KOREAN RACE MAY SOON BE EXTINCT

STRONG LIGHT ON THE FATE OF THE PENINSULA.

Former Minneapolisian Writes that the Japs Are Exploiting the Country and the People for All They Are Worth—The Koreans Have No Rights the Japs Care to Respect.

Paul Doeltz, formerly of Minneapolis, honor pupil of the South Side high school, educated for the ministry and now a missionary and teacher in the Philippines, writes from Iloilo under date of July 25, a story about the Japs in Korea that is peculiarly interesting, now that the Portsmouth treaty will give the Korean peninsula over to the Japs to do with as they see fit.

Crowding Out Natives.

"In Fusan, where they have been the longest, the Japanese outnumber the Koreans, whose business is almost entirely in their hands. Indeed, in the Japanese settlement, which is the main part of the town, Koreans are allowed to open shops only on one of the minor streets, all the rest of the place being open exclusively to the Japs. At Mokpo, the principal port on the southwest coast, there is a thriving Japanese settlement which controls all the business of the port. Here, at very heavy expense, the Japanese are reclaiming a large tract of valuable land along the riverfront. In Seoul the Japanese are buying property as fast as they can persuade the owners to sell, sometimes offering enormous prices as an inducement. It is estimated that over one-third of the city is owned by them now, and Japanese shops are appearing on every hand like mushrooms. At Ping Yang, the principal street in the city which, a year ago, was so narrow that two carts could not pass on it, has been broadened to a considerable width and is lined almost exclusively with Japanese shops.

"But along the line of the railroads their purpose is carried out most cleverly. The railroad from Fusan to Seoul has just been completed, the opening of the line having been celebrated in Seoul with very elaborate ceremonies on May 25. Among the invited guests there were at least a thousand Japanese, but less than fifty Koreans. The line from Chemulpho to Seoul, originally built by an American company, has been sold to the Japanese company, which controls the line to Fusan; while the line from Seoul up to Qiju, on the Yalu river, the concession for which was originally granted to a French syndicate which neglected it, was taken over by the Japanese government as a military measure and is being built as a government road. Over the seventy-five miles at

DESCENDING ON DENVER

CIVIL WAR VETERANS THROUING TO MOUNTAIN CITY FOR THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Scores of civil war veterans have started for the encampment in Denver. Hundreds more, with members of the Woman's Relief corps, will leave tomorrow morning on specials over the Great Western and St. Louis roads. Orton S. Clark, department assistant adjutant, will leave tonight over the Great Western to make final arrangements for his comrades.

Wrung Land from Them.

"As for the feeling between the two peoples, that is very apparent also. The Korean hates the Japanese with a hatred centuries old, intensified by the present movement, but his indolence and blind adherence to ancient customs makes him helpless against the aggressions of his more active neighbor. The Japanese treat the Koreans with supercilious contempt, beating and kicking them like dogs, regarding or disregarding their interests as it suits their own pleasure or profit. Much of the land which is controlled by the railroads and banks is said to have been obtained at far less than its real value, the Korean farmer being forced to accept the valuation which the Japanese themselves set upon his property. The Dai ichi Ginko, or First Bank of Japan, is said to have obtained most of its holdings by loaning money to impecunious Koreans at 10 per cent a month. This bank pays 8 per cent on fixed deposits and it is as solid as the Japanese government.

Many of the foreigners in Korea think that the doom of the Korean nation has sounded. In a few years they say, the Japanese will force the Koreans out entirely or will at least restrict them to such occupations as they themselves do not desire. Doubtless it will be a good thing for the material development of the country to come under Japanese control and if the Japanese are disposed to treat the Korean with fairness they can exploit the country for themselves and also benefit the people who are native to it. Whether they will do this remains to be seen. Present indications would lead one to suppose that their motives are all for Japanese interests and not for the interests of Korea."

CAUGHT AT OLD HOME

THE JOURNAL BUILDING

at the State Fair.

The Minneapolis Journal building on the State Fair Grounds is the finest and most centrally located of any of those of the twin cities, and is the only Minneapolis newspaper building on the grounds. This year The Journal will not attempt to make any special exhibit, but will devote the building entirely to the use of the public, and will endeavor to act for their pleasure in carrying out the following details:

First—The Journal building will be placed entirely at the convenience of its friends; its large porches and rooms will afford a convenient resting place; the attendants in charge will endeavor to give any information asked for by callers.

Second—Urgent telegrams of those registering at The Journal building will be sent free.

Third—A postoffice department will be maintained so that those visiting the Fair can have their mail addressed to them, care The Journal Building, State Fair Grounds, and can obtain the same anytime the week of the fair.

Fourth—Files of all daily and weekly papers in the state will be kept, so that visitors can call for their home papers and keep informed on the home news.

Fifth—Minneapolis and St. Paul directories for use of visitors.

Sixth—There will be a bulletin board on which will be posted any important news, also a baseball score board, showing the scores by innings of the American Baseball Association games.

Seventh—There will be a display of the original pen and ink drawings of cartoons by "Bart" of The Journal.

Eighth—Afternoon band concerts by the famous Minneapolis Journal Newsboys' band.
