

NO MERCY FOR THE CHINESE SPIES

Execution of Chinamen Suspected of Having Sold Japanese Secrets.

ART OF CUTTING OFF HEADS EXEMPLIFIED

How Two Swordsmen Entertained a Circle of Spectators on a Manchurian Hilltop.

Correspondence of The Journal. Fakuemen, Manchuria, Aug. 20.—The way of the transgressor is hard—especially when the transgressor is at China. See you into and spectators, how the limbs twitch and the arms are flung about, while the body writhes in agony. It is a bad mess you have made, you bungling gendarme. Quietly, joined now into the open grave and with your sword let out the life that ebbs too slowly from that horrid gash in the neck!

It is over in a moment and with a sham-faced grin the bungler crawls out of the grave, amid the jeers of his fellows, for the Japanese consider it an art to cut off heads neatly.

Complete Winter Outfits. The Great Plymouth Clothing House.

Gathering for the Spectacle. It is midsummer. The sun is just setting beyond the black line of western hills. Our eyes are bathed in a glow of molten rays that seem to warm up the earth with a good-night kiss before night comes on. Behind our town there is a bit of a knoll, and there already a bunch of khaki-clad "small banai boys" are romping and playing, laughing and jesting, about the entertainment that is to come.

What is it all about? We do not ask, for we have seen this same merry gathering before. But we are westerners, and it is with lagging footsteps that we go down the road toward the scene of three poor wretches' last agony on earth.

It is not far that we have to go. In a few moments we, too, are standing in the warm glow of the sun's last rays, and we, too, are watching curiously and coolly as he holds the last shovelful of earth from the third new-made grave. He jumps nimbly to the surface and, wiping his muddied hands on his khaki trousers, stands at a respectful distance, looking luxuriously, while he also waits for the show that is to come.

Enter the Doomed Men. The wait is not long. Already there is a stir at the outskirts of the circle. The ring opens and three shuffling, blue-clad Chinamen are pushed into the center. Bits of rag are bound about their eyes and behind their backs their hands are tied. They stand stupidly for a moment, like unseeing sheep, waiting for the next move. The mouth of one is exposed beneath the death bandage and we see the white teeth of the thum of voices and this decisive fact he comes to realize that the fatal spot is reached.

The gendarme who has the work in hand draws his long, sharp service sword. Its harsh, metallic grate on the scabbard rasps our nerves as it cuts thru the silence that has fallen on the expectant circle. He runs its keen edge along his fingers and makes a laughing comment to a bystander, who laughs cheerfully in reply. Two of the trembling wretches are pushed into the background. He of the quivering lip totters forward in a reeling position and collapses to his knees on the edge of the pit; he sees it not, he knows that below him yawns the grave that in a few brief moments will receive his headless corpse.

Ready for the Stroke. A bystander boots him gently into position. Another, taking his pigtail, twists it about the top of his head, shaven pate. Then, taking the head in both hands—as one sees a photographer pose the head of a child in his studio—he moves it about and settles it at last into what seems to be a low position for the death stroke. The executioner meanwhile is smoking out his cigarette as he leans gracefully on his sword.

A soldier with a little teakettle steps up. The swordsmen throw away his smoked-out butt and holds out his gleaming blade. From the teakettle is poured upon its razor edge a little water, to which the executioner adds. Again the soldier with the teakettle is busy. This time he pours a few drops of water on the neck of the trembling wretch, who has waited several minutes now expecting momentarily the death blow.

All is ready at last. The jaunty gendarme steps forward. He touches the naked neck, so well poised for him, with the bare steel. The victim runs thru the kneeling figure. The gendarme lifts his sword! The victim stiffens, bracing himself for the shock. But not yet, trembling culprit. Four executioners lower his blade and turn to a bystander to push further inquiry as to what he shall do if the head does not fall at the first stroke—for it is his first attempt at this game.

A Bungling Executioner. The expectant figure sways on its knees like a reed in the wind. The long

That is weak and incapable of performing its functions, probably because you have imposed upon it in one way or another over and over again. You should take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and tones the stomach and permanently cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Accept no substitute.

ARCH ENEMIES OF THE NEGRO PLAYED

Speaker in Negro Baptist Convention So Describes Vardaman, Tillman and Dixon.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, Senator Tillman of South Carolina, and Rev. Thomas Dixon of Virginia, author of "The Leopard's Spots," were denounced as arch enemies of the negro race by Rev. I. Garland Penn, D.D., in a lively session of the national convention of negro Baptists held last night.

To add to the excitement occasioned by the vehement oratory of Rev. Mr. Penn, Rev. Dr. H. Boyd, D.D., of Nashville, Tenn., was "dratting." Dr. Boyd retaliated by accusing Dr. Steward of breaking the eighth commandment. "Excuse me," said Dr. Boyd, "but it is this class of men that is doing us untold harm. I would that the world would shut down on this class of men, who are working to down the negroes and send them away from this country. We are here, and here to stay."

