Big Corried Opera Sale.—A messenger boy at 7 o'clock took a position in front of the Metropolitan Music company's store at 7 o'clock last evening. He was the first line for the single ticket sale, which opened this morning for the coming season of grand opera at the Auditorium. The messenger was later joined by several more, who remained for several hours—then being relieved by others. The line continued to grow until at 9 o'clock when the ticket office window was opened and the music store was packed with people. Notwithstanding the big sale today there are still many of the good seats left at all performances.

NECROLOGIC

ALEXANDER F. McCULLOCH, aged 69, died at 4:30 p. m. Sunday at 1408 Stevens avenue, after an illness of several days. Also a daughter for several years, he had been confined to his bed for some time. He leaves a wife, Flora B. McCulloch, and a son, Wallace D. McCulloch. His wife died in 1899. Mr. McCulloch was a member of Westminster church. Of late years he had not been in business, but when the family came, in 1874, from Newville, Pa., he was in the manufacture of furniture with his brother-in-law, the late D. M. Gilmore. MEN TO BE TOGGED OUT AS ROBBERS

TWO SUSPECTS OF MUELLER HOLDUP IDENTIFIED.

Dr. Mueller Believes William Clairmont and Henry Blagove Were Highwaymen Who Robbed Him—Both Are Under Arrest on Other Charges—Chief Doyle Thinks It a Mistake. Two men suspected of complicity in the holdup of the residence of Dr. Phillip Mueller, 1920 Second avenue S., Feb. 15, when Dr. Mueller, the cookman, was shot and fatally wounded, are under arrest. They are William Clairmont, who was committed to the workhouse last week on charges of larceny, and Henry Blagove, 1107 Lyndale avenue N. They have been identified by Dr. Mueller and the street car conductor who carried the trio to St. Paul after the holdup.

Clairmont was arrested last Tuesday by Detectives Morrissey and Stavio on a charge of picking pockets at the Dewey theater and Blagove was taken into custody Saturday night by Detectives Brown and Crummy. Dr. Mueller went to the workhouse after Clairmont was committed and saw the man. He also saw Blagove at the central station. "They look just like two of the robbers," said Dr. Mueller today. "In size, physique, frame, voice and gait, they are exactly like the men. If they are guilty of the Blagove murder, the leader of the gang and the man who did the shooting, Clairmont is the man who has been called No. 2. I don't know who the third man is.

"For two years I lived less than two blocks from the home of Blagove. He lived at 1107 Lyndale avenue N. and I lived at 1201 Sixth avenue N. We both worked at the central station. He claimed that he had never seen me. I am sure that he knew me well.

"Of course I don't want to say for certain that they are the right men, but I am quite sure that they are. We will dress them up the way they were the night of the holdup and then I am sure that I can identify them.

Police Superintendent Doyle is inclined to think it is a case of mistaken identity. He says that the men were arrested on other charges and are being held for other offenses.

On the other hand, Detectives Brown and Crummy are certain they have the right men and say they know who the third man is. They say he is now in Minneapolis and hint that he is known in Minneapolis. It is rumored that he is a brother of Clairmont and that Clairmont has given a fictitious name.

TALKING TO CHILDREN

Health Authorities to Give Series of Lectures in Public Schools. A course of lectures on sanitation and pure food are to be given in the public schools by the health department and it is thought that by the close of the present school year every school child in the city will have given a lecture. The talks to the pupils will be given by inspectors of the health department and the children will be informed as to the different ways in which Minneapolis is made the healthiest city in the United States.

PRAISE FOR GADSKI

Magazine Writer Tells of Her Wonderful Powers as a Vocalist. In an article in the last issue of the Booklovers Magazine devoted to a discussion of Madame Tauscher-Gadski, Katharine Metcalf Roof says: "This year the opera-going public is so unfortunate as to be deprived of the color and light of Madame Gadski's art; but the larger, more going public throughout the country is the gainer there by. And in another respect the musical world is the gainer, for this artist will now be free for time to devote herself to the singing of songs, a more difficult and exacting art than that of opera singing, and one which the crowded schedule of the opera company makes practically impossible to its members. In this more delicate art is revealed both the woman and the artist of the world."

