ART SCHOOL FAIR

Valentines Made by Students Sold to Swell Picture Fund.

The St. Valentine's fair last night at the rooms of Minneapolis School of Fine Arts in the public library building was a complete success. It was given by the students to raise money for the purchase fund for the Alexander picture, in which the school is deeply interested.

About 400 valentines had been made by the students and practically all were sold. There was a large attendance, many coming in after the Teachers club concert at the Baptist church. Tea was served in Japanese fashion by the girl students in Japanese costume and make-up. A Spanish fortune-teller added to the fun and the revenue. The arrangements were made by W. Barry-man Higgins, Laura C. Campbell and Mary Best.

Social
Circles

What a help the Minikahda club is these dull days! There is so little going on that the members snatch eagerly at any excuse that will call them to the clubhouse, they they gather in as idly as the young married people and the younger set had a jolly bobbing party last evening. This evening dinner will be served for them in the attractive new diningroom, and after dinner there will be dancing and then a merry bobbing home.

The entertainment committee of the Minikahda club has planned a second dinner dance for the members for next Saturday. The last gathering in which table d'hote dinner, skating and dancing were rival attractions was such a success that there will probably be a number of these informal parties something more elaborate is being planned to celebrate Washington's birthday, but the arrangements have not taken a definite shape as yet and are only whispered among the committee.

Mrs. Charles S. Allanson will give a reception Wednesday afternoon at her home on Linden avenue, and in the evening Mrs. Allanson will give a group of friends for an informal dancing party. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Allanson will entertain at cards.

The Monday Card club will be entertained next week by Mrs. William Lineaweaver, 1775 Humboldt avenue S.

Miss Katherine Jewell Everts will arrive tomorrow morning from Boston to spend a week with her people at Prospect Park. Miss Everts brings fresh flowers in Massachusetts. "Bonnie" Trickett, in which she took the leading role Tuesday evening before the famous Twentieth Century club of Boston at the first presentation of the play in this country. The tickets for the performance were disposed of a week before and there was also a throng at the matinee rehearsal which was given last Saturday for the Wellesley girls.

Miss Everts will give readings of "My Lady's Ring" in the ballroom of Mr. and Mrs. George Partridge, on Groveland Terrace, Wednesday evening, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority has arranged a second entertainment for Friday afternoon in the assembly hall of the Y. W. C. A. building. Tickets for both readings may be secured at the Metropolitan music store.

Miss Everts will go from Minneapolis to the University of Iowa to visit her sister, Miss Mary Everts, who is dean of the women's department.

Mrs. C. M. Harrington of Park avenue will entertain at luncheon Wednesday, Feb. 22.

The Gamma Phi Beta sorority had a valentine party this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward W. Backus on Oak Grove street. Festoons of red hearts against a background of palms and ferns furnished an appropriate decoration for the room. Mrs. Backus was assisted in receiving by Misses John F. Downey, Henry F. Nachtrieb, Edward H. Crooker, Misses Katherine Toney, Sadie Presler, and Mary Louise. Covers were sold at prettily decorated tables and there was a slot machine for the sale of valentines. Frappe was served by Misses Ella Brooks, Lora Gooding and Misses Mary and Louise. A musical program was also an attractive feature of the afternoon. The sorority girls aided informally thru the rooms and the guests included the friends of the chapter.

Miss Nann Smith gave a luncheon this afternoon in Donaldson's tea room and the decorations were all in the popular green and white, with lilies of the valley as a centerpiece and white tapers on either side. After luncheon Miss Smith took her guests to St. Paul for a theater party.

Mrs. W. I. Carpenter of Girard avenue S gave a red and white luncheon at the University of Iowa. The room in honor of Mrs. J. D. McArdle, who leaves shortly for California. The centerpiece was of red tulips the tapers were of the same color and the red name cards were placed on either side. Covers were placed for eight and the guests were Misses McArdle, Ricker, Annis, Braze, Barrett, Johnson and Scott.

