

FRESH FROM THE SPECIAL LEASED NEWS SERVICES

IS ROCK ISLAND TO BE HARRIMAN'S?

Rumored Change in Control, With Moore-Reed-Leeds Party Selling Out.

Journal Special Service. Chicago, Nov. 25.—Rumors filled the air today regarding a probable change in the control of the Rock Island situation.

The reason assigned for their action is that they have become discouraged with the outlook, especially in regard to the possibility of harmonizing all the interests of such a gigantic system so as to make its operation preferable not only as a whole, but as to each of its individual parts.

Many are the predictions indulged in regarding the future of the system in case these rumors should prove to be true. There are those who are strongly of the opinion that the ultimate destiny of the system is to be absorbed by the Harriman system.

Of course, if the Missouri, Kansas & Texas should have fallen into the control of the Hill interests, it would have to be given a place among the combines, but the view is entertained that eventually there will not be more than three, or at the most four, great interests represented in the west—the Hill, Harriman, Gould and possibly the Vanderbilts.

Accidental Discharge of Rifle Cuts Short the Life of an Iowa Man.

Mason City, Iowa, Nov. 25.—Patrick Reynolds was accidentally killed this evening by a rifle fired from a gun in the hands of Mrs. Will Brock.

The men had just returned from a hunt and had laid their guns down. Mrs. Brock took up one of the rifles and in some manner it was discharged, the ball taking effect in the middle of Reynolds' forehead.

Accidentally Shoots Himself. La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 25.—Dressing in a hurry this morning, J. B. Callahan, a conductor on the Burlington road, was accidentally shot.

Policyholders in Clash in Texas Split Over Delivery of Life Insurance Proxies to Thomas W. Lawson.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 25.—The Texas Policyholders' association, organized in San Antonio yesterday, is badly split up on the proposition to deliver all proxies in the New York Life and the Mutual Life Insurance company to Thomas W. Lawson of Boston.

Indictment Will Stand Milwaukee Alderman Must Stand Trial on Grafting Charge.

Milwaukee, Nov. 25.—County Commissioner Julius E. Roebuck decided today that the grand jury indictment against Alderman Cornelius Corcoran, president of the common council, was sufficient and must stand.

Charge is Embezzlement Milwaukee, Nov. 25.—Charles W. Milbrath, charged with alleged crooked transactions in regard to business deals in the C. W. Milbrath company's affairs, waived preliminary examination in the district court today.

Rich Woman Metes Out Punishment to Male Flirt on the Street. Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—A severe cowhiding was the punishment meted out to a flirt by Mrs. Amy Congleton, a wealthy society widow.

Ohio Clergyman Has Been in the Ministry Continuously for Sixty-Seven Years. Ravenna, Ohio, Nov. 25.—Rev. John Schaeffer of Deerfield has just rounded out the one hundredth year of his life.

Farmer Killed by Train Nicholas Schmidt of Brown County Meets Death on Railroad Track. Sleepy Eye, Minn., Nov. 25.—Nicholas Schmidt, a well-known farmer, was killed by a train on the Marshall branch of the Northwestern road this evening.

Justice Brewer Declares that No Cigarette Smoker Can Reach the Top. New York, Nov. 25.—That no cigarette smoker can reach his highest possibilities is a proposition laid down in an interview by Justice David J. Brewer of the United States supreme court.

Deems Cigarettes Bars to Success. New York, Nov. 25.—That no cigarette smoker can reach his highest possibilities is a proposition laid down in an interview by Justice David J. Brewer of the United States supreme court.

POWERS RAGE AT TURK'S DEFIANCE

Fleets Seek to Awe, but Realize Sultan Has Best of the Situation.

Special Cable to The Journal. London, Nov. 25.—The combined fleet of the powers sailed from Piraeus at noon today, according to an Athens dispatch, with the final intention of forcing the sultan to terms regarding affairs in Macedonia.

An internal mandate to the Balkan states to settle the Macedonian impasse with the sultan may be the only solution of the present controversy between the powers and Turkey. This declaration is made today by persons who are in close touch with the currents that are directing British policy in the existing crisis.

While the powers are enraged by the insolence of the sultan's note, which implied a threat of a massacre of Christians, they secretly realize that coercion in the form of naval display is utterly incapable of bringing Turkey to terms.

But the powers are asking themselves "Which of us is ready for a land campaign?" Russia, Austria-Hungary and France have reasons of their own for being indisposed to engage in extensive military operations beyond their own borders.

Complete Winter Outfits. The Great Plymouth Clothing House. Declares Trusts at Safety Limit.

Undermyer, Trust Lawyer, Says Vastness of Corporations Is Their Ruin. New York, Nov. 25.—"We have reached the line of safety in corporate combinations," said Samuel Undermyer today.

