JOURNAL NEWSIES' TREAT

Boys Will Visit Lyceum Theater Saturday Night.

The Journal "newsies" are to have the time of their lives Saturday night when they invade the Lyceum theater 500 strong and headed by The Journal band.

"De kids" have been "specially" invited by "de bosses" on the paper to be their guests at the Lyceum, and there will be such a time as never before since the gang went to Wonderland and didn't pay a kopee.

The great boon which is about to come to the newsies was brought about thru the thoughtful care which The Journal has shown in the matter of an army of youngsters, coupled with a offer of excursion rates by Manager Ely of the Lyceum, O.K'd by Ikwelwyn Spears.

"Bring the boys to a real vaudeville show and they will 'holer' better than ever," Spears said. "If they like it they're sure to be heard from, and if they don't they'll make the night hideous."

So it has been arranged to turn a large section of the theater above the first floor to the newsies and let them revel in the joys of a continuous performance. They will just sit previous to his act of self-destruction. Judge Kelly holds this last communication to the wife to be sacred to her and not open to use in a public court.

COMMUNICATION SACRED

Suicide's Last Letter Is Not Admitted as Evidence.

Judge Kelly of the Ramsey county district court, has refused a motion for a new trial asked for by the defendants in the suit of Nellie D. Bunker against the United Order of Foresters. The court holds that the fact that Mrs. Bunker's husband committed suicide is strong evidence in itself of insanity. The defendants asked for the new trial on the ground of new evidence, this being the last letter Bunker ever wrote to his wife, in which he spoke of financial embarrassment. This letter, it was argued, would show the man was insane at that time, just previous to his act of self-destruction. Judge Kelly holds this last communication to the wife to be sacred to her and not open to use in a public court.

REUNITED AFTER THIRTY-SIX YEARS

A HAPPY MEETING TAKES PLACE IN N. E. MINNEAPOLIS.

Mrs. Mary Whitney Finds Her Brother, Charles A. Barker, Who Had Lived in the Same City with Her for Three Years—She Had Searched Long in Vain.

After living in the same city for three years, Charles A. Barker and Mrs. Mary Ann Whitney, brother and sister, were reunited yesterday in Minneapolis. They had been parted for thirty-six years. Until this morning neither knew of the other's presence within a thousand miles. Their parents originally lived at Beachville, a short distance from Toronto, Canada. There at an early age the children of the family one after another left the parental homestead. When but 6 years of age, Charles left home to go to New York city. Mary left when 14, going to New York city. Charles left his old home several times after leaving it, but he last time was thirty-six years ago. Yesterday was the first time since that he had been in either city. The children were poor correspondents, and it was not long after this last parting till neither knew where the other was. Both have visited various American cities, residing in various parts of the country for different terms of years.

Two years ago the sister, who had married and become widowed, began a hunt for her brother, but could not trace his wanderings. A short time ago she heard he was at Eau Claire, Wis. She went to a Minneapolis real estate dealer well acquainted in Eau Claire, and asked him if he had seen Charles Barker at that place. He responded that he knew a Charles Barker who had lived there, but who was now a resident of Minneapolis; and that his Barker originally came from Canada.

Mrs. Whitney was told that her brother operated several express wagons, which when not busy were stationed at their old homestead. She proceeded there, and she did not find her brother, she did find his son, her nephew. On questioning him she was sure his father was her long-lost brother, and she immediately set out to bring his father there the following afternoon. Yesterday they met, the boy introducing them. Mr. Barker did not recognize the elderly woman the little sister of his mother, but the woman whom he had parted thirty-six years ago. He consented, however, to go to her home at 541 Thirteenth avenue S., where they compared notes. He remained skeptical until Mrs. Barker brought up something he had almost forgotten.

"Charlie," she said, "don't you remember how you used to sneak off from the old homestead every night to play cards with the neighbors' boys, and how set ma and pa were against you ever bringing a pack of cards into the house?"

Charles remembered. "Yes; I guess there's no mistake about your being my sister," was his reply.

Mrs. Whitney, who is alone and childless, spent last evening meeting the family of her brother at his home, 626 Quincy street. Mr. Barker has three children. He and his wife were insistent that Mrs. Whitney hereafter make her home at his house, but Mrs. Whitney, who has a home of her own, has refused to do so.

WAGES HIGH AND LABORERS SCARCE

MANY GOOD JOBS ARE GOING A-BEGGING NOWADAYS.

Louis Levy, Superintendent of State Free Employment Bureau, Cannot Fill Half the Vacant Positions and a Thousand Men Are Needed Along the Soo Road on New Extensions.

