AT THE MERCY OF GANG OF TOUGHS

IMPERIAL BREWING COMPANY FEELS ITSELF AGGRIEVED.

Building on River Bank Is Broken Into Nightly and Every Window in the Six-Story Structure Is Kept Smashed.—Police Captain Says He Hasn't Men Enough.

Completely at the mercy of the gang of hoodlums! That is the predicament which officials of the Imperial Brewing company are in. Every night for weeks the old stone brewery on the top of the river bank overlooking the flats, which is now used as a warehouse by the company, has been broken into, and every window in the six-story structure is smashed. The loss to the company by the vandalism of the hoodlums amounts to several thousand dollars, damage to property being the principal item. The police department has been repeatedly appealed to, say the company officials, but does not seem to be able to protect them. Windows are smashed again as fast as they are replaced and the offenders in sheer overabundance of spirit, recently tore down and carried away piecemeal a large annex, which the company had constructed on its barn.

It is finally decided to place watchmen in the building at night and last Sunday the company felt that with two trusty guardians ensconced within, their property would be safe. But the river bank youths will have their little joke. They nailed up all the doors, and when the vigilant guardians wished to come forth in the morning it took them several hours to much hard work to do so. Last night a gang of choice spirits broke into the place by smashing the locks and windows and helped themselves liberally to the choice ales and porters within.

Captain George Sinclair of the South Side police, said today: "I simply haven't enough men to keep the hoodlums in check. The national light walks that beat has something like twenty blocks to cover, and he can't be at the brewery all the time. The boys watch him and when he has his back to them they are on him. Cedar avenue they do as they please. On account of the location of the plant it is the easiest thing in the world for a gang to slip up from the flats the minute the officers' backs are turned."

"One man in the south precinct walks a beat covering 135 blocks and containing a score or more of saloons. When a man has to cover that amount of territory he can't speak very much time in one spot. There are only twenty-four men covering beats in the south precinct, which includes everything south of Chicago avenue.

ENTERTAIN THE VICTORS

Minneapolis Workmen Tender Banquet to St. Paul Lodges of Order.

The Minneapolis lodges of the A. O. U. W., which lost in their membership contest with the St. Paul lodges of the order, paid their forfeit last night by tendering a banquet to about five hundred of their St. Paul brethren. The gathering was held at A. O. U. W. hall on Seventh street. About 100 visitors came from St. Paul in a body and were met in front of the West hotel by the A. O. U. W. band, which led the march to the hall. Following the banquet came the smoker, which was enhanced by many impromptu speeches. Among the speakers were August F. Floerke of Minneapolis and J. F. McGuire of St. Paul, the leaders of the membership contest. K. Hicks, J. C. Hayes, Dr. Charles Cannon, Charles E. Larson, David Ramaley, E. W. Randall, John F. Selby and Taylor of St. Paul and William B. Anderson and William B. McCormick of Minneapolis. The German trio of lodge No. 220 whistled a selection and S. L. WILL BURN OUT TEACHERS AT "U"

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION WILL BE ESTABLISHED JAN. 1.

Professor George F. James, Professor of Pedagogy, Is Elected Dean of New School by Board of Regents—Two Courses, One of Two and One of Three Years, Planned.

A school of education, offering complete courses in pedagogy work, will be a new feature of the University of Minnesota curriculum beginning Jan. 1. The establishment of such a school was authorized today by the board of regents, which will take up university for the usual monthly session.

The new department will be organized at once under the direction of Professor George F. James, who was elected dean of the new school and authorized to begin the work of organization. Dr. James has been professor of pedagogy at the university for several years and he will begin work at once outlining courses and studies in the new department.

For several years there has been talk of a department of pedagogy at the university, and it was generally expected. Two courses will be offered, one of two years' and one of three years' duration, both open to students who have completed the class known as the academic college. A bulletin outlining the work offered by the new department will be issued as soon as the organization has been completed. The aim will be to turn out university graduates thoroughly trained in pedagogical lines, and judging by the number of students who are taking the pedagogical work now offered at the university the enrollment will be large.

LABOR IS PLENTIFUL

Two Score of Unskilled Workmen Can Be Secured in a Minute.

Labor is plentiful in Minneapolis at present, particularly of the class known as common labor. Two score of men can be secured in a minute at the state employment bureau in the courthouse, as there are that number about the office all the time waiting for something to turn up. Most of the men are good strong fellows straight from the harvest fields or railway work. There is little or no skilled labor available, but plenty of men who are willing to go out and do a hard day's work. Female help is also plentiful, not domestic, but day-workers. Five or six of these can be secured in a few moments for like addresses. It is estimated that many at the office all the time awaiting patiently for a call to come. Day workers were in great demand last month and the labor bureau was unable to fill its orders. House cleaning and the cleaning season is over and the need for day-workers has almost ceased.

POLICYHOLDERS MEET

Northwestern National Life Convention Shows Satisfaction with Management.

