CANNON RAISES BODY

ON HOSTESS CITY

WHITE BEAR LAKE GIVES UP DEAD AFTER SIXTY-FOUR SHOTS WERE FIRED.

The body of William J. Schiffmann was recovered from White Bear Lake at 12:05 p. m. today. The vibration of the blank shots fired over the lake by the national guard cannon under charge of Captain William L. Kelly, Jr., brought the body to the surface after sixty-four shots. The body appeared about 100 yards from shore and near the place where the canoe upset.

The firing began at 1 p. m. yesterday and continued at intervals until dark. The cannon was loaded on a float and towed about the lake, that the firing might cover as large an area as possible. Sixteen shots were fired this morning before the body was shaken free and came to the surface.

Young Schiffmann was drowned last Sunday night by the upsetting of a canoe, in which he and Everett Brown were to cross from shore and near Wildwood.

The young man was the only son of Dr. W. W. Schiffmann, 259 Selby avenue, St. Paul, and a nephew of Dr. B. J. Kelly, who was employed as a bookkeeper by the St. Paul Underwriters inspection bureau.

While hundreds stood watching A. Danielson at work decorating the brick wall of the Glenview hotel in Washington avenue N, he suddenly reeled and fell headlong to the sidewalk.

Also he struck a sign hanging out from the second floor, cutting a large gash in his head, he will then and his only serious injury is a broken leg.

Danielson was working on a platform suspended from the third and fourth floors. The street crowds were watching him, as he is an unusually rapid workman. He seemed to take no notice of them. Suddenly he stopped and gazed into the air for a moment, then he dropped his nail and brush and fell.

Danielson was still unconscious when taken to the city hospital in the police ambulance. He regained consciousness and asked to be taken home. Unless he is injured internally, he will recover speedily.

The young man is 24 and single, and lives at 3615 Cedar avenue.

The success of the encampment in attendance was slightly over 200,000, at Denver the year the reported census was 100,000. Minneapolis is expected, under favorable auspices, to entertain 150,000 or more.

No Counter Attraction. A circumstance which will tend to make the Minneapolis gathering a record-breaker is the fact that, with low rates, the city will be the focus of all the traveling public.

Wallace G. Nye, secretary of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, said today: "The club, before Jan. 1, will solicit subscriptions in a grand success, and it will then be up to the people of Minneapolis to say whether it will come or not. In other words, if a sufficient number of subscribers by the first of the year in the shape of subscriptions to assure the proper care of this gathering, the city will probably lose the convention, as the city will be unable to provide for it."

Dr. Nye said that the city will do its best to attract attention to the importance of the city and its future than any other gathering that could be secured, not excepting a national political convention. It is important that the announcement of railroad rates be made at an early date as possible, and if the convention is held in midsummer, this encampment will be the best one yet of the traveling public.

Unity in Decorations Desired. To obtain unanimity it is suggested by Mr. Nye that the decorations be in charge of the general committee and that the expense be taken from the general fund. Convention cities have vied with each other for years in producing the best effects and it will devolve upon Minneapolis to beat the record set by the convention held last year.

The largest west of New York, approached by the Grand Army veterans, will be a dance hall of large dimensions and a banquet room for 150. The courthouse central hall, with two G. A. R. halls, will provide space for the business gathering. The armory will be the ideal place for campfires, as well as the new Auditorium, with its large main room and other features.

A feature of the parade will undoubtedly be the presence of Fort Snelling. Colonel Sweet, commander of the post, is a veteran of fifty-five battles of the civil war, is a member of the Royal Legion and in full sympathy with the Grand Army. Undoubtedly he would consent to parade the entire garrison. This would include a regiment of ten companies of infantry, two battalions of field artillery and a squadron of four companies of cavalry.

NOTHING NEW IN IT. Dr. Bracken Willing to Have Board of Health Investigated. Dr. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, is perfectly willing to have all the expenditures of his office and his salaries investigated, as asked of the governor by the Jefferson club of Minneapolis.

It is true that my compensation comes from two sources; I receive $2,500 as secretary of the state board of health and $1,000 as professor in the state university. There is no secret about this; it has been a matter of general knowledge for years.

As to the complaint that I paid money for flowers, I think that it is true that when President Staples, who had been a member of the board for about thirty years, died, the board purchased flowers and sent them to the funeral. I presume that this is the bill to which objection is raised.

The statement that I have presented expense lists for approximately $5,000 in two years is not very startling. I presume my expenses amounted to that and probably more; I should be glad to have any state official ascertain whether there are any items in those lists which should not be there.

Two years ago the legislature complained because I presented a bill for $700 traveling expenses; but it did not take long for me to convince the committee that the expense was legitimate.
