TO BUILD JOYCE MEMORIAL CHURCH

LAKE STREET METHODIST CONGREGATION HAS PLAN. Handsome Modern Edifice to Cost from $20,000 to $25,000 Will Be Erected Near Site of Present Church—Will Include Institutional Work—In Memory of Beloved Bishop.

With the first merchants' excursion of the year barely begun, the opportunity existing in Minneapolis for more wholesale houses is again brought into prominence. The lack does not apply wholly in a diversity of lines, but in the size of the lines already carried by one or more established jobbing houses naturally go to other wholesale houses.

A GOOD OPENING FOR MORE JOBBERS

FACT EMPHASIZED BY INFUX OF COUNTRY BUYERS.

First Excursion of the Year Has Hardly Begun, but Developments Already Show that More Wholesale Houses Could Prosper in Minneapolis—Prominent Jobber Indorses the Idea.

REV. T. W. STOUT, Pastor of Lake Street Methodist Church.

Memories of the devoted life and work of the late Bishop I. W. Joyce will be perpetuated in a substantial way by the Lake Street Methodist church. It will build a new edifice which will be called the Joyce Memorial church.

The plan in embryo has been enthusiastically adopted by the official board, and endorsed by the presiding elder, Rev. S. P. Long, and has the hearty approval of Mrs. I. W. Joyce, widow of Bishop Joyce, and of Colonel Frank M. Joyce, his son.

At a meeting of the official board with the presiding elder next Thursday night a building committee will be appointed and ways and means for securing funds will be devised. The structure is planned to cost from $20,000 to $25,000. It will be built on or very near the site of the present church, Lake street and Fremont avenue S, and will be completed before the meeting of conference in Minneapolis next fall. In its enlarged scope the church will include institutional work.

A History of Growth.

Lake Street church has had a remarkable history of growth from its inception as a mission of Simpson church twenty years ago. Since the beginning of the pastorate of Rev. T. W. Stout, four years ago, this growth has increased, and, although a new church building, considered absolutely modern at the time, was completed only ten years ago, the congregation has increased to get larger quarters. Congregations have grown so that even at the evening services it is necessary to open all the side rooms to accommodate the audience. The membership of 250 in October has been increased about seventy-five since conference, and is growing. The Sunday school had a remarkable record of over 300 members, with about 90 in the Epworth league.

Membership Harmonious.

No dissension of any sort exists in the rank and file of the membership, and the time is considered auspicious for widening the reach of the church activities for the sake of thoroughly organizing the field to which the organization holds the key. The congregation supports five native workers in the foreign field, besides holding the local work well in hand. These workers are in Africa, Japan, China and two in India. The league has already raised $235 for missionary purposes the coming year.

If you want an up-to-date man to take charge of an intelligence office, or an ordinary man to do ordinary work, or a boarder, or a place to board, or a chance to learn a trade, or almost anything that anybody ever wants, you'll find him or it by telling your wants to the people of Minneapolis thru The Journal's want columns, because in Minneapolis nearly everybody reads The Journal.

Senator W. D. Washburn, who is traveling in Spain, got word yesterday, probably thru The Journal, which is forwarded to him regularly, of the opening of the Berwin fund and cabled from Madrid to C. C. Crane in his office here to "contribute" one hundred dollars to the Berwin fund.

How G. L. Morrill Did It.

"As I entered one of the hotels yesterday the clerk handed me an envelope," said Rev. G. L. Morrill today. "On the corner was written, '$2 for the Berwin fund, and may God bless you.' There were three or four 'Charley boys' standing by the desk and I handed the envelope to one of them, saying, 'Open it and see if it has $2 in it.' He did so, and said, 'It's O.K., parson.' As he handed it back I asked, 'What are you going to do for the widow?' There was silence for a moment, and then one of the boys said, 'Let's have a drink.' 'Do you mean to include me?' I asked. 'Sure,' he answered.

"When the bartender got around to me I said, 'A pint of champagne at $2, and I'll give the money to the Berwin fund.' The bottle was handed out and I shoved it back. One of the boys said, 'Here, I'll pay.' I took the money and the bartender smiled at the unusual proceeding. Now I had $4. The man at my left became interested and said, 'Here's 30 cents, doc.' He slipped his hand into my pocket and I found a dollar there, making $5. When the waiter "stood for the treats" came to pay he threw down a $10 bill and received a $5 bill, four silver dollars and some small change.

"Well, domine," he said, "the $2 has grown to $5 and I'll march it with this, and he threw down the $5 bill. The $10 went into The Journal's Berwin fund."

ST. PAUL HAS A DEFICIT.
