Archbishop Dedicates Chapel.—The DeSalle institute chapel, West Island avenue and Grove street, was dedicated by Archbishop John Ireland this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The chapel was erected by Mrs. J. S. Coughlin, in memory of her husband.

Will Open Plant April 1.—The Nelson Paper company will have its new plant at Fourth avenue NE and Main street ready for occupancy by April 1. The capacity of the plant has been increased to $8,000 pounds a day, the product being building and roofing paper.

Pierce is Penitent.—Austin Pierce, arrested upon complaint of his six-days' bride on a charge of non-support, has decided to support his wife. He paid her $20 before being released from custody and promises in the future to see that she does not want for the necessities of life.

Newsboy Stole Papers.—A. Bloom, a newsboy who was arrested for stealing a bundle of newspapers from the office of the Fifteenth avenue S. last Sunday morning, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was sentenced to the state training school. He was placed on probation.

Franel's Trial Begun.—Charles J. Franel, charged with embezzling a ring valued at $14 from John Pantura, had his trial in police court this morning. The defendant claimed that he had purchased the ring for $14 and admitted that he still owes $9 on account. The case was continued until tomorrow.

Singer is Assisting.—Professor M. C. Martin of Alden, Minn., is the soloist assisting Rev. Dr. Pratt of Albany, the evangelist, who is conducting evangelistic meetings afternoon and evening at the First Baptist church. Large crowds attended the meeting last night. The afternoon services were at 3:30 o'clock and the evening meetings at 7:45.

Probably a "Writer."—Although pens and penholders for the use of the postoffice are stolen about once a week, the ink in the wells has been spared until today. At an odd moment when the watchman was in another part of the building, an enterprising thief made a round of all the wells with a large fountain pen-filler carefully extracted all the ink.

Bail is Reduced.—Assistant County Attorney J. F. Bornhagen consented to the reducing of the bail of Fred A. Blixt, Lewis Larson and Mike Brown, employees of the First National bank, arrested Tuesday night, from $1,000 to $500. The cases of Blixt and Larson were continued until March 23 and that of Brown until March 21.

Bail was Forfeited.—James Cain, who caused a commotion in front of the Penny Arcade, Nicollet avenue, yesterday afternoon and was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, forfeited $25 bail by non-appearance in police court this morning. An attorney appeared in court later and entered a plea of guilty. Judge Waite accepted the plea and Cain is to appear in court tomorrow.

Alex McKinnon's Expulsion.—E. S. Woodworth, president, and other members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, today said that Alex McKinnon, who was expelled from the chamber Tuesday, had been given notice of the charges against him and ample opportunity to defend or explain the transaction. This he failed to do, and the action was taken in compliance with the rules of the chamber.

Two Parsifal Lectures.—Harlow Gale will give a lecture recital on "Parsifal" at the Metropolitan music company's room tonight, with piano illustrations. The rolls used in the illustrations were metronomized by Alfred Hertz, conductor of the first performance of "Parsifal" in this country. The numbers to be played are "The Swan," "March to the Castle of the Grail," "The Eucharist," "Heart's Affliction" and "The Redemption." Rubin Goldmark, the composer, will give a second lecture on "Parsifal" at 8:15 p.m. Friday in Plymouth Congregational church. No admission charge will be made.

THREE LOCAL COE BRANCHES FOUND

ONE WAS DESIGNED FOR WOMEN SPECULATORS.

In Them May Be Some Salvage for Creditors of Defunct Bucketshop—Deposit of $10,000 at Fargo Is Beyond Reach of Receiver—Some Supplies Valueless.

More possibilities in the way of assets of the Coe Commission company were discovered in Minneapolis today by Receiver Thomas H. Salmon. There are three branch offices in the city where there is a possibility that some salvage may be secured for the benefit of the creditors.

The first discovery today was the branch in the Beauvoir hotel on Third street E. between First and Second avenues. This was a regular Coe branch, running under the Coe name, and had been recently fitted up. There are two branches in the Century buildings, one on the ground floor at 404 First avenue S., and another on the second, which was especially for women speculators. It is thought that the furniture and fixtures in these plants belonged to the company and that they may be reckoned in the assets of the bankrupt concern.

Evidence in the company has been sliding along pretty close to the ground for some time coming in by every mail. Reports from banks at many of the points where the company did business show that there has been little or no money on hand for some time. Many of these accounts have been closed out since the first of the year, when the dark days began.

