LIVELY SCENES OUT AT HAMLINE

ARMY OF MEN COMPLETING FAIR PREPARATIONS.

Exhibitors Have Been Unusually Prompt This Season, Owing to the Competition for Space—Buildings All Full and Fair Promises to Be Best of Long Series.

Today was almost as busy as opening day at the state fair grounds. An army of exhibitors and employees was busy putting the finishing touches on the various exhibits in all parts of the grounds. The horses were all out doing some brisk warming up and speeding in the sharp cool air of the early morning. Hundreds of rosters who are already on the grounds were busy in the poultry building, each trying to outdo the other. Country hogs and city hogs rubbed noses, high bred horses settled down to their new homes, the blooded cattle and sheep were ready for the big show, and all seemed at home and contented.

The officials are wreathed in smiles at the success of their efforts to get everything in place early. Exhibitors who have been slow and behind hand for years are ready this year. One circumstance that has been a strong factor in bringing the slow ones to time has been the lack of space for exhibitors in some departments. Those who got space were obliged to get busy at once and fill it before some other exhibitor, who was unable to secure an assignment, came along and squatted on it. Every available inch of space in the big buildings and exhibition sheds will be filled.

Fireworks on Hand.

Fred C. Murray, stage director and agent of the Paines of Chicago, who will reproduce the fall of Port Arthur every evening, is on the grounds with a force of workmen who will at once put up the scenic effects for the marvelous and inspiring spectacular production. Car loads of rockets, candles, pinwheels, set pieces and red fire are in stock and the sliding ready to be touched off when needed. The assistants under the leadership of Earl King, manager of the production, are also on the ground.

C. M. GRIEGS, St. Paul, Second Vice-President Minnesota State Fair.

The street car company has completed its loops. The concessionaries and stand proprietors are ready for business. The "soup and sinker" tents are ready and pies like mother used to make and father used to eat will be ready the moment the gates open Monday morning. The spellers are oiling and greasing their voices, and are anticipating their speeches before the horses and other animals. Everything is ready and the 1905 state fair is the winner of them all.

It is expected that fully $1,000,000 will be on the grounds for the opening day, and to see Dan Patch go against his record of 1:56.

Information Bureau Not Needed.

A representative of the Minneapolis Commercial club said today that the club had not planned to have any information bureaus, because they are not needed in Minneapolis, as was found out after the experiment last year.

"Strangers can find their way about without assistance on account of our better arranged streets and our system of numbering them," he said. "It is easy for a stranger to get about here, and the hotel accommodations are sufficient to care for a large number of visitors. Then again, Minneapolis policemen all talk English, are polite and accommodating, and when appealed to for information will gladly give it. Minneapolis is a most hospitable town and no stranger within her gates who asks to be on the grounds for the opening day, and to see Dan Patch go against his record of 1:56.

MAKES FUEL OF GRASS

Novel Machine May Be Manufactured in Minneapolis.

Farmers will find in machinery hall on the fair grounds next week a machine which is believed by its manufacturers to solve the fuel question for many a farmer, and to completely settle the disposition of straw, bullrushes, sough grass, corn stalks, prairie grass and the like. The machine, which turns these commodities into fuel, will interest Minneapolis people, especially because of the likelihood that a factory for the manufacture of the American machine will be established in Minneapolis. The Canadian factory is at Williston, Ont. Gustaf Stromberg of Toronto, who has been at the Minneapolis club for some time, is interested in the machine, and is considering a Minneapolis factory.

The Bunker machine, as it is called, can be backed right up to a strawstack, and with the same motive machinery that does the threshing, it will turn the waste product of the farm into strawboard as firm as poplar or tamarack. The boards are easily sawed into fuel lengths, and besides taking care of waste material, which becomes noxious in decay, they provide a cheap fuel, which costs nothing except for the labor, about $1 a cord. The machine will make something like ten cords a day with ten to twelve-horse-power.

The extent of the Minneapolis factory can be estimated should it not make more than enough machines to equal 10 per cent of the threshing machine output annually in the United States. There is no reason, says Mr. Stromquist, why as many Bunker machines should not be turned out as threshing machines, which would call for an enormous factory, employing hundreds of hands.

The machine is reported to have made a great sensation at the Winnipeg fair.

BOTH HIGHWAYMAN AND VICTIM ESCAPED

A colored highwayman attempted to hold up a 14-year-old boy on the West-end bridge at the city limits last night, but was prevented from carrying out his purpose by the arrival of Officer Oscar Martinson.

As the boy was crossing the bridge the negro confronted him and, pointing a revolver in his face, told him to give him his money. The boy was about to comply when the officer came in sight and ran across the bridge and disappeared in an alleyway. Martinson gave chase, but when he returned the boy had disappeared and his name could not be learned.

USING HOME MATERIALS

Board of Control Always to Specify Them if Possible.

