

BOTH SIDES ARE HOLDING FIRM

All Traffic Discontinued on the Upper Peninsula's Trolley—Several Shot in Riot.

Special to the Journal. Calumet, Mich., Feb. 27.—The strike on the Houghton County Street Railway company's lines continues. No settlement has been reached today, and all traffic has been discontinued. Local officials are awaiting instructions from Stone & Webster of Boston, who control the corporation, before proceeding further.

The strikers are very orderly and so far have refrained from violent measures. All damage to property is being done by their sympathizers. They are operating bus lines and in this manner obtain additional funds to continue the struggle.

The whole trouble seems to center in the question of the union affiliating with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, the streetcar officials refusing to consummate this action.

A blizzard is raging today and it will take some time to open the lines after a settlement is reached, as the tracks are damaged and blocked.

One May Die. James Rowe, who was shot Saturday evening in a riot in Laurium, caused by the strike, hovers between life and death.

James Cummings of Chicago, a motorist who is alleged to have shot Rowe, is still in the hospital, but is closely watched by the police, and will be arrested as soon as he is able to leave.

At a joint meeting of the strikers and Trades and Labor council in Hancock a resolution was adopted endorsing the strike and tendering the union men all moral and financial support possible.

Several arrests have been made and it is said that the rioting for boys was delayed by the police.

Mayor Ryan of Red Jacket has called a meeting of the mayors of the copper country cities to consider the situation.

Osceola Mine Trouble. At the old branch of the Osceola Consolidated mine, operations are still at a standstill, the trammers refusing to work or to let the miners go underground until the wages are raised or the days shortened.

They say that unless a settlement is reached soon the men at other portions of the Osceola will go out in sympathy.

GREAT CATHEDRAL IN BERLIN OPENED

Emperor William's "Protestant Mecca" Is Dedicated with Imposing Ceremonies.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Emperor William's mecca for Protestants, the Evangelical Cathedral here, was consecrated today in the presence of a most brilliant assemblage, among who were delegates from all the Protestant nations.

The service was simple and stately and was enriched with wonderful music. Bishop Potter of New York and a long list of American clergy sent a lengthy telegram of congratulation to the emperor.

The nave was filled with some hundreds of known personalities of one of the most worldly courts in Europe clad in scarlet and gold, blue and white, black and yellow and a maze of other color combinations.

The ambassadors and their wives, including Mr. and Mrs. Tower, sat on the first bench below the chancel with Chancellor von Bunsow in Iowa. Identical to them were the diplomats of lesser rank, members of the cabinet and foreign clergy.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S GOWN AMERICAN

Woven, Designed and Made in the United States, and Patterns Destroyed.

New York Sun Special Service. New York, Feb. 27.—The gown Mrs. Roosevelt will wear at the inaugural ball in Washington next Saturday night is made entirely of American materials and by a New York city modiste.

The silk was woven in Paterson, N. J., and after enough had been made for Mrs. Roosevelt's dress the design was destroyed. Likewise the pattern used by the modiste was burned after the material had been cut.

Altho it will be extremely simple, the gown alone costs $1,000. It is an electric blue silk, with a design of golden feathers in medallions. Small figures of flying birds are woven between the medallions. Both the waist and skirt are of the same electric blue.

Golden Thread Woven In. A golden thread is woven into the silk. At night the lights in the ball-room will bring out the glitter of the gold, and the gown will change from blue to gold with each wave of the material.

Slivers and stockings of the same silk will complete the costume, and Mrs. Roosevelt will wear a large electric blue feather in her hair.

More than a hundred yards of chiffon and forty yards of taffeta were used by the dressmaker, and the costume is believed to be one of the handsomest gowns of its kind ever made.

A Lexington avenue modiste made the costume. Much care has been taken to prevent the public from obtaining a description of the gown. It was the wish of Mrs. Roosevelt to surprise Washington society with the creation.

The Gown Described. The gown is made after the empire style, the bodice being of the Louis XV. design. At the shoulders a quantity of beautiful old lace which has been in Mrs. Roosevelt's family for several generations is used in trimming.

