Dr. and Mrs. Otto Nordenskjold will arrive in Minneapolis today to remain until Tuesday. Dr. Nordenskjold, you know, is the famous Antarctic explorer who will lecture in the Augustana church Tuesday evening. Mrs. Nordenskjold is accompanying her famous husband on his trip thru the United States. Her marriage to Dr. Nordenskjold took place only last summer so that she is still a bride. She was a Miss Berg of Christiania, Norway, and as her wedding followed close on the Swedish-Norwegian negotiations, the ceremony was the first social gathering of any prominence at which Swedes, Norwegians and Danes met after the formal separation of Sweden and Norway. She is a charming woman, very much interested in this strange country and its people, but she is quite content to let Dr. Nordenskjold wear the family honors. She speaks English very well and has a most delightful manner of meeting people.

Dr. Nordenskjold lectured last evening in Duluth, but Mrs. Nordenskjold preferred to spend a quiet day at the Ryan hotel, in St. Paul, to accompany him on his hurried trip north. She will join him here and this evening Mr. and Mrs. Axel Anderson will give a supper for them at their home, 927 Thirteenth avenue S.

Tomorrow has any number of affairs planned for the distinguished visitors. At 11 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Nordenskjold will visit the university and Dr. Nordenskjold wishes especially to devote some time to any department that is doing geographical work. Later they will go to the Minnesota college and then have a restful hour before the reception which the Minnesota Academy of Science will give from 3 to 5 o'clock in the T. B. Walker art gallery. This will be followed by a reception and banquet at the West hotel arranged by the Minnesota college. Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Petri, Rev. and Mrs. E. O. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Anderson and Erland Lind will receive with the guests of honor and assisting them the rooms will be Mesdames C. A. Smith, C. J. Johnson, A. Soderlund, C. J. Swanson, John E. Erickson, P. P. Quist, E. G. Dahl, E. L. Bergquist and August Ekman.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have planned a drive above the city to a luncheon. The lecture will be given in the evening and that same night Dr. and Mrs. Nordenskjold will leave to continue their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hallowell and Mr. and Mrs. Will Hallowell are entertaining their guests and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Hallowell of Boston. Mrs. Hallowell is a bride of last fall and was Miss Marion Ladd of Boston before her marriage. During their stay in Minneapolis quite a number of little informal parties are to be given for them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crosby will give a sleighing party for them Monday evening and there will be several small dinners and luncheons for them at the club. Mrs. Will Hallowell and Mrs. Morris Hallowell gave a tea in honor of Mrs. John Hallowell Tuesday afternoon. The younger married women were invited to meet the visitor from Boston.

Quite the jolliest and most original affair of the week was the farm dinner and dance that was given at the Minnikahda club and which was participated in by only twenty-four of the young married set. The dance was given in payment of a wager between two popular young matrons, and nothing more clever has been planned this season. The club was dismantled of its everyday furnishings and calico curtains were hung in the windows, benches, boxes and barrels replaced the chairs, the rooms were lighted with tallow dips and kerosene lamps and corn stalks were used everywhere. The turkey, wild ducks, chickens, roosters, cats and dogs wandered about as they pleased. As the guests in their very best farm clothes arrived they found the waiters at the club arrayed as farm hands in overalls, clumping boots and straw hats grouped around a old fiddler, who was perched on a table fiddling the old, old air. The farm supper was served on tables covered with red cloths and the tables fairly groaned under the burden of such old-fashioned delicacies as roast pig, boiled beef and cabbage, baked beans, raised biscuit, apples and pies. After dinner everybody gathered about the fireplace and heard the "Friendly Gazette" read. This Gazette was a most amusing country newspaper with a hit at everyone in its columns. Then there were the dances which were popular years ago, the money music, Virginia reel and others, while the rooster added to the rural effect and startled the guests by crowing every now and then.

Mrs. Walter Gibbs Hudson will give her second and last post-nuptial at home Tuesday afternoon at the Harrington residence on Park avenue. Mrs. Hudson will be assisted by a bevy of the younger girls and in the evening Mr. Hudson will receive with her.

Dan Cupid will in all probability furnish the favors for the German to be given by the Cottillon club on the evening of Feb. 14. It comes just at the right time for no end of pretty Valentine trifles, and while the plans have not yet been completed the younger set is expecting a novel affair.

A wedding that will bring a bride to Minneapolis will be that Miss Ella May Spencer and Nathan Miller Barnes of this city, which will take place Wednesday, Jan. 31, in St. Clement's Episcopal church, St. Paul. The bride is the daughter of Hugh Spencer, who for twenty years was superintendent of the Omaha railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsey of Baraboo, Wis., have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter Barbara to E. S. Comstock, Jr., which will take place in St. Mark's pro-cathedral Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 31, at 5 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Comstock will give a large reception for their son and his bride from 7 until 10 o'clock the same evening at their home, 750 Madison street NE, and on Friday, Feb. 2, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey will give a reception for their 400 invitations will be issued at their home in Baraboo for the bridal couple, who will visit them on their way east.

Miss Ramsey has been a teacher in the Franklin school and yesterday afternoon she gave a sleigh ride for her co-workers and for Mr. Clark, who has resigned his position as principal to practice law. After a ride around the city the party went to the home of Miss Adeline Madden in Minnehaha park, where supper was served. During the evening Miss Ramsey was presented with a large cut-glass berry bowl and later she was given a shower of graniteware. Each piece had an appropriate verse tied to it and the reading of them proved very amusing.

MISS GRACE JACOBS, Who Leaves for St. Cloud, Where Her Marriage to Sigurd Bockman Will Take Place.

The guests were R. L. Clark, Misses Ramsey, M. Young, Alma Bittner, Minerva Andrews, Helen Tully, Marion Jones, A. Rosenbath, Anna Keating, Alice McLain, Harriet Weir, Addie Madden, Bess Jones, Marie Linehan, Minnie Miller, Maud Gaumn, May O'Laughlin, Ada Davis, Daisy Lindsay, Eunice Chamberlain, Florence Rose, Elizabeth Smith, Ida Boyce and Alice Hunter.

The marriage of Miss Dolly Adams and Charles Orr will take place Thursday Feb. 1, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams, 1536 Capitol avenue, Hamline. Mrs. R. H. Benham of Humboldt avenue has issued invitations for a handkerchief shower for Miss Adams for next Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Charles E. Collett gave an old-fashioned quilting bee at her home on Hewitt avenue, Hamline, yesterday afternoon. Her guests were Mrs. C. P. Montgomery, Mrs. William J. McCallum, Misses Adams, Lou Webb, Eva Williams, McCallum, Olson and Orr. Mrs. Nellie Brown and Miss Lottie Rice assisted by Mrs. J. B. Rice, Miss Ethel Flint and Miss Foy Brown gave a kitchen shower for Miss Adams Friday.

Is the custom of entertaining for the brides going out of favor? It would seem so, for half a dozen of the prominent girls whose weddings have taken place within the past three months refused to permit their friends to carry out their plans of luncheons, dinners and dances in their honor. Miss Nora Wells, who married Frank Greenwood Jewett of Hibbing, Minn., Miss Marjorie Northup, who became Mrs. Sidney Dean, Miss Edith Knight, whose marriage to George K. Belden was one of the large affairs of the month, were all averse to any entertaining before the wedding day and barring a dinner or a luncheon nothing was given for them. Miss May Belden, whose wedding to Richard Green Fisher will take place the very last day of the month, and Miss Marian McCulloch, the debutante, who will become the bride of Dr. John B. Maguire in February, are following their example and are not going to have a series of pre-nuptial gaieties. It really is not surprising that the pendulum has swung back, for the matter was carried to a ridiculous extent,

MRS. OTTO NORDENSKJOLD, Wife of the Eminent Antarctic Explorer, on Arrival in Minneapolis Today.

The most important of the many colonial affairs which are sure to cluster around Washington's birthday will be the colonial assembly which the Minneapolis chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has planned for Feb. 16. The chapter gave a colonial ball last winter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Griffin on Hennepin avenue, which was one of the prettiest affairs of the year, for the men and women were all in colonial costumes, and were very beautiful and gallant. Just about $100 was raised thru the ball for the Continental fund, which will also be the beneficiary this year, and the daughters are hoping to make as much at the second gathering, which will be quite different. The people will be in colonial costume of course, but there will be a program of music and recitations and a number of very attractive features which are not to be told about yet, in place of dancing.

The plans for the junior ball, which will take place Feb. 9, promise to be unusually attractive. More money has been contributed by the loyal members of the 1907 class, and a spirit of real enthusiasm has been aroused among the committeemen. The decorations will be in green and white, the class colors, and will be executed chiefly in potted plants and palms and bunting. Electric displays will be a prominent feature of the scheme, and lights will be pendant from the great steel rafters and festooned along the walls in designs. The south wing of the armory, which is now used as a gymnasium, will be converted into a supper room, appropriately decorated in the same colors as the main hall. The Fort Snelling band will precede the regular dance program with a concert from 8 to 9 o'clock. It has been arranged in connection with the concert to provide reserved seats in the gallery around the floor of the armory. These seats and the regular tickets will be placed on sale Monday at Voegel's and at the university book stores.

The patronesses will be the following well-known women of the twin cities: Misses John Johnson, D. P. Jones, A. F. Pillsbury, J. T. Wyman, G. H. Partridge, William M. Liggitt, Arthur Hall, J. B. Gillilan, W. J. Hield, S. B. Van Sant, E. A. Jaggard, Cyrus Northrop, J. P. Downey, Frederick S. Jones, George B. Frankforter, W. S. Pattee, H. F. Williams, F. F. Wesbrook, William W. Folwell, Karl Schlenker, F. F. McVey, F. M. Anderson, F. C. Esterly, A. A. Law, E. E. Nicholson, and Charles L. Bartholomew.

Rev. E. Stanton Hodgkin, the new pastor of the First Unitarian church, will be formally welcomed by the people of the church at a large reception which the Woman's club will give Friday evening in the church parlors. About 800 invitations will be issued and the guests will include the pastors of other churches and the friends of the congregation. There are a number of Mr. Hodgkin's former parishioners from Humboldt, Iowa, in the city, and an effort will be made to reach them. The trustees of the church and their wives will receive with the pastor.

The people of Olivet Baptist church will say farewell to their pastor, Rev. F. H. Cooper, this week, and the deacons have planned a reception which will be given in the church parlors Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Cooper.

At last the arrangements are all made for the annual ball of the Deutscher Frauen club will give Wednesday evening in Masonic Temple. The affair will be the most important social event of the year in German circles as it has been ever since the first ball which was never mind how many years ago. The guests, and there are always four or five hundred of them, will be informally received from 8 until 9 o'clock, when the grand march will open the dance program. The march will be led by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lampe, as Mrs. Lampe is president of the society. The ball room will be elaborately decorated and the women have made every effort to have the affair as great a success the year as it has always been in the past.

The North high school will give an informal dancing party in the Auditorium annex Friday evening in honor of the football team. A program of popular dances will be furnished by Ponsonby's orchestra. Milton Stevens and Fowler Hobbs have charge of the arrangements. The reception committee will include Henry Oswald, Edmund Eichorn, Frank Young, Claire Haserick and Jack Oswald.

Miss Josephine Glass of Park avenue entertained at a theater party yesterday afternoon for a group of fifteen girl friends at Graham Hall. After the theater the party went to Donaldson's tea rooms, where a light luncheon was served in the Dutch room.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gale entertained at a house party at their country home, Upland farm. The farm is located at the farthest end of the upper lake, near Bonifacius, and the guests who came out from Friday to remain until Monday enjoyed the pleasures of a few days' real winter sport.

Miss Katherine Jewel Everts, so well known to Minneapolis people, will here early next month. Miss Everts now makes her home in Boston, you will remember, but she finds time to visit Minneapolis occasionally to the great delight of her many friends. She has been connected for several years with the Leland Powers School of Expression, but this winter she has been so busy with her dramatic impersonations and readings that she has had to give up her school work and devote herself to recitals. While she is in the city Miss Everts will give three programs under the auspices of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Last year Miss Everts read "My Lady's Ring" in a most charming manner in the Y. W. C. A. building. This year

The Misses Vivian and May Lane gave a sleighing party Friday evening and after a ride of two hours about the city the party went to the Lane home, 1034 Tenth avenue SE. An oyster supper was served by Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Fanny Barrows and games and music rounded out the evening. Prizes were won by Grant Montgomery and Fred Galles.

SIGURD BOCKMAN, Who Will Marry Miss Grace Jacobs on Feb. 1.

she will give Masterlink's "Sister Beatrice" Monday afternoon, Feb. 5. The following Tuesday afternoon she will give a lecture recital on "Brown" and the dramatic lyrics. Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, she will read Bernard Shaw's "Candida." It is possible that "Candida" has been given in Minneapolis before but I think not and Miss Everts will read it in a most delightful manner.

Dinner favors are quite the thing again. At a number of the smart social affairs this winter the guests received useful souvenirs, something more substantial than a cluster of flowers or a confection holder. At a small dinner given by one of our young hostesses the other evening the souvenirs were hat pins for the women, thrust thru the name cards, while the men found small scarf pins pinned to their cards. One of the club affairs during the holiday season was a progressive dinner and at the home where the coffee was served the dinner guests received the dainty china cups from which they had sipped their coffee as a present. One of the brides entertained her maids at a bridal luncheon just a few weeks ago, and the corsage bouquet which was at each plate held a handsome piece of jewelry in the form of a pin for flowers. Very pretty candle holders were presented at a girls' luncheon last week. The decorations of the luncheon were in pink and the candle holders were dainty affairs of silver with pink silk shades and pink tapers. After the dessert had been served the maid passed each guest an envelop containing a sheet of pink tissue paper and pink ribbons accompanied by a card with a request to take the holder home as a gift from the hostess. The members of the Sigma Nu fraternity at one of their social functions at the Minnikahda club last week endeared themselves to their guests by the beautiful souvenir spoons of solid silver which they gave. The pretty custom of giving favors has seen a revival in many other ways of late, and there is hardly an affair of importance now where the guests do not take home something to remind them of a pleasant hour.

