can Now Be Enforced by the Commissioner—Appeal of Companies to the Supreme Court Dismissed on Their Own Motion.

Stour Falls, S. D., Feb. 1.—The officials of the United States court in this city have received from the clerk of the United States supreme court a copy of a mandate in the case of the Hartford Fire Insurance company of Connecticut, and the Phenix Insurance company of Brooklyn, N. Y., vs. John C. Perkins, commissioner of insurance of South Dakota, in which it is stated that the appeal in the case to the federal supreme court has been dismissed.

The case was instituted in the United States court in this city in 1903. The legislature of that year enacted what is known as the anti-compact law, and the suit instituted by the insurance companies sought to have the commissioner of insurance restrained from enforcing the provisions of the new law apply to the foreign insurance companies doing business in the state.

The case was argued before Judge Carland of the federal circuit court in St. Paul, Minn., in favor of the state commissioner of insurance, in which the application of the insurance companies for an injunction restraining the commissioner from putting the provisions of the new law into effect was denied.

The insurance companies afterwards appealed the case to the United States supreme court, which on Dec. 22, 1904, made a decision against the insurance companies and in favor of the state commissioner of insurance, in which the application of the insurance companies for an injunction restraining the commissioner from putting the provisions of the new law into effect was denied.

Whether or not the action of the insurance companies in having the appeal dismissed is preliminary to making an effort at the present session of the legislature to have the terms of the anti-compact law materially modified or the law repealed, is not known.

Judgment Against Waugh's Bondsman. Judge Carland has granted judgment for $1,000 and costs against William C. Hollister and Thomas Scanlan, Sioux Falls bankers, as bondsmen for Frank Waugh. They are identified against loss by Waugh's attorney.

Waugh, who, it is alleged, was a member of the "Jack" Bullly band of horse and cattle rustlers, was arrested by the United States authorities last year on the charge of stealing horses on the Rosebud Indian reservation. The two Sioux Falls men, after being indemnified, were released to Waugh, who, it is alleged, was in the United States court. He was indicted for the offense charged against him, and failing to appear at the trial, the terms of the federal court bond was declared forfeited.

Waugh is understood to have fled to the British northwestern possessions.

Since the starting of the work on the railroad from Rapid City to the west, the city has been a quiet place. Should the Martin home- stead bill pass, it will bring in hundreds in the spring, who will make Rapid City headquarters while looking up new lands.

FARGO IS HOST TO STATE DEALERS. Hardware and Implement Men Open Conventions.

FARGO, N. D., Feb. 1.—Fargo is crowded to- day with hardware and implement dealers. The two state associations are holding their annual sessions in adjoining halls. The wholesalers and jobbers are charged with the duty of making a list of the names of the dealers in the state, and of making a list of the names of the dealers in the state, and of making a list of the names of the dealers in the state.

Several line exhibits of hardware and machinery are made by eastern manufacturing concerns. The visitors will be well cared for, and one of the features is a banquet to be tendered Thursday evening by the local dealers. The banquet will be held at the Hotel Fargo, and will be a most interesting affair.

The hardware men had a forenoon session at which Mayor Wall extended the freedom of the city, and a welcoming speech was made by H. B. Allen of Jamestown for the association. The real business of the convention will begin tomorrow and continue through Friday.

Folk to Try Bascom. Judge Pollock of Fargo will preside at the Bascom trial at Pembina. Bascom is a law partner of Hartzell, recently convicted of murder in the killing of Judge Pollock and Kneeshaw in the killing of Grand Forks presided at the Bascom case. The trials were removed from Cavalier county, where the crime occurred, and Judge Kneeshaw of that district was barred because of adivitius of prejudice.

The general approval of Fargo of Representative Treat's bill to make the failure to support a family a felony instead of a misdemeanor. There are several cases in the city where the new law could be applied forcibly, and some of the offenders absolutely refuse to do anything for their families. The police were short sentences in jail, where they are well fed and warm while their families continue to suffer.

The farmers' elevator movement in this state is meeting with a setback for the purpose of discussing state organization. The promoters announce that more inquiries have been received than for some months and that organizations are being planned in many towns so the work can be started this spring.