The neck is cut square, with a tucker of shirred chiffon across the front. The sleeves are plain frills of pleated chiffon. About thirty yards of silk are used in the skirt, which has a train a trifle longer than regulation length.

The skirt has a wide circular sweep and is very full. From the girdle to the tip of the train is a stretch of seventy-eight inches. The lining is of the same shade. Twenty yards of taffeta and chiffon were used in the lining.

There are rows of the pleated material half way up to the girdle. A three-inch edge of daintily frilled chiffon is at the bottom. In the petticoat twenty yards of taffeta in chiffon are used. About thirty yards of silk are used in the skirt, which has a train a trifle longer than regulation length.

GIRL'S CARD WINS A RICH ALASKAN

Tossed Into Bale of Waste in New Jersey, Cupid's Message Pierced the North.

New York Sun Special Service. Camden, N. J., Feb. 27.—Details of a remarkable romance, which Uncle Sam, thru his mail service, acted as chief aide to Cupid, followed quickly on the formal announcement today of the marriage of Miss Carrie George of this city to Charles H. Duntun, a millionaire mine owner of Delomi, Alaska.

The couple became acquainted thru a card played by Miss George in July, 1902, in a shipment of waste to Duntun's smelting works. A letter of inquiry developed a regular correspondence and Miss George meeting Duntun in Seattle in January, where they were wedded, and now are living in the bridegroom's home in the north.

Miss George was the confidential agent of a dealer in raw silks in Philadelphia. Workmen were binding a bale of waste, and Miss George was watching them. She had several cards bearing her name and address in her hand, and on an impulse of the moment she dropped one into the bale.

"There's a little messenger to the wide, wide world," said Miss George, laughingly. "Let's see what comes of it."

Charles Duntun had gone to Alaska within his brother in the first rush to the Dawson gold fields. After a year of vain prospecting he struck a rich vein of ore in Delomi, and now is many times a millionaire. He happened to see the card in the waste, and the following several weeks of hesitation Miss George replied. The wedding is the result.

71 HAYDENS BEG JOB FOR KINSMAN

Only One Surname on Petition of Hoosier for a Postmaster-ship.

By W. W. Jermans. Washington, Feb. 27.—Leroy Hayden wants to be postmaster at Lowell, Ind., a small town in the northwest corner of the state, and the entire Hayden clan has come to his assistance. He recently sent to Congressman Crumpacker, in whose district Lowell is situated, one of the most unique petitions ever seen in Washington. It carries seventy-one names, all of them Haydens. There are ninety-one members of the tribe in and near Lowell, and the applicant has rounded up all but twenty of them.

The Haydens went to the country around Lowell in 1837, and they have since increased rapidly. Even the given names are similar. On the petition there are a dozen John Haydens, and they distinguish themselves by the use of numerals, and are known as John Hayden No. 1, John Hayden No. 2, and so on up to No. 12. Similarly, there are half a dozen Marie Haydens, who are distinguished in the same way. The petition has been turned over to the president.

Indians as Soldiers. Army officers do not agree with the Indian commissioner as to the value of the Indian as a soldier. There has never been much military confidence in the Indian as a soldier, and it is doubtful if the training for that purpose at Carlisle will be regarded as a special benefit by the Indian. From that time on the training at that institution, there is admittedly another side to the project in that the Indian may be made a better and more useful man by the education of the youth at Carlisle for military service. There is no question that the discipline will be a good thing, even should the student be called upon to enter into suitable soldiers. The experience of the government with the Indian as a trooper was not entirely satisfactory, to describe the situation mildly, but it must be said, also, that in the early days the Indian had no such training as is proposed at Carlisle. There is a lack of appreciation that the new commissioner of Indian affairs, Mr. Leupp, understands the Indian question better than any of his predecessors, and his hope for the improvement of the Indian youth will be received with due respect.