OPEN RESCUE HOME

Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Seguin Find Indorsement in the Work. A rescue home for girls has been opened at Fifth street and Fifteenth avenue S. by Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Seguin, members of Grace Lutheran church, whose work is endorsed by Dr. John T. Nelson, Rev. Martin Nordstad and Rev. A. F. Frum. Mr. Seguin has been engaged in active mission work at Amboy, Minn., Chicago and New York. He and his wife opened a sewing school at Amboy a month ago, and already have 200 girls to look after. They also contemplate opening classes in cooking and domestic economy. They ask the co-operation and assistance of the charitable-minded people of Minneapolis.

WAS TO MODERN FOR CONVENIENCE

HOSPITAL KITCHEN MUST HAVE OLD-FASHIONED CHIMNEY.

Refrigerator, While Constructed on Scientific Lines, Must Have a Pipe for Carrying off Water—Dry Washing of Dishes Idea Abandoned and Sink Is a Necessity. It is possible for a hospital kitchen to be too modern for convenience and the observance of the most ordinary sanitary rules. Such a kitchen was planned for the city hospital, where the latest equipment is being installed in all departments, but the board of charities and correction decided that some of the time-honored utensils would have to be used.

When the board decided to build the new wing to the hospital, they planned for the most modern and convenient kitchen in the northwest. The architect and builders, acting on this suggestion, fairly outdid themselves and demonstrated to their own satisfaction that smoke and other sanitary nuisances were unnecessary.

In this new kitchen there was to be no stove, no range, no sink, no drain, no water to carry away the water. One member of the board of charities and correction said that the evident intention was to have a kitchen that would be air and to wash the dishes with some air and to wash the dishes with some water.

The contract was let and the kitchen built, but the inventors of kitchen compounds failed to keep up the pace set by the architect's plans, thus placing the board in a humiliating position. If the ordinary river water is to be used there must be some way of getting it out of the building, and if the ice is bound to melt, there will be still more water to get rid of. The board of charities and correction has decided that a chimney will probably be put in before the kitchen is ready for use.

All of these things will, of course, come under the head of extras but it is reported that the board of charities is bound to have them and the contractors will probably be sent in by the contractors at the next meet. No one knows just how the mix-up came about, but all are sure that the kitchen will be in working order.

John Lind, now "former congressman" from the Fifth Minnesota district, returned to Minneapolis today from Washington. He is a true citizen in which he has been a republican congressman from a republican district, a democratic governor of a republican state and a democratic legislator from a strong republican district, he will settle down to private life. Mr. Lind had little to say of public affairs, but on the other hand was keenly interested in local matters.

Mr. Lind did not care to attempt to prophesy what the present congress will do with the railway question. "There has not been a time in years," said he, "when more pressure has been brought to bear on congressmen to influence them in favor of certain pending legislation. This is especially true with the railway question was before congress. On one side the various corporate interests of every state in the union were urging their congressmen to be conservative, and on the other side was the public and the many public associations clamoring for radical action."

From what I have been able to hear I do not think the San Domingo treaty will go through even with the amendments. On my way home I had a long talk with certain senators who are on the inside, and he expressed a similar opinion.

"Commissioner Garfield's report on the beef industry making the beef interests of the country out to be practical objects of charity, created consternation in Washington. The report is regarded as a whitewash pure and simple. To allay some of the intense feeling the statement was given out that the condemnatory portion of the report, if it contained any information against the beef interests, was in the hands of the attorney general and would not be made public until the case was brought into court."

Mrs. Lind and Miss Jennie Lind returned with Mr. Lind, and for the present the family will be at home at the Hampshire Arms. "We go to the farm soon," said Mr. Lind, "and I shall become a plain, farmer citizen."

