The Secret of Success

In any chosen calling in life it is to do the best manner the work that the world wants done. If you want a paying position, fit yourself for what the world demands.

There is no calling open today to young people where advancement is so certain as that of shorthand and typewriting. The impression that there are more stenographers than openings is due to the fact that students who do not receive practical instruction while at school find it impossible to secure employment as business men have no time to waste on incompetents. Stenographers, nowadays, in order to attain the standard of efficiency required of them in the business world, must receive a thorough training based upon strictly practical and business principles. It is certainly better to pay for such instruction and secure employment than to pay for cheap instruction and lose both time and money.

CARNEGIE GIFT AFFECTS U. OF M.

MAKES SMALLER COLLEGES ATTRACTIVE TO PROFESSORS.
A Low Salary Limit at Minnesota State Institution Has Long Caused Grave Concern Which the Pension Plan May Aggravate—Athletics a Big Factor in Selection of Colleges.

Minnesota must pay her university professors better attention, or else they will go to smaller institutions not under state control. This is one of the first developments to be predicted as a result of the Carnegie Foundation's gift to the University of Minnesota. For many years conditions have been growing up in both the state university and the smaller colleges that have caused grave concern. In the first case the scholars have been under state control, has been subject to a somewhat oppressive policy of economy enforced by men who were more likely to be politicians than educators. This has made it difficult to change the schedule of salaries at the institution. It grew in importance and raised its standards. The inevitable result has been that the university authorities have been apprehensive over their ability to secure and keep men of the desired ability who would be better paid elsewhere.

On the other hand, the independent colleges—mostly founded as denominational schools—have been growing concerned over a falling off in attendance. In competition with state universities where the athletic interest is strong, the smaller colleges have suffered. New students prefer to matriculate where they can yell for winners. Moreover the curricula of the state universities are more varied. For the most part the small institutions are meagerly endowed and a decrease in enrollment means financial embarrassment and inability to attract high grade talent as faculty vacancies occur.

That the Carnegie Foundation, affording a yearly pension of $1,000 to the retired professor, will make the smaller colleges more attractive to teaching talent is the opinion of President Cyrus Northrup. "It will do a world of good relieving the anxiety of a large number of excellent and valuable men who have never been able to accumulate enough money to take care of them in their old age. According to the provisions of the gift, state universities and sectarian schools are barred from receiving the benefits of the fund. Such institutions as Harvard and Yale will, however, be included.

The only effect this will have on the schools where the gift does not apply will be that the men who are getting no advance in salary will be drawn to the institutions included under the fund. It will make these institutions more attractive and will enable the teachers to retire in years to retire on $1,000 a year.

The existing salary limit at the University of Minnesota, where the heads of the different departments and the professors are unable to get an increase in salary after a certain point has been reached, makes the remarks of Dr. Northrup rather significant.

SOORED BY MCMASTER

Historian Assails Carnegie's Gifts for Professors and Libraries.

New York Sun Special Service.
Philadelphia, April 29.—"I don't know any of the names of Andrew Carnegie's gift of $10,000,000 as a pension fund for college professors who are unable to continue in active service because what I have read, but I don't like it," said Dr. John B. McMaster, professor of American history at the University of Pennsylvania, and one of the best-known historians in the country. "We have Carnegie heroes, Carnegie heroes, and now Carnegie professors."

"I don't believe in this scattering of libraries over the country, as Mr. Carnegie has been doing in the last few years. It is not a good thing, and I don't like Mr. Carnegie's methods. In the first place, I do not believe in pension systems in general, and I am especially opposed to them in the teaching profession. It would be virtually the same thing as the police pensioning, and it surely would lower the profession. When one of our teachers retires, we do not do it with the existing pensioning money; we have an entirely different end in view. This pension system would lower our standard. I believe that in any profession, if you are in business, each man should stand on his own basis, and on that alone. Personally, I would not accept such a pension."

Charles Curtis Harrison, provost of the university, took an entirely different view and seemed much pleased with Mr. Carnegie's gift.

Two Universities Barred

Chicago, April 29.—The University of Chicago and Northwestern university are excluded from the benefits of the $10,000,000 fund donated by Andrew Carnegie to provide annuities for retired college professors. Both are said to be barred under the provision which says: "Only such institutions as are controlled by a set of officers or trustees or a majority thereof, officers, faculty or students, to belong to any specific sect, or which impose any theological test, are to be excluded."