Interest in the university girls' basketball tournament is not confined to the campus by any means, for the girls have interested their friends until the rival merits of the different classes are being discussed everywhere. Following the eastern custom, each class will be given a corner of the army net Saturday night, which will be decked in the class colors and each class will also be attended by its mascot. Three games will be played, for the winners in the first two contests will play for the silver cup. If any class should win the cup two successive years, it will be the property of the class, but so far it has been won by a different class each year. The tournament is one of the big events of the college year, also it does not include dancing and other frivolous diversions. Interested in the university girls will be present.

Mrs. Thomas J. Falls of New York and Mrs. H. Davidson of Madison of Carrington, N. D. were honor guests at the pretty six-hand euchre party which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W.
Wurtzbach gave last evening at their home on Wurtzbach. A second group of fifty guests will be entertained this evening at the Wurtzbach home.

Mrs. L. F. Day entertained a group of women at the Minikahda club at luncheon Thursday afternoon and after luncheon there was skating on the club rink.

Mmes. Franklin B. Long, Louis L.
Long and Theodore McLaughlin gave the second of a series of card parties yesterday afternoon at their home on Groveland Terrace. Spring flowers, sunny daffodils, jonquils and primroses with ferns and vines were effectively arranged thru the living rooms, and in the diningroom pink carnations and ferns were used. Six-hand euchre was played at thirteen tables.

About 200 people attended the valentine fair which the students of the School of Fine Arts gave last evening in the Public Library building and a goodly sum was raised for the benefit of the picture fund. The guests were received by Misses Janet Gilliam, Emily McMillan, Nellie Todd, Elizabeth McCloud, Helen Harrington and Mrs. L. F. McGirk. A valentine booth at which clever valentines made by the students were sold was in charge of Miss Madge Bartlett, Miss Louise

Pinekey, Clarence Ganghey and John Spencer. Misses Una McClatchie, Reba Ward, Alice McClellan, Marie Fillmore, Marie Backus, Edna Stewart, Olive Larson and Ida Wilson were in the Japanese lanterns and cherry trees. Japanese umbrellas and lanterns aided in conveying a Japanese impression. Miss Fish and Miss Savage told fortunes in a gypsy tent and frappe was served in a flag-draped corner by Miss Margaret McMillan, a group of young women.
Mrs. W. S. Tubbs and Miss Carmichael of St. Paul gave a delightful musical program during the evening.

Thirty-five of the younger set in Kenwood had a jolly sleighing party last evening as guests of the Optiminity club. After a ride around the lakes supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hopkins and the evening was closed with dancing in the ballroom of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Coolidge.

Miss Pauline Wood of the Franklin Heights entertained a masked party yesterday for the Misses Hazel and Mariel Von Hagan, who leave this evening with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Von Hagan, for Mexico.

had a valentine party today in Johnson hall. A cotillion was danced and the favor table was presided over by Mmes.
Walter Engstrom and Percy Jones.
Last evening the class, chaperoned by Mmes. T. M. Roberts, Perry Harrison and H. C. Truesdale, had a valentine cotillion in Johnson hall. Mrs. E. J.
Walters, who presided at the table, presented a number of figures in which hearts were used and valentines were favors.

Colonel and Mrs. A. B. Appin entertained last evening at the new home, 4205 Fifth street, which was decorated with flags and bunting. The guests were the members of Oliver P.
Morton post and corps. The prizes played in the game were won by Mr. and Mrs. John Constantine. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent, William De Saffery, Mmes. W. E. Booth, William Mead Booth and Master Robert Dennis appeared. The prizes were presented with a beautiful hand decorated game set, and a carving set, the gift of the corps. Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Appin, and Mrs. De Saffery were the recipients of the prizes. The prizes were filled with bonbons, the gift of Master Allyn Constantine, who also remembered Colonel Appin with a box of

THE HEKKING CONCERT

The Teachers' club presented Anton Hocking, the celebrated cellist, and Milla Balaban, the celebrated pianist, in their concert at the First Baptist church last evening, and altho the audience was somewhat meager in numbers it was highly appreciative. Hocking was in fine health and played brilliantly. It is to be regretted that his part of the program was so light. His first number was Max Bruck's "Kol Nidrei," a classic which was played with wonderful breadth and quality of tone and with elegant bowing. Technique, exquisitely faultless and clean, characterized the second number, "Seraiss" "Grand Fantasia de Concert," but insistent recalls failed to secure the expected encore. For his last number Hocking gave a group of three compositions, the "Lachmund," "Serenade," "Massener's," "Melodie," a trieto but lovely thing, and "Jeros's" "Polonaise." The audience favor he vouchsafed an encore, and an audible sigh went up from the audience as the opening strain of Schumann's "Traumerlied" were recognized. The exquisite strains, with their heart-touching power, were given the most intense attention, and the performance was one long to be remembered.