"This means," said Assistant Postmaster T. E. Hughes, "that the legitimate publisher is to be protected as long as the department is in existence. The second-class rates are one cent a pound the actual cost to the government for transportation is eight cents a pound. The letter postage has to bear this burden. Therefore, the government does not propose that the worthy publisher shall come into competition with the mails with concerns who boost their papers by premium-secured subscribers and at the same time out their orders for advertising space by the use of paying subscribers will have to be sworn to before the United States officers and the number of those who receive the paper for other reasons.

PRESIDENT FAUNCE OF BROWN 'U' HERE

GUEST OF BAPTISTS, "OLD GRADS" AND FRATERS. Emment Educator Finds a Nugget of Value in Dr. Osler's Recent Speech—Brown Alumni and Delta Upsilon Men His Hosts at Dinners—Reception to Him Tonight.

President W. P. F. Faunce of Brown university, is the guest of the Baptists of the city today. This morning he took part in the Baptist sisters' meeting. A luncheon in his honor was given by the alumni of Brown university at noon. At 5:30 this evening, the resident members of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, of which Dr. Faunce is a member, will give a largely attended dinner at Dayton's tea rooms in the visitor's honor.

The principal gathering in Dr. Faunce's honor will be a reception by the Baptist union of the city and Calvary church at Calvary church. Dr. A. T. Fowler will welcome the guests to the church and Frank Pratt, president of the Baptist union, will extend greetings to Dr. Faunce for the union and improvement of the city.

This morning a Journal representative asked Dr. Faunce upon what educational features Brown university was proud to emphasize. He replied: "On American history, on account of the unsurpassed facilities offered in the John Carter Brown library, which is the greatest collection of books in existence on that subject. We are also giving much attention to the departments of civil, mechanical and electrical engineering under university auspices. Living in a university city where this arrangement has always prevailed, you may not appreciate the significance of this point, but in the case of engineering, it is given almost wholly in technical schools, apart from university influence and cultural studies. We are trying to counteract the general feeling that engineering is a dry and unattractive profession."

"What do you think of one of Dr. Osler's suggestions favoring peripatetic professors?" was asked. "There is nothing in it," he replied. "I think the peripatetic idea a good one."

President Faunce addressed the Baptist ministers on "The Faculty of Christ Jesus in Ethics." He spoke especially on the importance of his teaching in modern society. He said: "The doctrine of the survival of the fittest is being applied today in commercial, national and international life in ways which have the most important social and political consequences. It needs to be supplemented by the teaching of the Christian religion regarding the attitude of the strong toward the weak, toward the poor or nation. The fittest to survive, according to the new testament, are not the strongest nor the cunningest, but those that are morally best."

The alumni luncheon at 1 o'clock at Donaldson's was informal. The guest list included: C. D. Belden, Austin; W. G. Crosby, W. B. Silver, Duluth; Rev. J. T. Tanner, P. B. Wheeler, Faribault; J. N. Murdock, Wabasha; Professor George Huntington, Northfield; Rev. J. R. Marston, Richfield; J. P. Knowles, Professor W. E. Thompson, Dr. W. Young, La. Ordway, St. Paul; A. M. Blaisdell, H. M. Blaisdell, H. W. Jones, Frederick Paine, F. R. Pratt, John Day Smith, P. M. Woodman, C. C. Curry and D. B. Parsons, Minneapolis.

OUT OF "SYSTEM"

Poor Department Cannot Use Big Lot of Printing. The new system of bookkeeping recently installed in the city offices will probably not be used in the poor department, as was the original intention of the Jones-Caesar company. A letter from the Chicago firm was received recently saying that the work of the poor department would be greatly hampered if the system was installed. An oversight was responsible for the placing of a large order for printing and the blanks cannot be used. The department shall continue under the old system, with a few minor changes. The system now used gives the same results as the Jones-Caesar system, and the exact condition of all accounts can be learned at any time the information is required.