It was decided to form a ladies' auxiliary to the club. It was also proposed that the McNair farm be purchased and used as a playground for the school athletic field and a smaller park.

WORK OF CENSUS IS ALL PAID OUT

EIGHTY-SIX ENUMERATORS WILL BE USED IN HENNEPIN.
Superintendent A. A. D. Bahn Has Defined the Districts and the Count Will Keep Enumerators Busy Thruout June—Staff Will Be Made Up Before May 20—Examinations Required.

State census work in Hennepin county will require the attention of eighty-six enumerators during June. Andrew A. D. Bahn, who has been designated to superintend the work, has practically finished laying out the districts, the third, was divided into eight districts. The thirty-ninth, taking in the second and ninth wards, is cut up into nine districts. The fortieth, which is the fourth ward, forms eight districts, the forty-first, comprising the fifth and sixth wards, forms eleven. The forty-second will have five country districts and thirteen in the seventh, eleventh and twelfth wards. The forty-third will have eleven country districts and ten in the eighth and thirteenth wards. The forty-fourth will have four districts in the country and seven in the tenth ward and all of the third but the river precincts.

The enumerators will be selected before May 20, and the blanks must be in their hands by May 25 so they can prepare to gather names June 1. Mr. Bahn has secured quarters on the ground floor of the city and county building, and will occupy the room formerly used for the criminal branch of the municipal court and the two detention-rooms adjoining.

Enumerators will be carefully examined as to their fitness," said Mr. Bahn. "Each applicant will be asked to write out an application, so as to show whether he is capable of filling out blanks intelligently and neatly. Before they begin work I shall hold a school on at least two evenings in the old courtroom, to instruct the men."

"We also hope thru the newspapers to educate the people so they will give us willing co-operation. We want them to understand that we are only counting, and not taking names for any directory or other record, so they need not hold back anything for fear of getting into trouble."

The country assessors will probably take the census in their districts. They will do the assessing in May, and will be ready to receive the names of the property owners in June can be done easily and thoroughly.

NATIVE SONS' BIG PLAN

THEY'LL CELEBRATE CENTENNIAL OF ACQUISITION OF THIS TERRITORY BY INDIANS.

About 150 members of the Native Sons of Minnesota and members of their families were present at the annual banquet at Donaldson's tearoom, Tuesday evening, when Governor Johnson and Senator E. W. Durant, on the program for addresses, failed to appear owing to illness. Major D. E. Jones, ex-commandant of the Northern Pacific bridge, and Major Edwin Clark of Minneapolis spoke, recalling pioneer days. E. A. Bromley presented a series of stereopticon views of historical scenes.

It was decided to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the first session of land within the present borders of the state from the Indians to the United States. This took place on Sept. 23, 1805, two years after the Louisiana purchase, and included what is now the Fort Snelling reservation. Lieutenant Zebulon Pike, who explored the territory, was named in the treaty with the Indians. The event will be commemorated at Fort Snelling, Governor Johnson, and his staff will participate in the doings. Well, who has just written a history of Minnesota, agreed to deliver the address.

REJUVENATE PARK

Money Will Be Spent in Restoring Beauties of Columbia.

At a meeting of the park board committee yesterday, it was voted to recommend that $2,000 be expended on the improvement of Columbia park. This place has been neglected since the city was first settled. The committee provided $8,500 for roofing over the band stand at the Lake Harriet and back to the special committee consisting of the committee on underground wires and the aldermen of the seventh, eighth and twelfth wards.

Charmen of standing committees were made happy by the passage of a resolution by Alderman W. E. Satterlee, authorizing the use of rubber stamps in approving bills. As the names several hundred times at each meeting, the use of a rubber stamp will save much labor.

Path Petition Comes In

The petition of the wheelmen for the retention of the bicycle paths for which a money had been appropriated was referred to the special committee having the matter in charge. The only path now under consideration is the one on Hennepin street, which cannot maintain hitching posts or hitch their horses. The path also prevents the placing of a curb and gutter so that the street may be properly drained, and is a general nuisance as it inconveniences them in many ways.

