BOY FOUND DRUNK

Woman Admits She Bought Liquor for Him. George Kolstad, 12 years old, was arrested at 225 Twenty-eighth avenue N. Saturday afternoon, charged with drunkenness, and yesterday afternoon Josephine Hayward of 2826 Second street N. found herself in the toils for furnishing liquor to the boy.

Mrs. Hayward admits giving the liquor to the boy, but she says she would use it for herself. She says he came to her with 50 cents and asked her to go to the drug store and get some whisky for his older brother. She said the family well, she said, and went for the liquor. She did not think the boy would touch it himself.

Alfred Fryklund, with whom Kolstad shared the whisky, was also arrested yesterday and charged with drunkenness. Mrs. Hayward pleaded guilty to a charge of furnishing liquor to minors today and was given a sentence of 15 or fifteen days in the workhouse. The two boys were placed on probation.

MEDAL FOR SEMLING

Norman County Friends Want Carnegie to Make Award. A movement is on foot among the residents of Norman county, Minnesota, to secure one of the Carnegie medals for C. K. Semling of Minneapolis, who saved Miss Sophia Authen, a domestic, from death by fire on June 1.

Mr. Semling was formerly the editor of the Halstead Reporter. For three years he has made his home in Minneapolis and attended the university law school. The accident was caused by the mistake of an oil-wagon driver who delivered gasoline at the Semling home instead of kerosene. Miss Authen started the fire with it and the explosion that followed threw the burning liquid over her clothing.

Mr. Semling, who was in the next room, heard her screams and ran to her assistance, smothering the flames with his coat. He was himself badly burned, but the young woman's injuries were not serious.

ELECT DR. STUB DESPITE PROTEST

PROFESSOR IS VICE PRESIDENT OF NORWEGIAN SYNOD.

Special Committee Declared He Was Eligible, but Couldn't Cast Deciding Vote in Case of a Tie—Voting Rules Amended—Message to Norway Adopted Informally.

(Report of the debate on Dr. Stub's eligibility appears on page 4.) Professor H. G. Stub, D.D., was elected vice president of the Norwegian synod today after a long discussion as to his eligibility. The special committee appointed Saturday to investigate the question reported that Dr. Stub was eligible, providing certain changes in the rules as to voting were made.

Theroupon Dr. Stub was chosen for the office which is regarded as very important inasmuch as the advanced age of President Koren may necessitate his retirement before the next meeting.

The special committee which declared that any minister or ordered professor belonging to a congregation in the synod is legally qualified to hold the office, was amended to provide that unless he is pastor of a church in the synod he cannot cast the deciding vote in the case of a tie. Therefore the committee proposed a parliamentary amendment to the effect that a motion not received a majority of the votes cast shall be declared lost.

The report of the committee was approved after it had been vigorously defended by its authors, Senator T. O. Thorpe and Rev. A. Bredesen. But there were members of the meeting who insisted that the proposed declaration amounted to a change of the constitution, which could not be made in this way.

The discussion of Professor Stub's eligibility will leave some scars; and the amendment re-elected by the members of the synod to the important position of lay member of the church council for the whole synod, the meeting with technical unanimity elected Senator L. D. Thorpe, William, vice president of the synod.

President Koren at the opening of the session announced that he would accept the re-election and would perform his duties as long as his strength may last; but he could hardly be expected to serve out the full term of his office.

Rev. K. Bjorge again brought up the matter of continuing building operations at the Sioux Falls normal school and the matter was referred to the committee against himself and the committee. He charged the building committee with exceeding their authority in this matter. It was decided that the committee should be authorized and instructed to continue the work.

A ballot was taken to nominate an alternate for Senator Thorpe, member of the church council, A. K. Finseth of Kenyon was elected.

Address to Norway. The committee on resolutions submitted this greeting to be sent to Norway: The synod expresses its sympathy with the people of Norway in the present serious crisis and prays God to protect the old fatherland against war and other misfortunes.

