THE WORD "PIANOLA"

Is not a term applicable to piano-players in general, but is the specific name of the instrument manufactured and sold by the Aeolian Co., Aeolian Hall, 362 5th Avenue, and its recognized agents.

THE DIFFERENCE between the Pianola and other piano-players is as marked as the distinction between a performance by Paderewski and the playing of the average pianist.

The superiority of the Pianola is not a matter of argument, but an unassailable fact. The greatest musicians have stated in writing that no piano-player is complete without the Metrostyle, and this device is found only in the Pianola.

The Metrostyle ensures performances that are correct from the musician's point of view, and, therefore, gives the performer as well as the listener the greatest amount of pleasure and entertainment. It furnishes authorized interpretations by the finest pianists and composers, and, no matter how little the performer may know of music, he is enabled to play intelligently and well—not merely sound notes.

Demonstrations at any time. Visit our Aeolian Department and ask to hear the only "Pianola."

Miss Ruth Robbins, of Robbinsdale, gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of the Wells college girls who she has been entertaining at a house party the past week. The parlors were in yellow, nasturtiums and marguerites. In the library were red nasturtiums, in the music room blue sweet peas, and in the dining room white sweet peas and asparagus fern. The place cards had tiny landscapes in water color. Most of the guests were students at Wells college. WHAT OTHER PEOPLE THINK

A Plea for Toleration and Candor. To the Editor of The Journal. In your issue of 29th ult. the Rev. Mr. Rollins makes an attack on Dr. Riley's Bible school convention and the speakers engaged therein. It is not my purpose to champion Dr. Riley and his assistants, but only as an outsider, to raise a few questions which are of interest to a great many of your readers. In these days the plea is urgently made that we should get rid of all narrowness and "dogmatism," and cherish "a broad tolerance" for all brethren who differ from us, especially in religious and theological opinions. Reading between the lines of Mr. Rollins' article, he evidently would desire to be classed with those who delight in "broad, progressive Bible scholarship." Of course, that is his right. But suppose, now, that Dr. Riley is of the opinion that "broad, progressive Bible scholarship" justifies and demands conclusions in opposition to the scholarship of Mr. Rollins—what right has Mr. Rollins to object to Dr. Riley urging his views upon the people? Why shall Mr. Rollins be free and Mr. Riley be debarred from expressing his conclusions? What becomes of the broad principle of toleration in such a case?

Again, Mr. Rollins objects that Dr. Riley's convention is organized "to advocate a particular view of the Bible, etc.," "to teach verbal inspiration," etc. Suppose it is; is it not the right of Dr. Riley to teach this view if he believes it? And by what law of right is Mr. Rollins, as a Christian minister, at liberty to mind against Dr. Riley? How will he prove that he is a more ardent devotee to truth than Dr. Riley? Yet again, has Mr. Rollins no right to prefer the Bible or about inspiration? Does he allow himself to be restrained from expressing them? If he may hold and advocate particular views, why not Dr. Riley? Why should Mr. Rollins try to prejudice the public mind against Dr. Riley's opinions in this age pre-eminently for its freedom, its toleration, its truth-seeking? Is Mr. Rollins so "cock-sure" that he and those who agree with him have found the truth and that Dr. Riley is wrong? Or is he afraid to have the people hear Dr. Riley's side of the case?

And to just what section of "broad, progressive Bible scholarship" does Mr. Rollins belong? Is he a student of criticism and also in theology. All the great critical scholars do not follow Well-hausen and his school. All English critical scholars do not agree with Driver and Chaynes. It is a writer of today, and of worldwide fame for critical scholarship, who says: "It is the Book of Genesis and not the works of the German critic whose claim to credence has been vindicated by the discoveries of archeology. It is true that the discoveries have been disputed by the 'critic' inch by inch, that first the philological scholarship of the Assyriologists and the Egyptologists was questioned, and that now, when at length a grudging assent to undeniable facts has been extorted, we are told that the 'critical position' still remains unaffected. Unaffected! When the ground is dug upon which it rested is absolutely gone!"

If the foundation of the "critical position" is absolutely gone, then whether or not we return to the Bible or not, we refuse to hear Dr. Riley. And it may be that Dr. Riley and his assistants are no more widely known than Mr. Rollins, that they have read the works of more than "one notable Bible scholar," and are as familiar with them as even Mr. Rollins himself.

By all means let us have toleration and candor. —W. R. Kirkwood, St. Paul, Aug. 2.

No Snap.

To the Editor of The Journal. It seems by conversing with the public that most everyone who understands what a station agent and operator has to do that a minimum wage of $75 a month is not too much. It must be considered that these agents not only have to do telegraphing, but also a great amount of other work.

In most places they are agents for the express company and the Western Union Telegraph company. The work is such that in numerous instances they have to work from 7 a. m. to late at night, making up reports, for which a great many receive but $55 a month salary.

Can you blame those men for striking? They also have to work Sundays, receiving no extra compensation. An average bookkeeper has a far better position. —O. R. T.

BAD STOMACH MAKES BAD BLOOD.

You can't make sweet butter in a foul churn. Every farmer's wife knows this. Your stomach churns and digests the food you eat and if foul, liquid or out of order, your whole system suffers from blood poisoning. You will have foul breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and indigestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is not a beverage composed of whiskey or alcohol, being entirely free from narcotics, is a great regulator and invigorator of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

"About a year ago I was ill with blood poisoning. The doctor said my blood was bad. I was very nervous and my blood was cleaned. My complexion is clear and my stomach is better. I have not had a headache since. I feel like a new man. I am very grateful to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for what it has done for me.
