UNREASONING BUT HEROIC SACRIFICE

SURGEON COMPLETES AMPUTATION MADE BY WOMAN.

Mrs. E. H. Schlitz, who cut off her own toes to save money for her children, taken to a hospital—Thinks Only of Her Family's Welfare.

Mrs. E. H. Schlitz, who cut off her frozen toes to save money for her starving children, was taken to the western hospital today by the Associated Charities. A surgeon this afternoon removed several splintered bones. When she was examined by a visiting nurse of the associated charities yesterday, it was found that the dressing on her foot had not been changed for several days. There is danger of blood poisoning, but it is thought that it will be averted.

She was taken to a lunch room before going to the hospital, and at first refused to take anything but a cup of coffee, asking that the rest of the money be sent to her children. It was then explained that her children would be taken care of. She is half starved, which will delay her recovery.

"I have never seen such grim determination," said Manager D. Solberg today. "It is unreasoning, perhaps, but it is heroic. I understand that she froze her feet walking from St. Cloud to Cold Springs to attend to signing papers for foreclosing of the mortgage on her home."

AUDIENCE SOON LEARNED THAT "THE BAND IS A GOOD ONE, BUT CREATORE IS THE THING."

There is every indication that Creatore and his Royal Italian band will meet with a warm enthusiastic reception in Minneapolis. The seat sale which began yesterday morning has been most satisfactory from the manager's viewpoint, and it is evident that Minneapolisians are eager to see the leader, who has been so popular in New York for many years.

The following is what the conservative critic of the New York Tribune had to say about Creatore: "When Creatore came out before his band he was seen to be a man of sharp features and a tremendous shock of black hair. When he began to lead, raising his hand high above his head, shaking his hair, swooping out over the players, now on this side, now on that, a very Swedish in uniform, the audience was inclined to smile, but Creatore did not see the smile; he was busy getting music out of his band. Before many measures it became clear that his gestures were not a pose; his men obeyed them too keenly and heartily for that, and the magnetism that ruled the band yesterday morning has a genuine tribute to the power of personal magnetism, repeated at the close of the "Tannhauser" overture. The band itself is a good one, but Creatore is the thing."

The program Friday night will include the march from "Tannhauser," a grand selection from the "Damnation of Faust," and the sextet from "The Barber of Seville." The programs for the other concerts are as equally varied and attractive.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Complaint Against Sergeant O'Brien's Conduct at Haha Park.

Sergeant John F. O'Brien of the park police and on duty at Minnehaha park, will be the center figure in an investigation ordered last evening by the park board. A Minnehaha resident has made grave charges against the veteran park officer, and his name will be made by the committee on supplies.

Petitions for a canal connecting Lake of the Isles with Lake Calhoun, for a bridge over the north arm of Lake of the Isles, for a park along Shingle creek and for the expenditure of $10,000 on the East Side were referred to committees. The last-mentioned request was backed by a committee of East Siders, who represented that their section of the city paid one-fifth of the park taxes, but did not get its proportionate share of the benefits. Shingle creek and Columbia park have been neglected, they said, and the stairway at Bridal Veil falls has been broken down and useless for several years.

It was decided to expend $1,000 on the Parade, $3,000 on Kenwood parkway, and $4,500 for additional land for Lake of the Isles park.

FAIR TERMS ARE LIBERAL

Free Space and Power for Minnesota Manufacturers at State Fair.

Development of the department of Minnesota manufactures at the state fair of 1905 promises to be one of the important features of the exhibition. This year the exhibit will be broadened so that all Minnesota manufacturers may take space and exhibit their products, although preference will be given for "live exhibits," that is, exhibits showing processes of manufacture either of the entire article or of some part of the goods exhibited.

This decision is the result of a recent conference between William E. Leo, superintendent, and a committee of the Northwestern Manufacturers' association. The association will co-operate in bringing out a good show, and it is expected that the building will be well filled with interesting and instructive exhibits. No charge is made either for space or power, and each exhibitor is furnished with free admission for himself and for the person in charge.

At night the building will be well lighted and it is expected that no less than 250,000 will visit it during fair week.

BEAT AND ROB A LITTLE GIRL

HIGHWAYMEN BRUTALLY ASSAULT ROSELLA HELMAR.

When She Stoops to Tie Her Shoe Laces Two Men Strike Her, Grab Her Purse and Escape—Mother, Who Is Ill, Is Kept in Ignorance of the Affair.

Highwaymen wearing white waistcoats such as are used by barbers and waiters are thought to be the men who robbed and beat little Rosella Helmar last night on Sixth street S. and Sixth street N. The girl, who is in a serious condition, will recover. She remembers nothing of the occurrence except that she was struck and will not be able to identify her assailants.

