DEATH COMES TO LORENZO D. DAY

PIONEER LUMBERMAN PASSES AWAY IN CALIFORNIA.

Was Spending Winter on His Ranch Near Riverside—Typhoid Fever Immediate Cause of Death—Was Son of Leonard Day, at One Time Leading Lumberman of the State.

Lorenzo D. Day, one of the pioneer lumbermen of the northwest and a well-known resident of Minneapolis, died last night at his ranch near Riverside, Cal. He was engaged in lumbering all his life, beginning in Minneapolis in 1854 in the first little mill erected at the falls of St. Anthony and continuing until his retirement from active business a few years ago.

He was one of the three sons of the late Leonard Day, in his time the most prominent lumberman in the state, the other two being J. W. Day and the late W. E. H. Day, who lost his life a short time ago in a railroad wreck.

Lorenzo Day was probably the most active of the brothers and retained his vitality to the last. He was 70 years old. Some years ago he acquired a small ranch near Riverside, Cal., where he and Mrs. Day spent their winters.

Three weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid and a complication with which his rugged constitution, Members of the family left last Wednesday for California, but could not have arrived in time to bid farewell to their father, as he died yesterday at 7 p. m.

The surviving members of the family, besides Mrs. Day, are Leonard A. Day, 630 East Fourth street; Mrs. R. A. Parke, 634 East Fourteenth street; Mrs. William E. Lucas, Urbana, Ill.; and Mrs. C. C. Prindle, 1908 South Irving avenue, and numerous grandchildren.

FATHER COMES TO SEARCH FOR HIS SON

H. B. Tyrrell, of Bellwood, Neb., came to Minneapolis today to assist in the search for his son, Talcott T. Tyrrell, the student at the school of agriculture, who is supposed to have committed suicide by jumping into the Mississippi on Tuesday last.

Friends of young Tyrrell cannot believe he has deliberately ended his life. They think he will appear and explain his mysterious absence. Apparently he was in the city of St. Paul on Monday, the day before the note addressed to his mother was found, and there is no reason, so far as is known, why he should care to die.

His disappearance has created intense excitement at the agricultural college.

MAY BE HIGHWAYMAN

Upon the identification of a scar on the back of his hand depends the question whether Hans Moullet, under arrest in the central police station, will be tried on a charge of vagrancy or of highway robbery.

Moullet was arrested today by Patrolman M. Duffy upon suspicion of being the man who held up Fred E. Russell, night clerk of the St. Anthony elevator in St. Anthony Park Wednesday morning and robbed him of 10 cents.

His disappearance has created intense excitement at the agricultural college.

Teachers have been instructed to warn children of the danger of the blank cartridges.

Hennepin County Teachers Speak Out About Cigarettes.

The anti-cigarette bill pending in the legislature was unanimously endorsed by 100 school teachers today at the meeting of the Hennepin County Teachers' association in the courthouse.

TRYING TO BEAT THE LIMITATIONS

SVEN MARKEGARD IS RACING AGAINST LAW.

A Washout, Wreck of Any Delay Will Permit Him to Remain a Charge on the State of Minnesota—Immigration Inspector Going at High Speed for Tidewater.

Sven Kundersen Markegard started on a deportation race to New York today. If he wins he loses. If he loses he wins.

Markegard landed March 23, 1905. Symptoms of his fever developed already. Under the two-year law by which aliens can be deported if they become a public charge, he would have escaped deportation, if the investigation had been delayed four days.

Inspector Davis will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning and will leave immediately for New York City. They will arrive in New York on the 27th and the papers will immediately be made out and Markegard will be placed on the boat which leaves on the 28th.

Inspector Davis also has Klaus Edward Lyounbered to be deported for insanity. Markegard has been confined at St. Peter and Lyounbered at Fergus Falls.

TRIED IN VAIN TO SAVE CHRIS NORBECK

Despite the efforts of the Humane society and his friends to save him from going back to state prison, Christopher C. Norbeck, who gained notoriety so much notoriety and a three-and-a-half year sentence for complicity in the "big mitt" graft under the Ames administration, was taken to Stillwater last night to serve sixteen months of his unexpired term.

One of the terms of the prisoners parole was that he should not indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors, but Norbeck has been drinking heavily for several weeks.

S. L. Van Etten, agent for the Humane society, was called to the Norbeck home on the report that Norbeck had been abusing his wife. The agent found Mrs. Norbeck with a black eye, but she claimed it was due to an accident.

Shortly afterwards Van was discharged by his employer, R. L. Pratt, for drunkenness. He went from bad to worse, and his arrest yesterday and return to prison were the result.

GIRLING DOESN'T SHY AT CHARGES

ANSWERS OFFICIALS' CRITICISM AS TO BARDWELL BILL.

Chairman of the Hennepin County Republican Committee Willing to Stand for the Bill—Says His Critics Have Attacked Him Personally and Ignored the Important Point.

Thomas H. Girling, chairman of the republican county committee, in an interview today, says that he is willing to stand sponsor for the Bardwell bill, now before the legislature, which proposes to place the city clerk, city attorney and city assessor under the municipal court on an elective basis.

"Up to the present time," says Mr. Girling in reply, "the gentlemen affected by this bill have done nothing but sling mud at me personally. They have not, as far as I can see, given one valid reason why this bill is not a good measure and why they should not become elective officers. They have missed the point entirely."

