"NOT A QUITTER" SAYS CRAWFORD

MURDERER SAYS HE "WILL BE GAME."

Bitter in His Denunciation of His Partner in Crime—Slayer of Lundeen Is Brought to Minneapolis to Await His Execution—Losee Confesses After Sentence Is Passed.

C. D. Crawford, sentenced to be hung for the murder of Heine Lundeen in Sherburne county, was brought back to the Hennepin jail last night. He will not leave it until he is taken to the gallows. He is closely guarded in a cell in "murderers' row," and Sheriff J. W. Dreger issued orders today that no one be permitted to see or talk with him.

"The prisoner's nerve has not deserted him. He has been cheerful last night and remarked that he was glad to be back. He slept soundly and shows no sign of fear.

"Oh, I expected it," he remarked. "I shot Lundeen all right, but I never intended to kill him. I wanted to 'throw the scare' into the boy. I'm game and will be to the end. I don't want to be a quitter and that's more than you can say for Losee or Palmer or whatever you want to call him. He's a coward, but I suppose it isn't surprising that a fellow will lie to save his neck. He was just as guilty as I was and he should have swung with me. He told me to shoot, and after he was sentenced to thirty years in the pen he confessed as much.

"I wouldn't go on the stand in his case, because I wasn't going to lie for him, and I thought he would get what he deserved. I was going to tell the truth. It's all over now and I don't suppose I'll ever have another partner in this world. If I did, however, I would know better how to pick one out and I wouldn't take Losee."

Losee Admits Guilt.

Losee confessed yesterday before Judge Elk River for Stillwater. In the presence of a number of witnesses and of Crawford, he said: "You fellows did not tell anything but what was absolutely true. I used the exact language you said I did when I told Crawford to shoot. When I went to the back end of the car Lundeen had his hand in his overcoat pocket and kind of 'raised up' and I feared was going to pull a gun. That's why I told Crawford to shoot. I'm glad the prosecution didn't know of our jobs in North Dakota or I wouldn't have got off so easy. I didn't expect less than a second degree and feared I might get first."

BLISS AS UNIVERSITY IN FRANTIC ROW

STOCK SHOT FROM BELOW PAR TO A PREMIUM.

Fight for a Controlling Share of the Stock in the Minnesota Daily Turned the Rotunda of Library into a Pit of Speculation at the University This Morning.

In a fight to secure a controlling share of the stock of the Minnesota Daily and direct the editorial and business staff of the paper for the coming year, the faculty of the university students, led by rival fraternities, turned the rotunda of the library building into a miniature stock exchange this morning. The stockholders and the board of trustees of the university, and the administrative offices. More than $500 changed hands before noon, when the stock books of the Daily were closed and neither transfers nor new stock issued could be recorded.

The Minnesota Daily is a stock corporation and up to today only 140 shares of the available 1,500 had been sold. For the Daily has been a dividend producer for stockholders. The stock, which has a face value of $3, could be purchased for 50 cents a share a week ago, but today the face value was paid for stock and in the few minutes preceding the closing of the books, when the crowd made it impossible to buy new shares, $4 and even $5 was paid.

"Frats" at Odds. The managing editor and the business manager of the Daily are elected by the stockholders and the candidates of one faction are Michael Halloran and Patrick Heilly, barbs, opposed by John P. Devaney, a Phi Gamma Delta, and John Lowe, Delta Upsilon. A long-existing feud created a division among the fraternity men and members of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity are leading the movement for the election of the "barb" candidates.

It was expected by the directors that after 12 o'clock today no transfers of stock could be made or new stock issued until after May 1, the date set for the meeting of the stockholders and the election of the editors. This morning the members of the contending factions arrived early and commenced to buy Daily stock, which opened strong at about a dollar a share. Bidding became warmer as the day progressed and at 11:30 members of the fraternities interested were calling telephones and automobiles to play in an effort to raise money for the purchase of par stock.

Money was needed and it was secured in every way that could be devised by the excited students. Members of the Alpha Delta Phi alone purchased nearly seventy shares.

Called on "Dad."

A member of Phi Gamma Delta telephoned his father at 11:30 for $100. The head of the family expressed his disapproval of the investment, but sent the money by a messenger, who arrived five minutes after the board had been closed, thus shutting off the purchase of thirty or more shares.

The manager of the Daily was busy all afternoon with the stockholders. Daily books, which were in confusion on account of the unexpected run on the corporation stock, and it is not yet known what the opening figures will be. The stockholders are to meet to control the stockholders' meeting.

EXPECTS BUSY SEASON

G. F. HOPKINS OF THE DEL OTERO IMPRESSED WITH EARLY LAKE TRAVEL.

To Minnetonka, the harbinger of spring are the robins' return and the annual reappearance of G. F. Hopkins, proprietor of the Hotel Otero at Spring Park. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins are back from a winter at Coronado Beach, Cal., and are busily engaged in preparing the hotel for the opening, May 20.

Many improvements are planned to take care of the constantly increasing patronage. The Great Northern will be holding a grand party on the lake to replace the structure wrecked in the August tornado. This will provide a place of amusement for others than the guests of the hotel.

Mr. Hopkins plan for using the pavilion in connection with the hotel. Reservation of the dancing floor may be secured by parties numbering twenty-five or more which come out to the hotel for dinner and an entertainment in the evening. Mr. Hopkins will furnish the music. He states also that the railroad will give even better train service than last year.

