THE WEATHER

The Predictions.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Saturday; colder in east portion tonight; fresh northwest winds. Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with snow flurries near Lake Superior; colder tonight; fresh northwest winds. Wisconsin and Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; colder tonight; fresh northwest winds. North Dakota and Montana—Fair tonight and Saturday; slightly colder tonight.

The storm over southern Michigan yesterday morning has moved northward to the region north of the St. Lawrence valley; it is evidently being followed by another storm which is now over the west gulf region. Rain was falling this morning in the lower half of the Mississippi valley and in Oklahoma, and cloudy weather extends from Texas to the lake region, and also over New England, North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The southern "low" is causing higher temperatures in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, while in Minnesota and the lake region the temperatures are somewhat lower, with northwesterly winds following the passage of the Michigan "low." In western North Dakota, Alberta and parts of Montana it is warmer, probably due to local conditions. This morning's temperatures are slightly below zero in parts of the middle Rocky mountain region. Fair weather is anticipated here tonight and Saturday, and colder tonight.

Weather Now and Then. Today, maximum 28, minimum 18 degrees; a year ago, maximum 41, minimum 25 degrees.

COLONEL JOHNSON CALLED BY DEATH

MINNEAPOLITAN SUCCUMBS AFTER PARALYTIC STROKE.

Treasurer of Hennepin County, Known Thruout the Nation, Passes Away After Lying Unconscious Since Last Tuesday Morning, When He Was Found Helpless in Bank of Commerce Building.

Colonel Charles W. Johnson, county treasurer of Hennepin county, died last night at 7:15 at Asbury hospital. Colonel Johnson suffered a paralytic stroke some time Monday night while in the bank of Commerce building. He was found early Tuesday morning by the janitor, who at once summoned Mr. Johnson's son-in-law, Dr. W. N. Porteous. The sick man was carried to the Asbury hospital where he fought against death for three days.

Colonel Johnson is survived by his wife, one son, Dennam F. Johnson, and a daughter, Mrs. W. N. Porteous, all of whom were with him when he expired. Dr. Porteous and Dr. H. L. Staples attended him to the end. After six days of illness Johnson never regained consciousness. The funeral will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, from the Hennepin Avenue M. E. church.

HAD EVENTFUL CAREER

Colonel Johnson Had Held Many Important Public Positions.

For nearly forty years Colonel Johnson had been one of the best-known men in local business and political circles. Few men were better known or had a wider field of acquaintance, not only local but also national. He had held a number of offices, city, county and national, and was ever prominent in party councils and conventions. Since the close of the war he had been closely identified with the growth and development of Minneapolis and had been connected in a greater or lesser degree with most of the interesting events of the city's history.

Colonel Johnson was born in Belleville, St. Clair county, Ill., March 17, 1843. After leaving high school he learned the printer's trade. In 1860 he came to Minnesota and taught school for two years. At the age of 19 he enlisted in Company D of the Sixth Minnesota, which was organized in 1862. He served with his regiment thruout the war.

Prominent in Music.

On his return to Minneapolis following the mustering out of his regiment in 1865 Colonel Johnson was thrown abruptly upon his own resources. He had no money and was a skilful type setter. He was ever prominent in reaping commercial rewards from the latter source and for a time taught music and formed several small choruses.

Later he decided to take advantage of his other talent and went to work as a compositor, but did not lose his interest in music. He was one of the organizers and was secretary of the Baseline, 3238 Emerson avenue N., is slowly recovering from the effects of a severe fall last Monday. He was skating with some other boys on a pond near his home, when he was struck by a sled and violently onto the ice. BALANCE OF TRADE COMING THIS WAY

MORE CHRISTMAS NOW COMING THAN GOING.

Up to Today the Bulk of the Holiday Mail Was Outward Bound, but Now Material for Filling Minneapolis Hosiery Has the Right of Way.

Today the tide turned at the post-office and incoming mail furnished the bulk of the matter handled by the clerk and carriers, which today weight has been in the other side of the balance, and outgoing letters and parcels have predominated. To meet the holiday rush, five extra sorting clerks have been put on, raising the force to thirty-five. Forty extra carriers and six wagons are already at work.

Yesterday was the big day for outgoing Christmas mail. The package room made up and sent out 1,000 sacks of mail. These sacks were practically filled with Christmas gifts as little other package mail is now passing thru the office. For the first three days of the week the average was between 600 and 800 sacks a day. No figures on the amount of incoming mail are available at present, and a great part of it is not being counted. Only those packages which are too heavy or too bulky to be delivered by the regular carriers are enumerated. Last year at Christmas time 9,636 pieces of mail were sent out from the main office by special carriers. At the 40 per cent rate of increase indicated by the records of the registry division this year's record should pass the 12,000 mark. This number does not include the mail delivered from the branch stations nor the small parcels which are handled by the regular carriers.