Legal fees as much as $500,000 a year and gets $1,000 a day for appearances in court, has been one of the most powerful factors in the great movement towards centralized industry and finance in America.

At 100, Oldest Active Preacher. Ohio Clergyman Has Been in the Ministry Continuously for Sixty-Seven Years.

Rich Woman Metes Out Punishment to Male Flirt on the Street. Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—A severe cowhiding was the punishment meted out to a flirt by Mrs. Amy Congleton, a wealthy society widow.

Farmer Killed by Train. Nicholas Schmidt of Brown County Meets Death on Railroad Track.

Justice Brewer Declares that No Cigarette Smoker Can Reach the Top. New York, Nov. 25.—That no cigarette smoker can reach his highest possibilities is a proposition laid down in an interview by Justice David J. Brewer of the United States supreme court.

Deems Cigarettes Bars to Success. New York, Nov. 25.—That no cigarette smoker can reach his highest possibilities is a proposition laid down in an interview by Justice David J. Brewer of the United States supreme court.

ALL PETER OUT

Continued from First Page.

est of a better house organization, and the speaker, in considering it, wants it understood that he is not making a "slap" at McCleary. On the contrary he regards the speaker as of so much more importance than the appropriations committee as to indicate that this transfer would be a promotion for McCleary, if made.

The Journal is in a position to say that the speaker resents the statement that any member has any vested rights under the rule of the house. The Journal is in a position to say that some of McCleary's friends have not helped his cause by insisting that the appropriations chairmanship is McCleary's by right. This is not true, and there are abundant precedents in proof of this statement.

The Holman Precedent. In the first congress in which Crisp was speaker of the house, Holman of Indiana was made chairman of appropriations in the next congress, however, Holman never took the chair from Crisp and made chairman of the Indian affairs committee, Sayers getting the appropriations chairmanship.

This seemed like a demotion for Holman, and so it was on the face of the case, but Crisp held that Holman had no claim upon the chairmanship on account of having held it in a preceding congress.

In a democratic congress subsequent to this time, Mr. Cannon was ranking member of the appropriations committee minority. Then came a republican house and Mr. Cannon naturally thought, as Mr. McCleary is supposed to have thought at this time, that he ought to have the chairmanship of the house, being republican. But instead of this, the republican speaker gave place to Frank Bissock of New York, who was at the time the republican minority of the committee. Cannon continued on the committee as ranking member.

Having had such an experience, Mr. Cannon is not likely to attach any importance to the claim of the McCleary people that McCleary has a vested right in the chairmanship of this year.

It is understood that the speaker may appoint all of the house committees before the holiday recess. The committee on rules, accounts and mileage will be named on the first or second day of the session, and after that the speaker may announce several committees each week, or it may be each, until the holiday recess.

Fletcher Has His Troubles. "Uncle Loren" Fletcher is having his own troubles in convincing Speaker Cannon that by dropping out of congress for two years he has not forfeited all claim to his old committee assignments. It is quite apparent that Mr. Fletcher has been possessed of the idea that he could return to the fifty-ninth congress, after an absence of two years, and file upon his old committee places.

The speaker has promised that he would do what he could for Fletcher, but that this will amount for him is not ready to say. Meanwhile, Fletcher is not as hilarious over the outlook as he was before he left Minneapolis.

The chief desire of Mr. Fletcher is to get back on the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, of which he was ranking member at the time of his enforced retirement. In the fifty-eighth congress the gap was filled by the appointment of Fred Stevens of the St. Paul district, who has done committee work for two years which has attracted the attention of members of both houses. He is today one of the vital forces of that committee, and the speaker would be glad to have him continue his services there.

Obviously, even if there were a republican vacancy, Minnesota could not possibly hope to have two representatives on the committee.

The only way in which the matter could be adjusted to Mr. Fletcher's liking would be by the voluntary retirement of Mr. Stevens, expressed personally to the speaker, and whether Stevens will care to make a sacrifice of this kind to one of the questions Mr. Fletcher would like to have answered.

Mr. Stevens' other important assignment is military affairs. He has served on this committee for several years, principally in the interest of a greater Fort Snelling. He has now acquiesced about all that is of interest to the northwest in this respect, and presumably would be much more willing to get off that committee than the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. Mr. Fletcher has not given up the fight, but insists that he has rights and that the speaker will yet recognize them.

At 100, Oldest Active Preacher. Ohio Clergyman Has Been in the Ministry Continuously for Sixty-Seven Years.

RUSSIA DRIFTING NEARER ANARCHY

Witte Abandoned by Zemstvos and Situation Is Growing Worse.