Miss Grace Caplazi entertained at a gracie shower last evening at her home on Hoag avenue for Miss Grace Jacobs, a bride of February. The rooms were gay with festoons of red hearts and foliage. The bride received a large number of gifts from the thirty-five guests and after they had been presented refreshments were served. Mrs. F. E. Lammers assisted Miss Caplazi.

Miss Gladys Mosher entertained Friday evening at her home, 133 E. Fifteenth street, the group of twenty-six guests included a number of graduates from the eighth grade of the Madison school. The decorations were in the colors of the Madison school, of which the hostess is a graduate, and the cardinal and silver gray made a charming combination in the different rooms. Music and dancing were the pleasures of the evening and at midnight supper was served from daintily appointed tables.

A prettily appointed dinner was given Friday evening by Mrs. Frank Warner, at her home to celebrate the 88th birthday anniversary of her father, William Blom. Among the guests were one of the other daughters of Mr. Blom from Chippewa Falls and a son from Michigan. Mr. Blom, in spite of his age, enjoys the best of health. Mrs. Mary C. Warner assisted in entertaining the guests and those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tuttle, William Hach, Mmes. Hutchinson, Smith, Rayser, Harry Warner, C. H. Wakeman, Miss Florence Wauch, E. A. Warner, A. W. Blom.

The Sigma Tau sorority, the Greek letter society of the university senior class, gave a dance in the armory Tuesday evening for the senior men. A program of informal dances was played by the St. Anthony Hill orchestra. The sixty couples present included a number of alumnae.

Miss Lyla Fraser, of 2027 Emerson avenue N. entertained Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. L. B. Giness of Ashland, Wis. Covers were laid for twelve. Mrs. Giness has returned to her home in Ashland after a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frazer, 2027 Emerson avenue N.

Miss Lillie Ostrander was surprised Friday evening at the home of Miss May Berkeimer on E Lake street, in honor of her birthday anniversary. Games were played and after refreshments had been served Miss Ostrander was presented with a signal ring by Herbert Foster in behalf of the guests. Miss Annie Berkeimer and Raymond Breed of Brookings, S. D., assisted the hostesses. The guests were Lillie DuFrere, Hattie Robertson, Daisy Rook, Kittie McGinnis, Emma Baker, Winnie Rook, Lillie Couleburn, Minnie Carlson, Cora Fourey, Loraine Fourey, Agnes Berry, Laura Christen, Benj. Bach, Leo Merrill, Herman Stambaugh, Fred Awles, Bert Durgan, Ed Gross, Clayton May, Ray Ganyaw, Harold Riss, Norman Coleburn, Al Larson, Herbert Foster.

The wedding of Miss Sarah Berman, daughter of George Berman, and Arthur S. Bearman took place Sunday afternoon at the bride's home, 305 Aldrich avenue N. The rooms were made attractive with carnations and smilax. Rev. S. M. Silber read the service, which was followed by a supper. Mr. Bearman and his bride are at home at 620 Twelfth street S.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sutherland have removed to their new home, 1819 Dupont avenue S. They have as their guests their aunt, Mrs. Eliza Lee of Winnipeg and Mrs. Phil Mitchell of Rock Island.

Hoyer were Saturday to spend six weeks in Santa Barbara, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pillsbury are in New York attending the automobile show.

Edmund G. Walton and daughter Audrey have left England for a trip on the continent. They will sail for New York from Liverpool, Feb. 11. Mr. and Mrs. Hovey C. Clarke have joined the Minneapolis colony in California. Mr. Clarke had his automobile shipped out and with Santa Barbara as their headquarters the Clarkes and their friends will make many a trip thru the state.

The Misses Nan and Adeline Smith and Miss Adah Blackwell will leave this evening for New York, to sail Jan. 26 for the Mediterranean trip. They will be absent about three months, and will travel with a party of eastern friends. Willard J. Hield is home from California. Mrs. Hield, who accompanied him west, will remain in Pasadena until April. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph K.
