

BANDITS MAY TRY TO MAKE ESCAPE

Precautions Taken to Prevent the Rescue of Wild Rose Robbers from Wautoma Jail.

Special to The Journal.

Wautoma, Wis., Oct. 10.—None of the robbers who escaped death of the four who robbed the postoffice and attempted to loot the bank at Wild Rose will talk. They are in the county jail here, and the dead bandit was buried at Wild Rose. One of the two who were wounded has been identified by a detective to Wild Rose by the casualty company in which the bank is insured, as "Ramblor," wanted for a crime committed ten years ago. He is said to have been in custody, but to have made his escape with the help of confederates. It develops that the wounds of neither of the two robbers who were shot will prove fatal unless blood poisoning sets in, and great care will be taken to prevent complications, as it is hoped to give the trio long terms in the penitentiary.

Every precaution is being taken to guard the jail against any chance possibility of the escape of the robbers, who, it is thought, will leave nothing undone to effect their escape. That others of their ilk are and have been in the vicinity is made certain by the fact that, on the morning following the robbery, four rough-appearing strangers, evidently of the same class as the robbers, were taken into custody at Wild Rose and placed in jail suspected of being implicated in the crime. They were brought here with the robbers last night and have maintained silence concerning their identities and their business in this vicinity. All that any of them will say is that he was looking for work when captured.

The battle of Saturday was fought against the robbers by a posse of thirty-five citizens from this city and Wild Rose, led by Sheriff Dugman. He first tracked the men by the imprints of their shoes in the soft soil a distance of five miles north toward Waupaca, where he found them and entered a swamp of about sixty acres.

Having located his men, the under sheriff secured his posse and returned to the swamp. His posse was armed with rifles and shotguns and he drove the robbers broke cover, and a skirmish ensued.

The robbers, seeing that they were outnumbered, took to their heels and ran into a valley. Here they were ordered to surrender, but refused to do so and fired upon the officers, who, in turn, ordered the posse to return the fire. Then the robbers surrendered, and it was found that one man had been killed and two wounded. The dead and wounded were taken to the village, where medical aid was given to the wounded. Then all of the living were brought here.

Never in the history of Waushara county have there been so many arrests as over this robbery. The citizens of Wild Rose and vicinity are up in arms and it is safe to say had any of the posse been taken to the village, which took place not one of the robbers would have been allowed to live.

ALONZO J. WHITEMAN IS ON TRIAL AGAIN

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Alonzo J. Whiteman, indicted in connection with an alleged swindle of the Fidelity Trust company of Buffalo, by means of which and forged checks, was placed on trial today. Whiteman has been on trial twice before. In the first trial he was acquitted on one charge. The second trial was dismissed owing to alleged tampering with jurors. Whiteman is charged with fraudulently getting $750 from the Fidelity Trust company from a fund created by raising a draft from $51 to $9,000.

LEGISLATION DEFECTIVE

Montana's Attorney General Finds School Funds Improperly Invested.

Special to The Journal.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 10.—Montana is confronted with a special session of the legislature to correct a glaring defect discovered by Attorney General Gledhill in the investment of state school funds in the bonds of several educational institutions amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. He holds that it is violative of the constitution of the state to invest moneys derived from state lands given to the state by the general government for educational purposes. In other words, only income or earnings should be invested. There is no little dismay at the statehouse over the decision.

The supreme court will be asked to pass upon the question, and if it upholds the attorney general the legislature will probably have to be called together to pass remedial legislation.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it, in preference to any other.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

THE DELINEATOR

for November Out To-day

15c a copy $1.00 a year

Get it for Her

¶ The keynote of the new and greater Delineator for November is Novelty.

¶ In its fashions the new order of things is evidenced on every page; in its illustrations of the present and coming styles, Novelty of treatment lends much to the temptations of the modes themselves. 64 pages of the New Things from Paris, from New York, from wherever can be gathered the season's newest and best creations.

¶ Speaking in pages may not mean much to you. A better way to realize the bigness of the November Delineator is to know that it contains more pages devoted to fashions and dress topics than any two other magazines.

¶ Helen Berkeley-Loyd and M. Edouard La Fontaine, writing exclusively for this magazine, contribute papers this month that every woman in the land will wish to read—the real news of woman's dress; the final word of authority on what is to be during the coming months, which is awaited with eagerness each season by every woman who cares for her appearance.

¶ Then the color printing—a feature that is practically exclusive with The Delineator—for while one or two other publications print a few pages with an added color, this number contains 21 pages in color in addition to the regular full-color plates of fashions.

¶ The Delineator has always given the most in quality and in quantity for its subscription price—it is now giving more—much more—than ever before.

¶ Practically everything in this number is new—excepting its good old name. Besides the Fashions and the Household Departments, which have made The Delineator famous; besides its Children's Magazine, which is beyond comparison; besides its many special articles of helpfulness and interest, one great feature deserves the attention of every thinking woman and man:

¶ It is nearly two years now since The Delineator began its investigation of the Pure Food Question—the most thorough searching for facts, the most careful analysis of products ever conducted. Supplementing the work of the Government's experts, The Delineator has gone much further by establishing its own board of examiners and specialists who are investigating the different value of food products and beverages, their chemical analysis and correct or fictitious labeling.

¶ The results obtained by this department or laboratory enable the housekeeper to quickly and accurately decide for herself what is safe and wholesome food for daily home consumption.

¶ Readers of The Delineator have been regularly supplied with timely and most interesting articles on the subject. Among these is the series now running in each issue, entitled "Safe Foods and How to Get Them," written by that well-known authority, Mary Hinman Abel. In the November number the author treats of "Official Milk Inspection." The article is well illustrated by pictures and diagrams. If you want to know how a billion gallons of milk are treated annually in this country, Mrs. Abel's article will inform you.

¶ These specially prepared articles are to be a regular feature of The Delineator, and will contain, in part, some of the results of the investigations now carried on by the business department.

¶ That The Delineator has become an authority on the Food Question, all the world knows. No better evidence of this could be found than in the fact that it is frequently and favorably quoted. This, then, is another evidence—were one needed—of the great value of The Delineator to the American housekeeper, not only in the protection of her health, but to her material comfort as well.