By some fortuitous chance, Mme.
Bouton's offerings were nearly all serions and a few even lachrymose. A little nonsense would have been welcomed as a change. Mme. Bouton is well known here, where her voice and method are highly appreciated. Her most ambitious number was the "High Priestess" aria from Herman's "Vineta." Of the songs, Tschakowsky's "Whether by Day, with his limpid accompaniment, was easily the most rejoiceful. Mme. Bouton was well received and as an encore sang a dainty little lullaby that was very sweet and effective. Max M. Herzberg was a thoroughly satisfactory accompanist. In addition to being an admirable technicist, he feels the needs of the soloist, and interprets most effectively.

DULUTH CLUB HOSPITALITY Federated Club Women Making Delightful Plans for Midwinter Meeting.

The plan of holding the midwinter breakfast meeting of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs in Duluth this year is an experiment to see whether it is feasible to hold this purely social gathering away from the central location of the twin cities. It is expected that the out-of-town attendance will equal what it has been in the twin cities, but a goodly number of women who enjoy getting together for social intercourse is expected. The club hospitality will be a benefit to women is a strong magnet and insures experience well worth the time, trouble and expense.

The meeting will be held Friday, Feb.
17, at the Spalding hotel, Duluth. The visitors will go up the afternoon or evening before and will be on hand for the council meeting at 10 o'clock. The council meeting will be followed by an informal reception and the breakfast will be served at 12 o'clock. The toast-mistress will be Mrs. G. O. Welch of Fergus Falls, president-at-large, and the following program will be given:
Address of Welcome, Mrs. L.
L. Washburn, Duluth; response, Mrs.
Welch; "The Three Cities," Mrs. C.
L. Atwood, St. Cloud; "The Girls' Training School in the Future," Mrs.
F. H. Barnard, Minneapolis; "The Work of the Federation in Minnesota," Martha Scott Anderson, Minneapolis;
"The Power of Right Living," Miss Gertie Schor, St. Paul; "The Eternal Womanly," Miss Margaret J. By-ans, Northfield.

Tickets for the breakfast are in the hands of the district vice president and the sale closes on Monday. The tickets for Minneapolis can be secured either from Mrs. W. B. MacLean, 2405 Portland avenue, or at the Metropolitan Music company's ticket office. It was not probable that reduced rates can be secured on the railroads, as this requires 100 tickets.

An executive board meeting will be held on Saturday at the home of Mrs.
J. W. Warrington. The visitors will remain over and many of the light social attentions are being planned for them.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the program which was given last evening in Dania hall by the Danish Singing society. The chorus work of the club was exceedingly good and showed careful training. Axel Skovgaard gave several violin solos, with his usual skill, and his numbers were received with enthusiasm. Miss Beatrice Gjertsen has a sweet soprano voice and her solos were among the good things on the program. Misses Christine Nilson and Irene Brown contributed piano numbers, which they gave with musical understanding.

The Holy Rosary Dramatic club was obliged to bring its play "An American Gentleman" to an abrupt close last evening, owing to the sudden illness of Miss Rosemary Malloy, who took the part of Florence Meredith. Miss Malloy was taken ill during the first act, and, much to the disappointment of anticipating audience, the play had to be stopped. No matinee performance was given this afternoon, but those who hold tickets will find them good for the play whenever it is given.

Mrs. Josephine Bonaparte Rice will give an illustrated reading of "Ben Hur" in Plymouth church, Monday evening, for the benefit of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church. C. E.
Van Looze will direct the stereopticon, of a comedy in three acts, "Breezy Point," by Helen Marshall Locke.
