"Life is not long enough for a coquette to play all her tricks in."—Addison.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Miller and William Wood took place at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Miller, in the Franklin Heights. About one hundred and fifty guests were present at the service, which was read by Rev. J. E. Bushnell. