REPORTS ON WORK

Salvation Army Industrial Home Helps Nedy Men.

Staff-Captain W. H. Gooding, the superintendent of the Salvation Army's industrial home, integrated a series of monthly statements today by issuing a report of the work accomplished by his department in February.

In the home itself thirty-four men were given steady employment, which was productive enough to earn their board and lodging for the month. Twelve men, who have been getting on their feet, were sent out of the home to better paid positions. Through the labor bureau 492 persons were given temporary employment.

In exchange for work done 3,450 meals were served, 1,490 lodgings were given out the same way, ninety garments were given in exchange for work and 270 meals were paid for by the boarders in cash. This all belongs to the industrial phase of the institution. On the charitable side seventy-five beds, fifty-six garments, and seventy meals were given free.

In addition to old clothes and old furniture passing thru the salvage store, twenty tons of paper, three tons of rags and one ton of scrap metal were collected and sold.

Henry Osborn, who was crowded out of the city hospital ten days after an operation for appendicitis, has been given a place as elevator man at St. Barnabas hospital.

FAMOUS GERMAN COMING

Eminent Dramatist, Ludwig Fulda, to Lecture Here.

Ludwig Fulda, one of the leading dramatists of Germany, will lecture at the university, Monday evening, March 13. Mr. Fulda is the author of several successful dramas. The most widely known of his dramatic works is "The Lost Paradise," an Americanized version of which was only recently performed with great success at the Lyceum theater, although Mr. Fulda was not given any credit for the play. Another of his charming poetical creations is "Der Talsman," ("The Charm") for which he was adjudged worthy of the Schiller prize by the unanimous vote of the jury.

Fulda has also written some charming lyrics and has achieved a most notable success as a translator of French classics.

"Schiller and the New Generation," his topic in Minneapolis, will offer a splendid opportunity for the display of his various qualities. The arrangements for the lecture are in the hands of a committee composed of Professors Moore, Klaeber, Schlenker and Juergensen of the university and Robert Koehler, Consul Grunow and Louis Holtzmann.

ASHLAND AS THE PORT FOR FARMERS

WISCONSIN CITY BIDS FOR EXCHANGE TERMINAL HOUSE

Committee Is Named by Convention to Work in Conjunction with Ashland Men in Perfecting Plans—Constitution Is Changed to Enlarge Influence of Board of Directors.

A great terminal station at Ashland, Wis., for collecting and marketing the products of the hundreds of farmers who are organized with the Great Lakes as the principal shipping outlet, is the project now before the Minnesota Farmers' exchange in session at Minneapolis.

Mayor Bert Williams of Ashland, in the convention of the exchange today, broached the project, tendering sites on the great harbor to the organization and pledging his city to extend other reasonable aid. A committee to confer with Mr. Williams and the other Ashland citizens who accompanied him was straightaway appointed and an effort will be made to reach a conclusion and put the matter to the decision of the convention before adjournment tomorrow.

Beset with difficulties in Duluth and Minneapolis, the Minnesota Farmers' exchange has made those affecting Duluth one of the important subjects of a present meeting. Mayor Williams was cheered lustily as he completed his speech tending the co-operation of Ashland in the monster undertakings of the exchange.

Ashland Gets the Rate.

A recent adjustment of railroad tariffs has made it possible for Ashland to enter the field against Duluth. The latter city is some 60 miles further west than Ashland, the rates between the Wisconsin city and western points are the same as those affecting Duluth. Mayor Williams argued that the harbor facilities of Ashland could not be better adapted to the purpose of the members of the Farmers' exchange. He declared the advantages were equal to those of Duluth, if not better, in this particular movement.

In the Ashland delegation, headed by Mayor Williams, were Senator C. A. Lamprey, W. S. Greene and John F. Scott. H. F. Forkert, H. J. Hanson and D. S. Blair, all of North Dakota, compose the exchange committee that is conferring with the Ashland men.

Make Many Changes.

Many constitutional changes of importance were adopted in the business session today. One of the features was opposition against the division of directors which has permitted only Minnesota and North Dakota members to serve on the important board. The proposed change will make members from any of the several states which the exchange enters, eligible for directors.

Today George Murray of Sherbrook, N. D., and David Turritin of Kasota, Minn., were elected chairman and secretary of the convention.

One of the features of the late session yesterday was an address, "The Grain Trust Exposed," by Tom Warrall of Omaha. Mr. Warrall is intimately acquainted with the traffic in wheat from the fields of the farmer thru its many stages, and his statement of the subject brought laughter and cheers from the delegates.

Exchange Is Renamed.

One of the most important transactions of today was the changing of the name of the organization to the Northwest Farmers' exchange. Its rapid growth has brought into the association hundreds of farmers of outside states and there had been no manifest jealousy, out-of-Minnesota delegates held that the association should bear a name that would indicate its wide scope. Arrangements have been made to reincorporate the organization.