Danish Hens Industrious. The Danish egg trade is cited by American consuls as an illustration of how, thru combination and systematic effort, an industry in a comparatively short time may become of the greatest importance. Up to 1867 nobody in Denmark thought of exporting eggs, and very little attention had been paid to the raising of the fowls. From that time on efforts in this direction were made with surprisingly good results, and in 1895 a company for the export of eggs was formed. In 1896 the value of exported eggs was nearly $2,000,000, and reached $6,000,000 in 1902. The number of eggs exported in the latter year being 36,000,000 dozens. The dividends paid to the members of the association were more than $1,000,000 in 1902. This Danish company has now 33,500 members and 500 local branches, which are under the direction of a central office. Each local branch collects the fresh eggs in its district and ships them to a certain export port. From the moment they leave the collecting district all expenses are defrayed by the company, which also guarantees the payment of the local branch of the eggs. Each local branch has at least ten members. The eggs collected must be shipped within four days.

The American hen is herself a great breadwinner, but she isn't to be compared with her Danish cousin. A time has been applied to the egg industry of the United States would yield annual profits of at least $25,000,000, and still leave enough eggs for the supply of the home demands.

LET THE OLD MEN LIVE, SAYS OSLER

But He Sticks to His Notion that They Should Quit Work.

New York Sun Special Service. Baltimore, Feb. 27.—Dr. William Osler has at last been moved by the widespread criticism of his position on the "comparative" and "absolute" usefulness of men at the respective ages of 40 and 60 to make the following signed statement:

I have been misquoted in the papers and I should like to make the following statement: First—I did not say that men at 60 should be chloroformed. That was the point in a novel to which I referred, and on which the novel hinged.

Second—Nothing in the criticisms has shaken my conviction that the falling power of the world has been done and done by men under 40 years of age. The exceptions which have been given only illustrate the rule to be for the general good of men at 40 were they relieved from active work. We should miss the energies of some young-old men, but on the whole it would be of the greatest service to the sexagenarians themselves.—William Osler.

WEST INDIES WANT AMERICAN RULE

People of Jamaica Fear Uprising of Blacks and So Want Britain to Let Go.

New York Sun Special Service. Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 27.—A great deal of excitement has been caused in Jamaica by the decision of the British government to forward all white troops from the British West Indies and disband the West India regiment. A movement has been set on foot to protest in the name of the people of the colony against the plans of the British war office and admiralty.

To the inhabitants of Great Britain the maintaining of garrisons in this part of the world is only justified by one consideration—the possibility of attack on the West Indian colonies by foreign countries. The government at Washington, however, has practically guaranteed the West Indies against investment. Consequently the problem, from the point of view of the British, takes this form:

"The United States government has assured to us the peaceful possession of our West Indian colonies; why should we be to the expense of maintaining any garrison in that part of the empire?"

The people here do not fear foreign invasion so much as domestic disorder. The black inhabitants are likely to rise up at any time. Within ten years they have revolted five or six times, and each time there was a lot of trouble in quieting them.

The fact is that the West Indian colonies are no longer deemed important or necessarily integral parts of the empire. If the government at Washington were to say to the people of Great Britain, "Hand over your West Indies to us and we will look after them," the thing would be done in the twinkling of an eye.

The West Indian colonists, white and black, both hope that before long Britain will hand them over to the land of the stars and stripes.

STATEHOOD TAG ON INDIAN BILL

Senate Amendment to Admit Oklahoma and Indian Territory as One State.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Senator Bailey today introduced an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill for creating one state of Oklahoma and Indian Territory. The senate and house today agreed to the conference report on the army appropriation bill, which provides for this bill. This bill carries the provision relating to retired army officers, affecting the pay of General Miles. The naval bill was then considered in the senate, while in the house the sundry civil bill was taken up.

Senator Dubois introduced in the senate a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment prohibiting polygamy and polygamous cohabitation.

ROCKEFELLER PAYS IN TITH TO THE CHURCH

New York Sun Special Service. Lakewood, N. J., Feb. 27.—John D. Rockefeller attended service at the Baptist church with his wife yesterday. When the collection box was passed he declared his son-in-law had sent me. "Another spirit appears," he announced. "It is a young man, smooth shaven and with high cheekbones. He, too, has a message for you."

