

CITY NEWS

Buying a Home?

See advertisements of leading real estate dealers in

SATURDAY NIGHT'S JOURNAL

THE WEATHER

The Predictions. Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder Friday and in west portion tonight; brisk westerly winds.

Weather Conditions.

The temperature has continued to rise during the past twenty-four hours in the lake region and Mississippi valley and thence westward to the Rocky mountain region.

AROUND THE TOWN

Leather Dealers Convened.—The Minnesota Leather Dealers' convention opened this afternoon in the room of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club.

Looted Barber Shops.—Thieves broke into two barber shops on East Franklin avenue last night, looted the quarter-inch slot gas meters and stole razors, clippers and hones.

Lecture by Rev. Dr. Bushnell.—Rev. Dr. E. Bushnell, pastor of Westminster church, will deliver a free lecture on "The Canadian Rockies and the Selkirk" to the members of Westminster congregation and their friends at Westminster church tomorrow at 8 p.m.

NECROLOGICAL

HONORED IN DEATH

Funeral of Judge Austin H. Young Was Largely Attended Today.

The funeral of Judge Austin H. Young was held from the family residence, 1919 Clinton avenue, today at 2:30 p.m.

H. A. BENNETT died Feb. 15, at 1 o'clock a.m., at the Swedish hospital. He was born April 24, 1837, near Chatham, Minn., and will be buried Friday at Hager, Wis., the home of his brother and the burial place of his father.

COLD COMING AGAIN Drop in Temperature Starts from the Northwest.

"Colder" is the weather man's prediction today, but there need be no fear of an immediate recurrence of the recent chilly weather.

The Palace Clothing House. Laundry satisfactory, or money back.

Buying a Home?

See advertisements of leading real estate dealers in

SATURDAY NIGHT'S JOURNAL

THE WEATHER

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder Friday and in west portion tonight; brisk westerly winds.

MURDEROUS THUGS IN BOLD HOLD-UP

ROB DR. MUELLER AND SHOOT HIS COACHMAN.

Letter May Die from His Wound—Highwaymen Were Lying in Wait When Doctor Returned—Men May Be of Notorious 'Hub of Hell' Gang—They Escape.

Emil Rogatz, Dr. Philip Mueller's coachman, who was shot last night by murderous thugs who had laid in wait in a dark corner of the veranda and held up the doctor when he returned to his home, 1920 Second avenue S., is near to death at the city hospital, with but a slim chance to recover.

The highwaymen have not been arrested. The victims of the robbery were able to get but a poor glimpse of the robbers and the police have little to work on.

Shot the Dog, Too. Dr. Mueller returned home shortly before 10 o'clock last night and was accompanied by his coachman.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

One of the bandits pointed his revolver at Mrs. Mueller and commanded her to stand still, but she turned and ran screaming thru the house, alarming the neighbors.

BIG CONTRACT FOR ELEVATORS

TWENTY-NINE BIG STRUCTURES FOR MINNEAPOLIS FIRM.

Will Be Built Along New Line of the Soo Road from Thier River Falls Minn., West to Kenmare, N. D.—Will Be Owned and Operated by Atlantic Elevator Company.

A big contract was put thru on 'change today, under which there will be built for the Atlantic Elevator company of Minneapolis, a line of twenty-nine country grain elevators in Minnesota and North Dakota.

The details have been completed and the contract let for the machinery and furnishings. This interior work will be done by the Link & Co. company.

The houses will stand along the new line of the Soo road from Thier River Falls, Minn., west to Kenmare, N. D., one house at each of the twenty-nine principal stations.

Originally the Atlantic Elevator company was organized by the Soo road and was so operated for many years, the railroad company still retaining an interest in the growth and extension of the line of houses.

Dry Clean, Press Suits, $1. Waists, 50c. Vests, 30c. Hoff's Toggery Shops, M27J.

Corpse Walked Out of a Room

Varsity Strong Man Voted a Splendid Actor

Emment of Jocularly Introduced, Inadvertently, Into the Convention of the Funeral Directors—No Move to Include Course in Embalming in University Curriculum Today's Addresses.

Oscar Fryckmen, the university strong man, assumed a new role yesterday. Members of the funeral directors' association say he can do anything that the strong man with the same success that he achieved as a subject of the undertaker, he should challenge Sandow without delay.

But when Fryckmen, correctly dressed for the grave, rose from his place and made a laudatory address, there was a decided sensation among those who had not been present when Fryckmen volunteered. The surprise was slight, however, compared to the commotion among male students, who occupied the back seats.

The incident livened up the afternoon session and some of the latecomers have been subjected to a great deal of merriment.

Members deny that an effort is being made to install a course in embalming at the university.

The course will be limited to embalming of the dead, but no action has been taken. Yesterday the association proposed by resolution, for an advanced course in embalming, which will include lectures from university professors, but it is not the intention to attempt to make a course out of the curriculum.

The program of the convention ended this afternoon and the members will attend the Unique theater in a body tonight.

HE WAS OBSERVING

Accused Fireman Talked Golden Rule Policy on Police Court.

