Go to Pollock's Clipping Bureau, 510 Sykes block, for newspaper clippings for business or personal use.

Dr. A. T. Fowler will speak tonight in Calvary Baptist church on "Lessons Learned from the Chapman Meetings." The chorus will sing. Service begins at 7:45.

Burglars broke into the Woodbine saloon at 16 First street S., last night and stole $6 from the cash drawer and some cigars. The thieves entered the building by breaking a panel in a door.

W. Wainman and E. A. Pennington have been appointed trustees of the estates of the late Darius F. Morgan by Judge John Day Smith. Judge John A. Smith was appointed as one of the trustees, but declined to serve.

There will be an occasional communication of Minneapolis lodge No. 19, A. F. and A. M., Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the lodge room for the purpose of attending the funeral of George S. Greenleaf. All master masons and friends of the family are invited.

At the invitation of Plymouth club, Westminster club will be present at its next meeting Monday night. Mayors D. P. Jones will speak. The members of Westminster club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Commercial club and go in a body to Plymouth church, where the Plymouth club meeting will be held.

Professor Frank L. McVey delivered a second lecture on corporation finance before the Minneapolis bank clerks last night. Following this address the clerks of the National Bank of Commerce gave a literary and musical program. The evening was ended with a smoker.

Leonard Thomas Coleman, who is held in central prison pending an investigation of his mental condition, believes that he is greatly wronged. He is charged with assaulting another man, but imagines that he is the man on whom the assault was committed. Yesterday he asked at the top of his voice that he be taken before a federal court for a hearing. He also asked that he might see a priest. Coleman will probably be examined by the probate court in a day or two.

IOWA TEACHERS HERE

Forty pedagogues from Waterloo and vicinity are inspecting schools.

Forty school teachers from Iowa, the majority from Waterloo, are in Minneapolis this week studying the teaching methods and work in the public schools.

Members of the party were assigned to the various schools on their arrival in this city and spent the day in studying the work in which they are most interested. In the party are:

C. E. Moore, superintendent of Blackhawk county schools; A. T. Finkell, superintendent of the Waterloo schools; Miss Amy Boggs, superintendent at Manchester; Miss Margaret Montgomery, principal of the West Waterloo high school; Miss Mattie B. Holt, superintendent of school; Miss Elizabeth Connor, supervisor of physical culture, Waterloo; Miss Bessie E. Cottrell, high school, East Waterloo; Miss Jennie M. Spear, West Waterloo high school; Misses Eleanor Hossfeldt, Ethel Walte, Bond and Johnson, Waterloo high school; Miss Mildred Hall, Maxwell; Miss June L. Foster, West Waterloo; Misses Esther Baker, Elsie Armstrong, Treasa Tighe, Ida Corson, Trussard Junge, Ceva Bezdold, Ada Corson, Rachel E. Foster, Malta Misher, Ella D. Williams, Laura E. Colburn, Harriet Hubbard, Lucy Sullivan, Mae Maris, Eva L. Jones, Mary L. Clifford, Sadie Bourbe, Mary L. Loveland, Ada Behrens, Jeanette E. Cushman, Waterloo; Alice M. Schuttis, Florence McCoy, Mary Coughtry, Carrie Rock and Elizabeth Lamb.

GETS HIS ROLL BACK

Woodman Is Responsible for Arrest of Two Resort Inmates.

G. F. Sullivan, a woodsman, came to town yesterday with a roll of $125 and proceeded to a resort on First street to spend some of it. When he left he found himself shy his money and immediately informed the police.

On the second visit of the police the money was found in a sack under a beercase. Kitty Wells, an inmate of the house, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny, and May Robinson for being in a disorderly house.

Sergeant Tom Egan, Police Officer Niemeyer and Fern and Detective Martinson made the arrests and recovered the money.

BLINDED BY FLASH

Peculiar Accident May Deprive Trolley Car Repairer of Sight.

Charles Anderson, a car repairer in the street railway barns on Smith avenue, St. Paul, was blinded by a electric flash while inspecting a disabled car last evening, and may not recover his sight.