"Good laborers are more scarce and wages are higher than at any time since the opening of this office," said Louis Levy, superintendent of the state free employment bureau, today. In proof of this statement Mr. Levy produced a telegram from Mattson, Wis., asking for forty men and showed orders for a sort of laborer certificates. "We want more boys," continued Mr. Levy. "We can use them as messengers, cash boys, and in factories. They must be over 16 years of age, however, and must have employment certificates and school excuses. Girls for housekeeping are also in great demand. As for men's labor jobs we have almost any amount of them. Yesterday we had an order for forty men for sewer work in St. Paul. We have a call for twenty potato diggers and there are many other varieties of work to be had. Labor troubles are practically over on the Soo line, according to Thomas Greene, chief engineer. Tracklaying is proceeding rapidly, now that conditions have improved. At times during the summer only 40 per cent of the necessary help could be secured. "We could use 1,000 more men along the Thief River Falls extension," said Mr. Greene. "Five hundred could be employed on the railroads and at least 500 in the new towns. All the new stations need men for building and other purposes. Cold weather is driving the fosters to work and the close of harvest time is giving us more men. We have hauled at least 10,000 men to the northwest this year and I think the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific have each done a vacation. Perhaps 80 per cent of them did not work at all. We get only about 2 per cent of them. Some of the men that do not go to work hold up the men that do. Some go out only on a vacation. The railroads can never pay the wages the farmers do. They pay usually what the farmer does, without the board. Men that we are sending out now we can generally count on to work. We still have room for 1,000 men."

At the Chamber of Commerce it is reported that a great many are seeking employment. The chamber is generally filled. Applications in such large numbers are believed to be because fall is a busy time for the grain men and it is, therefore, supposed by seekers after that post position numerous and to be had for the asking.

BUTTER SCORED LOW

Poor Quality of Entries Attributed to the Season.

Butter scores for the September contest of the state dairy and food department did not average as high as earlier in the season. This is ascribed to the shorter pasture and abundance of weeds which spoil the flavor of the butter. There were, however, a high mark was scored by Henri Springs of Conger, with 97 1/2. H. A. Goetsch of Money Creek came second, with 97, and C. S. Sly third, with 96 1/2. Twenty-four others scored 95 or better.

EMPLOYEES GRATEFUL

The granting of the eight-hour day in all mechanical departments of the Northwestern Miller has called forth a set of resolutions from the members of the typographical union employed in the Miller establishment. The resolutions, which were prepared, were presented to W. C. Edgar, the publisher, yesterday, Mr. Edgar replying with expressions of good will and appreciation. The resolutions state that the relations between the management of the paper and its employees have always been most pleasant and that the wants and needs of the employees have always been anticipated.

NICOLLET AVENUE BALL GROUND TO BE REMODELED.

W. H. Watkins, Manager of the Millers, Says Changes to Be Made This Winter Will Make the Park the Equal of Any in the American Association Circuit—The Kelly Rumor.

"I shall make Nicollet park a model home for the baseball public of Minneapolis. They deserve it and I will do everything to make them comfortable to build no team that will be a credit to the city and the association." This is the statement of Manager W. H. Watkins of the Minneapolis Baseball club, who returned to the city at noon today after attending the annual meeting of the league, yesterday, in Chicago. It should put an effective damper on the stories in circulation to the effect that Watkins intends to go to Indianapolis next year and leave Minneapolis in the hands of a player manager.

"I am not ready to make a full announcement as to the changes at the ball park, but the owner and I must have more room and this will call for working over and improving the stands and bleachers. I am going to spend quite a sum of money and when I have finished the work Minneapolis will have a ball park equal to any other city in the association. That is saying quite a little as Columbus has a magnificent plant and ours will be fully equal to that when all that I have in view is completed."

While declining to go into details as to the changes, it is reported that the grand stand will be almost entirely rebuilt and enlarged in capacity. New bleachers, better adapted to give a close view of the play are in prospect and a new clubhouse. There may be a shift of the diamond with the entrances on Nicollet avenue instead of on Thirty-first street as at present. If these rumors become assured facts Minneapolis will have a ball plant which will be one of the "sight spots" of the city.

There is a growing rumor that Mike Kelly, this year manager of the St. Paul team, will be the bench manager of the millers next year. Mr. Watkins would not confirm or deny the rumor today, but evaded the question by paying a high tribute to Kelly's worth as a player and a manager. Kelly has a large circle of admirers among the baseball enthusiasts of Minneapolis who would be glad if the former leader of the team reformed and came to live in a modern city.

BEGINS THIS EVENING

Celebration of Jewish New Year Will Be Solemn.

The celebration of the Jewish New Year, which is next to Yom Kippur, the most solemn of all the Jewish sacred festivals, will begin this evening in both the orthodox and liberal churches and synagogues of the city. It has been stated that the New Year is a period of visiting and social enjoyment, but with the orthodox Jews it is a solemn festival, when all the family members are gathered to their synagogues. At Kenoseth Israel tonight there will be a new cantor, Rev. Mr. Rosenblum of New York city, and a choir of twelve boys. Rabbi M. S. Silber will officiate. The Jewish Reform congregation will have services, beginning at 8 p.m., and Rev. S. N. Deland will preach on "The Book of Life."

Services will also be held Saturday morning, Sunday evening and Monday morning and afternoon.

Mr. Jonas F. Brown will return Monday from a visit east, and will be pleased to see his old friends at 216 Nicollet avenue. He is offering to the public some rare old wines and liquors that cannot be duplicated.

Postcard Makes Interurban Trip Seven Times in Vain.

Marc D. Wanvig, superintendent of delivery at the central postoffice, has on his desk a postcard which has made the trip between St. Paul and Minneapolis seven times without reaching the person for whom it is intended.

There are a few substations in St. Paul and Minneapolis which have not had a chance to try delivering this card, and it will be started on its travels again as soon as the delivery superintendent can discover room on its heavily postmarked face for a new address. At present he is undecided whether to add an address or send the card to the laundry.
