BABY CARRIAGE IS HIT BY RUNAWAY

CHILD'S LIFE SAVED BY NURSE-MAID'S COOLNESS.

Infant Son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Gillilan Has Miraculous Escape from Death when Frightened Horse, Dashing Down Sidewalk, Smashes Baby Carriage to Splinters, throwing Him Out.

John James Gillilan, the 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Gillilan of Hennepin court, had a miraculous escape from death yesterday morning when a runaway completely demolished the baby carriage in which he was riding.

Miss Ritchie, the Gillilan's nurse-maid, was wheeling the child in his baby carriage up Nicollet avenue about 10:30 a. m. when a runaway horse attached to a light delivery wagon came tearing around the corner of Grant street, and swinging onto the sidewalk, tore down upon the girl and her charge.

The runaway, continuing down the sidewalk, struck and smashed the police patrol box on the curb near the drug store and went on down the sidewalk to the north, where it was caught. The rig belonged to two boys, who had been delivering Sunday newspapers and one of the boys, who was thrown from the seat onto the sidewalk, was seriously injured.

The baby's escape from death is considered well nigh miraculous, and his parents feel that they owe their son's life to Miss Ritchie, who showed remarkable presence of mind. At the hour at which the runaway dashed down the sidewalk many persons were on their way to church, and it is considered remarkable that there was no one seriously injured.

CRAWFORD TELLS TO PREPARE FOR FATE

Prisoner Remains Unmoved When Informed that Pardon Board Refused Petition.

Special to The Journal. St. Minn., Nov. 27.—Sheriff Ward of Elk River today informed C. D. Crawford of the action of the pardon board in denying his motion for a commutation of the death penalty.

"I have come to inform you that the pardon board has refused your petition. The prisoner nodded and stood erect with his arms folded. "This is an unpleasant duty for me," continued the sheriff, "but I thought it best to let you know at this time, so if there are any arrangements you wish to make, you can attend to them and prepare yourself. I will extend to you every courtesy I can under the circumstances."

"Crawford, is there anything you would like to say?" asked The Journal correspondent. "No, sir; I will not say anything for publication."

"You rather anticipated the action of the pardon board, did you not?" "I refuse to say."

Later, he made a request for a private interview with Sheriff Ward, in which he made some inquiries as to what his privileges would be from now until execution. He was told and at once asked for a change in his bill of fare. He also intimated that he might make a statement of his past life and officers rather expect he will.

REVIVAL'S COST KEPT WELL DOWN

FINAL CHAPMAN REPORT MAY SHOW BALANCE.

Dr. Marshall's Preliminary Summary Shows that the Expenses of Evangelistic Work Will be Covered by Guarantee Fund—Dr. Riley Urges Brisk "Follow-up" Campaign Among Converts.

Expenses of the Chapman meetings in Minneapolis were $7,000, and this sum will be paid without drawing on the guarantee fund subscribed to cover any deficit. Not only will the expenses be paid, but there is a possibility that there may be a slight surplus.

Dr. Marshall's preliminary summary shows that the expenses of evangelistic work will be covered by the guarantee fund. Dr. Riley urges a brisk "follow-up" campaign among converts.

The next congress probably will be asked by the Jews of the United States to name Nov. 27 as a Jewish holiday. The Jewish people are pleased during the recent massacres in Russia.

Urges Follow-up Work. Rev. W. B. Riley spoke at the following work which must be done if the results of the great revival were to be at all permanent.

MUST KEEP "LID" ON INDIANA TOWN

No One Can Buy Land in Cuzco Without Taking a Pledge Against Liquor.

Cuzco, Ind., Nov. 27.—No mayor or general council member is allowed to put on the "lid" at Cuzco, for the reason that Cuzco will never need any such a restriction.

The little community is strictly a company town and the conditions are that it will remain such, for its founder, W. H. Nicholson, has caused to be placed in every deed Cuzco property an iron-clad provision that prohibits the sale of any intoxicating liquors on any of the land.

When the question of a name arose people suggested "Union Valley" as an appropriate name for the town, but owing to the fact that they had formed themselves into a union to see that the laws were obeyed and the community prospered, they decided to name the town Cuzco in honor of the city of Cuzco in South America, by Manco Capac, a child of the sun.

This was the name for the town where Mr. Nicholson hoped to establish a new center of business, but it is growing and is soon to have a railroad. Its citizens have caught the spirit of its peculiar features.

Mr. Nicholson is about 45 years old, a widower and the father of two daughters, one of whom is married. He is the son of Joseph H. and Elizabeth Nicholson and a distant relative of the author of the "Nicholas" liquor law, which has worked wonders in Indiana.

His firm jaw, open countenance and determined expression all bespeak the straightforward and unswerving character of the man.