As he was under the car, there was a flash from the box close to his face, and he fell back unconscious. He was picked up by friends and taken to his home. His physician said he would probably lose his eyes, although other parts of his face were uninjured.

$25,430 FOR COUNTY

Sale of Property Owned Thru Tax Delinquencies Swells Funds.

The sale of Hennepin county property owned by the state thru tax delinquencies and sold by County Auditor Hugh R. Scott in accordance with the new law, resulted in a profit to the county of $25,430. With the exception of $2,000, all of this was realized from property within the city limits. In the city, the sales by wards were as follows: First ward, $4,300; second, $320; third, $190; fourth, $1,430; seventh, $2,770; eighth, $500; ninth, $6,800; tenth, $1,450; twelfth, $2,940; thirteenth, $2,670.

THOUSANDS BADE THEM GOD SPEED

DR. CHAPMAN AND HIS EVANGELISTS GO EAST.

Great Throngs Attend the Final Meetings, Which Are Marked by Unsurpassed Feeling—The Work Begun by the Visiting Evangelists to Be Continued by Individual Churches.

With an affecting farewell at the Great Western station last night, when Dr. Chapman and his evangelists left the city, the great religious revival closed, so far as united effort is concerned. The work left to the individual churches and the young people's societies.

Hundreds of persons took advantage of special street car service offered and took cars to the Great Western station after the district farewell meetings were dismissed. Singing "The King's Business," "Glory" and other campaign hymns, the crowd cheered the evangelists on their start for Jersey. As the train pulled out, wet-eyed, enthusiastic converts and friends waved farewell with hats and handkerchiefs to the band of religious workers, singing "God be with you 'till we meet again."

The evangelists have left behind hundreds of converts, as the result of their labors during seventeen days, and thousands of persons who have been awakened to higher responsibilities and the responsibilities of life. They have prepared the way for what is expected to be an ever-increasing wave of reform in the manner of living and of renewed church effort and enlarged church membership.

All Meetings Crowded.

As was expected, the final meetings last night were crowded in each district and overflow meetings were required to take care of the hundreds turned away from the doors for lack of space. Especially in the downtown districts was the interest in the closing meetings very high.

The doors were opened, the entrances were black with people waiting quietly for opportunity to get inside.

Several of the speakers of the evening alluded to comments on the past of the religious campaign and the unfounded stories of the large sums which the evangelists had received. It was made clear that the evangelists received no special salary, but were dependent on the free-will offerings made on stated occasions.

Dr. Chapman said that when the collection for him was over a certain amount, fixed by a committee as suitable to sustain his family in the way it should be done, he would attempt to do. "And so," he said, "if you should hear or read that the sum given to me in this city is a fabulous one, it is not well off in this world's goods, why, then, do not think of me using it to maintain myself or my family in extravagant luxuries."

A feature of the district meetings was the reference in each pulpit to the Journal's splendid special review of the meetings, which suggested that each person should buy and mail copies to friends, who would be interested in the resume. Dr. Ostrom said that he believed it was much better to use the money to distribute copies of a newspaper containing gospel news than regular tracts. Thousands of copies were sold at the afternoon and the evening meetings.

A Notable Finale.

The final meetings were memorable ones. They did not partake of the nature of a farewell, but were rather seized by the evangelists as the last opportunity to urge the acceptance of Christ. In many cases the formal address was abandoned and the speaker conversed with his people. The evangelists alluded to the exacting demand on everyone who had assisted in the work, to the churches which had so freely given up their buildings, and to the press, which had made as good reports as had been received in any city.

Dr. Chapman's sermon at Westminster church was on the subject, "Almost Persuaded."

"This has been a marvelous revival," said he. "I have been working along these lines for over ten years, but I don't believe I have ever witnessed such a work as we have seen in these two cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul. There has been a wonderful spirit of God abroad which has escaped neither Catholic nor Protestant, Jew nor gentile, and from no source, however much they may differ from me and my methods, have I heard a harsh criticism."

Ministers of the district were asked to say a few words each, and with three thunderous cheers, proposed by some one in the audience, the meeting was brought to a close.