Professor C. K. Preus declared that he had some hesitancy about voting for a resolution which might be construed as meddling with politics. President Koren declared that the resolution might be adopted informally, so that it could not be regarded as an official declaration of the synod as such.

The meeting of the synod adjourned, whereupon the address to be sent to the government of Norway was unanimously adopted.

Several committee reports were read, and others will be read this afternoon. This evening the several candidates for the ministry from the theological school will be ordained by President Koren, assisted by the district presidents.

INDIANS GET A HANDOUT. ABORIGINES COME TO THE CITY TO GET THEIR ANNUITY AND STUMPAGE RECEIPTS.

Eastern tourists who still think of the west as wild and woolly and full of Indians, had the chance of their lives today to see the real thing in the semi-civilized aborigines. There were probably more of them in the city than have been here for many years.

The government is paying the reds their annuity and the stumpage receipts for the last winter's cut on the reservations. All those sharing the present "hand out" are Chippewas. About fifty appeared today before the agents at the Hotel Nicolet and drew the amounts due them. They live a damp near here and have not been on the reservation for years. Some of them have a camp near Shakopee, and there are several camps along the river between Minneapolis and Winona, not counting those who live in St. Paul, who are Tammany Indians.

The highest annuity payment by number was $19.60. Of this amount $5.20 is the 1904 annuity, $8.40 arrearage, and $6 stumpage money.

The party making the payments consists of John T. Van Meter, Daniel McDougall, Romain Perrault and Theodore Beaujeu.

"I wonder to me," said one of the party, "how these people get word of our pay days and get here. They do it somehow, tho, and never fail. We post a notice a month or two ahead, generally in the hotel where we make our headquarters. They will hear of it in some way and will be on hand on the day set. A few of the educated ones wait from time to time, and we, of course, notify them by mail. I suppose they pass the word along. Payments have already been made at White Earth, Beaulieu, Cass Lake and Pine Point, and will conclude here today."

HAD ENOUGH NITRO TO BLOW UP CITY

Powerful Explosive Carelessly Carried by Suspects Arrested on Nicolet Avenue.

A roughly-dressed young man walked thru the downtown streets of Minneapolis today with enough nitro-glycerine in his outside coat pocket to blow the state capitol, the courthouse and the Guaranty building to smithereens. Incidentally he had two hip pockets two 44 calibre revolvers.

Detectors Crummy and Bundige had been following them for some time, and at Hennepin and Sixth street, at about 2:20 o'clock, they were ordered to stop. Stealing up behind the young man, the detectors gripped their arms and pinned them fast behind their back. There was a volley of oaths and threats to blow the officers up. While the detectors knew the men to be armed, they never dreamed that they carried a half pint bottle nearly full of one of the most powerful explosives in the world. Had there been a hard fight there is no telling what would have happened.

The detectors are convinced that the prisoners are the men who attempted to rob Carlson's grocery store, 720 Twenty-sixth avenue N., early this morning. They got the clue at the scene of the successful robbery and daylight had located their men. It was impossible, however, to get them together so they could be nabbed until this afternoon.

The men described themselves as Frank Kalmer and Charles Wermelin. They are about 25 years old.

Previously, Frank McFarland, Frank Stone and Charles Owens, crooks of national reputation, were arrested by Detectives Howard and Lawrence on suspicion that they were connected with the safe-blowing. They were arrested while trying to crown John Kennedy, a country visitor against a building at Hennepin and Sixth street, with his pockets. All deny that they had anything to do with the robbery, but several persons say they saw them near Carlson's store last night.

Locked in the 'Padded' He Had Narrow Escape. Chesley B. Hamilton, assistant jailer of Hennepin county, had a narrow escape from a dark and terrible death from starvation in the dungeon of the jail today. His rescue came only after his friends had become greatly exercised over his absence and had begun to think that he had been kidnapped by one of the residents of his own 'den of thieves.'

