WINDOW WASHER HEIR TO $100,000 But He Will Go Right On Washing Windows Till He Sees the Coin.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—For five months Patrick Kern has been polishing windows of the Bellevue-Stratford. He received some news yesterday which makes him independent enough to engage the most expensive suite in the house and pay for it in cash. Kern was named after an uncle in County Galway, Ireland. He is 19 years old and industrious, and when a lawyer called to see him yesterday he was called on a ladder, scrubbing away at one of the big plate glass windows in the Broad street side of the hotel. "Are you Patrick Kern?" queried the man of law. "I am that," replied the young man. "Well, your uncle has died and left you $100,000," exclaimed the lawyer. And the window-cleaner was pardoned for spilling a few drops of water as he scrambled down the ladder. The lawyer repeated a few particulars of the legacy, and the young Irishman recalled the fact that his uncle had always manifested a warm regard for his nephew. "I always thought it was because I was named after him," he explained. Kern resides at 2123 Harp street. He came to this country six months ago at the solicitation of his uncle, who lives in Germantown, and his first employment was that of cleaning windows at the Bellevue-Stratford. "When will you quit work?" he was asked shortly after the news had been broken to him. "When I see the coin," he answered laconically, as he went on rubbing, rubbing, rubbing.

THINK NORTHWEST PASSAGE PIERCED

New Bedford Skipper Says Norwegians Probably Have Accomplished Arctic Feat.

New Bedford, Oct. 20.—It is believed that the famous northwest passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific, skirting the northern extremity of the North American continent, has been traversed. Captain George Comer, back from the far north with the whaling schooner Era, says in all probability the exploit has been accomplished by the Norwegian arctic exploring expedition of Commander Amundsen in the sloop Gjøa. This passage has been the dream of arctic explorers. Many have tried it, but none had succeeded. While of no commercial advantage, its navigation is a feat many times attempted. Captain Comer bases his statement on a letter he had from Commander Amundsen, who was then (April 22) in Gjøa, King William's Land. Captain Comer figured that the ship must have made the passage, for the message, for she was in Simpson strait, and the commander had asked about the country to the westward. In reply, Captain Comer had sent information that American whalers were entering in Mackenzie river at Herchel island. The natives reported that the Norwegian had made the passage, or the better part of it, and the skipper himself had sent word that the vessel had accomplished all she hoped for and would work her way out to Bering strait this next spring. It is believed that the commander meant that he had made the passage.

BOERS FAIL IN MEXICAN COLONY

Ask Government Aid—Fail to Get Titles and Desert Homes.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 20.—The Boer colony in Chihuahua, Mexico, has disbanded, and most of the Boers have left, seeking new locations in the United States. The last party to leave the colony included General Ben Viljoen, his father and four other families, all expert farmers, who sacrificed a great deal to leave their native Transvaal, thinking to find a new home in Mexico. It seems that the rupture occurred thru inability to obtain clear titles. General Viljoen is the financial controller, having borne the burden for the transportation of the families and the erection of homes in the colony. The federal government of Mexico has been appealed to.

RUSSIAN BUSINESS MAN

Count Leschinsky, Only 23, at the Head of a Giant Corporation. New York World. It was considered remarkable when E. R. Thomas, at the age of 28, became president of the Seventh National bank for a short time, but now the circumstance of a transatlantic voyage has revealed a young man from Russia who, at 23, is president of a construction company which is building 3,000 miles of railroad in southern Russia and reaching out after canal work and other big contracts. This precocious individual is Judah Leon Leschinsky, a stripling in appearance, but according to his own account a count and head of the Michael Leon Leschinsky company, which has contracts with the Russian government to make the southern part of that country between Rostov and Baku look like a trout net. The count lives in Brooklyn with a wife and 4-month-old daughter. He came to this country last December and set up housekeeping in an apartment at 163 South Ninth street, Williamsburg, with the purpose of making purchases of American materials and rolling stock for his prospective railroad, which, like all railroads in Russia, will be turned over to the government after it is completed. As told by the World, he arrived on the steamship Ponnayvania day before yesterday from a business trip to Europe. The other two partners to the Michael Leon Leschinsky company are 40 and 30 years old, respectively. They stay in Russia and look after construction. Young Judah Leon does the traveling and the buying. He unblushingly admits that he is now engaged in purchasing a hundred or more locomotives of the latest American make, and passenger cars and freight cars to match, not to mention a few millions of steel rails and equipment. The locomotives for the most part are to be the ten-wheel type, with seventy-two inch drivers and between an American-made railroad equipment is good at the price, and that the shops in Russia are too busy to furnish the cars and locomotives needed. The count is the youngest person in VILLAGE MARSHAL HALTS FAST MAIL Holds Up Crew at Point of Gun for Exceeding Speed Limit—Uncle Sam After Him. Cumberland, Md., Oct. 20.—Government and railroad officials are preparing to bring the town authorities of Oakland, Garrett county, to time for holding up a fast mail train at that place last night. Because, as he alleged, the train was exceeding the speed limit when it entered Oakland, the town marshal boarded the train and at the point of a revolver took Engineer William Manifee, Conductor Theodore Mullin and other trainmen before a magistrate. Their release was ordered by the mayor and it is stated the officer who made the arrest has disappeared. The train was delayed for half an hour. Engineer Manifee has already instituted suit for damages. NOT TRUE. Cleveland Plain Dealer. "I see that the Rev. Mr. Pickles is to leave his Boston pastorate, but don't say it." "Don't say what?" "That his congregation has soured on him—because it isn't true." Mosquitoes are found in mines 1,200 and even 1,500 feet below the earth's surface.

NEW WING OF ART MUSEUM. With the filing of the plans for the north extension of the Metropolitan museum of art in Central park a long step was taken last week toward the beginning of the actual work of completing the museum. Finding that the quarters of the museum were fast becoming too small to accommodate the collections of paintings and works of art, the directors of the museum applied to the legislature for funds to build an extension and were granted $1,250,000. The architects' plan provides for a two-story and basement building to front in Fifth avenue adjoining the north end of the present museum. It is to have a frontage of 141 feet and a depth of 184 feet. It will be of the same material of which the museum is built and along the same lines of architecture. While the extension is intended primarily to give more room for exhibits, only the space in its two upper floors will be utilized for that purpose. The basement of the extension will be devoted to a lecture hall, a lecture hall, and a lecture hall, in which seats will be provided for 500 persons. Here it is intended Sir Purdon Clarke, the museum's new curator, and other authorities shall give free lectures on art.