Dr. Ostrom Closes.

With remarkable simplicity of manner and with a sweetness that brought tears to the eye, Dr. Ostrom talked in a conversational voice to those who were at the First Baptist church and at the overflow meeting in the Hennepin Avenue Methodist church. The intangible presence, which Dr. Chapman has described as "Jesus of Nazareth passing by," was felt by the people in a spell as the simple stories, and the short revelation of his innermost soul, was made by the speaker. As in other churches, scores of converts shook hands with the evangelist and his singer, John P. Hillis, were forced to hurry to the railway station. Of the church Dr. Ostrom said:

"If you happen to see defects in the visible church, just bear in mind that the church is not completed. You need not wonder that there are defects in an institution that is not done, any more than there are defects in an unfinished house. Before you criticize the church, wait until it is finished in the grace of God. Then there will be no need of your criticisms."

RESULTS THRU UNITY

Dr. Chapman Deeply Gratiated by Cordial Co-operation Here.

In a review of the campaign before he left the city Dr. Chapman, leader of the great movement, spoke of the unity of endeavor that marked the ministers of the city and their enthusiastic support. Of the extent of the influence, of the depth touched, he did not care to speak. "Such things cannot be estimated," he said. "The spirit of the Lord is not to be confined by statistical information."

The interest manifested by the business men Dr. Chapman confessed to have been a source of delight to his fellow workers.

"Another source of inspiration," he said, "has been the kindly spirit evinced by the churches not actively identified with us in the movement. They have all shown sympathy and offered encouragement. The invitation extended to me by Bishop Edsall was among the greatest interest through the city. It strengthens the affections of the people for the great Episcopal church and stamped Bishop Edsall as a broad-minded, true Christian brother. "Our meetings as a whole have been more than successful. The success, however, of the work done, so far as permanent additions to the churches are concerned, must depend on the endeavors of Minneapolis ministers. We have simply broken down barriers, directed attention to the importance of right living, of the good that can be done in the churches."

SPOKE ON AMUSEMENTS

Dr. Chapman's Afternoon Talk Was Heard by Thousands.

People anxious to get seats at the afternoon meeting in Westminster church at their luncheons on the Nicollet street entrance. Dr. Chapman was to speak on "The Christian's Relation to Amusements and the People's Pleasure." The people present at the address by singing the favorite songs of the campaign. And at least one thousand five hundred of them had to go away without. "Behold, we have forsaken all and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?" He said: "We may do the things we would like to see the people do; we will visit the places where we would like to meet them; we will practice the things we would like to see them practice."

WORK GOES ON

Individual Churches Will Follow Up the Evangelists' Efforts.

In the district meetings last night many announcements were made of future meetings. The district meetings will be held as the regular prayer service. During the coming weeks some of the churches will have convocations. The Hennepin Avenue churches Monday night.

Calvary church will have a special praise service at 8 p.m. today. Wesley church will have special preparations for a good time.

Post-revival services will be conducted by Rev. W. B. Riley at the First Baptist church, Monday night, 7:30 p.m. "Hosea, or God's Affection for an Unfaithful People." The services will be tonight and Friday afternoon and next Sunday.

The Monday union service will be at the Hennepin Avenue church.

Wesley and Hennepin Avenue Methodist churches will operate in continuing the revival meetings. Each church will conduct its own services until Thanksgiving day, when Dr. S. F. P. Ostrom, pastor of the Hennepin Avenue church, will preach at 10:30 a.m., and in the afternoon at 7:30 p.m. The two congregations will be held at Hennepin Avenue church.

Arrangements have been made for special evangelistic services to be held at Hope Chapel Thursday and Friday evenings.

MR. HARRIS ON REPORTERS

PRESS CLUB OF MINNEAPOLIS HEARS BUSINESS MAN'S IMPRESSIONS OF NEWS GATHERERS.

The Press Club of Minneapolis and guests gathered at an informal dinner at Conroy's last evening and on the interesting subject of "The Impression of the Reporter."

