SILVER TABLES FOR BOUDOIRS.

Every boudoir has a new bright spot now, for fashion has decreed that every one of them must be equipped with a silver table. Contrary to what the name implies, these tables seldom are of metal; they are called "silver tables" because of the glistening cargo with which their tops are laden. Here are ranged all the silver trophies, madame has picked up on her travels, or at home. Mrs. Berkeley Martin's silver table bears an odd assortment of souvenirs. An old Roman lamp, which is kept trimmed and burning, sheds its faint glow over colonial candlesticks, porringers, bits of filigree and quaint carved figures. Many ages and climes have contributed to the collection, and many of the pieces have interesting histories.

MINNETONKA

Sunday was an ideal day at the lake and the trains along the north and south shore came in for a generous share of traffic. The upper lake is growing continually in popularity and the good train service running from the city to Spring Park and to Mound City have opened that part of the lake for the use of Sunday visitors. Hourly trains connect with the city from that point and just as many trains return to town. Quite a popular method of doing the lake is now to take the trains to Wayzata and board one of the several steamers at that station, making the trip either to Mound City or to Spring Park, from which places the trains can be boarded on the homeward trip. This gives the tourists a splendid opportunity to view the beauties of the lake, from the lowest point of the lower lake to the farthest point in the upper lake. The Plymouth and the Wayzata meet the trains every morning at Wayzata and then make the lower lake run from Wayzata to Mound City, and the Narrows runs into the upper lake, Spring Park, around the many islands to Cook's Bay and Mound City. As Mound City is a little further from the Great Northern depot many prefer to land at Spring Park on the way back and take the return trains from there.

Hopkins has been full to the roof for several weeks past, and it was not for the continual coming and going of guests, Mr. Hopkins would find the task of housing all a difficult one. Social affairs at the hotel are informal, but nevertheless dignified. Out-of-door sports are much in vogue, and tennis, tennis ball, clock golf are much enjoyed amusements. Last Wednesday afternoon a tennis tournament was given by the guests of the hotel, and Mr. Hopkins had furnished handsome prizes. Only the men played in the tournament, and some splendid games were witnessed. After the tournament, Mrs. Hopkins assisted by a group of women from the hotel served tea and the affair wound up with a party social hour around the daintily arranged Japanese tea table. The table was decked under a huge Japanese umbrella suspended from trees, and the guests were seated under the green foliage. The appointments were in keeping with the character of decorations.

A round robin was played off at five in the doubles and the winners of the games played down until the two last men played in the singles for the championship of Spring Park. Mr. Olson and J. Hanley played the singles. Adelsheim and Mr. Blanchard, score, Adelsheim-Blanchard, 2-6, 0-6. Adelsheim and Blanchard played P. D. Boyd and Herbert Hanley, score, Adelsheim-Blanchard, 3-6, 3-6. This gave the prize to Mr. Adelsheim in the singles and to Mr. Adelsheim and Mr. Blanchard in the doubles. It was a delightful impromptu event and the novelty of the affair appealed to all the guests and visitors around the hotel.

During the past week many dinner and luncheon parties were given at the hotel, and the beautiful weather favored all the social undertakings. Mr. Olson and J. Hanley played the singles for the championship of Spring Park. Mr. Adelsheim and Mr. Blanchard, score, Adelsheim-Blanchard, 2-6, 0-6. Adelsheim and Blanchard played P. D. Boyd and Herbert Hanley, score, Adelsheim-Blanchard, 3-6, 3-6. This gave the prize to Mr. Adelsheim in the singles and to Mr. Adelsheim and Mr. Blanchard in the doubles. It was a delightful impromptu event and the novelty of the affair appealed to all the guests and visitors around the hotel.

Mrs. A. T. Anderson has announced the engagement of her daughter, Martha Scott, to A. Phelps Wynman of Chicago. The wedding of Miss Anderson and Mr. Wynman will take place Thursday evening, Aug. 24, at the home of the bride's mother, 1919 Fifth avenue S.

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Frank M. Anderson gave a quilting bee at her home, 1625 University avenue SE, for Miss Anderson.

Among the weddings of the week will be that of Miss Fannie Tilton and Dr. Clarence Bell of Lakefield, Minn., which will take place Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tilton, 517 North street S. Tomorrow evening Miss Tilton will give a dinner for the members of her bridal party.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Mills for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Caroline Gold, to Arnold Gray, which will take place, very quietly, at their home, 10 East Fifteenth street, Wednesday, Aug. 16. Only the relatives and near friends will be present.

Thursday afternoon Miss Mabel Thompson of 55 Eleventh street N. will entertain for Miss Caroline Gold, a bride of the month, and for Miss Davinia Sanborn, who has just returned from California.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Samuel R. Benjamin entertained 100 women at a reception at her home on Ninth street S. Sweet peas, water lilies and poppies were used in profusion throughout the affair. The Misses Gold, Mrs. George Arnold, Edith King and Marjorie Lathrop poured tea and served frappe. The hours were from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marston gave a dinner last evening at the Hampshire Arms for Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cooper of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who are spending a few days in the city.

Miss Alice Eustis of Chicago was the guest of honor at a luncheon which was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. U. G. Williams of Portland avenue N. Pink and white sweet peas furnished a charming table decoration. Miss Eustis has been the guest of Mrs. Williams for the past fortnight, and she will return home this evening.

Mrs. Howard A. Pritch of Portland avenue gave a grand shoo-bee last afternoon for Miss Nell B. Fichet. There were eighteen guests and the house was prettily decorated with garden flowers.

Minneapolis friends will be interested in the marriage of Miss Maude Lillian Harter and William D. McClary of St. Paul, which was quietly solemnized Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Professor and Mrs. H. I. Harter, at Cannon Falls, Minn. Rev. J. S. Akers read the service in the presence of forty relatives and friends. The bride wore white crepe de Chine and carried bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss May B. Harter, and Charles E. Crans of St. Paul was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dudley celebrated their golden wedding Saturday evening by entertaining fifty friends informally at their home, 3304 Third avenue S. The rooms were attractively decorated with flowers and palms. Mrs. Wentworth Maxfield of Bangor, Me., and Miss Ella Dudley and Mrs. May Dudley Greeley assisted Mr. and Mrs. Dudley. Crawford Bailey, who was a guest at the wedding fifty years ago, was present. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley were married in Bangor, Me. They came to Minneapolis about fifteen years ago from Hastings, Minn., where they made their home for a short time after leaving Maine.

Nursery Governesses' Duties Almost as Murky and Varied as a Mother's

In summing up her "Experiences of a Nursery Governess," in the August number of Everybody's, Miss Martha S. Bonney says:

"The duties and privileges of a nursery governess are uncertain; she fills an undefined place in the domestic economy, and neither she nor her employers know just where she should be placed. From the 12-year-old nurse girl to the college-trained governess, the chain is unbroken; and it was never possible for me to tell what link in it the nursery governess would be expected to form. I might find myself at either end or somewhere in between. Sometimes I ate with the family, sometimes in the kitchen; sometimes I was 'Miss Clark,' sometimes 'Anna'; sometimes I was paid $50 a month, sometimes $4 a week; sometimes I was with the youngest child, sometimes in the attic; sometimes I went to the theater with the children in my best hat, sometimes I was in the kitchen, sometimes I was in and out of the back door; sometimes the chambermaid cared for my room, sometimes I did the chamberwork in
