GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

HALF AN HOUR LATE

Just thirty minutes too late was a telegram sent to New York, by Governor J. A. Johnson, to save the aged father of A. L. Wilde, 2434 Eleventh avenue S., Minneapolis, from deportation. Mr. Wilde had sent for his father to come from Denmark to Minneapolis. He was to take care of him in Minneapolis during his declining years. His father sailed from Denmark, but on arrival at Ellis Island, New York, was held by the authorities because of his age. A. L. Wilde appealed yesterday afternoon to the governor. A telegram was sent by the governor, stating that the state of Minnesota would vouch for the old man being cared for in Minneapolis by his son. The telegram arrived at Ellis Island just a half hour after the steamer had sailed with the old man. A cablegram is to be sent to Southampton to have him put off there for shipment to this country.

BOLD HIGHWAY

TRIO AT LARGE

HAVE HELD UP FOUR MEN IN LAST TWO DAYS.

Three Teamsters Halted on Milwaukee Tracks at Park Avenue, but Robbers Get Nothing—Two Work Bluff Successfully—Other Had No Money—Police Hard After the Artists.

A determined and daring trio of hold-up men has been working overtime during the last few days, and the police are worried over the repeated reports of robberies. Since Sunday morning at least four men have been held up by this same trio.

The last victim was O. K. Myron, driver for the City Ice company, who was held up early this morning at Park avenue and Twenty-ninth street. He was on his way to work and was walking down the Milwaukee tracks. He was suddenly confronted by three men who stepped out from behind the walkman's shanty and told him to throw up his hands.

He complied with the request, but at the same time told the highwaymen that he had no money. They felt of his pockets and let him go with a few choice curses.

A. J. Lewis, driver of a furniture van for the Boyd Transfer company, was held up at the same place last night. He was driving to the barns after working late, when the trio grabbed his hold-up bag, and pointed a revolver in his face and told him to hand over his money. He said he had 24 cents and that they were welcome to it. He spoke in such a convincing manner that the bandits did not even get out from the wagon to search him and he was allowed to go.

Was Prepared to Bluff.

It is known, however, that he did have more money than he let on to stop or argue with them, with the exception of crying "scab" with determined voices whenever any of them went in or out of the office. Nevertheless the crowd held up the man rapidly, every small boy who could get there being present. However, the leaders among the boys saw that a general row would not be to their advantage and they managed to keep the sidewalks open.

About 10 o'clock Manager H. J. Hught called some of the boys in and asked them to help him work until the difficulties could be fixed up. The boys could not see it that way and asked for a conference. The talk came to nothing and the boys went back on the street. A little later a sign was pasted in the window at the Third street entrance:

"Any boy who does not offer his services before 3 o'clock will receive no further employment in this office."—H. J. Hught, manager.

Many of the boys maintain that the order has had no effect, but others say that there is a weakening in the ranks. From time to time boys called during the afternoon, but there was no general stampede. Horses and carriages were secured to carry messages to places which could not be reached by telephone.

Fun on 'Change.

The effect of the strike was felt on 'change this morning, when twenty messengers, employed by the Western Union and about the building, walked out in a body.

The result was that middle-aged men ran about the floor with messages, calling the names. The strike occasioned considerable merriment on the floor, but was in a way serious. Manager Wise of the Western Union was doing the pieces, watching one ton, to the street this morning, however, and Manager Brown of the Postal and North American had no trouble, as the strike did not extend to their boys.

Cause of the Trouble.

The chief cause of the strike seems to be the wage scale. The boys, who are getting $16 a month, want $17; those getting $17, want $18; and those getting $20, want $23. While the boys say that they are also striking to get every other Sunday off, the manager says that the present arrangement. The boys also want the streetcar fare paid when they go beyond certain limits.

SPORTS AT SNELLING

Field Events at Post Witnessed by Large Crowd.

The program of field sports at Fort Snelling passed off today successfully. Interest in the events was great and many visitors from the twin cities were present.

