MONEY TALK

Every day shows a substantial gain in the number of our savings accounts, and we derive much satisfaction from looking over the names of our new depositors at the close of each day's business, because we know that they know that they are receiving as good a rate of interest on their savings as they can reasonably expect, and because we know that they know that their savings are secured by five times the paid in capital of any other Savings Institution or Savings Bank in the state and because we know that they know that their savings are invested in Government, State, County and Municipal bonds or real estate first mortgages—the safest securities in the world. We believe that these are the kind of patrons to have and they believe that this is the kind of an institution to patronize. If you haven't a savings account with

The State Institution for Savings you ought to have.

WAS WELL DISTRIBUTED

Rains General Throughout the State and Hinder Some Crops.

Weather and crop conditions in Minnesota for the week ending yesterday summarized by Local Forecaster T. S. Outram in the weather bureau's regular bulletin as follows: There were heavy rains generally well distributed on the nights of the 5th and 8th, and there were scattered rains on the 6th, 9th and 10th. The rains in the northern part of the state seem to have been lighter than those in central and southern sections. Local hailstorms, probably of small area, caused slight damage to rye and fruit. The skies were cloudy and moderately cool weather. Rye and winter wheat are headed, and they look well. Spring wheat, oats and barley are generally in good condition, the lowlands and in some fields it is said that they are thin in spots; generally there has been satisfactory stouling, so that the stand is thick enough, and on rich soils the growth is so rank that lodging is feared. The flux is good on the highlands, but on lowlands the plants are yellow. Clover and timothy are growing rapidly, and clover and the small straw crop is ripening, and in southeastern counties gathering has begun.

HIT THE TRAIL

S. S. Thorpe Pleased With What He Saw at Portland.

S. S. Thorpe, president of the Minnesota Real Estate board, has returned from a three-week trip to the Lewis and Clark exposition. The exposition he regards as a success. The New York building, he says, is a fine structure and the best ever. Mr. Thorpe was at the exposition opening day. He attended the ceremonies and "hit the trail," as it is to be the custom this year at Portland.

HE WAS LIKE A WESTERN BAD MAN

SO THE VIGILANTES TOOK HALBERG'S DOG IN HAND.

The Evil-Disposed Cur Wasn't Reform by a Period of Incarceration, but Began His Career of Wrongdoing Immediately Upon His Release—His Inglorious Finish.

Halberg's dog is dead. But he left his mark in the world—indeed too many marks. It was because of his habit of making marks that his career was terminated so abruptly. Halberg, being had the reputation, which made him to the canine race what the bad man of the far west is to Caucasians. He was tough all the time and his toughness and if prophesy has been fulfilled he is no dog-heaven chucking over the merry time he has on earth and over his spectacular finish.

The dog had been tied up for several days on account of his evil disposition, and this morning was released on probation. He was so resentful toward the human race he bit two boys who came too close to him.

Shortly afterward Nels Nelson, the policeman, with his corps of dog catchers came along. The dog met them near Eleventh avenue S. and Twenty-second street. The catchers surrounded him on all sides and he did not know where to attack and soon a wire lasso was around his neck.

On account of the savage disposition of Halberg's dog, Officer Nelson decided to kill it then and there. But the dog did not intend to die like a lamb and fought desperately. He bit the hands of the dog catchers and finally the dog broke away and ran down Eleventh avenue followed by the dog catcher's crew, a laundry wagon driven by a man, a grocery wagon driven by a boy and a whole army of youngsters.

Down Eleventh avenue went the strange procession, the dog limping gamely with a broken leg. He took to the alley, then into the street again, and finally, tired of the chase, he ran into the arms of a Swedish hospital at Tenth avenue and Eighth street and lay down.

The badly wounded dog, only a cur at that, never whimpered or covered, but fought off every one who came near. The dog catchers were very circumspect and gave the dog all the room he wanted. By using the walls and shelter while a comrade diverted the dog's attention, one of the catchers got the nose fast about the neck. Then came the inglorious end.

INSURANCE MEN MAY NOT DISCLOSE RATES

The new state fire marshal, who begins his duties July 1, may run against trouble the first thing, when he attempts to secure the full table of rates charged by the board companies in different cities of the state. The fire marshal has provided that he will keep on file for public inspection a complete record of all rates. The board companies have rate tables, but they are guarded as jealously as the companies outside the organization, who would easily get all the information they wanted if it was given to the fire marshal. The underwriters are not disposed, therefore, to furnish the information to the state, and attorneys have advised them that it is very doubtful whether the state can compel them to do so.