A man who witnessed the affair is aiding the police and thinks he can identify the thugs. He says there were two men and that the larger one struck the girl with some short weapon. He then snatched her purse and ran with his companion toward the city hospital. Both the men wore white waistcoats and their daring seems appalling as the holdup occurred shortly before 8 o'clock. The police have a fairly good description of the men.

Rosella and her 13-year-old sister had been sent by their brother to Bain Brothers grocery store, 600 Sixth avenue S., to pay the bill. The purse contained about $65, the brother's month's wages, which had just been paid to him, and the money had evidently been seen by the robbers, when it was handed to the sister.

On their way Rosella stopped to tie her shoe laces and her companions left her. Two men stepped up and walked on one of them striking her a powerful blow on the back of the neck. She sank to the ground and while she was unconscious, her assailant and his companion ran away with the purse. Pedestrians heard the younger girl's scream and came to the rescue, but were too late to catch the robbers.

The girl's mother is ill with heart trouble, and has not been told of the brutal attack. The police are looking for the robbers, when they returned from a visit to the fish market and forgot to put his fish in the icebox. Unfortunately they were placed on an unused boat and were only discovered by an order which made the mission rooms famous in the locality for several days. After this experience Broom was not required to do further soliciting. He was later interested in the Young People's Holiness mission.

BIG ENDEAVORER COMING

Field Secretary VOGT WILL BE ENTERTAINED IN TWIN CITIES NEXT WEEK.

Field Secretary Von Ogdien Vogt of the International Christian Endeavor union will visit the twin cities April 12 and 13. Wednesday morning, April 12th, he will be given an automobile ride around the city by President T. H. Colwell of the city union. At noon he will enter the Commercial club, other guests being President Thomas B. Sykes of the Minnesota State union, President Colwell of the Minneapolis union, President J. E. Jacobson of the St. Paul union, and Chairman Del Loomis of the Baltimore convention committee of the Minneapolis union. Ways and means will be discussed for promoting an active interest in the national annual Christian Endeavor convention in July. Incidentally, Mr. Vogt will be shown the desirable Minneapolis location for the convention to be held in 1907.

In the afternoon Mr. Vogt will go to St. Paul to attend the banquet of that city. In the evening a banquet in his honor will be given at the St. Anthony Park Congregational church, to which representatives of all the Minneapolis and St. Paul societies have been invited, as well as the advisory boards from both city unions. At 8 o'clock, in the same church, a mass meeting will be held. Mr. Vogt will give an address will be held.

$40,000 BUILDING TO REPLACE ROOKERIES

H. Alden Smith will improve the corner of Fifth street and Third avenue S. now covered by six old rookeries. A two or three-story building of gray brick will be erected by Wallace & McWhinney, secretary of David P. Jones & Co., Mr. Smith's agents. The dimensions will be 8x150 feet.

The ground floor has already been leased to the Great Northern Manufacturing company, and the top floor will be divided into halls and lodge rooms. A. L. Dorr is the architect. He will have plans out inside of a week and in about a month work will begin. It is expected to have the building ready within ninety days. The property is part of the old Smith estate.

SHADYSIDERS ACTIVE

They Meet and Make Plans for More Improvements.

At the second annual meeting of the ShadySide Improvement association last night in Grace Presbyterian church of the city were elected the following: President, Wallace C. McWhinney; vice president, S. R. Gray; secretary and treasurer, H. F. Newhall; executive committee, H. J. Pollock, J. E. Bateman, J. E. Meyers, R. F. Jackson.

Discussion showed the sentiment to be in favor of lowering the Hastings & Dakota tracks, co-operation of other associations and property owners will be sought and the park board will be asked to assist in doing away with the mud and dust nuisances. The committee in charge of the agitation for maintenance of the level of the Lake of the Isles and Calhoun was continued.

THIS MISSION IS NEARING THE END

ONE BY ONE ITS OFFICERS HAVE GONE.

Some One Way, Some Another—With But Three Workers Left, the "Christian Union Mission" Is Winding Up a Spectacular One-Year Career in Minneapolis.

"After a year of pyrotechnics, the March 1st mission, an educational and benevolent purpose, and to conduct industrial training schools, refuge homes, missions, and evangelistic work throughout the world," has practically passed into a demerol. The mission room at 250 Fourth avenue S. has been cut up into small rooms for lodgers and the sign, "Furnished Rooms to Rent," has succeeded the call to prayer.