Some fifty persons were present today at the special meeting called by the policyholders of the Northwestern National Life Insurance company of Minneapolis at the company's office building. The greater number present were policyholders, but there were also some interested friends. A large number of proxies were represented. President L. W. Collins presided. L. K. Thompson, vice president and general manager, presided at the meeting and explained the details of the company's operation under the new management. General satisfaction was expressed at the address, and the committee officers commended for their conservative management of the company's affairs. S. A. Harris and E. W. Decker, directors, were among those present, and with Messrs. Collins and Thompson, met the policyholders and answered questions. It was decided to leave open the contemplated action of reorganizing the company on the "old line" plan till the annual meeting, which will be held Feb. 12 next.

STUDENTS PUNISHED

Example Is Made of Alleged Scalpers of Football Tickets.

Acting on evidence tending to show that Charles D. Frantz and George W. Davey, students of the University of Minnesota, were guilty of "scalping" football tickets, the faculty council has recommended the suspension of the former for a year and the denial of registration to the latter. The evidence was introduced by students who had investigated the scalping prior to the Wisconsin football game.

Frantz is a student in the law department. The report of the recommendation has not yet acted upon the recommendation. Davey is not officially a student, but he has been studying in the engineering department. The recommendation for denial of registration in his case has not been acted upon.

Suffering from smallpox in its most malignant form and in daily contact with a score or more boarders, John Gubbins, a transient, was today removed from the Pacific hotel, Third avenue N. and Washington, by the city health department. Gubbins cannot account for the disease and was himself ignorant of his serious condition until today. The hotel has not yet been quarantined, but will be if more cases break out.

INSURANCE AGAIN TACKLED BY JURY

FORMER PROMINENT OFFICIALS ARE CALLED IN.

Call for Judge Dickinson and Presence of Former Officials of Insurance Company With State's Witness, A. F. Timme, Indicates Further Investigation of Scandals.

Judge H. D. Dickinson spent some time before the grand jury yesterday afternoon. County Attorney Al J. Smith was also in and out of the secret on several times, and evidently something of importance was under discussion. A. F. Timme, former actuary of the Northwestern National Life Insurance company, and one of the state's principal witnesses, was also in the courtroom, while other witnesses and former officials were on hand and evidently anxious about what was going on in the inquirers' room.

Neither the officials nor the grand jurors would say anything about the discussion, but without doubt it had to do with some new indictments. That the grand jury adjourned without voting any new bills is also known, and the conclusion is that there was a sentiment among the jurors that prevented the establishing of the new evidence, or made it seem wiser to the county attorney to defer presenting it to another jury.

Notwithstanding that the state's principal witnesses, and one of them was called to testify, it has been hinted that the state has secured new evidence against the men now under indictment, and intended to prefer charges against them. It has also been intimated that some of the grand jurors did not want to do the thing they were called in for, and that they would do their own. However, this may be, there was certainly some heated discussion, and Judge Dickinson's presence in the grand jury room indicates that some necessary signs of law arose, over which the jurors differed materially.

RUNAWAY HORSES IN A RACE FOR RECORD

Fifth street N from Tenth avenue to Hennepin was turned into a speedway today when two runaway horses, one owned by Peter Hagen, saloonkeeper at 110 Third street S., and the other by E. A. Latham, the florist, raced to the heart of the city at breakneck speed. The street was cleared of pedestrians and traffic wagons to allow the frightened animals to speed. It was more thrilling than a real derby.

Mr. Hagen's horse was standing in front of his brother-in-law's home at Tenth avenue N. and Fifth street and his younger brother was in the buggy. Suddenly the animal became frightened and with a powerful leap that threw the driver man from the rig, started toward Hennepin avenue. After running madly for a short distance the buggy collided with Mr. Latham's rig, which was standing in front of a house. The other horse joined in the race with Hagen's steed, and both went after the record. Neck and neck they ran until they reached the bridge over the Minneapolis & St. Louis tracks.

Because of the heavy ironwork in the middle and the florist's horse made a substantial gain. Hagen's animal stopped, but allowing the other first to pass the West hotel. At this point another rig belonging to J. Levin was standing too far out in the street and the little white horse was knocked into the mix. The collision, however, stopped the terrified delivery horse and pedestrians were able to bring him to a standstill. Mr. Hagen's horse had been caught a block back and the other horse appeared much the worse for the sprint.

HEAD OF THE G. A. R. SAYS WHAT TO DO

'CORPORAL' TANNER HERE TO CANVASS ENCAMPMENT PLANS.

July 16 Is Date for Encampment Favored by Local G. A. R. and Commercial Club Committees and Railroad Men—Executive Committee Will Meet Wishes of Minneapolis Bodies.

Corporal James Tanner, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., is in Minneapolis with other members of the executive committee of the Grand Army organization to consult with the local encampment committee. The party arrived this morning over the Wisconsin Central in company with Judge L. W. Collins and S. H. Towler of Minneapolis, and went at once to the West side hotel, where the local committee, which the general plans of the encampment were discussed, the visitors outlining their requirements and the local committee presenting the plans of encampment already formed.

