BOURKE COCKRAN AND MRS. GARDNER TO WED

Journal Special Service.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Following the marriage of the president's daughter comes the report that two of the guests at the memorable affair, Mrs. "Jack" Gardner of Boston and Representative W. Bourke Cockran of New York, will emulate the example set by Miss Alice Roosevelt and Representative Longworth.

It remained for Mrs. Hunt Slater, one of the most eminent hostesses of the national capital, to confirm in the eyes of the fashionable world the gossip begun twenty-four hours earlier. She gave a reception for Mrs. Gardner, at which Mr. Cockran was present. The result of it was that the story of the betrothal of the brilliant Boston woman and the silver-tongued orator was spread far and wide.

How long the New Yorker and the Bostonian had been betrothed remained a mystery, but the prevailing impression was that the White House wedding precipitated either the proposal or the acceptance.

ONLY ONE SENATOR ON SMOOT'S SIDE

Journal Special Service.

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 19.—Opponents of Senator Reed Smoot have prepared the following bill for the senate committee on privilege and privileges.

For Smoot—Dillingham (Vt.), Against Smoot—Burrows (Mich.), Knox (Pa.), Dooliver (Iowa), Depew (N. Y.), republicans and Republicans (Idaho), Pettus (Ala.), Overman (N. C.), Bailey (Texas) and Frazier (Tenn.), democrats, (Ohio), Beveridge (Ind.) and Hopkins (Ill.), republicans.

They expect the anti-Smoot majority on the committee will divide on whether a majority or a two-thirds vote of the senate is necessary to unseat Smoot. They will take the ground, however, that Smoot was admitted to the senate only by surfeiture pending an investigation of the charges against him and that, if these charges are proven, he may be legally excluded by a mere majority vote instead of being expelled by a two-thirds vote.

THE EASY OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the gripping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the raw oil. Nobody who has any regard for their stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one having a regard for their health will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

McCALL DEAD, HIS RICHES GIVEN UP

Son Says Insurance Man Was Hounded to Death in Poverty.

Lakewood, N. J., Feb. 19.—John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, died yesterday afternoon in the Laurel house. The immediate cause of death was malignant cancer of the liver, the growth and development of which, the attending physician said, was hastened by tense mental strain to which the patient had been subjected, following the revelations in the insurance scandals which involved the company of which he was the head.

Mr. McCall's last conscious moment was in the morning, when he opened his eyes and looked into the face of his wife, who was bending over him. He gasped "mother" faintly and then fell into a stupor from which he did not emerge.

The end came so peacefully that the watchers at the bedside did not know all was over until one of the physicians, feeling the pulse, held up his hand as a mute signal.

Son Speaks Bitterly.

The announcement of the death was made by John A. McCall, the oldest son. He was shaken with grief and spoke bitterly. While he did not say it in so many words, he intimated that his father had been driven to his death by the criticisms of his management of the New York Life, which broke his heart.

Other relatives and friends of the family declared that John A. McCall had died a poor man, almost as poor as when he was a ten-dollar-a-week clerk in the office of the Connecticut Mutual, and that all his fortune, and even his life insurance, had been sacrificed to make good what he believed to be a moral but not a legal claim.

Born in Humble Home.

John A. McCall was born in humble circumstances in Albany, March 2, 1849. Being ambitious for a business education, he went to the Commercial college of Albany, and in 1865 he started in business as a $10 clerk in the assuring house for state currency, and gradually rose until he was earning $300 a year—about the sum which he received for a single day's work before he resigned from the New York Life.

Then he got a chance to enter the agency offices of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company as book-keeper. Next he took a position with the insurance firm of Levi, Parker & Co. Finally, in 1870, he was appointed to the state insurance department, and this was really the turning point in his career.

Visions of Wealth.

