

A Budget of Social Gossip From the National Capital

Special to The Journal.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Secretary Taft and almost the entire Philippine party, numbering in all about sixty persons, were entertained last week at dinner by Miss Boardman at her residence. Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Longworth were present. The guests were seated at a table of horseshoe shape, which was artistically decorated with La France roses, white lilies and ferns. Menus for the occasion were particularly unique, the frontispiece bearing verses applicable to the secretary and the president's daughter. Each course was followed by an amusing quotation pertaining to some particular banquet which occurred on the oriental tour, which were greeted with bursts of merriment.

The banquet was followed by informal toasts, Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Longworth heartily enjoying the jokes at their own expense. As a conclusion to the evening's entertainment, a photograph reproduced a speech after the fashion adopted on the trip, of transmitting sentence by sentence the speeches made at the end of the numerous banquets.

Everybody in all the land seems determined to send Miss Roosevelt something in the way of a wedding present. The first that reached the White House was a sack of turnips. And there are other presents coming of the brilliant European courts are entering upon a period of mourning, that the kingdom of Belgium is again assuming its wonted aspect of gayety, suspended for a while owing to the lamented death of the count of Paris. The Belgian legation here, having canceled all its engagements, and withdrawn, so to speak, from all participation in social happenings, has hardly figured in any way during the current season, and society is therefore glad that after Feb. 17 the fall of mourning will be withdrawn and that Baron and Baroness Moncheur will again mingle in the affairs of fashion. This country entertains a special interest in the young baroness, she being, as is well known, American by birth and education, and always loyal to her American training, the closely associated by her marriage with a foreign land.

There is a possibility that the wedding of the president's daughter will not be fully attended by the members of the diplomatic corps, owing to the court mourning regime, which is a source of disappointment on both sides. Miss Roosevelt has always held each individual of that body in the highest esteem, and they, regarding her as a typical American girl, look upon her with the deepest interest. The ambassadors at first contemplated sending the White House bride a joint present, which plan is now abandoned, and it is probable that the foreign representa-of the committee. On the reception committee are Messrs. and Mrs. C. E. Foster, J. L. Brown, C. A. Hoffman, W. A. Meerriman, W. A. Walker, J. A. Falconer, F. C. Barrows, H. W. Huntington, C. E. Overhiser, R. L. Pratt and John Hornbrook. A group of the well-known men will serve as the floor committee.

Friday evening a reception will be given for Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Tillinghast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Haynes, 2713 Blaisdell avenue.

Mrs. Fred Massoll, of 1719 Washington avenue N., gave a linen shower Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Anna McDonough. There were fifteen guests and after a program of vocal and instrumental music supper was served.

The bride's place was marked by a cluster of brides' roses. Misses Harisch, of St. Paul, and Durkin, assisted at the hosts. The guests were Misses Hall, Kraft, Belle Durbin, Brahl, Finnegan, Misses Gilchrist, Brown, Goulet, Brahe, Pauls, Jennie McDonough and Furster, of St. Paul.

The wedding of Miss McDonough and Martin O'Hara will take place in the Church of the Ascension, Wednesday morning. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Finnegan.

Miss Martha Glanz entertained some of her friends Thursday evening at her home, 1207 Dupont avenue N.

These guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. Glanz, Mrs. Pabs, Misses Edith Paulot, Laura Potvin, Josie Garbett, Anna Johnson, Belle Moore, Gladys Gillins, Ida Bert, Lillian Lake, Sena Harstad, Martha Glanz, Myrtle Buchner, Lydia Glanz, Sophia Nelson; Messers Ely, Tyrrell, Lewis Nordine, Arthur Luft, Ben Johnson, Leo Carpenter, Otto Harkee, Jack Bogart, Willis Bordash.

Music was furnished by Dr. Ely, Edith Paulot, Belle Moore and Martha Glanz. The evening was spent in dancing and games. Light refreshments were served.

Paintings Remain Two Days.
The beautiful collection of Faulkner's paintings from Venice, which has created so much admiration in Minneapolis, will remain on exhibit for two days more at the studio of J. A. Clow & Co., 806 Nicollet avenue. The entire exhibit will remain intact and afford an opportunity to those who have been previously unable to witness these handsome paintings. Tuesday will positively be the last day and Mr. Clow invites everyone to call before that time.

MISS MATHILDE TOWNSEND. Her engagement to Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte is rumored.

of the same sort. Farmers all over the country have the best that American soil can produce to stock the cellars of the Longworth mansion. Potatoes are coming from Virginia, one of which is large enough to make a meal for six, and pumpkins from South Dakota that will make pie enough for a year for the biggest hotel this side of the Atlantic, and apples—the kind that for her own use—from the old dominion. These are on their way. Some have already arrived. Just where the finish will be no one can tell. It is evident that whether the president will or no, the American public purposes to have a hand in this wedding in its own way. And the president really cannot help getting a good deal of honest satisfaction out of it after all.