The organization is now reduced to three members—E. W. Cole, president; Mrs. Thomas Seargeants, vice president; and Thomas R. Seargeants, treasurer. The treasurer reports a surplus of $100 in the bank, which may possibly be attached for rent due. The president and treasurer have practically promised to meet at the offices of the Associated Charities to discuss a formal dissolution.

Among the erstwhile officers was Fred W. Knapp, who occupied the position of secretary. This position was declared vacant when Knapp was sent to the workhouse for stealing an overcoat. Knapp was considered an able solicitor for the Christian Volunteer Warriors before the commander, Bevan T. Owens, left the city suddenly. He was succeeded by Mrs. Mary Creighton, who was later returned from the interests of the Christian Volunteer church. She is now traveling as an evangelist in Ohio.

Steve R. Burgess, Ella L. Burgess and Walter Dickerson, broke away on account of difficulties over money, and have since that time been interested in other so-called missions. Burgess has been in trouble over the money society for neglecting his mother-in-law, Charley Broom, who formerly solicited groceries to supply the evangelists, was forced to sever his connection with the organization when he returned from a visit to the fish market and forgot to put his fish in the icebox. Unfortunately they were placed on an unused boat and were only discovered by an order which made the mission rooms famous in the locality for several days. After this experience Broom was not required to do further soliciting. He was later interested in the Young People's Holiness mission.

The Seargeants and Cole have been engaged in missions for over six years, and have been interested in several organizations which have come more or less to grief. Seargeants seems to be a hard-working, earnest man, but Cole spends more time in religious exhortation than in earning this world's goods.

SHOULD BE OPTIMISTS

Jacob Riis Says Wave of Reform Is Good Omen.

"True Americans have faith in themselves and faith in others," declared Jacob A. Riis, in a stirring lecture on "True Americans" at Plymouth church. Mr. Riis has seen American life from all viewpoints—as a police reporter in submerge New York, later as an advocate for the poor in charity, as a reformer, and as a close friend of President Roosevelt. The lecture was filled with bright epigrams and clever anecdotes which illustrated every point.

Mr. Riis believes that Americans allow grafting and corruption, not because they are not fully awakened to what is going on. "The wave of reform which is now going over the country augurs well," said Mr. Riis. "It shows that right is might and that we can all afford to be optimists."

FOUND HIS PICTURE

Frank Burchard Surprised to See His Snapshot in The Journal.

Frank Burchard, 723 Lumber Exchange, was the prize winner of the first of The Journal's portrait contests. The details of the contest appear on the last page of The Journal for a day, together with a snapshot photograph, selected at random from a number taken on Nicollet avenue each day by The Journal staff photographer.

"Well, I was mightily surprised to see my picture in The Journal last night," said Mr. Burchard, when he came into the office today. "I thought it must be any double, for I didn't even see any photographer 'snap' me. It certainly is a unique plan."

TO WELCOME THE DAKOTA

Governor Saries and Others Will Meet Her at Puget Sound.

When the steamship Dakota of the Great Northern Steamship company reaches Puget sound next June or July, North Dakota officials will welcome her with a few of their own. The state and other state officers are preparing to go west for the occasion. It is proposed to raise money by popular subscription for a silver service for the cabin, or to buy a few of the silver service for the Minnesota when she went into commission.

ST. PAUL PASTORS MILITANT.

St. Paul clergymen will take a hand in municipal housecleaning. David Morgan and the Rev. G. S. Innes will shape the plan of operation.

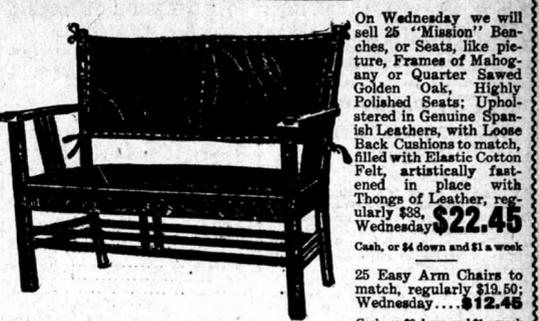

Stories of Chance.

If you overlook the want advertisements in The Journal, you overlook what to many people is "the better half" of each day's opportunity. For instance, a few of the "For Sale" and "Wants" that have appeared the past day or two are as follows: A 42-foot launch—good for some one living at the lake. A 35-foot launch—claimed to be the fastest boat on Minnetonka. $250 buys a 17-footer, 2 1/2 horsepower. Somebody wants a 40-quart power ice-cream freezer. Others want a fireproof safe, a bicycle, a cash register, a rowboat, a ruble, a piano and so on.

You can find anything, from alibis and autoharps to zinc etchings and zithers in The Journal want pages. Read them always when you get your paper, or call at Journal office and look over the files.