Alexander F. Allen, janitor of the Wisconsin flats, Portland avenue and Seventeenth street, was tried in police court this morning for violating the smoke ordinance.

The testimony of the inspectors was that clouds of smoke were continually rolling out of the chimney.

Judge Smith replied that Allen was on trial and not the courthouse fireman. The case was continued to allow Moffett brothers, owners of the building, time to get new grates.

UNMOVED BY SENTENCE

John Brummer Must Go to Stillwater for Seven Years.

John Brummer, convicted of attempting to kill his wife, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary at Judge H. D. Dickinson yesterday afternoon. The prisoner appeared unmoved by the sentence.

FIRE IN BOARDING HOUSE.

Fire, originating from an overheated stove, destroyed the boarding house of Mrs. C. J. Meaghan, 271 Summit place, St. Paul. The loss of building and contents was about $3,000. It was owned by W. W. Shaw.

LOOK FOR DISAGREEMENT

Quist-Kilchli Suit Now in the Hands of the Jury.

EDITOR JOHNSON THANKS COMRADES

GOVERNOR'S NEAT LITTLE TALK AT ASSOCIATION GATHERING.

President McDonald Pays Tribute to Stine and Hall—Committee to Revise Constitution and Bylaws.

C. F. McDONALD, St. Cloud Editor, Who Presides Over State Editorial Meet.

Two hundred members of the Minnesota Editorial association were present in the council chamber of the St. Paul city hall today, when the annual convention was called to order by President C. F. McDonald of St. Cloud.

Gov. Johnson was first introduced. "I take peculiar pleasure," he said, "in performing the task allotted me of welcoming to Minnesota the editors of this state"—and a smile went around the assemblage.

Governor Thanks the Editors.

The governor thanked the editors present for the fair-minded manner in which they had taken part in the recent campaign. Said he:

"It is, as President McDonald has said, a country paper in Minnesota which should showy and rancor or bitterness towards me in the fight. Fighters there were and hard fighters, too, but they fought cleanly and hit above the belt.

Returning now to my capacity of country editor, it is a pleasure for me to be with you again, as I have been a comrade for the past eighteen years.

The governor recalled a remark he had once heard the late Ignatius Donnelly make before the association, nearly twenty years ago, when he said that if he had the country press behind him he could beat the governor of the state.

"He never did secure the confidence of the country press and therefore he never attained either of those positions," said the governor, but I feel that the great support of our country press was for me and I am deeply grateful to it."

President McDonald responded in appropriate terms and then read his annual address, which included an account of the visit of the members to the St. Louis fair last June.

He suggested that it was high time that the constitution be revised and a set of by-laws drafted. He recommended that a committee be appointed with- out delay to attend to this matter.

Tributes to Stine and Hall.

High tributes of esteem were paid by Mr. McDonald to C. P. Stine, secretary of the association, who has announced his intention of retiring, and to H. P. Hall, who resigned from the board of the state press association, and who for twenty-five years continuously.

Of H. P. Hall he said: "A charter member, twice its president, two years its treasurer, twenty years its secretary, and all the time an enthusiastic member of the association, Mr. Hall occupies a place in our hearts which no other man can ever fill."

A committee of five, President McDonald, J. E. King, W. M. James, W. A. Foland and J. C. O'Connell, was appointed to revise the constitution and draft a set of by-laws.

A request for such a contribution was received from J. M. Ressler, president of the Nye Memorial Circle, and from Miss L. W. Ellis, state organizer for Minnesota of the International Sunshine society. The committee is composed of French, C. C. Eastman and W. R. Hedges.

WORKED OLD GAG ON TRUSTING POLICEMAN

The desk sergeant at police headquarters and the secretary of the Humane society are looking for the practical joker who reported this morning that a white horse, without a blanket, had been standing on the street directly opposite the Lyceum theater all night.

The Palace Clothing House. Repair Hats, Shoes, Linen, Underwear, Cloths, Fur.

NOT IN FAVOR OF BOND ISSUE

REAL ESTATE BOARD DISMISSES CITY WATER SUPPLY.

Professor Winchell Explains His Theory of a Subterranean Source—City Engineer Rinker's Reply—Mayor Jones' Views Explained in a Letter to Representative Johnson—Further Inquiry Desired.

The Minneapolis Real Estate board has declared against the advisability of issuing bonds at this time to the extent of $1,000,000 for a new filtration plant to improve the Minneapolis water supply.

The decision was reached after a spirited discussion in which the opponents to the filtration plant urged that the bonded indebtedness of the city was already too great and taxpayers over-burdened.

Professor Winchell was given an opportunity first to explain his theory of the subterranean water supply.

Professor Winchell's theory was interesting and in brief his theory is that this city is underlain by two strata of water-bearing stone, the first of which is about 200 feet deep.

These subterranean water supplies are, according to his theory, fed by the Mississippi river, which it has been claimed loses a part of this water into the city and the claims are here substantiated.

Professor Fletcher of the university followed Professor Winchell and presented facts with regard to the experience of other cities in this country and in Europe. He did not believe the well supply permanent.

Other Artesian Wells. Andrew Rinker, city engineer, presented facts about the city's experience in connection with the large underground sewer to show that one outlet for water from the sandstone stratum was sure to affect other outlets in the form of wells.