The trustee for the Coe Commission company will be unable to realize on one $10,000 deposit, which has been claimed as an asset for the defunct concern. About a year ago John Robinson, lumber dealer, used the commission company for money lost by their Casselton agent in the commission company's office. The jury decided in favor of the commission house, but Judge Johnson set aside the verdict and directed judgment for the lumber concern. The case went to the state supreme court and Judge Follock was sustained in order to permit the appeal, the commission house had to file bonds for the amount of the judgment and the costs. The company secured two local bankers as sureties and deposited $10,000 in cash to guarantee them. The remittitur in the case reached the local courts a few days ago and the judgment was satisfied. It amounted to $9,801 and the trustee for the commission house is unable to count that amount as an asset of the organization.

"There will be a large amount of dead loss," said one of the attorneys connected with the case today. "The business at the Canadian offices is the result of the reach of the present receiver and this may prove to be considerable. In addition there are several hundred dollars' worth of supplies on hand which will be a total loss. This includes costly calendars and catalogs, as well as all sorts of office stationery and advertising matter."

THIS WEATHER FAVORS GRIP AND TYPHOID

Mud, half-melted snow, dirty water under foot and a threatening sky above have served to make today the most disagreeable twenty-four hours of the past year. Rain or snow tonight and Friday is the prediction of the weather bureau, and no hope of pleasant weather is held out for some time to come.

HERBERT PUTNAM HERE

Librarian of Congress Visits His Old Friends in Minneapolis. Herbert Putnam, librarian of the congressional library, is in the city for a brief visit. It was he who brought the public library of this city to its high standard.

He went to Boston some twelve or thirteen years ago and there made an international reputation as a librarian, achieving standing in his profession that made him the logical selection for the honored position of librarian of congress. This forenoon Mr. Putnam visited at the state historical society, renewing his acquaintance with Secretary Upham.

DANGERS LURKING IN OLD CORKS

PHYSICIANS WANT HEALTH DEPARTMENT TO TAKE ACTION.

Corks on Water Bottles Are Used Until They Are Worn Out and Are Liable to Carry Infection from Diseased to Healthy Homes—Cases Cited by Physicians.

Corks in spring water bottles are a factor in spreading contagious diseases, say physicians, who recommend that the health department take a crusade to prevent a second usage of corks in water bottles. According to the physicians the corks are used by spring water merchants until they are practically worn out. They go from house to house and back to the headquarters. One day a bottle and the old cork might be in a house quarantined on account of diphtheria and the next day in a hospital. Altho the bottles are thoroughly sterilized before they are sent out from the springs, it is impossible to sterilize the corks.

One physician who was treating a case of diphtheria, saw one of the patients drink from the spring-water bottle and replace the cork. He immediately told the family to burn all the corks, and other physicians have advised their patients to do the same thing as a precaution against the disease. The evil has been brought to the attention of the health department, and if necessary, the water merchants may be compelled to use new corks with all bottles sent out.

This question has been under consideration by the doctors for some time and will probably be brought up before the several medical clubs. The practice of using the corks a second time is declared unsanitary, and physicians say an ordinance prohibiting it should be passed if necessary.

COAXED BOYS TO FIGHT IN SALOON

KEG OF BEER PRIZE FOR THE VICTOR.

Excelsior Aroused over the Affair Which Played a Prominent Part in the Defeat of the License Element at the Election of Tuesday—Joy over Victory.

Since the people of Excelsior voted to abolish saloons, some interesting facts have come to light, explaining the result of the spring election. Altho the defeat of the saloon element was largely due to the efforts of Rev. Donald McKenzie, who took the fight nearly a year ago, the crisis came two weeks ago, when a prizefight was held in one of the saloons. The participants were two well-known boys of the town, who had been highly respected. The saloonkeeper offered a keg of beer to the winner, and after the fight the spectators were invited to share the prize.

The amateur pugilists also indulged in a fight over the night, and many who had thought of the matter as a village, voted against it. It was an overwhelming victory for the antisaloon element. Many residents and property owners are elated over the election, especially since the town is to be practically a suburb of Minneapolis, when the trolley line is completed. The saloon licenses, however, are expected to be closed for the first time in eight years.

MISTAKE OF AN AGENT

BOARD OF CONTROL MEMBERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR RULING AS TO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY.