The wall-scaling event was the most thrilling of the day. In the contest three men from the army and one from the field, went over a twelve-foot wall with a four-inch stringer on top. The winners made the ten yards on each side of the wall and the scale in forty seconds.

A spectacular event was the novelty event in which the Tenth and Thirtieth batteries of the light artillery took part. The men fired a gun, dismounted, threw the pieces, and finally one ton, to the ground, took off the carriage wheels and practically disintegrated the equipment. This was put together again and the gun fired. The Tenth battery won. The scores were as follows: Tenth battery, 100-Yard Dash—Gibson, Troop G, 1 1/4 seconds.

WALL-SCALING EVENT—Company E, First; Company A, second.

Baseball Throw—Corporal Ottman, Company K, 103 yards.

YOUNGSTERS ON

A REAL STRIKE

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH MESSENGERS WALK OUT.

Girls Carry Telegrams and the Boys Shout 'Scab' After Them—One Led Taken In by the Police, but Is Dismissed—Manager Serves an Ultimatum.

Fifty "kids," the day force of the Western Union Telegraph company's messenger service, walked out at 7:30 a. m. today, as they walked out as far as the sidewalk, where they stood in groups awaiting developments. The first employment was a goodly number of "cops," who took their station around the doors.

The boys had the satisfaction of seeing the office force get down to work. By a perversion of fortune, there seemed to be an unusual number of messages and the telephones were not allowed to rest a minute. It was thought that some of the messages for nearby business offices could be delivered by the employees.

First blood was spilt when the office boy started with a telegram for the Lumber Exchange. There was a cry of "scab" and the crowd surged, and someone grabbed for the message and tapped the messenger on the nose. A big policeman jumped into the throng and scolded between the envoys of the Central police station. Part of the crowd followed, but the majority stayed to see more trouble. As no one could swear just which boy struck the blow, the boy was later dismissed, after Chief Doyle had given him a few words of advice.

Girls Carry Messages.

In the meantime some of the girls in the office were carrying important messages. The boys did not try to stop or argue with them, with the exception of crying "scab" with determined voices whenever any of them went in or out of the office. Nevertheless the crowd held up the man rapidly, every small boy who could get there being present. AGED SINGER IS

WEDDED AT LAST

JOHN W. HUTCHINSON GOES TO ALTAR, AGED 84.

Founder of Minnesota Village, After Several Harrowing Heart Experiences, Says He Has Found His Mate—Peace Conference Rejected His Song, but He Won a Bride.

JOHN W. HUTCHINSON, War Time Singer and Founder of Hutchinson, Minn., Married Aug. 24.

After four score years and four, marked by sixteen romances to which he himself has confessed, John W. Hutchinson of Lynn, Mass., last surviving member of the Hutchinson family of singers who founded the city of Hutchinson, Minn., has succumbed to the darts of Dan Cupid and has wedded the altar Mrs. Agnes Post Everest, whose age is given as 42.

The wedding took place Aug. 24 in Portsmouth, N. H., the seat of the peace conference between the envoys of Japan and Russia. Indeed, it was the peace conference which brought the aged singer from his home in Lynn, and the woman now his bride, from New York. Both were moved, it is said, by a desire that the war cease, and after some correspondence on the subject, they agreed to proceed to Portsmouth and explore the envoys to conclude peace.

A song was proposed, written by the aged musician and composed by Mrs. Everest, which should be sung at the opening of each day's conference. The Japanese pleaded that they did not understand it. Although the song was rejected, Mr. Hutchinson fell in love with the composer.

Bride's Third Wedding.

Mrs. Hutchinson has been married twice before, and has twice been widowed. Her first marriage was to Alfred Postel, son of a wealthy family of Savannah, Ga. Her second was to Allen Everest, Jr., with whom she tried to live overcast to her marriage to Postel. Her third marriage was to Alfred Postel, son of a wealthy family of Savannah, Ga. Her second was to Allen Everest, Jr., with whom she tried to live overcast to her marriage to Postel.