The young man, who hitherto had worked at insurance to earn his living, now directed his attention to it. He began to have visions of wealth. He soon grew to know more about insurance than anybody in the department. In 1882 Grover Cleveland, the governor, appointed him state superintendent of insurance. In 1885 Mr. McCall declined a reappointment and became controller of the Equitable Life, a position which he held until 1892, when he was elected president of the New York Life.

Through his first vice president, George W. Perkins, and in other ways, President Cleveland got in close relations to the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. through its incumbency. In 1896, however, he came out against the Morgan syndicate in a bond issue made by President Cleveland to replenish the nation's gold reserve.

Mr. McCall became a director in a dozen corporations and grew in prominence as an influence in the financial world. When the Spanish war started, President McKinley sent for him to discuss pecuniary ways and means. Mr. McCall assured Mr. McKinley that he could raise $300,000,000 within forty-eight hours if necessary. With this assurance Mr. McKinley went ahead to free Cuba.

Built a Palace.

By this time Mr. McCall was rated a millionaire. He built himself a palace at Norwood Park, Long Branch. His family, including three sons and a daughter, had all that money could buy. The dreams of the young book-keeper of former days had been realized. He enjoyed an enormous salary and people were accustomed to say of him, "Every penny he owns has been earned by his own unaided efforts. No questionable finances have ever entered into his calculations."

Mr. McCall some thirty years ago married Miss Mary L. Moran of Albany. He has always been a regular church-goer and a liberal giver to charity. His popularity among the employees of the New York Life was marked and they were still loyal to him after his resignation. Eight hundred of them contributed 50 cents each, and with the money purchased a magnificent silver loving cup, which they presented to him a few days before he left town for Lakewood.

BURNED ELEVATOR TO BE REBUILT AT ONCE

Duluth, Feb. 19.—The Peavey terminal elevator, destroyed by fire on Rice Point Saturday night, will be rebuilt as soon as possible. Meantime, a temporary house will be erected to be used as a grain elevator. The grain used at the big concrete annex of the burned working house. The new elevator will be built entirely of fireproof material.

SIX BLOCKS BURNED

Blaze in Rutland, Vt., Gets Beyond Control of Fire Department.

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 19.—Six brick structures in the business section of the city, occupied by nearly a score of firms and many smaller tenants, were destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is estimated at three-quarters of a million dollars.

The heaviest losses are: William Y. W. Ripley estate (buildings), $50,000; Dr. A. J. Meade (building), $50,000; B. A. Brahm, drugs and tobacco, $25,000; Wilson & Root, clothing, $35,000; J. L. Baker (buildings), $40,000; the Tuttle company (buildings), $40,000; the Tuttle company printers, $130,000; Cranston and Combination Cash store block, $60,000; Combination Cash Store company, stock, $125,000.

The insurance amounts to about two-thirds.

INVITATION FOR PRESIDENT.

Spring Styles in Garments and Fabrics Are Here

New goods are arriving almost every day by freight and express from the East, testifying that our buyers now in the New York market are busy men. We hasten to place the new things they send us on display, for we know that the ladies of the Twin Cities are eager to see what the Eastern style centers pronounce correct. We are glad to exhibit the new styles, glad to have you inspect them, with a view to later needs, for we are sure that you will remember many of the exclusive new things we are now showing. Note our window displays.

Another Immense Silk Purchase

Made at the Auction of the Ashley & Bailey Company, New York City, February 8th.

Five Great Lots of New Spring Silks Ready Tuesday

THE Ashley & Bailey Company, noted silk manufacturers of New York City, decided to clear up surplus stocks of Spring Silks before beginning to manufacture for fall. They placed hundreds of thousands of yards of new silks in the hands of Townsend & Montant, auctioneers, in order to realize on them quickly. From all over the United States silk buyers gathered at the auction on February 8th. Our resident buyer was fortunate enough to secure a large quantity of the most desirable silks offered, had them shipped at once and they will go on sale Tuesday morning at 9:30, in five great lots, at per yard—

- Values are 75c to $2.00 a yard.