MAKE MORE TWINE

Prison Plant Will Increase Supply for Present Year's Crop. The board of control announced today that the increased capacity of the state prison twine plant would become operative on May 1. This will increase the output of twine for the coming crop by 600,000 pounds. The product of the plant will be sold to work already been sold to the farmers.

"RELIABLE"

What makes a RELIABLE Optical Store? Integrity and skill are indispensable but not enough. A store is reliable when you can rely upon finding there the one thing needed to give YOU comfortable, perfect-fitting glasses, no matter how difficult your case may be.

Reliability is the result of wide experience and the accumulation of very uncommon facilities. No city in the world has a more reliable optical store than the one so long familiar to you at 604 Nicollet Avenue, in Minneapolis.

SUREST SIGN OF THE SPRING

RUMORS OF WAR IN TOWN ELECTION TALK. Big Fight on in the Village of Excelsior, With License as the Point of Dispute—Nominations in St. Louis Park and Tonka Bay—Candidates Are Telling of Plans.

With the coming of spring, politics engage the attention of the towns of the county with the regularity with which sap flows from tapped maples. The usual fights are in evidence. At Excelsior several independent tickets have been announced and will greet the voters at the election. An effort has been made to place a ticket in nomination that would stand for village improvement. It was pointed out that Excelsior should take advantage of the opportunities for growth and improvement which have been indicated by the advent of the trolley.

At a largely attended caucus Saturday evening the following ticket was placed in nomination: Village chairman, H. W. Morse; trustees, William Deo, M. J. Bennett and J. Hemphill; recorder, A. S. Aggar; treasurer, G. P. Dickinson; assessor, S. T. Shaw; justice of the peace, F. R. Brown, Jr.; constable, George Mungar; and, should he be elected, he will exert every effort to advance the interests of the village and will enforce the laws as they stand upon the village records. Several tickets will be in the race for license again carry, the saloon element must live up to the village ordinances.

Heading the opposition and independent ticket will be L. P. Sampson, president of the village. The fight against the saloons which has been waged during the year by Rev. Donald McKenzie of the Methodist church will be an issue and the anticlicense people have strong hopes of carrying the election.

The rival factions will make every effort to win out, and politics of the kind that will stand for order, and should license again carry, the saloon element must live up to the village ordinances.

Nominations in other towns are as follows: St. Louis Park—President of the council, C. B. Waddell; trustees, L. Larson, E. C. Best and C. J. Miller; recorder, D. W. Gibson; treasurer, E. M. Trenkly; assessor, M. Rice; justice of the peace, William Lugin; constables, J. S. Williams and M. Devore.

Tonka Bay—President, C. F. Wheeler; justices, F. I. Baumman, C. E. Van Duzee, F. E. McKusick; treasurer, A. Z. Leavering; recorder, Lucien Sovick; assessor, J. B. Phelps; constables, E. W. Becker, F. I. Fink.

At Deerpark—President, H. J. Burson; clerk, Arthur Dyer; trustees, Horace Hill, Russell Bennett, Lucian Swift; assessor, William Peet; treasurer, Al Wagner.

An Age of Knocking. The large number of strenuous articles against insurance companies, trusts, etc., are undoubtedly doing good, but at the same time they are educating in us a desire to "roast" somebody or something rather than to praise the good things. A man is happier and healthier to keep his mind in a pleasant mood of satisfaction with the world than in a critical state. Golden grain belt beer produces good nature and thus benefits both mind and body. It's just what we all need when we're tired and inclined to be fretful, and that means almost every day—for most of us. It is really worth while.

GUESTS OF EMPLOYERS

Hamm Brewing Company's Representatives Attend Banquet. The Theodore Hamm Brewing company gave a banquet at the Hotel Ryan, St. Paul, Saturday night for the heads of the various departments of the home office, the traveling men, and the company's principal representatives in the larger cities of the northwest. There had been an all-day conference at the offices of the company to review the business situation and discuss trade conditions and other matters of every interest. This is the first meeting of the kind in the history of the company and it will be made an annual affair.