"Minnesota stone is always used in the construction of state buildings in charge of the board of control, when such stone is suitable and satisfactory for the purpose," said C. B. Gould of the state board of control today, replying to a criticism of the board and the state architect which had appeared in the editorial columns of the St. Peter Herald, Governor Johnson's newspaper. The article criticized the architect for specifying Indiana stone in a contract.

"The Herald," explained Mr. Gould, "where to use Minnesota stone would be manifestly wrong. The stone used must match that of surrounding buildings, and especially must it match an old building when an addition or enlargement is being built. In such a case, if outside stone has been originally used, then it is best it should be used in making the improvements. Then, too, there are times when a finer finish is desired than can be put on Minnesota stone, that outside stone must be used. The building which the article in question makes its criticism, the costing a large sum, has hardly $300 of stone in it. As a rule, the building which carries such a heavy brick, and stone is only used in the trimming.

THE ARCHITECT'S SECRET

Architects and Contractors Are Among the Largest Users of Newspaper Clippings.

Notwithstanding the fact that this is an unexciting and unglorious business in all parts of the country, the fact remains that there is still some competition between architects for the drawing of plans, and between contractors for the carrying them out. Other things being equal, it is the first man on the ground who gets the business. The problem, therefore, resolves itself into the question of getting the possible information of work to be done. This is where the newspaper clipping bureau is useful. In the case of all public works such as schools, courthouses, city halls, jails, waterworks, electric light plants, etc., the first step is usually the voting of bonds. The clipping bureau gets this information into the hands of the contractor, to whom it is of great value, but for the architect, consulting engineer and contractor.

Every day as regularly as the sun rises this information is placed upon the desk of the architect who is a subscriber to the service. Every name on the list is potentially a customer. The architect or contractor who has a clipping service has a great advantage over his neighbor who has not.

Mr. Pollock, 510 Sykes block, is the one to whom the architect in the two cities and the northwest turn for aid of this kind. He has patrons for information in hundreds of other lines as well.

GAVE WELSH SONGS

Chicago Tenor Pleases in Recital at Welsh Church.

R. Tenoridd Roberts of Chicago gave a recital in the Welsh church last evening and a large audience enjoyed the program. Mr. Roberts has a splendid tenor voice and his numbers were well liked. A group of Welsh ballads was especially interesting. Mr. Roberts also sang Handel's "Honor and Arms," "The Toreador Song" and a group of other numbers. With Owen Williams, Mr. Morris and Allen-Jones furnished other vocal selections and Miss Lillian Hughes of Oskaloosa gave two piano numbers.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News.

Law Offices of Henley & Costello, San Francisco, Aug. 26, 1905.

To the legal profession:

I was a witness to the following: Two years ago Professor Yost of Palo Alto who was in an extreme condition due to Bright's Disease, came to my office with his physician (who had diabetes) to meet a party who had cured him. He was discovered for these fatal diseases. The facts cited were astounding and both went on the treatment. To the amazement of us all, both recovered, and the physician is now using the treatment in his practice.

Learning that my old law partner, Judge R. B. Bigelow had Bright's disease, and that his case was looked upon as hopeless by his physicians, I told him that it resulted in his complete recovery. As to the curability of Bright's disease and diabetes, I have no more doubt about it than that I am living.

CENSUS BUREAU FUND IS NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Executive officers of the state will meet at the Capitol Tuesday to discuss ways and means of securing the $5,000 needed to complete the work of the state census bureau.

At the close of business Friday evening the state census fund, which was originally $65,000, and which the state treasurer's books to be reduced to $1,033. Julius H. Block, state treasurer, and Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor, are both firm in their determination to enforce the state law in not permitting the account to be overdrawn. There seems some question as to whether the needed money can be borrowed legally from other state funds, and it may be necessary for personal notes of state officials to be issued, the officials themselves waiting for the next legislative session to make good the money.

Life Insurance Judgment Set Aside by Judge.

Judge Hallam of the Ramsey county district court yesterday filed a decision setting aside the $1,000 judgment and ordering a new trial in the case of Mary Tobiska against the United Bohemian fraternal insurance society. Mrs. Tobiska brought the suit to collect insurance on her husband's life, claiming that his body was found hanging near Fridley Park, Anoka county, Minn., early in December, 1903. The court holds that it was not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was that of the plaintiff's husband.

LIBRARY IMPROVEMENTS.

Bids will be secured by the library board for the work of completing the juvenile section in the new wing, also for a skylight and a balcony. The board yesterday named C. F. Smith to be assistant librarian at the Pillsbury library. A request from the South Side Commercial club, presented by W. K. Hicks and requesting that the south branch library be open in the mornings, was referred to a committee.

Sudden Attack of Dysentery Cured.

A prominent lady of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to inquire where she can obtain Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She says: "While stopping at a ranch in South Dakota I was taken ill of what seemed to be cholera. They gave me some of this medicine and it cured me. I brought a bottle home and have just used the last of it today. Mother was taken suddenly ill of dysentery and it helped her immediately."