Only last June he was reported in dispiritedly with a broken heart. He had been engaged to a young violinist, Miss Grace Vincent. But later dispatches announced that Miss Elizabeth Wetherill of Lynn, Mass., had sued him for breach of promise, and the projected marriage with Miss Vincent was declared off. Nor was this the first breach of promise case in which he had been engaged. In 1892 he was sued in Chicago for damages in a similar case, and is said to have settled for $5,000.

Bridegroom Made Speech.

The ceremony was performed by Mayor William E. Marvin of Portsmouth. Miss Klora Horn, aged 8 years, was the bridesmaid, and Master Benjamin Horn, 10 year old, was the ring bearer. The bridegroom made a "best man." Just as the mayor was about to begin, the bridegroom said that he wished to make a few remarks. He stated that he had had many misadventures in his life, but that he had years of waiting he had truly found his life's mate, his heart's desire. He then said that they intended to do good in the world, and that he hoped at the conclusion of the marriage by the laws of New Hampshire, the mayor read the following benediction written by the bridegroom:

"Thou hast taken the vows of a bride. May wisdom watch over thy head. And happiness walk by thy side. May the man thou hast chosen for thy life be the man that I wish him to be. May he find every joy in his wife. Success to thy husband and thee.

We have visited Portsmouth to suggest the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man. Peace not only to the contending nations, but to the whole world. The bride and bridegroom then proceeded to the piano and sang their wedding song.

The ceremony at Portsmouth is ended, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will come west to take part in the semi-centennial celebration of the founding of Hutchinson, and to visit Minneapolis friends of the aged bridegroom.

COAL AT THE TOP

Last Increase of Season Brings It to $8.75 Sept. 1.

Result is added to injury on a perceiving day by the coal barons' announcement that hard coal, by a 10-cent advance Sept. 1, will reach its regular price of $8.75. To make fuel buying early the coal companies make a spring reduction which is overcome by a monthly advance of 10 cents.

Steam coal users will be interested in a 15-cent increase which will make steam coal, according to the coal barons, 15c higher. A peculiar situation is the fact that consumption of wood is falling off. This is due to the increased use of coal and gas for domestic purposes. Wood is still being shipped, but the old-fashioned wood cooking stove is losing its grip.

FATHER USED STRAP

Man Arrested for Cruelty to 14-Year-Old Son.

Charged with whipping his 14-year-old son, Roy, because he was arrested for trespassing in the railroad yards, E. H. Davis is locked up at central station.

The boy was arrested last evening and was arraigned in the juvenile court this morning. He was allowed to go on probation and as soon as he appeared at home it is alleged his father whipped him unmercifully with a strap. The boy's screams attracted the neighbors, who reported the case to the Humane society.

REJOICES OVER

THE PEACE PACT

MAX HURWITZ CAN NOW GO BACK TO RUSSIA.

Just Arrived in Minneapolis After Leaving His Native Land to Avoid Military Service in Far East—Reunited with Father, Whom He Had Not Seen For Twenty-five Years.

The peace pact between Russia and Japan brought joy to Max Hurwitz and his family in Minneapolis. Had the war gone on, Hurwitz would have remained in America to escape conscription. With peace assured, he can return to Russia to a high-salaried position which he left to avoid taking up arms for the "Little Father."

The war, too, was the means of reuniting him with the father he had not seen for twenty-five years. Hurwitz served the czar for four years. When his term of enlistment was finished he felt that he was a free man once more. But after his name was enrolled in the Russian war office, he was written the word "reserve," and the pressure of the war became greater, he had to choose between leaving his home and mother and risking his life for the country which he felt had dealt nothing but oppression.

He chose the latter alternative, and crossed the border into Germany. After waiting eight months for a chance to return to his home in Rovno, his resources were exhausted and he wrote to friends in America as to the whereabouts of his father, who came to this country twenty-five years ago. He finally located him in St. Paul, and came over to live with him until he could return to Russia without danger of being forced into the army.

Hurwitz says that since the war began, between 50,000 and 60,000 reservists have left Russia. With the exception of the autocracy and the peasants, all classes in Russia hope for defeat in the east as the best thing to advance the longed-for reforms in government.