MUNICIPAL JUDGE'S DECISION REVERSED

Municipal Judge C. L. Smith's decision in the case of Frank McFarland, arrested last July on a charge of vagrancy, has been reversed by the supreme court today. The majority of those who are sending gifts to out-of-town friends and relatives were prudent enough to mail them early in the week, but their wish was to keep the corridors comfortably filled.

CITY FINDS MORE POWER

INVESTIGATION PROVES IT OWNS OR CONTROLS NINE MILLPOWERS—HAVE HIGH VALUE.

In investigating the proposition of establishing a municipal lighting plant at the old pumping stations the city engineer finds that the city really controls nine millpowers, owning five millpowers outright in addition to the four which appear under the name of other companies. One millpower theoretically is equal to seventy-five horsepower, but on the shaft the amount is reduced to about sixty effective horsepower. Hence the city controls enough waterpower to operate 540 big arc lights and many times that number of incandescent lights.

City Engineer Rinker has not gone deep enough into the subject to form any idea of the practicability of the proposition. Many of the millpowers are a fair charge for a millpower it costs only $16 a year a horsepower. It will cost fully twice that much a horsepower by the use of a steam plant. Even if it would appear unwise there are some unforeseen obstacles that a lighting plant should be feasible.

If it is not the city could dispose of the power either by sale or lease. The power should be worth as much to an industrial plant as to the city, and on this basis the millpowers ought to net the city at least $5,000, after paying $4,000 a year for the typographic union on the present lease.

Three of the millpowers belong to the East Side station and six to the West Side station.

Temporary arrangements for the management of the county treasurer's office were made today pending the election of a successor to Colonel C. W. Johnson. During the forenoon no checks were issued, but at a meeting between Charles F. Nickels, the first deputy, and the county commissioners and the bank officials all county employees received their December pay checks today for Christmas.

There were signed an order by the deputy treasurer, but previous to the session at noon were refused at the banks on account of the legal question raised by Colonel Johnson's death. Arrangements will be made for their payment or for the issuance of substitutes.

Tuesday the county commissioners will meet, and all commissioners have been notified that the election of a new treasurer to fill the unexpired term will be held at that time. There is a large field of candidates, among whom are Chief Deputy Charles E. Nickels, Fred Barney, Henry C. Hanke, George L. Matchan and Frank Farham.

COUNCIL AGAIN WILL TAKE UP LIGHT FIGHT

What the Patterson Street Lighting company will do about the incandescent lighting contract will develop at the council meeting tonight. The other members of the council in suspense will ask the council to reward them by resolution as suggested by Mayor Jones.

Should Mr. Patterson persist that the matter has passed out of the hands of the council it probably will result in mandamus proceedings to compel the mayor to sign the contract. This is just what the mayor wants, for he is firmly convinced that if the matter is ever brought into court he will be upheld.

Even if the contract is awarded by resolution, it is said Mayor Jones will veto it and the Pattersons will be compelled to get eighteen votes with which to overthrow the veto.

Among the matters to come before the council is the petition of the Milwaukee Traction and Light company for a street car track between Third and Fourth streets and crossing Tenth, Ninth, Eighth and Seventh avenues S. Aldermen Lars M. Rand and Nels J. Nelson are opposed to the plan.

ALL DRESSING DOLLS

Chorus Girls and Society Matrons Are Helping Santa Claus.

One hundred dolls to dress and thirty-six hours in which to dress them was the situation which confronted the Associated Christmas Tree societies in Minneapolis. The dolls were delivered at the association office in accordance with the promise of a mysterious donor who has conducted his negotiations by telephone and refused to give any other name than "Santa Claus."

The chorus girls of the Peggy from Paris company have been appealed to for assistance. The plan is to turn over about half of the dolls to the girls, who promise to dress them in Parisian style. The other half have been sent to the women who have been prominent in supporting the work of the association and many have been returned already gorgeously arrayed. The rivalry between the society women who have undertaken this task is keen, and each one is vying with the rest in the effort to produce the "best-dressed" doll.

The distribution of these dolls to their little mothers tomorrow afternoon will be a regular society affair. They will go to their future homes in automobiles and private carriages.

POLICEMAN ON TRIAL

Patrolman Charles Morey, charged with assaulting C. M. Dahlstrom, a street car conductor, was tried in police court today. The testimony was taken but the verdict will not be given until Dec. 28.

Several persons who saw the dispute between the men last Sunday testified that Morey did not use unnecessary violence and that if Dahlstrom was injured it must have been because he fell on the walk when the officer threw him to one side after telling him to move on and leave police business alone.

GETS A CIDER PRESS

Salvation Army Receives Peculiar Addition to Its Stores.

A cider press is the latest addition to the collection of battered and grotesque objects of use and beauty which make the Salvation Army salvage store look, at this time, like a museum. The press stands in one corner of the toy room, and Captain W. H. Gooding, the head of the industrial department, is at loss to know what to do with it, as the cider making season is past and there is little chance to dispose of the apparatus at present.