There was a protest against the raising of a fund of money by popular subscription to be given as a wedding present for the president's daughter, but the tribute of affection which the suggestion embodied has touched the president deeply.

A large and complete set of table silver, known as "fat silver," is being made for Miss Roosevelt. This silver is heavy and beautifully hand-carved with Miss Roosevelt's monogram on it. There are to go with this innumerable platters, pudding-dishes, compote-dishes and all silver accessories for the table. One of the most interesting of the hundreds of presents which will be arriving in a few days is the Chinese dowry chest, sent by the empress of China, who entertained her during her visit to Peking last summer. This chest, like everything else Chinese, is of curious workmanship. It has secret panels and secret drawers of all sizes, so that she can hide her treasures even from herself and will probably need a chart to find them again. Within the chest are the rarest and most delicate of Chinese silks, carved and exquisite lacquered ware. The chest is coming thru the American legation in Peking.

There is heated division in the Ohio delegation in congress about a wedding gift to Miss Roosevelt. A meeting of the Ohio colleagues of Representative Longworth was held last week and a majority was in favor of the presentation of a fine punchbowl. Thereupon Representative Amos R. Webber made vigorous objection. He said Ohio at the last election had condemned the drinking of punch and kindred spirits, and therefore a punchbowl would be an inappropriate gift. That argument provoked so lively a discussion that the meeting was adjourned without a decision being reached.

The mourning for King Christian has reached this city, and flags hang at half-mast over many of the embassies, a tribute to the royal dead. Draped in black, the Danish colors hang before the residence of the minister, on Nineteenth street, speaking of a nation's sorrow for the old king who so long and so well governed the destinies of that northern land. The standard of Great Britain is furled over the portals of the stately embassy, to honor the memory of the father of England's queen, and Russia's imperial standard is draped about the flagpole, the dowager empress and the czar being, respectively, the daughter and grandson of the deceased monarch.

It so happens at this time, when many

Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, has presented to the U. S. S. Mayflower, in behalf of Count Witte, himself, and the other delegates to the Portsmouth peace conference, a handsome punch bowl, in recognition of the hospitality extended to the delegates on board that vessel during the course of the peace negotiations. The bowl is of silver, flanked by a knight-at-arms of the period of the middle ages and armed with shield and battle-axe, and is elaborately chased and decorated with a number of large and handsome jewels. There are also a number of precious stones in the shield of the knight.

Juvenile society and a few of the older friends of the host and hostess, Captain and Mrs. Richardson Clover participated in a bewilderingly beautiful spectacle last week at a fancy dress ball, always an annual event if by the charming mistress of the New Hampshire avenue mansion is in Washington. Each ball has seemed prettier than the other, and this last pageant eclipsed all the rest. It showed the result of months of thought, for the souvenirs and gifts for the young guests came from foreign capitals, notably London and Paris—where the last months of a long absence abroad were spent last summer by Mrs. Clover and her young daughters. Captain Clover recently returned from duty with the Asiatic squadron, and the ball was deferred on that account.

A marriage of considerable interest here will take place this month in Paris, that of Miss Lydia Eustis, youngest daughter of Allan Eustis, to John Loudon, lately appointed minister to Japan from Holland. Miss Eustis has frequently sung here. At The Hague she will have the opportunity of visiting the house where her grandfather, Judge Eustis, at the age of 18 acted as secretary to Governor Eustis, his uncle, who was appointed minister to Holland by President Madison in 1815. Miss Eustis is now in Paris with her sister. Her father is in southern Italy, where he spends the winters for his health.

Mrs. James Robert McKee, daughter of General Harrison, arrived in Washington last week for a short visit. She was accompanied by Mrs. Anna Wightman Walker, Philadelphia's richest woman, and they will remain at the New Willard. Miss E. R. Seidmore, the author, gave a tea in honor of Mrs. McKee.

Mrs. Garret A. Hobart, who has been the guest of Mrs. Russell Alger for the past week, has taken apartments at the New Willard for the remainder of the season, and will receive her friends on Friday's through the season. Mrs. Hobart has been the recipient of many hospitalities since coming to town, and is everywhere greeted as a representative Washingtonian, so popular was her reign during her husband's term as vice president.

Individualized
To create a new design in character differing from anything that you are apt to see worn—one that will call forth the admiration of a connoisseur—one that will be remarked about for its beauty and oddity is well worth striving for. We often give free rein to our experts, taking no account of cost until the perfection of the ideal has been reached—many such productions have been executed as "special orders" for patrons of this establishment. Hand Wrought Jewelry need not be so expensive as to be prohibitive—for we remount Old Jewelry—and originate simple odd effects combining Semi-Precious Stones. We are equally equipped to execute the most simple work at the cost of a few dollars, as we are to "create ideals," where cost is a minor consideration. We invite you to bring in your Old Jewelry for our estimate of the cost for making over.