Mr. Nicholson is bitterly opposed to the liquor traffic. It is this bitterness that led him to put into every deed executed by him what is believed to be one of the strongest barriers against the liquor traffic ever written into a deed in the state. It reads:

"The grantee herein takes this real estate subject to the following limitation: That no intoxicating liquors are to be sold on real estate hereby conveyed, and that the grantee and his heirs and assigns shall be bound to see that no intoxicating liquors are sold on the premises between this date and Jan. 1, 1915, and said grantee herein agrees to embody this limitation in any deed of conveyance he may make for said real estate or any part thereof."

It is further understood and agreed that any violation of this limitation by the grantee herein or those claiming under him shall render the deed void and the land herein conveyed shall revert to the grantor, his heirs or assigns. The grantee by acceptance to all of the above conditions.

SWEETMEATS IN ORIENTAL NEW YORK. New York Letter to the Pittsburg Dispatch.

One of the unique features in the life of the East Side is the hawking about on the streets of sweets of southern European origin. The nuts are in the shell, almonds, roasted and covered with a preparation of butter and brown sugar, and other delicacies reminiscent of the Orient.

Now hundreds of bushels of the nuts are sold to the street vendors every year. They sold them at first to the Jews from Bulgaria, Serbia and Turkey. Now, practically all the foreign elements of the East Side, and particularly the children, buy them, even in preference to candy.

GENERALLY. "Funny thing, about those fellows who get rich."

"How funny?"

"Why, you'll generally find that the man who accumulates a great many bones has a skeleton in his closet."

"I believe," says a Billville philosopher, "that if we finally reach Paradise and find we have no bones, we'll wish and wish to have 'em."

MAN AND WIFE ARE ALMOST ASPHYXIATED

PLANS FOR CLUB MEET APPROVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson, 8133 Cedar avenue, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation yesterday when, sitting in their parlor yesterday afternoon.

Both were reading and did not detect the odor of the gas escaping from the hard coal in the stove. Mr. Anderson began to feel sleepy and put on his overcoat to start after his son, who had gone to a neighbor's house. He thought the gas would arouse him, but when he reached the door the sudden rush of fresh air had a peculiar effect on him, and he fell forward on his face. He remained unconscious for some time. Neighbors across the street, seeing him fall, ran to his rescue.

In the meantime Mrs. Anderson had fainted from the effects of the gas and friends had to care for her also. A physician was summoned and they were both taken to a neighbor's home to stay until the gas was entirely cleared of the gas. They were revived in a short time and were able to return to their home.

Physicians say that had not Mr. Anderson started to go outdoors, both he and his wife would have fallen into a death sleep and no one would have known it.

TO PLEAD SELFDEFENSE

WALTER WEBB, SLAYER OF ELIJAH HOLMES, ALLEGES LATTER THREATENED HIM WITH KNIFE.

Walter Webb, the colored man who, it is alleged, shot and killed Elijah Holmes in front of Joe Blackwell's saloon at 215 Washington street, on Friday evening last, is charged in police court today charged with assault on the first degree.

The complaint for assault was made before Holmes died and he is simply held on that charge until another complaint can be issued. His case was continued until this afternoon, when he was arraigned on the murder charge.

Blackwell, who was charged with interfering with the officers who arrested Webb, was tried this afternoon.

A strong defense is being worked up for Webb. It is now said that several eyewitnesses will be produced who will swear that Holmes drew a knife and lunged at Webb, who shot in self-defense.

WEARS FEMALE GARB IN PUBLIC; PAYS $10

J. E. Faltz, 25 years, thought he would attract a girl last evening by walking down Washington avenue in female attire.

He was smiling happily to himself over the attention he was attracting when he was stopped by a big policeman and taken to the North side station. There is an ordinance requiring men to wear certain models of clothing, but Faltz's attire was not one of them.

He told Judge Waite in police court today that he had attended a masquerade ball, but his excuse was not sound in the eyes of the court and he was fined $10 for his fun.

FINE RECORD SHOWN BY HUMANE SOCIETY

The Minneapolis Humane society is the better organization of Minnesota and one of the most efficient and best equipped humane societies in the country was demonstrated when the various reports made at the annual meeting of the State Humane society, held at the capitol this afternoon.

The report made by the secretary of the Minneapolis society showed that 2,300 animals were cared for during the year. During the entire year of 1904 but 2,015 cases were cared for. The number of cases there may be a number of individual animals or humans cared for in one form or another.

Up to today there have been between 2,100 and 2,200 unfortunate children taken from immoral homes or their suffering alleviated in some way. A last year there were but 1,100. There have been 2,654 animals given homes or put out of their misery as compared with 1,800 during the whole of last year.

Today's meeting was the first annual meeting of the state society since its reorganization under the new state legislature. Also they had but a $2,000 appropriation where the workers sought to get $10,000, the reports made by the officers from the various cities of the state showed that the good done by the year far exceeded that of other years, and the society over the state show a marked improvement for the coming year was mapped out.