The rule requiring competitive bids on books for the university library was not made by the board of control, but by the board of control. The first information the members had was a recent article in "The Journal." On investigation it was discovered that the rule had been made by their purchasing agent at the university, Mr. Carter. He was acting under general instructions to buy everything possible on competitive bids, and, without knowing of a special understanding reached by the board of control and the regents before his time, when the board first assumed charge of the financial affairs of the university.

At that time it was agreed that the university authorities should buy books out of the $5,000 annual appropriation for the library, without interference from the board of control. The new purchasing agent, not knowing this, has been indorsing all requisitions for books, "Get competitive bids," and the university authorities naturally assumed that they were under a ruling of the board of control. The misunderstanding has been cleared up and the university authorities once more have a free hand in buying for the library.

SCHLICHTING A "COMER"

Former Minneapolis, in the City Today, Forging Ahead. Herman Schlichting of Deadwood, S. D., and formerly of Minneapolis, is in the city to attend the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Black Hills Brewing company of which he is general manager.

Since leaving here Mr. Schlichting has rapidly found to the front in a business way. His concern has prospered and he is an active promoter in an electric company, which is to supply the principal cities of the Black Hills. The company, which is capitalized at $3,000,000, and is backed by moneyed men in the east, will begin work on its plant in "Drops." Mr. Schlichting is a member of the city council of Deadwood and is looked upon as a "comer" politically as well as commercially. Mrs. Schlichting, who is well known in this city, accompanies her husband and will remain here about a week.

SITE CHOSEN FOR NEW 'U' BUILDING

INSTITUTE OF PATHOLOGY AND HYGIENE ON THE CAMPUS.

Will Be Built on the River Bank Facing the Mechanic Arts Building—Important Addition to the Medical College—Dr. Westbrook Outlines the Plans for Construction.

The next building on the university campus, an institute of pathology and hygiene, for which the legislature has already appropriated $105,000, will be built on the river bank northeast of the present anatomical laboratory, medical building and experimental laboratory and facing the mechanic arts building. This site was selected by the executive committee of the board of regents and as the plans for the building outlined by Dr. P. E. Westbrook have already been approved, work on this important addition to the medical college will begin at once.

In addition to facilities for handling the material in pathology and embryology, the south wing of the new building will contain the quarters of the state board of health. In connection with the work of the board, quarters will be provided for a Pasteur institute, the fourth of its kind in the country. The need for such an institute has long been felt among the medical men of the state, and the legislature has provided for its appropriation. New York, Baltimore and Chicago are the three cities in which Pasteur institutes are now located.

The new building will be 206 feet long and 70 feet wide. It will be three stories high in center and wings on each side will be two stories in height. The central section of the building will be given over to a museum and laboratory and to an immense amphitheater. The laboratory arrangement throughout the building is especially adapted to the needs of the departments, and a system of small and separate laboratories, all visible to the instructor from the center of the room, will be introduced.

VIEWED ANCIENT CITY

HARDWARE MEN STUDY THE ARCHAEO BUILDING METHODS IN SAINTLY SUBURB.

Pleasure before business was the rule with the National Hardware Dealers' association today. The delegates, visitors and friends assembled at the West hotel at 9 a.m. and left for a morning's outing in St. Paul. Charles Carver, secretary of the association, took the party down river. After visiting the new capitol and other points of interest, the visitors were entertained at luncheon by the St. Paul Commercial club. The final session was called at 2 p.m. All committees outstanding reported, including the two important committees on bylaws and nominations. The election of officers followed.

The St. Paul Hardware Association, under the leadership of Mayor D. P. Jones welcomed the visitors. F. C. Moys of Boulder, Colo., responded for the association. E. L. Miller of Duluth, responded to the St. Paul Hardware Association. A. H. Abbe of New Britain, Conn., discussed the "New England Hardware Trade"; James Gray of The Journal, followed with "Hardware in the Past"; and H. G. McCormick of Centralia, Ill., spoke on "The Influence of Association." President Bogardus closed with a talk on "Shop."

The convention has been most successful and the delegates are greatly pleased with the attentions shown them.

PENALTY IS HEAVY

Cigar Dealers Warned to Quit a Common Practice. Hereafter cigar stores will be prohibited from the use of display empty cigar boxes with indented brand and printed caution notice of factory, without a revenue stamp.

It has been the custom of many cigar stores to use such boxes so as not to injure the quality of their goods by having them standing in the windows. Thru an announcement received at the internal revenue office today it was learned that such boxes will be seized after May 1, and that a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500 will be imposed.