Still another spirit appeared, according to Mr. Rockefeller, a bald-headed man, with side whiskers, who is dressed in old-fashioned style. "These were all the spirits who would appear that day, and I was told to come again in a fortnight, when Falls expected to have a message from my wife for me. Of course, the three spirits who appeared were those who were placed in the man's possession. Two of the spirits have not yet departed this mortal realm."

Head that Falls was having great trouble in securing a photograph of my wife, so I had a picture of her given to him, thru the same indirect channel. I called again, received a message from my wife, and it was announced my spirit photograph would be ready. Soon it was produced. The only spirit I recognized were those of my two living sons-in-law, Frederick and John D. Rockefeller. Among the other spirits were Indians, Puritans, Arabs and beautiful maidens, whose photographs have graced old magazines and newspapers.

How Pictures Are Made. The method employed in printing the spirit pictures, so the spirits appeared to be grouped around my head and shoulders, is as follows: The photograph is reduced to a transparency in certain places. Behind these thinned places small films or plates, with likenesses of the Puritans, my sons-in-law and the picture printed as a composite whole. There are several other methods, but this is the main one.

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPH INDUSTRY EXPOSED

Leader of Spiritualistic Cult Tells How He Helped the Fakir Fake.

New York Sun Special Service. Chicago, Feb. 27.—Dr. George B. Warne of Hahnemann hospital, a leader of the spiritualistic cult in Illinois, yesterday revealed the inner secrets of spirit photography, explained how the credulous were deceived, and denounced the mystic art as a barefaced fraud.

Declaring that spirit photography as practiced by the "fakes," the physician showed how these photographers secure pictures of departed relatives of their clients and by a simple method known to all photographers, reproduce the picture of their client with pictures of the spirits grouped around his head and shoulders.

The spirits have an earthly appearance; some wear standing collars and watch chains, which do not emanate from the etherial world to the uninitiated layman.

Added interest was given to Dr. Warne's exposure, which follows the report from New York that Dr. Isaac C. Funk of Funk & Wagnalls, purchased a spirit painting from the Bangs Sisters in Chicago, when it was learned that the Bangs Sisters "are all the rage" in Chicago's most exclusive occult circles.

Patrons in High Life. Such men as Judge Eugene Cary, Nestor of Chicago, and Senator J. H. Mitchell of Oregon, indicated in connection with the land frauds in that state, are patrons of the Bangs Sisters, and have paid the mediums for spirit paintings of departed relatives.

The spirit painter from the Bangs Sisters in Chicago was to the people of Great Britain, "Hand over your West Indies to us and we will look after them," the thing would be done in the twinkling of an eye.

The West Indian colonists, white and black, both hope that before long Britain will hand them over to the land of the stars and stripes.

He called on him, giving him my name and address, and posed before his camera. The spirits were not working that day, he finally announced. "Call again in two weeks and I think they will be in the running order."

Of course, I was prepared for his game, and this merely strengthened my suspicion that the spirits were not working that day developed later. After taking my picture at the first sitting in order to get the spirits to appear and pose for a photograph with me, it was necessary to collect pictures of my departed relatives.

This I made easy for the gentleman. Thru a chain of friends, who were anxious to investigate spirit photography and to see the pictures of the spirits, I made easy for the gentleman. Thru a chain of friends, who were anxious to investigate spirit photography and to see the pictures of the spirits, I made easy for the gentleman.

"Ah!" he said, as I sat before the camera. "I have a message for you. He is a handsome young man, with a carefully curled mustache. His forehead is high and broad and he is well clothed. He has a message for you. Thereupon he repeated the message which he declared my son-in-law had sent me. "Another spirit appears," he announced. "It is a young man, smooth shaven and with high cheekbones. He, too, has a message for you."

KELLINGTON GETS A WEEK'S DELAY

LIVELY MEETING OF THE FEDERATION COUNCIL HELD. Charges and Countercharges Involving Kellington and Rogan Are to Be Thoroughly Sifted—Organized Labor Aroused to the Importance of Having the Quarrel Settled and Settled Right.

