

RUSS FLEET OFF FOR VLADIVOSTOK

Rojstvensky Leaves Kamranh Waters and Is Sighted 70 Miles to Northward.

Tokio, April 28.—The Russian second Pacific squadron was sighted yesterday off Cape Verda, seventy miles north of Kamranh bay.

Count Okuma, leader of the progressive party and former foreign minister, addressing today the committee of the progressive party appointed to succor the wounded, estimated the number of wounded and sick as a result of the war at 200,000 to 300,000, and the number of killed and wounded who had died of disease at 1,000,000.

Ready for Long Voyage. Kamranh Bay, via Saigon, Cochinchina, April 28.—The Russian squadron, with its transports, left its last stopping place Wednesday evening for an unknown destination.

Japanese Expect Togo to Attack If Russians Pass Islands. Tokyo, April 28.—Competent members of the naval staff meeting at least one admiral, doubt that Rojstvensky will attempt to make the sea of Japan and fight the Japanese fleet.

Believe Peace Move Is On. So the belief is gaining ground here that the commander of the Baltic squadron has imperative orders from St. Petersburg not to sail north of the Pacific islands, pending certain negotiations for peace, which undoubtedly are being considered in more than one European capital.

Attack Expected at Paracels. The imperial navy department undoubtedly has a good line on his movements, but declines to make this public. The reference of the imperial navy board continues, but nevertheless the opinion is practically official that the moment Rojstvensky's fleet sails northeast of the Paracels islands, it will be attacked en route.

Wilson Will Direct Good Roads Train. From the Journal Bureau, Colorado Building, Washington. Washington, April 28.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will in a few days announce the itinerary of his trip to the Pacific coast on a "good roads" train.

KALDERWIT IS UNDER HOT FIRE

Continued from First Page. bitterly and at one time was commanded by the court to sit down and keep quiet. Carey demonstrated the position of the gun which he saw in Kalderwit's pocket.

Admitted Keegan's Lake Trip. Detective Crummy stated that Kalderwit, after his arrest, first denied that he admitted the Saturday night experience, saying that he had gone out to see the two girls he had met in the Gold Mine saloon on Washington street and were obliged to walk.

BOY'S EYES WERE KEEN. Second Tattoo Mark Is Found on Kalderwit's Hand. Special to The Journal. Anoka, Minn., April 23.—Little Mike Krisko was right when he testified that Kalderwit had two marks on his right hand.

WEST SAW BOY FALL. Man Who Returned Robbers' Fire Upsets One Theory. Special to The Journal. Anoka, Minn., (April 28).—The state began to fire its big guns late in the afternoon session yesterday, and land-sea warships respectively, including sixty miles south of Penang. They were heading for Singapore.

One Theory Full of Holes. The theory that the King boy was killed by a shot from the rear of the saloon was hard hit by the testimony of West and Connors; still it may be defended by the other witnesses. Hein was closely questioned in regard to deflected bullets on Wednesday afternoon.

Connors Corroborates. G. M. Connors, 3201 Central avenue, was the next witness. Connors stood on the right of West, and absolutely corroborated his testimony in regard to the entrance of the three men, the command of "hands up," the shots and the return fire of West. He backed against the rear wall, but as the plaster began to fall "ducked thru the back door and made a get-away." He saw more of the three than West did and described their clothing. One had a big and broad shouldered, wore a canvas coat and a light slouch hat and carried a blue-steel gun. He saw this man first shoot a tar man wearing a cap and carrying a nickle-plated gun well to the front.

Conductor Not Positive. Julian Gauffield, the conductor on the Eighth and Central line, was hardly as strong a witness as had been expected. He identified the prisoners and told the story of the trouble over the transfers, but was unable to back his testimony by remembering other incidents on the same trip. He was unable to recall any other person on the car. This may give the defense an opportunity to introduce Kraemer as a witness to say that the three prisoners were not the three who quarreled over transfers.

John Goodman, a pawnbroker at 42 Washington avenue S, testified that on Nov. 25, three days after the murder,

HE HAD LOADED KOLB $3 ON A SUIT OF CLOTHES, A PAIR OF SHOES, AND A NICKELED REVOLVER AND SOME CARTRIDGES.

John Dorn, who waited outside the saloon in a buggy for her husband, testified to seeing three men hanging about, one of whom she recognized as Kolb. She was followed by her husband, who made a stubborn witness and refused to be rattled on cross-examination.

Mr. Dorn positively identified the three men as the three who were seen in the saloon. He saw them on the face plainly, he stated, and was able to identify Kalderwit by his "tough walk" and Kolb by his short, stubby build. Attorney Meehan witnesses Dorn without gloves in the cross-examination.

KERCHIEF GIVES WAY TO HAMMER

Continued from First Page. after there had been several questions as to the interview he had at the Koch home on that day, as to whether or not there was anything else said then. The chief had nobody saw the initials on any marks on the kerchief the night of the murder.

What He Saw on Kerchief. The defense also quizzed Chief Klause as to the initials on the handkerchief. It has been the contention of the defense that nobody saw the initials or any marks on the kerchief the night of the murder. Coroner Fritzsche testified on the first day of the present trial that the handkerchief was picked up inside the front of the dead man's coat that evening and taken to the morgue with the body.

Does Your Back Ache? Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Disease and Do Not Know Until It Has Developed Into Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism, Diabetes or Bright's Disease, Which Will Prove Fatal If Not Attended to At Once. IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Warner's Safe Cure G. F. Clements, the noted professional runner and one of the athletic trainers at Harvard College, says: "Warner's Safe Cure did wonders for me. About a year ago I was run down from over-exertion on the track and in baseball. I suffered continually and was obliged to drop everything connected with athletics. One day a friend recommended Warner's Safe Cure as a general tonic and kidney builder. After trying a sample bottle I began to feel brighter and when three bottles were gone I had regained my old-time athletic vigor and health. I heartily endorse the medicine, not only as a tonic but especially as an infallible cure for kidney troubles."

Warner's Safe Cure Cures Kidney Disease Put some urine in a glass; after it stands 24 hours, if you find a reddish, brick-dust sediment in it, or particles floating in the urine or the urine is milky or cloudy, you will know your kidneys are in a diseased condition and are unable to perform their work. The result will be the bladder and urinary organs will become inflamed, uric acid will poison the blood, the stomach will become affected and unable to digest the food, the system will become weak and the result will be a break-down of the general health, with Bright's disease or diabetes, which will prove fatal if not treated with promptness and great care.
