ALDERMEN ACT ON GRADE CROSSINGS ORDINANCE PASSED RELIEVING EAST-SIDE SITUATION. Nine Crossings Will Be Made Safe by the Plan Approved—The New Building Ordinance Is Adopted Without Opposition—A School Bond Issue of $200,000 Is Ordered.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID Took action toward the abolishment of dangerous grade crossings in Southside Minneapolis. Passed the new building ordinance giving greater powers to the building department.

Ordered $200,000 worth of curb and gutter for the present year. Appropriated $20,000 for the improvement of roads in the city. Awarded a number of contracts for supplies for city work. Left the Westphal resolution to increase wages of city laborers in the hands of the committee.

The city fathers were in a mood for business last night and after several matters of more than usual importance. The report of the special committee on grade crossings recommending the elevation of the Milwaukee and Northern Pacific tracks in Southside Minneapolis was unanimously adopted. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance compelling the two roads to remove their tracks from University avenue to the short line bridge, thus doing away with the dangerous crossing at Washington avenue SE. Eight other crossings will be cared for by the same ordinance.

No fight of any sort was started on the proposed new building ordinance prepared by Building Inspector Houghton. One hundred thousand dollars will be spent for grade schools and a like amount for a new high school. The bonds are to run thirty years at 3 1/2 per cent. Alderman Westphal stood for the grade school bond, but voted against the high school bond issue.

School Bonds Ordered. The proposition to issue $200,000 in bonds for new school buildings went thru with but one dissenting vote. One hundred thousand dollars will be spent for grade schools and a like amount for a new high school. The bonds are to run thirty years at 3 1/2 per cent. Alderman Westphal stood for the grade school bond, but voted against the high school bond issue.

A little eleventh ward local color came out when Alderman Peterson presented his list of deputies to be confirmed. The aldermen from the eleventh could not agree over H. T. Ness, Alderman Peterson demanding that he be on the list. From the list, Alderman Peterson insisting that he be left on the list. Explanations followed on both sides, Peterson alleging a trade whereby Ness was entitled to the appointment and Westphal claiming that Ness found too much taxable property. The list finally passed without the republican from the eleventh. The other deputy assessors are:

SALOON ROBBED BY MASKED MEN POLACZYK LOOKED INTO REVOLVER AND WAS "GOOD." Bobbers Found Him Alone and Went About Their Work as if They Understood It Thoroughly—Robbed the Till of $55 and Appropriated "Private Stock" Bottle of Whisky.

Edward Polaczyk, saloonkeeper at 701 Marshall street NE, was held up and robbed in his place of business, shortly after 11 o'clock last evening, by two highwaymen. Polaczyk was sitting alone in the saloon when the rear door suddenly opened and he was startled by a stern command of "hold up your hands, and don't look at me."

The bandits then walked back of the bar, one of them keeping the proprietor covered with a revolver, while the other went thru the cash drawer. They never spoke to one another, but communicated by signs. Polaczyk, who was facing the rear of the saloon, was able to get a partial view of their actions, and said they went about the business as tho they were the permanent proprietors.

After emptying the drawer of $55, the robbers looked over the stock, picked up a bottle of private stock whisky, drank from it and went out. As usual there was a tall and a short man. Both wore black handkerchiefs over their faces, and had black slouch hats. The taller robber had a lined steel revolver, which he kept pointed at Polaczyk.

The police were notified of the hold-up last night, but no arrests have been made. BOVEY HONORED BY MILLERS' FEDERATION Special to The Journal.

A UNIQUE BUSINESS Press Clipping Business in Minneapolis Meets With Most Successful Results. The newspaper clipping industry is represented in Minneapolis. Some years ago, Mr. Robert L. Pollock, who had been a member of the Journal staff, established himself in a small way in the newspaper clipping business under the name of the Interstate Clipping Bureau. The name was appropriate in that the bureau read the papers of Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Montana, as well as those of Minnesota.

From these small beginnings made "last century," (according to Mr. Pollock's letter head) has grown an important industry, employing a number of workers, and well nigh indispensable to a large number of firms and individuals. "I have been so well pleased with the cordial reception accorded to my enterprise," said Mr. Pollock, when seen at his office in the Sykes block, this morning, "that I have decided to identify myself more closely with it by incorporating my own name in that of the bureau. As fast as the change may be made without losing any of the advantage gained by advertising, I shall make the name Pollock's Clipping Bureau."

The business of reading newspapers for people who wish the information they contain, but are too busy to do it for themselves and could not get the papers if they did have the time, is comparatively new. It is, however, a very important adjunct to the business world and a very interesting one. Mr. Pollock will gladly respond to a card or telephone call (both phones) and give detailed information along the lines in which you are interested.

WINDOW WORTH $1 Tenant Sued Because Wall of Adjoining Building Closed It. Judge Brooks has just handed down a decision in the district court in an important real estate case. The trial of the $400 damage suit has proved interesting, and the decision is of great value as a precedent.

The plaintiff, represented by A. D. Smith, sued the owner of the store building, an eastern client of A. B. Choate, for damages caused by the closing of a window in the side of a building thru the erection of a structure adjoining. He received $1 technical damages for the breaking of the window in replacing it with brick. The jury verdict was directed for the defendant by the judge.

The owner of the building owned an adjoining vacant lot when the tenant leased the store building. The building was divided into three parts. The only access for light and air from the outside for the middle division was thru a window in the wall facing the vacant lot. The owner of the lot decided to put up another building, using the wall in question as a joint wall. In this way the window was closed up.

The judge held that the owner had a perfect right to build as he did, inasmuch as the tenant should have provided in the lease for the air and light opening which he desired to retain.