Chesley was doing a little work in the padded dungeon. A trusty came by and noticed the outer door of the cell open. He carefully closed and locked the door. A little later Hamilton, who was missed from his accustomed haunts, Jailer Clausen began to inquire for his assistant. He was nowhere to be found. The jailer and his assistants were taken him downstairs and a search was hastily organized. When the excitement had reached fever heat, faint cries struck the ears of the jailer and he stepped the missing man.

DON'T CARE TO LOAF. Hundreds of Children Enrolled in Vacation Schools. Not all the children of the city are idle in vacation. This morning between 500 and 600 parents presented themselves for enrollment in the vacation schools to be held in the Blaine, Madison, Sheridan, Monroe and Jackson schools, and expected by the principal, D. H. Painter, that the number will be doubled tomorrow. The cars of 1,200 is all that the present corps of teachers can undertake.

Instruction will be given in four branches, manual training, sewing, cooking and nature study. The Blaine will have all of these and the Monroe schools, and the fish commission, had a close call from injury recently while at the state fish hatchery. He was awakened early in the morning by dogs barking the same deer. Taking his shotgun, he hurried to the rescue and the dog ran to him for protection. Fullerton shot the first dog which came in sight. The report frightened the deer, the animal knocking Fullerton down. In falling, he jabbed the barrel of the gun into the ground and the second charge exploded. The explosion blew the muzzle of the gun to pieces, but Mr. Fullerton escaped uninjured.

MR. FULLERTON'S ESCAPE. He Had a Thrilling Experience with His Gun at the Fish Hatchery. S. P. Fullerton, executive agent for the game and fish commission, had a close call from injury recently while at the state fish hatchery. FOUND A GAMING PLACE. And the Police Quickly Raided the Jessamine Club. Three colored men, giving their names as John Jones, M. W. Burns and Frank Edwards, were arrested in the rooms of the Jessamine club in the rear of 245 Nicolet street, Saturday night, when they were charged with gambling. Jones was charged with keeping a gambling house and the other two men charged with gambling in the house.

MRS. TOOMEY BLUSHES. She Appears Worried by Testimony of Two Hackdrivers. Judge Dunn's courtroom in St. Paul was crowded this morning with the many who desired to hear the testimony of Mrs. Toomey in the $25,000 breach of promise suit of Mrs. Eleanor M. Toomey against Dr. Joseph C. Bettingen.

Mrs. Toomey, called by E. S. Durment, attorney for the defense, admitted that she knew May Buckley, the actress who had visited at the plaintiff's house, 703 Lincoln avenue, several summers. Did the plaintiff and Mrs. Toomey ever have any trouble over May Buckley? Mrs. Toomey was reluctant to answer till the court ordered her to, when she answered in the affirmative.

Dr. Bettingen was next called. Again he entered a series of denials and said Mrs. Toomey fibbed in saying married women who were his patients insisted on making love to him.

Two hack drivers were called and they told a large scale, but the committee on arrangements has given the plan much attention and will spare no pains to make it a success.

Invited to the Regulators. Snelling Troops Asked to Appear in Saturday's Parade. Mayor D. P. Jones, Lieutenant Colonel Frank T. Corriston and a delegation interested in the semi-centennial celebration on July 1 went out to Fort Snelling today to invite the troops at Fort Snelling to participate in the semi-centennial celebration in Minneapolis next Saturday. Fort Snelling is now a cavalry post, as well as an infantry and artillery post and the Minneapolis delegation hopes that the commandant of the post will detail all three branches of the service to participate in exercises.

The rehearsal for the living flag parade this afternoon at the National Guard armory. This feature is planned as one of the big events of the day. It has never been attempted in this city on a large scale, but the committee on arrangements has given the plan much attention and will spare no pains to make it a success.

AUTOS POP ON RIVERSIDE HILL

Hill-Climbing Contest at Riverside Puts the Chuffers on Their Mettle—Big Cars Are Eating Up the Stiff Incline with Silver Cups as Rewards—The Entries.

