SNOW SENDS SENATORS BACK TO THE CAVES

Columbus, Ohio, March 21.—Nell park is blatted with two feet of snow and all training plans for the senators have been upset. Manager Clymer will not come until next Monday. The snowing has been a great help to the senators who were to have arrived Friday, have been ordered not to start from home until special notice is received.

KINNEY AND HERRICK DREW.
Janeshville, Wis., March 21.—Steve Kinney of Chicago and Kid Herrick of Rochester, N. Y., fought eight fast rounds to a draw last night but the Kinney was the aggressor. Herrick's footwork saved him from being out. The fight was a real one. Kinney's punches were fierce and several times he slipped and fell to the mat in landing blows, but was on his feet again quickly in each instance.

BIG CELEBRATION FOR ANOKA CHURCH

BAPTISTS ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. L. A. Crandall of Minneapolis Will Preach First Sermon on Sunday, March 25—Historical and Church Days Will Be Features of Meetings and Large Attendance Is Expected.

REV. L. A. CRANDALL, Minneapolis, Who Preaches the First Sermon at Anoka Baptists' Anniversary.

Special to The Journal.
Anoka, Minn., March 21.—Elaborate souvenir programs have been issued by the First Baptist church of this city for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary, March 25 to 30. Anniversary Sunday will open the following program: Morning sermon, "The Church for the Twentieth Century," Rev. L. A. Crandall, Minneapolis; Sunday school address, "Uncle Boston" Smith, Minneapolis; anniversary Christian Endeavor meeting, Mrs. T. G. A. Pease, leader; evening sermon, "A Christian Church: What It Is and What It Stands For," Rev. E. S. Van Ness of Winona.

Historical Day, Tuesday—"Church History," Mrs. G. H. Wyman; church poem, by Mrs. Dora McLeod; church history, Mrs. Gertrude Greenwald; greetings, Rev. E. R. Pope, superintendent of missions, Minneapolis, and resident pastor.

Church Day, Wednesday—Church rally and supper; letters from former members; reminiscences by Major Edward M. Van Duse of St. Paul and members.

Evenings in evangelism: Thursday, sermon by Rev. A. T. Fowler, Minneapolis; Friday, sermon by Rev. L. M. Waterman, Minneapolis. The church in the past fifty years has had thirteen pastors. Rev. Lyman Palmer being the first. Rev. Frederick R. Leach is the present pastor. He has been here since April, 1850. The church was first white and gold, and the large dining hall in the basement of the church will seat all the members at one table for the church and supper.

Mrs. Anna Nogales, living in Ramsey, Anoka county, has sold her large farm and leaves town for her new home. She gave a farewell party Monday afternoon and evening, to which all her neighbors and friends, young and old, were invited. The old folks in the afternoon and the young people in the evening. Mrs. Nogales was born in Boston, coming to Anoka in 1857. She has lived in this country forty-eight years and in this county forty-eight years.

WILL SUE DOBSON ALLEGING SLANDER

Congressman Hull to Claim Damages from Former Iowa State Secretary.

Special to The Journal.
Des Moines, March 21.—Congressman J. A. T. Hull has announced his intention of suing his opponent, George L. Dobson, for exemplary damages for slander because of statements made by the latter in his opening speech in the campaign to defeat Hull for the republican nomination in this district.

"His charges are outrageous and grossly false," said Congressman Hull, "but it is entirely useless for us to stand about calling one another names. I shall not undertake to discuss the matter outside the courts, in all probability, but the truth or falsity of Mr. Dobson's statements can be quickly determined in that tribunal."

"J. Pierpont Morgan gave $20,000 direct to Congressman Hull to nominate him to congress in this district two years ago," declared former Secretary of State George L. Dobson yesterday in one of his sensational accusations against the chairman of the committee on military affairs, in opening his campaign for congress.

Two years ago Dobson was hand and glove with Hull in his fight for renomination, but claims now that Hull went back on him, and he proceeded to make good this threat of exposure.

"Representative Landis and Representative Cooper of Wisconsin went to see Morgan and Rockefeller two years ago for a contribution to the national campaign fund," said Dobson. "I have already given $20,000," declared Morgan.

"Who to?" they asked.