ASSENTS TO THE MERGER

GOVERNOR JOHNSON AGREES TO PLAN OF CO-OPERATION BETWEEN LAWSON AND FISH COMMITTEES.

Governor Johnson has been asked, as a member of the Lawson reorganization committee, to give his approval to the merger of the Lawson forces with the Stuyvesant Fish committee. He has replied in a telegram to Samuel Untermyer of New York, Lawson's counsel, assenting to the scheme.

From the governor's advice, it seems that Lawson and Fish, with their friends, have agreed to pool issues and join in getting control. It is understood that the members of the Lawson committee will be made trustees, together with the trustees now siding with Fish. The five, it is believed, will be Governor Blanchard of Louisiana, Howard of Florida, Johnson of Minnesota, Older of San Francisco and Mr. Monette of Ohio.

RIVER TO OPEN EARLY

Conditions Indicate This Will Be Good Season for Boats.

Old rivermen expect navigation on the Mississippi river to open earlier than usual this year. The opening of the sawmills is regulated by the appearance of the ice in Lake Pepin, as well as general navigation. The ice will melt out about the middle of April. This year it is not so thick as in former seasons, and the rivermen are preparing to get the boats out on the first sign of a breakup. Rafters are making preparations for a busy season, notwithstanding the general impression that the business is dying out.

Former Governor S. R. Van Sant's fleet still controls the rafting business on the upper river. Several boats were sold last fall from this line to a railroad company and were taken down into the Gulf for construction work, but some new vessels will replace these. It is expected that the river rafting and lumber business for 1906 will be equal to that of 1905.

AFTER BIG CONVENTIONS

Commercial Club Urges Republicans and Democrats to Meet Here.

Contrary to its fixed rule to keep strictly out of politics, the Commercial club is planning to do a little mixing in the game, but in such a manner that the rule will not be badly shattered. Thru the public affairs committee of the club, invitations are to be extended to the republican and democratic state central committees, inviting them to make Minneapolis the meeting place of their respective state conventions this summer. The use of the Auditorium is tendered by the club. There is no better building in the state for the purpose, as it is large enough to allow the entire delegate body to be seated on one floor.

DORSETT CHOSEN TO LEAD PROHIBS

MINNEAPOLIS MAN WILL HEAD THEIR STATE TICKET.

Professor Ole Lokensgaard of Madison Is Nominated for Lieutenant Governor—Platform Makes Usual Declarations Regarding the Liquor Traffic and Comes Out Strongly for Equal Suffrage.

Great enthusiasm marked this morning's session of the prohibition state convention now in session in the Auditorium. Amid great applause, C. W. Dorsett was again chosen to lead the state ticket as the nominee for governor, the ballot showing 133 votes for the Minneapolis man out of a total of 189.

Ole Lokensgaard of Madison, who was also before the convention as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, is the nominee for lieutenant governor.

The greatest interest of the meeting centered about the adoption of the platform. A five-hour-day clause was presented but was not accepted, the labor plank as finally adopted calling merely for just legislation for the benefit of the laboring classes. This compromise was accepted by both radicals and conservatives after much discussion.

Other features of the platform are: Absolute prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants as a beverage. Local option allowing all districts to vote individually on the liquor question and to have control of their own affairs in this respect.

Limitation of the right of ballot to intelligence rather than sex. Government control or ownership of all transportation and communication facilities. The right of suffrage to be Election of United States senators by popular vote. Just legislation for the laboring classes.

G. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis, state secretary, created much enthusiasm while telling of the growth of the party in the last few years. "The time has been," said he, "when we could not get our work done at our own convention proceedings. That has changed now: the prohibition party is recognized as a factor in Minnesota politics by the press of the state. It is now a matter of course that an enormous 'string,' composed of clippings of advance notices of the convention from various papers throughout the state. As Mr. Calderwood continued his long and stirring address, the delegates showed their appreciation by vigorous applause."

The convention banquet was held during the noon hour at the Y. M. C. A. A hundred delegates and friends gathered for the social feature of the convention and listened to numerous interesting and enthusiastic short talks by the party workers. A. W. Stewart of Chicago, engaged to cover the entire state during the campaign in the interests of the ticket, and especially to assist the legislative candidates. It is asserted that in every township a party long string, the delegates showed their appreciation by vigorous applause.

SAYS PARTIES WILL MERGE

Homer L. Castle Predicts Republican-Democratic Union.

An enthusiastic rally was held last night in the Auditorium, the speakers being Homer L. Castle of Chicago and O. W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the prohibition national committee. Mr. Castle's effort was a practical, businesslike, political address. He attempted to merge the republican and democratic parties, asserting that the rank and file of both parties is honest and sincere. Mr. Castle predicted a realignment of the two great national parties of today growing out of present dissatisfaction and unrest.

"Within the next two years," he said, "the best men in both the old parties will apply themselves to the formation of a better political organization, which will give nearly all the best of our national life than either the republican or the democratic party does at present. It is unlikely that either of the two old parties will ever carry another election under the present leadership."