Never in his fourteen years' experience at the lake has Mr. Hopkins known such heavy travel on the lake trains so early in the year. This morning's Great Northern train from Mound carried five carloads of passengers, and the morning train leaving Minneapolis daily averages three carloads.

The commissioner expects to apply Saturday for receivers for both companies. The policyholders may re-insure in their choice of three other mutuals, the Security Mutual Fire, Retail Merchant's Mutual Fire, both of St. Paul; or the Mercantile State Mutual Fire, of Fargo.

COMMISSION IN A LONG WRANGLE

CLAGGETT'S NAME OFFERED AS SUPERINTENDENT OF CAPITOL.

Governor Johnson Thinks the Old Capitol Should Be Used as a Meeting Place of Civic Societies—Does Not Care for a Piano in His Reception Room.

The capitol commission met this morning at the capitol in St. Paul, went into executive session on the subject of employment for the new state house, and was still wrangling at a late hour this afternoon.

A special committee, consisting of Commissioners Corliss, Weaver and Du Toit, reported a long list of names for various vacant positions. This was held by Edward Claggett of Princeton, as superintendent, at $2,000 a year. The commission refused to give out the names of the others.

"I don't remember how many there were on the list, and I don't know that anybody ever contacted them," is the way Commissioner Channing Seabury put it. Governor J. A. Johnson presided over the session.

Before the executive session the commission showed a disposition to do the courteous thing by the governor. "We desire that your wishes be respected in all things relative to the management of the capitol," said Commissioner Seabury to the governor for the commission. "We hope any desires you have you will feel free to express, and also that you will consider that any use of rooms in any part of the capitol shall be freely granted upon your request."

Governor Johnson replied with a suggestion that the new capitol was not the place for meetings of outside organizations desiring a place for gathering. He thought the old capitol should be used for such purposes. The commission decided to adopt the governor's suggestion, but to grant permission for the Territorial Pioneers to meet in the house chamber of the new capitol May 17.

St. W. Baudenbusch offered to furnish a Minnesota-made piano for the governor's reception room. This is the third offer of the kind.

"Altho I fully appreciate the kindness of the offer," said Governor Johnson, "I don't want my office turned into a music hall."

The commission adjourned about 12:30 to meet again at 2:30.

Mr. Allard refuses and threatens to shoot anyone who attempts to take the little girl.

RECOVERS VOICE, BUT HAS WRITER'S CRAMP

Alma Selvig, the young woman who lost her voice last Friday night as the result of a fall while roller skating, has recovered the use of her vocal organs. She is now trying to get over her writer's cramp brought on by the unusual amount of pencil pushing necessary during the absence of her voice.

Dr. U. G. Williams coaxed the voice back, but has recommended rest and care for the patient. The case was unusual and alarming. The trouble is said to have been largely nervous.

Miss Selvig will return to her work in a few days.

NAVAL MEN ARE HERE TO SECURE RECRUITS

W. N. Leukhart, chief machinist's mate, and B. A. Copeland, hospital apprentice, have taken possession of the chambers in the federal building formerly assigned to the federal grand jury. Recruiting was in full blast today, and the first candidates for Uncle Sam's navy were several reporters. They could see news around a corner, but when it came to selecting different colored bunches of yarn were rejected as "color ignorant."

When the identity of the applicants was disclosed, Mr. Leukhart laughed and began spinning yarns that would make a yellow newspaper look pink. The men are here to secure recruits for seven years and has visited every island in the Atlantic and every port in Africa and South America. He fought thru the Spanish-American war, but does not consider that experience as strenuous as some of his adventures in time of peace.

JOHNSON RUNS UP SCORE

GOVERNOR VETOS FOUR MORE BILLS, INCLUDING AMENDMENT TO PERMIT SPECIAL LEGISLATION.

Governor John A. Johnson has vetoed four more bills.

One of these is the Sherman Smith bill proposing a constitutional amendment, allowing special legislation for cities not operating under home rule charters. The governor holds that all special legislation is wrong in theory, and that if such a privilege is accorded, it should be extended to all cities and villages. The board of directors of the Minneapolis Commercial club had requested the veto of the Smith bill.

The governor's signature is withheld from the P. B. Dowling bill authorizing the creation of water and light boards by appointment by district judges. The governor holds that the proper authorities to appoint a municipal board is the council of such municipality, and not the judge of that general district. The governor has also vetoed the Hickory bill, permitting licensing of county liquor stores to solicit orders for liquors in original packages. The bill is ambiguous in its language, and its veto was recommended by the attorney general.

Self bill, to reimburse former county surveyors for team hire expenses. This makes eight bills the governor has so vetoed. The others are the Horvath bill (which the governor expressed over his veto); the Gjertsen measure to legalize the practice of chiropractic medicine and establish a state board; the Skinner bill, cutting the number of judges in the judicial district and unconstitutional in that it amends a special law; and the Frater bill, to permit implement dealers to form a mutual insurance fund.

The time repealed another more meritorious insurance law.

Signed Omnibus Bill.

Governor John A. Johnson yesterday afternoon signed the omnibus bill, which he signed without eliminating any of its items. He said he did not care to trim so important a measure on short notice and take the responsibility for so doing.

TONKA CARS IN AUGUST

Line to the Lake Is Likely to Be Delayed.

Impendency of the Twin City Rapid Transit company's building operations this season may delay the opening of the Minnetonka line until August. For this reason it will not be necessary to double-track the line beyond Hopkins this year. The Lake street line will be completed in thirty days. The Fourth street SE line will be ready for operation again Friday.
