

WITH THE MINNEAPOLIS PASTORS AND CONGREGATIONS

Handsome New Church To Be Dedicated Today

Trinity Baptist Church Will Be Consecrated This Morning by Impressive Services in Which Music Will Figure Prominently--Rev. E. E. Chivers to Preach the Dedication Sermon.

Realization of its long-cherished dream of the fact that it might occupy a thoroughly modern and beautiful church edifice will come to the congregation of Trinity Baptist church this morning when it formally dedicates its handsome new house of worship, corner Nineteenth street and Bryant avenue S.

Special services will be held in the new church during the week. Monday evening will be devoted to a "Fellowship service," at which addresses will be delivered by pastors of other local churches.

It is fitting that such a great work should be completed so near the Thanksgiving time. Rev. Lathan A. Crandall, the proud pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, who worked so tirelessly to make possible the new edifice, and arranged an auspicious program for its dedication, passed one of the happiest Thanksgiving days of his life when he viewed the handsome results of his labor and the devotion of his flock.

Handsome and Commodious. The new church is both handsome and commodious. Every vestige of its space has been utilized beneficially, and all-in-all its arrangement is ideally suited to the requirements of the congregation. Room is plenty for the continued steady growth of the congregation, and inducements for this growth are there in numbers.

The dedicatory services today will open one of Minneapolis' finest church buildings. The dedicatory programs follow: Sunday, 10:45 A.M. Organ prelude. Dology. Invocation. Responsive reading. Anthem. Scripture reading. Hymn--"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Diadem. Prayer. Offertory. Dedicatory Sermon--Rev. E. E. Chivers.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION SOUGHT Kansas City, Los Angeles, Seattle, Minneapolis--which? All of these cities want the 1907 Christian Endeavor convention, and the placing of it will not be decided until the trustees of the United society meet in Boston in February, but it is believed that, from a geographical standpoint, the plum strategically and logically belongs to Minneapolis.

TO BE "ANGEL" TO SICK LUMBERMEN

MISS RUTH OLNEY TO AID REV. F. E. HIGGINS.

Minneapolis Young Woman Will Soothe Feverish Brows of Sick Woodsmen as "Lumbermen's Missionary," and Assistant to "The Lumber-Jack Sky Pilot"--Well Fitted for New Duty.

MISS RUTH OLNEY, The "Lumbermen's Missionary."

Miss Ruth Olney, 306 University avenue SE, leaves Dec. 4 for Bemidji to engage in work which has no counterpart in state or country.

Her headquarters will be at the Markham hotel, Bemidji, and she will make the rounds every week. The five men in charge of districts organized by Rev. Higgins in the lumber region will report to Miss Olney every case sent to the hospitals, so that no time may be lost.

PILLSBURY HOUSE WILL HAVE CLUB

ROOMS FOR MEN AND BOYS ARRANGED FOR.

Billiard, Game and Reading Rooms for Neighborhood Residents Provided in Plans for New Building at Sixteenth Avenue S and Fourth Street--Ground Will Be Broken in Spring.

The club idea for men and boys, now exciting so much public interest, will be taken up in the new building for Bethel settlement in appreciation of the generous gift of the Messrs. C. S. and J. S. Pillsbury, is to be known as Pillsbury house. A billiard-room and game and reading-rooms will be provided in a high, sunny basement at the south end of the building, which is to be constructed at Sixteenth avenue S and Fourth street. This will be easily accessible from the street and every effort will be made to make it attractive to the men and boys of the neighborhood.

Arrangements Excellent. The plans call for an auditorium on the ground floor capable of seating from 200 to 250 persons, which will be used for public lectures and entertainments.

The movement for a new settlement building in which to house the work heretofore carried on by Bethel settlement, was inaugurated at an informal meeting of friends of the "two whiskeys" which were represented by Plymouth, Park and the First Congregational churches, held at Plymouth church on April 7 last.

Revival Work Goes On. While the workers at the mission probably never see one-fourth of the work they do, the record of conversion is long and interesting.

WILL MAKE THREE ADDRESSES TODAY

REV. E. L. EATON OF PITTSBURG HAS HIGH STANDING.

One of the Best Known and Most Able Ministers of the Methodist Church in America, He Has Recently Been Appointed Organizer of the National Ministerial Prohibition Alliance.

REV. E. L. EATON, Organizer of the National Ministerial Prohibition Alliance.

Rev. E. L. Eaton of Pittsburg, Pa., who is to speak in Minneapolis today and tomorrow, has recently been appointed organizer of the National Ministerial Prohibition alliance, a movement which originated in the Methodist church within the past few months, but later expanded into an interdenominational movement.

Dr. Eaton will make his first address at the Prospect Park Methodist church this morning on the topic, "The Slave Question of Salvation." This afternoon at the Young Men's Christian Association hall to men on "What David Thought About It," and this evening at Hennepin Avenue Methodist church on "Building for Eternity."

Eighteen Years of Work Among Unfortunate Men

Christian Workers' Mission Has Been Tireless in Its Efforts Among Transient and Slum Population About South Washington Avenue and Bridge Square--Support or Money Has Never Been Solicited.

For eighteen years the Christian Workers' mission, 29 Washington avenue S, has labored among the transient and slum population about Washington avenue S and Bridge Square. The mission was formed Oct. 2, 1887, and rented the hall which it has occupied ever since. The new movement was entirely without financial backing and adopted a resolution, strange in the annals of mission work--that it would not solicit support or money, but rely entirely upon voluntary contributions.

For eighteen years the mission has stood, at times seemingly overwhelmed with debt, but never quite going under. During the darkest hours of its poverty William A. Petran, its general director, and his associates have adhered to their resolution not to solicit money, and at every crisis support has come, often from some unexpected source. There has been no attempt to force the development of the mission or to make any extensions or enlargements except as the money was already on hand.

"This," to quote from a report published in the darkest days of the mission, "allows the work to expand only as fast as God wants it to, and does away with man's ambition to do great things that God has nothing to do with, which emanate from the flesh."

Remarkable Conversions. While the workers at the mission probably never see one-fourth of the work they do, the record of conversion is long and interesting.

His Last Drink. Perhaps the most picturesque of the long series of incidents related by Mr.