"The party that stands for special privileges for the few against the rights of the many is doomed to go down beneath the condemnation of the plain people of this country, who stand for the solidarity of the home in domestic affairs and the doctrine of the square deal in commercial matters."

Mr. Stewart outlined the plans of the party in Minnesota, stating that the state will be a prohibition battleground, and that a vigorous effort will be made to secure power in the next legislature. A call was made for funds and resulted in some generous pledges. G. W. Higgins, chairman of the state central committee, presided. Music was furnished by the Augsburg octet, the choir of the Presbyterian church and S. W. Squires of Big Stone City.

SHELDON IS FAVORED

Benjamin C. Sheldon has the informal nomination for alderman of the second ward on the republican ticket, as far as the seventh, eighth and ninth precincts are concerned. A meeting was held last night in Prospect Park hall, attended by about one hundred and fifty voters to discuss the political situation and to decide on a candidate who would have the backing of the lower end of the ward in the coming contest for the nomination.

Sheldon is an active republican, has lived and worked in the ward many years and is well-known. Alderman E. C. Chatfield has definitely announced that he will not be a candidate for the nomination and that he is thru with the political game for the present.

J. L. Gable presided at the meeting. Speeches were made by Theodore Hays, B. A. Egan, Charles Donley, F. Reed, Frank Gable, R. J. Owens, L. A. Lamoreaux, A. R. Thompson, C. H. Peterson and others.

MILLIONS TAKEN BY DARING BEARS

MINNEAPOLIS-CHICAGO TRADERS MAKE KILLING IN WHEAT.

Playing Short Side Persistently, Along Careful System, "Hot Springs Crowd" Cleans Up Big Total—Individual Killings Range Upward to $250,000—Rare Courage as Necessary.

Bearish for weeks past and playing the short side persistently, a coterie of Minneapolis-Chicago wheat traders has taken millions out of the market.

A number of larger operators met some time ago at Hot Springs, Ark., and being all bearish, they worked together. Soon they became known speculatively as the "Hot Springs crowd."

Their operations have covered a month of heavy declines, and individual winnings are moderate in most cases, but amounts ranging from $75,000 to $250,000 have been pulled down all around, the total making big figures.

Charles B. Lewis of Minneapolis, James A. Fatten of Chicago and Captain Phillips, a bonanza farmer of Kansas, have been the daring leaders and the biggest winners. John W. Gates, who spent several weeks at Hot Springs, was with the crowd, and John Oudahy, August Brousseau, John Friedman and Frank Partridge of Chicago are heard of in the gossip as having been in on the big killing.

Wheat in the Minneapolis market plunged down today on selling orders from Hot Springs to 75 1/2c for May, scoring the lowest point in nearly three years. A year ago it was $1.10 1/2c and had been up to $1.26 1/2c. It is 5 1/2c a bushel cheaper today than at high time a year ago.

Courage Is Required.

It is the big professionals who win on the short side. Few men have the courage to sell what they have not got on the chance of buying it in cheaper. Still fewer are the men who can stand short in the market turns up a little. Men will carry long lines of wheat into immense losses on dealings, who could not stand it to see the market go against them for a cent if they were short. It is human nature. When prices are rising many outsiders come in and farmers and country people often make money. When a bear market starts they are the first to get out.

All over the northwest the men who live by the production of wheat are watching the market reports closely, and the sinking of Minneapolis May wheat to just above 75 cents today will cause a sinking heart in many a farmer. It is a case of plenty of wheat and a good crop promise. The bears foresaw this weeks ago and got on top of the market.

Stores Piling Up.

There is a stock of 19,905,000 bushels now in store here, and every day 150,000 to 200,000 bushels more goes into store. At this rate there will shortly be the largest stock ever carried in Minneapolis, or over 20,000,000 bushels. Meanwhile the states of Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and other winter-wheat producers are sending in reports of good crop indications. It is early yet, however, to tell much about it.

Many old-time traders shake their heads when wheat goes lower and say that the bears are too flushed with their successes and are overdoing it.

"The bulls may have to wait a while," said one today, "but they will get their innings some time. Wheat is worth something and the farmer is not so poor that he has to let it go. He can hold it. Some day these risky short sellers will find that they cannot get it back so easily."

It is indeed likely that the bears will overdo it, ten years ago, in 1898, wheat sold in Minneapolis at 1 1/2c a bushel and in Chicago at 49 1/2c, but two seasons later, when Letter appeared, it advanced to $1.62. Just now an onlooker might suppose that wheat had no friends at all in the Minneapolis pit, but there are always two sides to the market.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GROW

Minneapolis postal receipts are increasing twice as fast as the average rate for offices throughout the country, says Postmaster W. D. Hale. The average annual increase, as announced by the postmaster general, is 4 1/2 per cent. Major Hale says that the annual increase for Minneapolis is 10 per cent. These are some of the figures now in the hands of Congressman Loren Fletcher, who is urging an appropriation for a new postoffice for Minneapolis.