Murder Inquest Tomorrow.—A Christian inquest into the murder of Christian Schindeldecker, the St. Paul butcher, will be held in St. Paul at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

JOHN JR., BROKE UP MAMA'S LITTLE SKETCH

Budding genius in the person of John J. Rosenthal, Jr., struts about the stage of the Orpheum this week and if the public is none the wiser it is because a fond mama sees that said genius does not strut behind the wings or in front of the exposed doors. John J. Rosenthal is the son of one of the best known managers in American theatricals and Mrs. Rosenthal, better known as Kathryn Osterman, sketching this week a little sketch called "Emma's Dilemma." He has been of this world just thirty months, and twenty-four of these he has spent "in the business."

The picture was taken when J. J., Jr., was but 14 months old and was still rejoicing in the fact that he was "born in Ohio." While he has been known to cry, he is counted as the happiest kid in the theatrical business and travels everywhere his mother goes. In case he falls, as he often does, for his round Dutch legs are sometimes misguided, he laughs while others might weep. John J., Jr., made his professional debut at Omaha Saturday night. The function was informal and broke up the house as well as the company. His mother was playing her sketch with all the enthusiasm possible whilst combating an attack of laryngitis and had reached the most serious scene when the house suddenly burst into an uproar. Looking about she saw her son and her standing, an interested spectator, in the "center door, fancy" of the stage setting, the beheld of all beholders. His unexpected appearance broke up the act and he was seized and brought to Minneapolis forthwith. Now he is under guard, and only "appears" upon invitation. "Blood will tell, and heredity is responsible for many things" is the philosophy of the youngster's mother.

CRUSADE AGAINST ROOMING HOUSES

POLICE GATHERING EVIDENCE AGAINST PROPRIETORS.

First Arrest Made as a Result of Evidence Given in Police Court by Annie Mills—Other Arrests Will Follow as the Evidence Is Secured.

A crusade on downtown rooming houses of questionable reputation is planned by the police. The first warrant was issued today when Patrolman Hall and Rome made complaint against the keeper of one of these places on Third street S. The warrant was the result of the testimony of Annie Mills, arrested in the place last night by the officers, one of whom was in citizen's clothing, and was taken there by the woman who accosted him on the street. It has been known by the police that the proprietors of these rooming-houses had definite understandings with women of the streets, but no evidence of these compact could be secured. When Miss Mills was on the witness stand this morning she told the court of an agreement which she had with the proprietor of the rooming-house where she was arrested. Judge Waite issued a warrant for the arrest of the proprietor of the rooming-house to issue a complaint for the keeper of the lodging-house.

SAY COMMERCIAL CLUB LABORS UNDER DELUSION

Officials of the Minneapolis weather bureau say that the Commercial club is laboring under a delusion when it states that St. Paul is given a prominent place on the weather map, and Minneapolis is ignored. The Minneapolis station was established by a special act of congress, and is the sectional headquarters for the state. The seven-day forecasts are all under the Minneapolis station and all the printing, maps and reports are published here and bear the title of the Minneapolis station. In addition, the history of the monthly and annual reports for Montana are published in Minneapolis.

It is true that the daily map, issued at Washington, shows only St. Paul, but it is not generally circulated, while the maps issued all over the country, all the large cities sending out 500 or more, show the weather conditions in Minneapolis.

GOOLEY HAS TROUBLE WITH SOAP AGENTS

Seventy-two self-constituted experts on sanitation have taken up 108 hours of Clayton R. Cooley's time the past three weeks, trying to explain how the soap he uses can be kept clean and the air fresh. Mr. Cooley is custodian of the building, and when he declared three weeks ago in an interview in "The Journal" that he would clean and circulate fresh air and keep the building warm at the same time. One enterprising firm has offered a preparation that would clean up Lockup alley. Mr. Cooley sends them down to the lobby, and if the agent is not frightened out the chemicals are given a chance to prove their worth. None of them has made any impression up to date, but each trial lessens the number of agents who clamor around Mr. Cooley's door.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

This is an age in the history of the world's civilization when the doubting and investigating mind is at work as never before. This is one reason why Christian Science lecturers have been appointed, and it is customary for each lecturer to engage one or more of the Christian Science board of lecturers. Next Sunday at 3 p.m. Miss Mary Brooks, C.S.B., member of the Christian Science board of lecturers, will give a lecture on Christian Science under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Science, in this city. The admission will be free and all are invited to attend.