There was a baby show at the Bijou this morning. The presence of the mamma's joys was due to an advertisement in the paper.

About thirty babies, accompanied by their mothers, applied for the job. Although the number fell short, the chances are that if more had shown up, Mr. Hanlon would have been obliged to take the rest cure.

Some of the infants were only about two months old and one good mother cried when she was told her child was too young.

Sally Lawrence was the first applicant. Sally lives on the East Side, and is as black—very black. Accompanied by two little fuzzy-headed girls, she made her appearance at the box office.

"How many, me good woman?" asked Mr. O'Donnell. "My, my," he said, wiping the perspiration from his brow. "I really never fully appreciated the argument of the race suicide theory before."

Things went well until one woman became worried over the possibility of getting her own baby back. "How well did you get the form mother as she looked at the flabby little piece of humanity she held in her arms."

"You can tag it any way you wish," was the suave reply. "Well, I want to be sure of it," she replied spiritedly. "My little honey, dew is such a sweet little dear, that I am sure some other woman will try and get it if I don't keep my eye on him."

There was imminent danger of hostilities when Mr. O'Donnell placed himself between the combatants. "One woman who submitted her 'cheek' announced she was sure her baby would make a great singer."

The babies will take part in a representation of a baby show on the St. Louis pike and will be given a whirl at a mammoth nursing bottle.

Failure at Fairbault. A petition in bankruptcy has been filed jointly by Horace D. Farris, Charles E. White and De Hart M. Barton, partners in the Novelty Rattan and Toy company of Fairbault.

Mr. Jones Denies His Position as to Water Filtration. In a letter to Representative Johnson, the mayor practically incorporated the statements made in his message to the city council, Jan. 2.

He says he is in favor of a pure water supply, but that the matter what the cost, but that there is a difference of opinion whether the bond issue is necessary. Personally he would be eager to avoid the issue of $1,000,000 in bonds if possible.

THE GREAT GAME

"To what is my success due? More than anything else, to bargains and ready money to take them."—James Levelhead, Esq.

The Savings Bank of Minneapolis.

ADAM HANNAH, Treas. Cor. 4th Street and 2nd Ave. S

A PLEA FOR THE SMALLER TOWNS

L. A. ROSING TALKS TRANSPORTATION TO THE GROCERS. He Gives His Theory as to Rates, and Says Industries Should Be More Widely Scattered—Protest Made Against Trading Stamps—Convention Declares Itself on Legislation.

Transportation overshadowed other topics at the morning session of the state grocers' and general merchandise association. It was discussed by L. A. Rosing of Cannon Falls, president of the Municipal League of Minnesota.

Mr. Rosing said it was time for organization for protection of rights. The period of mental feudalism was rapidly approaching and the problem was, thru modification of our system, to use the powers of these mental feudal lords for the building of prosperity.

"The day has come when nothing can be expected from competition in the regulation of railroad rates and transportation. We must depend on state and national control of railroad rates. The transportation question is the most important question of today."

There was a baby show at the Bijou this morning. The presence of the mamma's joys was due to an advertisement in the paper.

About thirty babies, accompanied by their mothers, applied for the job. Although the number fell short, the chances are that if more had shown up, Mr. Hanlon would have been obliged to take the rest cure.

Some of the infants were only about two months old and one good mother cried when she was told her child was too young.

Sally Lawrence was the first applicant. Sally lives on the East Side, and is as black—very black. Accompanied by two little fuzzy-headed girls, she made her appearance at the box office.

"How many, me good woman?" asked Mr. O'Donnell. "My, my," he said, wiping the perspiration from his brow. "I really never fully appreciated the argument of the race suicide theory before."

Things went well until one woman became worried over the possibility of getting her own baby back. "How well did you get the form mother as she looked at the flabby little piece of humanity she held in her arms."

"You can tag it any way you wish," was the suave reply. "Well, I want to be sure of it," she replied spiritedly. "My little honey, dew is such a sweet little dear, that I am sure some other woman will try and get it if I don't keep my eye on him."

There was imminent danger of hostilities when Mr. O'Donnell placed himself between the combatants. "One woman who submitted her 'cheek' announced she was sure her baby would make a great singer."

The babies will take part in a representation of a baby show on the St. Louis pike and will be given a whirl at a mammoth nursing bottle.

Failure at Fairbault. A petition in bankruptcy has been filed jointly by Horace D. Farris, Charles E. White and De Hart M. Barton, partners in the Novelty Rattan and Toy company of Fairbault.

Mr. Jones Denies His Position as to Water Filtration. In a letter to Representative Johnson, the mayor practically incorporated the statements made in his message to the city council, Jan. 2.

Ezemozone advertisement with logo and text: Ezemozone. Skin on fire. Burning, itching, scaly, oozing eczema healed by Ezemozone. Don't dose the stomach with poisonous drugs. Remove the cause by killing the germ. That soothing, cooling touch of Ezemozone is almost supernatural. It's guaranteed—our faith is there. Meet us half way. All druggists. ECZEMOZONE CO., Minneapolis, U. S. A.