Normannaheimen AMERICAN EXPORTS WANTED IN NORWAY

CONSUL-GENERAL BORDWICH AT CHRISTIANIA POINTS THE WAY.

Even in Good Years Norway Must Import Foodstuffs Such as Grain, Flour, Pork, Beef, Vegetables Oils for Margarine Factories—Dried and Canned Fruits Should Be Exported There.

Consul General Henry Bordwich of Christiania, furnishes an interesting report on Norway's crops and the importation of foodstuffs for the year 1905. The consul general says: During the five-year period, 1900-1904, inclusive, Norway had only two fairly satisfactory crop years. The years 1900, 1902 and 1904 were failures to such an extent that the loss to the country for the three years has been estimated at not less than $27,000,000. The present season gives promise of a much needed change for the better. An early spring, high temperature, and frequent rainfall, which is essential to the generally light and sandy soil, have been the main factors in bringing about these favorable conditions. The hay crop is already secured in many tracts, and other crops will soon become ready for the reaper.

The average annual yield of the more important farm products in Norway are estimated as follows, stated in hectoliters: Wheat, 118,000; rye, 315,000; barley, 1,188,500; oats, 3,475,000; potatoes, 8,000,000; peas, 63,000; mixed grain, 264,400; hay (tons), 2,567,000. There is reason to believe that this year's crops will reach these figures. The aggregate value of the above-mentioned crops is estimated at $52,000,000. The annual import of grain, flour, and feedstuffs exceeds $12,000,000. Even in the most propitious seasons, pork, beef, oleomargarine, and vegetable oils for margarine factories are also largely imported, and the larger portion of these importations is from America or Canada. American wheat and flour would find a better market in this country if the import duty imposed on them could be reduced to correspond with the duty on other breadstuffs.

American exporters of cereals and flours are otherwise well represented in this country, several of the largest flour mills having well-established connections. Favorable weather conditions have improved the prospects for increased yield of vegetables. Strawberries, grapes, fruits have been plenty and cheap, and other fruits, such as apples, pears and plums, promise well. Norwegian small fruit and berries are of excellent quality, but the apples are much inferior to the better grades of American apples, of which the annual importations are quite large. The variety best known is the Baldwin. American exporters of green, as well as dried and canned fruits, should be able to increase their sales in this country. The shipping facilities are good from New York to Christiania, and the time is only nine or ten days.

JUTES ARE THANKFUL

German Oppressions Suddenly Cease and All Is Well.

Several German papers which in the past have encouraged the movement to banish systematically everything Danish from Schleswig-Holstein, which was inaugurated by Von Koller, are not so eager to eat the Danes as they were some time ago. It is assumed that they have received a hint from some sources that anything tending to incite the Germans against the Danes and advocating harsh and oppressive treatment of the Danes will not please the higher powers.

It has been reported from reliable sources that the German officials have been quietly warned by the New York more mildness. Any official order is hardly to be expected, as this would be a confession that injustice and oppression had prevailed, whereas the pretense has always been that no Dane was punished or banished unless guilty of very grave offenses, political and otherwise.

VACANCY IN THE NAVY

Sweden Lacks Forty Officers on Its War Fleet.

Sweden is short of naval officers, for one reason or another, and the situation has caused some inconvenience to the higher officers and impairment of the service. Councillor Lindman recently stated that there were forty vacant places among the commissioned officers and thirteen among the non-commissioned. In order to meet the situation, extra cadets have been appointed, and given courses extending nearly six years, after which they may take the examination as officers. All the graduates of the present senior class, some thirty in number, will go into service immediately on graduation.

WOMEN WANT TO VOTE

Norway Urged to Extend Franchise to the Other Sex.

One of the curious features of the movement for independence from Sweden in Norway is the active, persistent and intelligent agitation by the women of Norway, says the New York Times. There is not any vote for the Norwegian women except in local affairs, but there seems to be an intense and quite general desire for it, and the agitation in favor of separation has probably been taken up so vigorously and systematically in order to establish a claim for participation in the management of the new order of things. Among the documents with which not only Norway and Sweden, but many foreign countries, were flooded during the discussion of the action of Norway, the documents published by the women's organization were notable for their earnestness and the care and skill with which they were prepared. It is generally conceded that the standard of education was as that of social conduct is very high among Norwegians of either sex, and the movement for "equal rights for women" has not there been associated with those extreme notions that have unfortunately prevailed in like movements in other lands.

Famous Artist Gone.

Albert Edelfelt, the noted artist, died on Aug. 18 at his villa at Haikko, Finland. He was modern and led this art into Finland in the early eighties. He painted Finland so that all understood, from the Finnish peasant to the Parisian critic. He was fully as well known in Sweden as in Finland, and the former will mourn the talented artist as one of her own children, for his Panik Stal drawings, his last great work, appeal as strongly to the people of Sweden as to those across the Baltic.

Spitzbergen Coal.

The Norwegian-American Coal Company, which is developing the fields on Spitzbergen, is now prepared for regular work. A cable line from the mine to the landing place has been completed and much stripping has been done. The former workings have been abandoned, as coal of much better qual-

Whipping in Denmark.
Denmark's new corporal punishment law went into effect today, and whipping will henceforth be the penalty for a certain class of minor offenders. There are two classes of punishment, the one by a rope's end, 2 1/2 inches in circumference, and the other by a rod or rattan, 1 1/2 inches in circumference. The latter is to be used on the bare skin, but the evidence to get the rope may have the protection of his pants and shirt.

VOTED IT DOWN
South Side Commercial Club Won't Have Home at Present.

For the present, at least, the South Side Commercial club will not have a clubhouse of its own. The proposition of fitting up a home for the organization in the Flatiron building at Fifth street and Cedar avenue was discussed at the meeting held last night and was finally voted down. A committee was appointed and instructed to canvass Franklin avenue property owners with a view of ascertaining whether or not they want the street repaved. The meeting was largely attended and a number of prominent South Siders made short speeches.

15 GROCERS ARRAIGNED