The Federation Council held one of its liveliest meetings of the history yesterday. While rumblings indicating the approach of a storm had been heard in labor circles, none knew it would break so suddenly. But now that it has happened, an opportunity by the matter will be probed to the bottom, and if there has been anything done that is questionable the guilty parties will be made to suffer for their acts.

Saturday evening a meeting was passed around that the charges of A. E. Kellington, secretary of the Mill Employees' union, against the members of the Federation Council were to be taken up, and the announcement brought out a large number. The meeting was a hot one, but when it was over little had been accomplished. Action was postponed for one week to give Mr. Kellington an opportunity to present his case to the board, which, it is expected, will be done next Sunday at Alexander's hall.

Nearly everyone connected with the labor movement explores the publicity given the charges against Mr. Rogan and the Federation Council, but now that the public is in possession of the information the disposition is to make sure that the public understand that organized labor does not countenance anything wrong in the conduct of its affairs.

Both men involved have many warm friends who are earnest in defending them. However, the charges against Kellington that Mr. Rogan met him the evening he departed for the San Francisco convention and made him an offer of $1,500 if he would leave the publicity given the charges against Mr. Rogan and the Federation Council, but now that the public is in possession of the information the disposition is to make sure that the public understand that organized labor does not countenance anything wrong in the conduct of its affairs.

HARMONY KEYNOTE OF THE MEETING

MAGNATE WATKINS TALKS OF BASEBALL OUTLOOK. Has Deals Pending for Several Big League Players and Is Sure That the Deals Will Go Thru—Minneapolis Get Good Games for the Holiday Dates.

"Harmony was the keynote of yesterday's meeting of the club owners of the American association at Chicago," said W. H. Watkins, owners of the Minneapolis club on his arrival this afternoon.

All old differences were set aside, all obligations were paid up, and the league starts out on 1905 with a clean slate. The office of the league will be in Milwaukee at the request of the major league club owners who got into Chicago during the playing season and it would require special trips to see President O'Brien.

I have a number of deals on which I am not prepared to give out just now. I have deals pending for a catcher of national reputation, a 300 hitter, and I am sure I will get him. I am also dickering for a major league outfielder to work with center and Dave Jones will have an infielder and a pitcher. These, I think, will all go thru.

Ferry will probably be traded for another pitcher and Archie Stimmel has been traded. There is nothing to the matter of Minneapolis going into the Western league. This is an American association town and will stay so. I have nothing to uncover, as all of the sales of last fall were bona fide, but if Ford, Thomas or any of the boys fall away from the big leagues I have first call on them.

I go to Cincinnati to attend a meeting Friday, and will have more to say when I get back. After that I will get ready for the spring trip. I am not bragging, but if the 1905 team does not play ball from the get-go there is nothing in the story of a delay in the opening of the season. Days ago I will have about the same holiday dates as last year. Kelly of St. Paul and I will meet and arrange the dates this week. The schedule will not be out for several days and I have naturally tried to get the best of it for the mill city.

Indigestion?

I Offer All Stomach Sufferers a Full Dollar's Worth of My Remedy Free to Try.

I can afford to offer a full dollar's worth free because mine is no ordinary remedy. Ordinary remedies treat symptoms. My remedy treats the causes that produce the symptoms. Symptom treatment must be kept up forever—long as the cause is there. My treatment must be stopped as soon as it has removed the cause for that the nerves continue to require the same.

Stomach trouble is not really a sickness, but a symptom. It is a symptom that a certain set of nerves is ailing. Not the voluntary nerves, the enable you to walk and talk and act—but the automatic stomach nerves over which your mind has no control. So I make this offer to you: How many breaks them down and cause indigestion. How many means them out on a course of drugging. How many may bring a kidney, heart and other troubles through eye strain. I have not room to explain how they are cured. So I make this offer to you: a full dollar bottle—not a sample, but the regular standard bottle, he keeps constantly on his shelves. The drugger may bring you a bottle, but it will not cure you.