One question of great importance to be settled in the conferences of today and tomorrow will be the date of the encampment. The local G. A. R. and Commercial club committees and the railroad representatives have recommended July 16 as the most convenient date for the meeting. At that time, however, the weather is generally as fine as can be asked. Adjutant-General John Tweedale, who is with the party today, said: "We have come to our own conclusions, and I can say that we will work with them as much as possible. We have not considered the date of the convention even among ourselves, and will certainly consider that matter after the consultation with the Minneapolis committees."

Those in the party that arrived today are Commander-in-chief and Mrs. Tanner, Adjutant General Tweedale of Washington; T. W. Scott, Springfield, Ill.; M. V. Ives, New York; J. W. Hursey, Springfield, Mass.; Phil Cheek, Baraboo, Wis.; C. W. Foote, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Assistant Adjutant General Rogers, U. S. A., Washington; and J. Corey Winans, Troy, Ohio.

This evening the visitors will be entertained in St. Paul by the Loyal Legion. Tomorrow evening they will be entertained at dinner by the Commercial club and the local G. A. R. committees. The party was greeted at the train by Wallace G. Nye, representing the Commercial club, and escorted to the hotel. Former Commander-in-chief of the Territorial and other local G. A. R. men were present to meet them. Later in the day Mayor David P. Jones and Alderman A. E. Merrill, president of the city council, called to welcome the visitors.

Many outside G. A. R. bodies are already planning for their headquarters, and a number of department commanders were present today for that purpose and also to meet the distinguished visitors. Among these were Department Commander C. F. Macdonald of Minnesota, Assistant Adjutant General John Lett of Boulder, Neb., Assistant Adjutant General L. M. Seothern, Lincoln, Neb., and Assistant Adjutant General F. W. Woolf of Lansing, Mich. They will confer with members of the national executive committee and will select their headquarters for the encampment.

Number of large posts and state departments have already sent representatives here to secure headquarters. All the visitors who are here today unite in expressing the belief that the Minneapolis encampment will be one of the grandest gatherings the G. A. R. has ever held. Every man announced that from the present indications there will be large delegations from every post and state department in the country. Among other questions to be settled by the executive committee will be the selection of the headquarters, headquarters and plans for the line of march of the G. A. R. parade. Two days will be spent in Minneapolis. The party will leave for St. Paul this morning. The business is completed by that time.

This evening the women of the Minneapolis corps will call on Mrs. Adams at the West hotel, but no formal entertainment has been planned. Tomorrow evening the visiting women will join with the men representing the Grand Army of the Republic at the West hotel. The party will be entertained at luncheon by the trustees.

At 6:30 o'clock there will be a banquet in Donaldson's tearooms, at which Mrs. Adams will be the guest of honor. There will be no formal program of toasts, but Mrs. Adams will be cordially greeted by representatives of the different corps. From 8:30 until 11 o'clock a large reception will be given in the tearooms, to which the members of the Grand Army and all the allied orders are cordially invited. The guests will be received by James Tanner, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and Mrs. Tanner, S. H. Towler, jurist vice commander, and Mrs. Towler, Jurge and Mrs. Ell Torrance, while the presidents of the local corps will assist thru the rooms.

She received the greatest ovation, both in point of attendance and enthusiasm, that has been accorded any prima donna in St. Paul in recent years. Mme. Calve was enjoying excellent health yesterday, and before she had finished the first of her numbers on the program it was demonstrated that she was in fine voice. Mme. Calve only sings three or four times a week. She will come to Minneapolis today and rest for her concert here tomorrow night at the Auditorium, when the great singer and her company will open the All-Star course.

'HENLESS' EGGS SOLVE HIGH PRICE QUESTION

"Scrambled eggs" without eggs is the latest innovation at the cheaper restaurants. It tastes like eggs, it looks like eggs and the customer who gets it thinks it is eggs, so that it about all that commercial interests think necessary, especially in view of the fact that the financial saving to the proprietor of the place is considerable. The high price of eggs, real eggs, has resulted in the present substitute for the barnyard article getting a hold in the lower town restaurants. When eggs take a jump upward, it is impossible for the cheaper restaurants to also raise prices so as to cover the additional expense. To do so would be to drive away custom. Then one recent day along came the agent of the fellow who had invented the egg substitute. It was tried, and found to answer the purpose, and so it is, the substitute is largely used. "I do not know what the stuff is made of," said the chef of one of the leading Minneapolis hotels today. "It may be just as good a food as real eggs. It looks a good like the real eggs, with the whites and yolks mixed. It comes in tirtight, sealed cans and it's better to use it as soon as it is opened. What do I think of it? Well, the patrons at our tables wouldn't ever stand for it. All the first-class places use real eggs. No substitutes will go and the business be held. In my estimation, there is nothing that takes the place of nice, fresh eggs. Next in order, comes the storage eggs, of which a person is naturally suspicious till the shell is cracked. Then third, comes the egg substitute. I know little about it because I do not use it, the agents have left some with me."

MUNZER'S Real Lace Handkerchiefs $2.50 to $15.00
