

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

The Kind of Stuff I'm Made Of

By actual count one hundred and twenty-five families depend upon Harry Mitchell's tailor shop for their daily bread. All the other tailors let their men go after Christmas, and they remain out of work till the season opens again. But not so with your Uncle Harry. I keep my men, and find work for them all winter.

It will probably be a little harder to do so this year, because of the enlarging of my store, but I've made arrangements to partition off a section for my workmen, which will enable the contractors to do their work undisturbed.

You don't have to go through high school to figure out why I must do a lot of stunts and make business at this particular time.

I did a good business last year, and made money, so I don't care if I cough up some of my profits during January. I've made up my mind I'll keep my men busy as long as they behave and don't go on a spree or neglect their families. So if you want a suit or overcoat for immediate use, for spring, or for even next fall, I say ORDER NOW.

I will make you a suit or overcoat, the equal of any $35 or $40 suit you ever cast your eyes on, for $15, and for $20 I will make you to your measure a suit or overcoat as good as any tailor can make for $50. In other words, I'll save you half what other tailors ask, and rig you out so thoroughly satisfactory that you'll never again look a hand-me-down in the face.

I'm business from start to finish, and no matter how cheap I sell, you have my absolute guarantee of "Fit and Satisfaction or No Pay."

Yours truly,
HARRY MITCHELL,
Store, 310 Nicollet Ave.

NEW FOOD LAWS IN REVISED CODE

DEALERS BUSY LEARNING NEW LABEL REQUIREMENTS.

One Section Releases Boarders from Paying for Food Illegally Served, and Dealers from Settling for Illegal Goods—Coal-Tar Dyes in Candy Barred.

After March 1 there will be a new food law, and one of its features is rather novel. It says: "No action shall be maintained for the purchase, price or value of any goods, the sale of which is prohibited by this chapter, or which are sold in a manner forbidden hereby. Nor shall any person be liable for the price or value of food of any kind, in violation of any provision hereof."

In other words, if you eat at a restaurant or hotel, where some article of food is served, and that it is prohibited, you will not need to settle for your meal. If your boarding-house cook uses a substitute for lard without procuring in large letters in the dining room that "lard substitute" is used, you may snap your fingers at the landlady when she comes to collect the bill. If you are served with illegal goods, but being properly informed of it, you owe nothing for what you have eaten.

It is not likely that this provision will be invoked for legal goods. The case of hotels and boarding-houses, but it goes farther. If a retail merchant buys an article of food that is found to be illegal, he may refuse to buy it. The same may occur when a consumer buys illegal goods from the retailer. No milkman can collect for whey in butter fat, or milk doctored with a preservative.

This section is entirely new in the pure-food law, and was added by the statute-revision commission. Attorneys say it will stand, and that even without such a law, no one could be compelled to pay for illegal goods. They cite in point the famous "tumbling rod" case. A state law requires the tumbling rods of threshing machines to be boxed so as to prevent accidents. Some years ago a threshing-machine proprietor sued a farmer for his bill, and the defense made was that he could not collect for the service, as it was performed in violation of law. He had not boxed his tumbling rod. The supreme court sustained this defense.

There are some other things in the new code relating to pure food. The candy law is much stronger, and prohibits absolutely the use of coal-tar dyes in candies, whether labeled or not. They are declared injurious to health, and the state department will start a pure-candy campaign right after March 1. Commissioner Slater is receiving many inquiries about the new code provisions, which are much stronger than the old law on the question of labels. His department is in better shape than some others in the state, as a copy of the code provisions has been secured and printed in pamphlet form. Food manufacturers and dealers are studying up diligently and are already producing and sending into the state goods labeled to conform with the revised statutes.

It's Funny—

that story of "The Lady Across the Aisle" by Ellis Parker Butler in January McClure's Magazine. It tells how the irrepressible twins, in their wild and feverish anxiety to prevent Uncle Jack from being entangled in a matrimonial alliance, produce the very result they are trying hardest to prevent. Real kids—romantic hero—a lovely and lively heroine.

NOT MRS. M. J. DANIELS WHO WED IN CALIFORNIA

Some weeks ago The Journal announced that Mrs. M. J. Daniels, "widow of a former state senator from Olmsted county, Minnesota," had married her fourth husband in California and that she was his fourth wife. It is now learned that the Senator Daniels alluded to is by no means dead, that he has never had but one wife, and that there has never been a separation in his family. Since establishing himself in California, Senator Daniels has won prominence in public life, having been elected to congress.

KILLED IN DULUTH

Joseph D. Kelly of Minneapolis is Struck by Interstate Car.

Joseph D. Kelly, aged 38, residing with his mother at 12 Second street N., Minneapolis, was killed by an electric car in Duluth last night. Kelly, who is a horseman, was delivering three horses he had sold at Duluth. With another man, he was in a light buggy leading the horses. An interstate car, coming from behind, frightened the animals, and Kelly leaped from the buggy to steady them. The car was dropping off a viaduct at a brisk rate when Kelly stepped on the track, and before it could be stopped it struck him, killing him instantly.

Kelly is a brother of John T. Kelly of Kelly & Kuris. The remains will be brought to Minneapolis.

WOULD GO TO EUROPE

Dr. Ohage Falls to Get Appropriation for St. Paul Council Tho.

Dr. Justin Ohage, health commissioner of St. Paul, wishes to be sent to Europe to study municipal sanitary methods, but it is doubtful if the board of aldermen will vote an appropriation of $1,000 for that purpose. At a meeting of the board last night a resolution appropriating that sum was under consideration, but after it had been twice defeated, Dr. Ohage asked that it be withdrawn.