Blaisdell Avenue Residents Declare It a Nuisance

Residents of Blaisdell avenue between Franklin and Twenty-sixth street have presented a petition to the council to abolish the cycle path on that avenue. They represent that they are barred from access to their own property from the street, cannot maintain hitching posts or hitch their horses. The path also prevents the placing of a curb and gutter so that the street may be properly drained, and is a general nuisance as it inconveniences them in many ways.

CASTNER IS TESTY; MAKES A PROTEST

TRIES TO RECALL PAYMENT OF MUMM CONTEST EXPENSES.
Ninth Ward Alderman Makes Unsuccessful Effort to Protect Treasury—May Renew It at Next Meeting—Committee Named to Investigate Forage Question—Grade Crossing Resolutions Offered.

Alderman Frank H. Castner stirred up the council last evening by attempting to recall the resolution reimbursing Alderman Claus Mumm for his expenses in defending the contest by Orver G. Rosing, last fall. Mr. Castner was virtuously indignant, also aggressive, and after approaching the subject from three or four different directions and being regularly turned down by President A. E. Merrill, he had created an unusual disturbance. Mr. Castner declared that the council had no right to vote away the people's money for the individual benefit of the alderman and wanted the former action rescinded. Alderman G. Rosing, who made the point of order that there could be no reconsideration, as there were not as many aldermen present as when the original resolution was passed, and the point was sustained.

Mr. Castner tartly replied that he was not making a motion to reconsider a vote, but to rescind an illegal action. President Merrill consulted City Attorney Healy and announced that that official held that the motion was out of order.

"What has the city attorney to do with parliamentary practice governing this body?" demanded the alderman, fiercely.

The chair ruled that a motion to reconsider the vote was out of order at that meeting, but at the next meeting a resolution to rescind would be in order.

Champions Restaurant Man

Alderman Castner was conspicuous in two smaller flurries of the evening. He appeared as the champion of G. Kieper, who has applied for a liquor license at the International cafe. It was explained that the private dining rooms to which objection has been made had been placed in a condition satisfactory to the license inspector, but Alderman G. A. Westphal and others took up the fight against the "heavenly Chinese" started by Alderman J. H. Duryea, and the application was refused by a vote of 14 to 10.

Mr. Castner attempted to have the allowances for forage cut out of the payroll for the month of April. He pointed out a section in the ordinance. Later he demanded an investigation in what he called the "forage graft," and the matter was referred to a committee consisting of the aldermen from each ward, which President Merrill will announce later.

Authorizes Snelling Extension

On a resolution by Alderman W. W. Ehle the street railway company was directed to extend the Minnehaha line from its present terminus to the Fort Snelling reservation. This action authorizes the Northern Pacific to do the work on the Fort Snelling line whenever it so desires.

Ordinances prepared by City Attorney Frank Healy for the solution of the grade crossing problem in Southeast Minneapolis were presented and referred to the special committee having the matter under consideration. They require the Northern Pacific to bridge University avenue SE and Oak street, and the Milwaukee to bridge Washington avenue SE.

Give Married Men Preference

A resolution fixing the wages of laborers on public works at $1.35 a day of eight hours was adopted. It requires the foremen on the work to give preference to heads of families, and legal residents of Minneapolis. The promised fight by Alderman Westphal to raise the wage to $2 was not made.

On account of the protest of property owners along the street, the proposition to remove the pole lines of the Northwestern Telephone company from Lake street to Thirty-first street was held back to the special committee consisting of the committee on underground wires and the aldermen of the seventh, eighth and twelfth wards.

Charmen of standing committees were made happy by the passage of a resolution by Alderman W. E. Satterlee, authorizing the use of rubber stamps in approving bills. As the names several hundred times at each meeting, the use of a rubber stamp will save much labor.

TO REPAVE CENTRAL

Rough Granite Blocks to Be Replaced With Wooden Ones.

Central avenue will be repaved this summer from the steel arch bridge across Nicollet island and from Main street to Fourth street. These two stretches are now laid with granite blocks, and are probably the roughest and noisiest bits of paving in the city. Year after year the property owners have sought to have the street repaved, but in one way or another their plans have been sidetracked.

The new paving will be of creosoted wood blocks, the contract having been let by the council last evening to the Kettle River Quarries company, at $1.49 a square yard.