"The man we see, was it? Oh, yes, the man who built an army post in Des Moines, Hull it was."

Babcock's Name Mentioned.
Washington, March 21.—Representative Babcock is said to figure in the story told by Dobson of Iowa concerning an alleged "hold up" for a campaign contribution of $20,000 from J. P. Morgan. While it is true that the men who went to Morgan for help for the campaign committee were Representatives Landis and Cooper, others here, who maintain that they know the details, insist that Babcock and Hull were the men who really obtained the contribution. Whether this subscription was to be turned over to the campaign committee or used by Babcock and Hull in their own contests at home is conjectured.

DAYTONS SHOW MANY HATS AND GOWNS

The display of dainty hats aroused the greatest admiration for everything from the imported to the simple street hat was shown. The spring modes show a decided tendency to the dainty, pastel tints and pale blues, pinks, grays, violets and all soft shades are popular. The principal note of color is the American Beauty tint, which is so beautiful in all its variety of shades.

There is a preference to all fine braids and marked reviving of the popular, which was an exceedingly popular in the grandmother days. These soft straws are bent in every conceivable shape and are trimmed profusely with ribbons, feathers and even birds. There is an air of youthful charm in a leghorn and they promise to be exceedingly popular.

The derby hats are in vogue as the sailor, but of such a variety that the plain sailor of former days would never be recognized. The variety has as many names as it has variety of shapes, the French Derby and English leghorn. The derby sailor is one of the newest and receives its name from the crown, which so closely resembles a man's derby hat. The trimmings are exceedingly trimmed, in fact a profusion of trimming is characteristic of all the hats, but they are so artistically arranged that the light, dainty effect is never lost. The trimmings are exceedingly beautiful this season, including the artistic persian ribbons in soft tints, lace applique, flowers and every gauzy material known to the millinery art.

Some beautiful imported hats were shown at Dayton's today. One of white novelty horsehair braid, with round crown, was turned up high on the side with pale pink roses and pink plume as trimmings. Another exquisite hat was of pink Neapolitan braid, with white lace applique around the brim. A big pink braid and a cluster of pink roses were in the back. A dainty white hat and a round crown of white hyacinths, a brim of herculean cloth and lace applique and roses as trimmings. Underneath the flaring brim were Paradise feathers.

Black and white is also exceedingly popular and many charming hats were shown in these colors. A handsome leghorn had trimmings of rose and velvet around the turned-up brim, with roses and a bird of the beautiful rose shade resting underneath.

The short crown gowns was equally as attractive as the hats and also showed distinctive styles and handsome designs.

As with the millinery, the soft pastel shades are to be the most popular of the coming season. The grays, checks and plaids in black and white, and the soft sage green are the leading colors.

Everything shows a profusion of trimming, lace braid and velvet being combined in the street suits, which are of more elaborate design than ever before. The short crown jacket is the leading mode, but the jaunty pony jacket is also popular.

There were some handsome automobile cloaks shown, one being a gray silk moire cravatented, with black velvet buttons and collar. There was a striking black and white plaid traveling coat and a charming white serge coat, with silk braid and lace trimmings.

A circular skirt in black and white silk plaid attracted attention and ad-

MILWAUKEE IN DEAL WITH MONTANA ROAD

Special to The Journal.
Lewiston, Mont., March 21.—On authority that is said to be of the best, it is announced that the Milwaukee railway has secured control of the Montana railway, and will use a portion of this road to form a link in the transcontinental line it is building. The route of the Milwaukee road thru Montana is said authoritatively to have been decided upon. The road will first strike Miles City and then, running in a northerly direction to Musselshell, will there cross the river and take up the grade selected by the Montana railway survey party and continue to about Harlowton. From that point the Montana railway will be used to Lombard, the balance of the line from Harlowton to Lewiston being used as a branch line. The grade from Harlowton west will be greatly reduced and new steel will probably be laid. From Lombard, the Milwaukee will be built on to Butte and thence westward.

Public announcement of the purchase of the Montana railway may not be made by the railway officials for some time, but the fact is apparently well authenticated. The Montana railway extends from Lombard to Lewiston a distance of approximately 150 miles, running thru Fergus, Meagher and the northern part of Gallatin counties.