The sound of the gas engine is heard in the late afternoon on the hill-climbing contest today, which was stripped for the auto. The rain of Saturday has permitted the entry of two new machines which are considered formidable 40-horsepower motors, belonging to Asa Paine, which was unloaded from a boxcar this morning, and a Stevens-Duryea, which came this morning. W. G. Benz has entered a Ford which has been successful in eastern climbs.

The sixty-horsepower Mercedes which Tom Sheelin, Jr., has been making records with in Connecticut will not be entered, as Tom unfortunately failed to identify himself with the club in time. W. G. Benz has entered a Ford which has been successful in eastern climbs.

MARTIN ENVIED HIRSUTE MAN, BUT NOT FOR LONG. Even Judge C. L. Smith could not restrain a hearty laugh in police court today when Jesse Rice, with his luxuriant crop of hair done up in a large roll on top of his head, and Henry Martin, who has no hair at all, were arraigned side by side on charges of drunkenness.

Jesse is the famous cowboy preacher of Montana, who comes to Minneapolis to preach a year to enjoy himself. When he stood up to answer the charge, Martin looked at him with envy, and his eyes told the court that he thought the westerner should "divvy." He has just recovered from a stroke of typhoid and is waiting anxiously for a new crop of hair.

The cowboy looked at Martin with a better eye. Martin fared much better at the hands of the court. It was his first appearance, but Jesse has been hauled in by the police on several occasions. Martin drew a sentence of $5 and was ordered to answer the charge of remorseful minister was given $30 or thirty days. He had spent his cash for his fun, and will spend the next month on the city ranch at Camden Place.

TO REPAIR HENNEPIN. Residents State Their Desires to the Park Board. Hennepin avenue residents this afternoon conferred with the park board's committee on improvements regarding improvements for that avenue, which is admitted to be in deplorable condition. The cause is admitted by the park commissioners to be due to neglect by the board. The neglect is not wholly willful, as the board for years has not had sufficient funds for half the work that it should do. The law to be suits to Hennepin avenue, nevertheless, have been disastrous.

To keep up Hennepin from Lowry Hill to Lake Street will cost the city to Superintendent W. M. Berry, at least $1,500 a year. Many believe that the street should be paved, but here another difficulty presents itself, the expense cannot do the work because the avenue is a parkway, and the park board has not sufficient means to bear the first cost of the paving. The expense can be assessed on the abutting property according to the system which the board has at its disposal, but the contractors would want to be paid for the work before they would care to receive it. Installments extending over a period of ten years.

TRIED TO KILL HIS WIFE. Ted Howard's Attempt to Shoot Spouse Was Frustrated. Ted Howard, well known to the police, attempted to shoot his wife at the home of her sister, 614 Sixth avenue S. last night, but was captured by Patrolman Bevans before he did any damage.

Howard's wife has not been living with him recently, and arming himself with a shotgun, he called on her at her sister's home. H. G. Taylor, her brother-in-law, knew that he was out for trouble, and grappled with him while the wife ran for a policeman. Taylor and Taylor escorted Howard to central station.

Howard was arraigned in police court today and pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was given a straight sentence of twenty days in the workhouse.

ROBBERS WRECK A SAFE FOR NAUGHT

Cracksmen wrecked the safe in C. J. Carlson's grocery store at 124 1/2 Twenty-eighth avenue S. last night, and yesterday morning the safe was found wrecked and the contents scattered about. The safe was a heavy iron door was torn from its hinges. The robbers had broken the rear door of the store open to get in, and had left the same way. There was some damage to the building.

BEST IN THE UNION

W. N. Hays, assistant secretary of agriculture, is enthusiastic over the new rural school consolidation law now in effect in Minnesota. The law to a considerable extent follows Mr. Hays' original idea, outlined some time ago in the Journal. Mr. Hays arrived in St. Paul Sunday to visit his family.