New York Herald Special Service. St. Petersburg, Nov. 25.—The situation has become worse. Count Witte has been abandoned by the zemstvos people. General Trepoft is installed in his new post and an especially strong force of troops and police is being drafted in St. Petersburg. Likewise machine guns. Students affirm that they managed to smuggle in three of the latter. There is a run on the libraries for books referring to the working of such weapons.

Peasants are sucking properties in innumerable districts and no troops are available. There is bad news from Moscow. The strikes have been renewed. More serious still is the announcement that the zemstvos' representatives have become in a sense unfavorable to Count Witte, demanding universal suffrage and the abolition of the political agitation of the autonomy of Poland. But Witte, with stoical calm, accepts the responsibilities falling upon him.

Count Witte's career has been passed in a struggle in surmounting apparently unconquerable obstacles. Fighting against desperate odds is the breath of his life. The truth is, it is generally regarded that Count Witte never looked better than at the present moment. Yesterday I saw him walking in the Nevsky Prospect buoyant and happy.

"And he may walk there freely," said one member of the socialist party to me. "We have nothing against him. But Trepoft dare not." The political agitation being carried on in many parts of the country and the agrarian disturbances have combined to make the situation worse and grave apprehension is felt for what may occur in the near future, as the various movements may bring about complications which it will be even harder for the government to meet than any trial it has yet had to face.

The strike movement is growing in this city, although it is far from general. The refusal of workmen to resume their positions is due largely to their individual grievances and not to any effort on the part of the unions to tie up industry. At Moscow the same kind of a situation has developed, and the number of strikers is constantly increasing at an alarming rate.

News from Sebastopol is also disquieting and the situation there, where it is reported many sailors of the Black sea fleet have mutinied and have been joined by soldiers from the garrison, is exceedingly grave. According to the latest advices received here from that city, the sailors and soldiers are fraternizing with the workmen of the town, and frequent small outbreaks have occurred. The soldiers and sailors, together with the workmen, organized several parades and marched along the streets carrying red flags in their procession and singing revolutionary songs. A state of panic is said to exist in the city.

18 ON ROLL OF FOOTBALL DEAD

Continued from First Page.

The injuries caused partial paralysis of the lower part of the body, resulting in death. Meehan, John.—At Pacific Grove, Cal., Nov. 11. He was 15 years old. Suffered fracture of the spine in school game.

Moore, William.—At New York, Nov. 25. He was 19 years of age, a member of the team from Union college, Schenectady. He was running with the ball when an accident happened that resulted in the fracture of his skull.

Norgaard, Herman G.—At Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 11. He was 17 years old. As a member of the Council Bluffs high school team a few weeks ago, he received injuries which resulted in an abscess on the brain.

Squires, James.—At Alton, Ill., Nov. 6. He was 16 years old. As a member of the Alton high school team, he suffered an injury which resulted in blood poisoning in a game with East St. Louis high school team. Football was abandoned in the school as a result of his death.

Summerville, John S.—At Chester, Pa., Oct. 8. As a halfback on the Franklin college team he had been kicked in the stomach and later in the head, and rendered unconscious. Revived, he had started to walk home, when he fell and died. His bride was with him.

Van Sokelen, Clarence.—At San Jose, Cal., Nov. 4. He was 19 years old. As a member of the Santa Clara school team he suffered a fractured skull in a game with San Jose high school, and died a few hours later.

Wise, Leslie.—At Milwaukee, Nov. 2. He was 14 years old. As a member of a school team he fell in a scrimmage and a weed entered his nostril, penetrating the brain.

OFFICERS APPROVE, DECLARES MIDDY

Continued from First Page.

former results when an upper-classman considers that an insult has been offered by an under-classman which outrages the upper class as a body. In this case the under-classman is challenged and the upper class turns out a man to fight him.

Witness said in answer to a question by Lieutenant Commander Robinson that in case the underclassman whipped his opponent the challenging class would keep on sending its members against the midshipman until he was knocked out. There existed, he said, no personal malice, but the class as a body, feeling aggrieved, saw to it that an obstreperous under-classman was put down.

The Personal Fights. "As to the personal fights," he said, "the class of which the challenger is a member takes no action as a class. The lower class, however, of which the challenged midshipman is a member may take an interest in the fight as a class."

The defendant's counsel asked the witness to explain in detail this part of the system. He said: "Since a personal insult is the basis of such a challenge, the class honor is at stake in case the challenge, provided it be properly made, is not accepted. If a man fails to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class, to accept the challenge and fight, he would probably be sent to court-martial and practically ostracized. I never heard of a challenge not being accepted. In case the challenge is, in the opinion of the class, not justifiable, the class may decide, through the Christian class