"Unless the negro gets a move on himself he will be entirely out," said Rev. H. N. Boney, missionary to Africa, who spoke right here in Chicago. "This country and now taking Africa from him. Almost all of Africa is owned by the white people. The negroes are in charge of Liberia, and that's all. What we do need is a white home here, and but little anywhere else."

"Get Money," Is Urged. "You want to associate with white folks on equality," exclaimed Rev. J. F. Robinson of Arkansas, "and at the same time stand around and beg him for a job. You must not expect recognition at this rate. Buy homes, have money in the bank, own banks. You negroes must get rich, particularly the colored street railway companies."

Booker T. Washington is expected today and will lecture at the Armory tonight.

Members of Grindell Party Probably Dead from Hunger and Thirst.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The Grindell party, whose probable loss on Tiburon island is reported from Bismarck, was not sent out by the government. Professor W. H. Holmes, chief of the United States bureau of ethnology, says Professor Grindell doubtless went to Tiburon on his own account and that the report brought back several days ago by J. E. Hoffman, a member of the party, and to Professor Grindell and those with him having perished of hunger and thirst in the desert.

PREDICTS A NEW AMERICAN TYPE

Colored Bishop Says Amalgamation of Races Is Bound to Come. "You who listen to me, many of you are proud, no doubt, with what you call your Anglo-Saxon blood," will be grandfathers, or at any rate great-grandfathers of men and women partly Chinese, Japanese, Russian, Jew, southern European and dusky African.

Bishop Hamilton's utterances created a sensation. Some of his hearers left the Metropolitan church, which had been attended by Presidents Grant and McKinley, when he was delivered. Hamilton's declaration that the amalgamation of all races was God's solution of the race problem was received with a gasp.

LOSS IN WALLPAPER REPEAT

Sometimes Five Feet for Every Roll Put on the Wall. Philadelphia Record. "Most persons have an idea that all pieces of wall paper are necessarily of one length," remarked a wall paper man. "Sometimes when I receive orders from a distance I wonder just what the patron is figuring on. He may get enough to paper two rooms and he may get only half enough—some figure over and some under, and some figure over economically and some overgenerously. Our domestic papers run eight yards to the piece. Those from France and Germany measure nine yards while the English make rolls so lengthy that they contain quite twelve yards. On some of the new papers with the smallest figures this is next to nothing, and in some others, notably that long-tailed bird pattern, if a bit over the figure is required for each length it means a loss of five feet on every strip put on the wall."

NEW GLEWS FOUND IN SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Boston, Oct. 28.—The suit case mystery of Sept. 21, when the dismembered torso of a woman was found in a dress suit case floating in the harbor, was brought into prominence again late yesterday when a second suit case was found in the Charles river. The case found today contained arms and legs, said by medical experts to be those of a woman, and the police say there is no doubt but that they are the missing members of the torso.

With the finds got the limbs there is now a chance that the victim of the tragedy may be identified, as on one of the hands there were three rings. Two of the rings were on the ring finger of the right hand and the third was on the little finger of the same hand. The pawnbroker who sold the case in which the torso was found identified the case in which the legs and arms were found as one he sold to the purchaser of the first case. Oilcloth similar to that found about the torso was also found in the case recovered.

Heart Trouble

The heart itself has no power—no self-control. It is made to beat by a tender nerve so that it is scarcely visible to the naked eye. Yet on thousands of times a day this delicate nerve must assist the heart to expand and contract.

This nerve is only one of the branches of the great sympathetic, or inside, nerve system. Each branch of this system is so closely allied with the others that weakness or irregularity at any point is apt to spread. Heart trouble frequently arises from stomach trouble through sympathy, and kidney trouble may also follow. Each of these organs is operated by a branch of these same sympathetic nerves—the inside nerves.

Heart, Kidney or Stomach troubles, it is of but little use to attempt to doctor the organ itself—the most permanent relief lies in restoring the inside nerves. Dr. Shoop regards these nerves to be the real cause of such troubles. The remedy known by physicians as "Dr. Shoop's Heart Cure" restores the nerves to their normal condition and relieves the pain—but it also goes on to cure the heart itself. The power remains and builds it up and makes it well.

Every heart sufferer may have Dr. Shoop's book on the Heart. It will be sent free, and intended passport to the "Health Treasure" which is the secret of life.

For the free book Book 1 on Dyspepsia and the "Health Cure" Book 2 on the Heart, you must send Book 3 on the Kidney and the "Health Cure" Book 4 for Women. 3520, Racine, Wis. State Book Co. Send for the book you want. Book 6 on Rheumatism.