It was thru A. Dalin of Minneapolis and Dr. Deinar of St. Paul that Hurwitz, general, as he is called here, before he was drafted, located his father. He is with Mr. Dalin at present, but tonight he will go to St. Paul to meet his father, whom he has not seen since he was a great-grandchild. He keeps a grocery store at 173 West Twenty-third street, St. Paul.

S. S. JOHNSON IS DEAD

PROMINENT LUMBERMAN, FORMERLY AT HEAD OF MINNESOTA CONCERNS, DIES IN CALIFORNIA.

S. S. Johnson, for many years a resident of Cloquet, Minn., and one of the prominent lumbermen of the state, died Sunday at Berkeley, Cal., of Bright's disease, aged 48. He was formerly president of the Johnson-Wentworth Lumber company and at one time was a partner of John De Laittre of the Weyerhaeuser syndicate. Mr. Johnson was married to Mrs. M. Johnson of Berkeley. The funeral services were held in Berkeley today.

With Mr. De Laittre, Mr. Johnson operated a lumber business in Harbin, Minn., about seven years. Then they transferred to Cloquet, organizing as the Johnson-Wentworth company. This business was sold out four years ago to the Weyerhaeuser syndicate. Mr. Johnson went to Oregon and California, finally locating in the latter state. With several eastern men, such as the Lambs, Carpenters and Hixons, they bought out Scott-Vananda's lumber business on the McCloud river near Mount Shasta. In a year's time the company was changed to the McCloud River Lumber company with $5,000,000 capital and 100,000,000 feet of lumber annually. These figures indicate the ability of Mr. Johnson, who was president and manager.

JONAS F. BROWN RETIRES

Pioneer Business Man's Property Sold—Other Real Estate Deals.

Theodore Wetmore closed three important sales today. He has sold the Jonas F. Brown store building property at 216 Nicollet avenue to Mrs. C. M. Loring for $20,000. The building is a three-story brick, and the dimensions of the site are 26 1/2 x 30. He has sold for Mrs. Loring to T. H. Shevlin, the lot on Oak Grove street adjoining Mr. Shevlin's home on the east. The price was $7,000. The lot is 80 x 157 feet.

Another transfer negotiated is the sale of the business of Jonas F. Brown to a new corporation, the Jonas F. Brown company, in which Harry De Parc is a prominent figure. Mr. De Parc will be remembered as having been at one time assistant manager of the West hotel. He took charge later of a leading hotel in New Orleans, became connected with a leading bank and was made manager of one of its branch banks.

Jonas F. Brown, who retires from active affairs, has been in business in Minneapolis fifty years, and has maintained a store at 219 Nicollet avenue for thirty-seven years.

Y. M. C. A. NIGHT SCHOOL OFFERS COURSE IN GASOLENE ENGINEERING.

Q. J. Stratt, educational director of the Y. M. C. A., celebrated the publication of the prospectus of the coming winter's work by giving a watermelon spread to the members of last year's night school at the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday evening.

Director Stratt explained the changes in the course and was followed by several others, who tried either to inform or entertain the crowd. Mrs. Ralph Norton sang a solo. The prospectus shows several additions to the course offered by the night school last year. Gasoline engineering is the most novel offering. The course is designed to train young men who wish to secure positions as chauffeurs and also for the benefit of those who are running their own machines. Walter Milner, an expert chauffeur, has been engaged to give the course, which will cover automobiles, motor boats and motor cycles. Several types of demonstration and members of the course will be given a chance to try actual running.

E. J. Freeman will give work in physiology, including first aid to the injured, and physics, intended for men engaged in technical work. The music course has been enlarged to include instruction in the flute and clarinet as well as the guitar, mandolin, violin and cello.

Mr. Stratt is seeking competent men to take charge of work in planning and estimating for workers in wood and iron and in practical advertising.

An advanced course in electricity has been added which will consist of a series of popular lectures by electrical experts. All the courses which were offered last winter will be continued.

Mr. Stratt is seeking competent men to take charge of work in planning and estimating for workers in wood and iron and in practical advertising.