Mr. Harris said his experience with Minneapolis reporters had covered a period of over eighteen years and that he had seen the reporter grow from an intimate and to respect the men who gather and write the news.

Starting out in a light vein, Mr. Harris' remarks were serious and he paid an eloquent tribute to the character of Minneapolis reporters. He spoke of the high character of the newspaper profession, and of the exacting demand on those who follow it and of the ideals to which the reporter should cling. He paid a graceful compliment to the newspaper women and said that the perplexities of their exacting profession, remain sweet and womanly. In Mr. Harris' opinion the work of the reporter is undervalued and the editor of the newspaper should be more highly appreciated. Mr. Harris' evident sincerity and warmth of heart pleased his hearers greatly and he was frequently interrupted by hearty applause.

At last night's meeting the retiring president, Ralph W. Wheelock, resigned his office to Carl L. Wallace, recently they met at the club. The president of the newspaper men accepted the invitation of Theodore Hays to attend the performance of "The Grafters" at the Bijou opera-house.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Edward Jenkins and James Brown, mere boys, were caught in the act of breaking into the residence of Guy Pauly, 720 Tenth street S. last night, and were taken to Central station charged with burglary.

Mr. Pauly noticed the boys as he was walking home. They were ahead of him, and when they reached the house they went into a side alley. Pauly hid in the shade of the house and watched the boys as they removed the basement window preparatory to entering. He aroused the neighbors and the boys were caught and held until the police could be notified. Detectives Helin and Hansen recognized the boys as old offenders.

It is thought that they intended to rob the gas meter in the basement as several meters have been robbed in the vicinity.

Four meters were robbed in the flats at 928 Chicago avenue, and an attempt was made to open the meter in E. D. Wittz's residence, 836 Tenth avenue, last night. The boys were caught when they were robbing meters in the district, but said that their work had not paid well. They insisted that they had no confederates and that they had been doing all the work themselves.

NEW EAST SIDE STATION

Plans Drawn for Handsome Structure of Police Department.

Plans for the new East Side police station have been prepared by Bert and Chamberlin. The plans have not been formally approved by the members of the council committee on police, but all those who have seen them are satisfied and they will undoubtedly be adopted. The new station will be located on First avenue SE, between Fourth and Fifth streets, and with the site will cost $16,000.

MEANS DISASTER TO MANY SALOONS

ROSS INJUNCTION SOUNDS THE DEATHKNELL.

Combined with Sunday-Closing Order, Measure Cutting Off Refunds Will Thin Out Liquor Resorts—With Nearly $10,000 at Stake, Saloon Men May Appeal to the Supreme Court.

Nearly $10,000 will be the loss to the saloonkeepers of the city thru the decision of Judge John Day Smith in the injunction suit brought by C. H. Ross, to restrain the city officials from making refundments on expired liquor licenses after their revocation, thru voluntary surrender or otherwise.

When the suit was brought there were five warrants ready for delivery to the holders of licenses and thirteen other revocations had been made, but the warrants had not been drawn. The refunds range from $82 to $895, and the aggregate is $9,423.

The saloonkeepers are hard hit by the order. Most of them involved had retired from business because it was unprofitable and were relying on receiving a little nestegg from the refundment. In ten of the eighteen cases the amount they expected to collect exceeded $500.

The amount at stake is deemed too large to let go without some attempt being made to save it, and an appeal to the supreme court is probable. It is expected that a large number of saloons will be forced out of business in a short time by the Sunday-closing order, and this will involve thousands of dollars more.

The liquor dealers argue that it is not just for the city to retain their money when they are no longer engaged in the business. On the other hand, the plan of refunding the unexpired portions of the license fee has been largely responsible for opening saloons where there was no demand for them. With the assistance of the brewing companies and wholesale liquor dealers it has been an easy matter to end in the saloon business, and if it proved unprofitable, the proprietor could ask to have the license revoked and obtain a refundment of a considerable portion of the license fee.

One effect of the decision will be to curtail the number of saloons, for the knowledge that when the license fee $1,900 is paid to the city, it is gone forever, will tend to reduce the number of experiments.