"They evidently lose sight of the fact that they are officers of the people and not of the city council exclusively. The present system tends to promote a ring or close corporation which has power to perpetuate itself. In thirty-three years there have been but three city clerks in Minneapolis. Moreover, this system of electing certain city executive department officers by the council is obsolete. In Chicago and other large cities it has been abandoned, and the city attorney and other officers are elected by the direct vote of the people. The city is divided into districts for the purpose of electing an assessor and a city officer should be the officers of the people and the people should be allowed to say who they wish as officers. I know that the people are in favor of this bill. I am willing to assume full blame for it and hope to see it become a law."

PUBLIC PRINTER MUST PAY FOR SMOKE PALL

New York Sun Special Service. Washington, March 25.—Public Printer Palmer has been convicted of violating the smoke law and fined $50 in police court.

He advanced the contention that the act did not apply to government buildings and the government printing office was exempt from its provisions. An appeal was taken and the case will be carried to the higher court.

President Roosevelt had complained that smoke damaged the White House and was a general nuisance to his family. In the crusade which followed, the White House was cleaned. Other courts have held that the government structures were exempt from the law.

PRISONERS ALMOST ESCAPE

Dig Thru Walls of Jail with Spike and Small Board. Special to The Journal. La Moure, N. D., March 25.—Two prisoners awaiting trial on a charge of "boot-legging" and burglary, who effected an escape from the La Moure county jail, in about four hours they managed to make an aperture in the "solid masonry" and all that remained was to kick loose a few boards and freedom was theirs.

The tools consisted of an ordinary twenty-penny spike six inches long and a small board with a broom handle. With these they burrowed thru solid stone wall some sixteen inches thick, removing about a half ton of stone and mortar, which they secreted under their bunks in the cell rooms.

Deputy Sheriff Barber appeared with the prisoners' supper just as the boards were to be removed, and the prisoners are now confined in cells while repairs are being made.

GOOD DISPLAY FOR PORTLAND

NORTH DAKOTA WILL RAISE FUNDS BY SUBSCRIPTION.

State Capitol Commission About to Organize and Begin the Work of Remodeling—Preparations for the Census—Game Wardens and Other Officers Yet to Be Appointed.

Special to The Journal. Bismarck, N. D., March 25.—Notwithstanding that the legislature made no appropriation for Portland, Minn., for the state exhibit to be represented with a good display, Warren N. Steen of Bismarck has consented to act as manager, and it is expected to raise several thousand dollars by popular subscription.

A portion of the exhibit used at St. Louis is already being packed, and Colonel Hester, director of the exhibit at Portland, has granted the state one of the best spaces in the agricultural building, being an end wall space 50x100 feet. This will permit the erection of the state's St. Louis booth and also give room for the Howersett cabin, which was one of the greatest drawing cards at the St. Louis exposition.

Another striking exhibit that will be made at the fair is that of the pottery burned from clay procured at Dickinson. This has been burned into the most exquisite shapes and colors of vases, jardiniere, tableware and other useful and ornamental articles.

CAPITOL TO BE REBUILT.

The state capitol commissioners, William Budge of Grand Forks, D. J. Laxdal of Cavalier and Andrew J. Larson of LeSueur, will organize the latter part of the month and prepare for the work they have in hand, which is the entire rebuilding of the old capitol and the construction of a suitable residence for the governor. The work of completing the capitol will probably require several years.

Plans for the governor's residence have already been submitted, calling for a three-story brick structure of ample size and convenience. It will be erected upon lots owned by the state and not far from the capitol. The entire state reservation for the capitol will be enclosed, and planted with trees to make a permanent and fitting surrounding for the administration buildings of the state.

The state board of university and school lands will meet the latter part of the month, and it is likely that D. J. Laxdal, land commissioner, will tender his resignation to qualify as capitol commissioner. In this event, it is understood that O. L. Heger of Benson county will be appointed land commissioner.

Governor Sleser has appointed H. M. Wheeler of Grand Forks delegate to the meeting of the American National Association, which meets at Chicago on April 20.

A meeting of the state supreme court will be held on Tuesday. At the recent session of the legislature a constitutional amendment was proposed, increasing the number of judges from five to seven, and providing that the judges be elected by the people.

The farmers of this vicinity have organized what is known as a farmers' exchange, which will handle produce and build an elevator here. A large amount of stock is already subscribed. The following officers were elected: President, E. P. Pettie; vice president, R. M. Johnson; secretary, Aug. Logering; treasurer, J. F. Brown.

LOST IN THE WOODS

Men of South Range Search Fruitlessly For Schubert. SUPERIOR, WIS.—Superior township near South Range is excited by an unsuccessful search for William Schubert, aged about 40, who has not been seen for a week, having mysteriously disappeared. All this week the men of South Range have been scouring the woods.

One of the most plausible explanations is that Schubert became suddenly deranged and wandered off in the woods where he may now be in a half-starved state. The search has been practically abandoned as hopeless. Schubert is unmarried and has been living alone on a farm three miles from South Range.

The Lake Superior & Southeastern railroad has filed acceptance on property across the bay in Duluth, which is wanted for the right of way, and has taken options of fifty-one acres near the south end of Superior, which it is believed will be held for shops, location being an ideal one for such.