A GAMBLER'S SUPERIORITY

He Escapes the Indignity of Riding to Jail in the "Black Maria."

Harris Liverman, a resident of the second ward, who has for several years conducted a gambling house under the name of John Freeman, was yesterday committed to the workhouse for thirty days.

Liverman was convicted of running a gambling house at 325 First avenue S. on May 12. Judge Waite granted him a stay of thirty days to make an appeal to the supreme court. Liverman, however, found that such an appeal would be fruitless, and he decided to serve out his sentence.

Altho the "Black Maria" was on hand to take him and the other prisoners to the works, he fared better and was allowed to ride out on a car with a municipal court officer.

ALL FOR DOWLING

John G. Lennon Listens to the Heartbeats of the Population.

Representative John G. Lennon of Minneapolis says all the range country is for P. E. Dowling as the next republican nominee for lieutenant governor. He has recently been in all the range towns, said Mr. Lennon today. "Dowling's home town, Eveleth, in Virginia, Two Harbors, Ely, Chisholm, Biwabik and other places, and in each one I made it a point to inquire as to the political sentiment. I found them all wanting Dowling for lieutenant governor. Dowling is popular throughout this territory. His record for two terms in the legislature is good, and he will be able to influence a large portion of the range country in favor of the republican nominee for governor if he is made the candidate for lieutenant governor. Dowling for many years has been in his territory for the republican ticket, regardless of his own business interests. He is popular, level-headed, and he has a good mind for the place the range people want him to accept. I saw Dowling myself and he says he is willing to be a candidate if he is wanted."

INDICTMENTS DEFECTIVE

ALLEGED "LAND GRABBERS" RELEASED AFTER JURY IS SWORN, BUT ARE REARRESTED.

After the jury in the case of William T. Horsnell of St. Paul and Royal B. Stearns of St. Paul, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, had been sworn in and United States District Attorney C. C. Houpt had made his address and the first witness was called, Pierce Butler, attorney for the defendants, moved that the indictment be quashed. The objections were that the indictment did not state facts sufficient to constitute an offense under the statutes; that it did not specify the methods by which the conspiracy was to be carried out, and that it was so indefinite that it did not inform the defendants of the offense of which they were charged. Judge Lochren sustained the objections.

The prisoners were released, but were later arrested upon warrants sworn out by Assistant United States District Attorney J. M. Dickey. They were released on $1,000 bail. The federal attorneys state that a mistake was made in transcribing the indictment from the original draft. The case will be presented to the next federal grand jury. The alleged scheme was to secure persons to sign applications for lands, who were paid $100 for the use of their names.

THOMAS LAWSON MAY COME

Boston Man Offers $5,000 Purse for Fastest Chuffer.

Fractions of a second will be valuable at the Hamline track July 6 and 8, as Thomas Lawson of Boston has put up a purse of $5,000 to go to the "chuffer" who clips off the most time in a mile under 53 seconds. The enemy of fenced finance is a devotee of automobile racing and will probably be in Minneapolis during carnival week. He has decided that the best racing of the year will be in the twin cities. If he comes he will join the tourists who start from Chicago.

Barney Oldfield and Chevrolet will be the best known contestants for the purse, as both drivers have skinned the track in record time. Among the other speedy ones will be Earl Kiser, Charles Soules, Dan Canary, Walter Winchester, Tom Tracey, Colonel E. H. Green, Major Miller and Joe Nelson.

Professionals Will Climb.

With the announcement of a professional class at the Kenwood hill-climbing contest of June 24, the big factories are waking up and will probably send men and special machines. Without doubt the record of 51 seconds, made last year by the "Tolo," will be broken. This year the hill will be studied as never before and after the study is completed special gears, fitted for the summit, will be used. A driver knowing the curves will be able to save from 3 to 8 seconds at least.

Among the professionals who may come are Frank Stearns, of the Stearns company, Cleveland, who recently won the hill-climbing contest there; Barney Oldfield with his Peerless; Webb Jay, who is a member of the Minneapolis Automobile club, with his White steamer; and Earl Kiser with a Winton Bullet. Charles Meyer with Hal Watson's Fiat will also clip off a few seconds.

MANY ALIENS DEPORTED.
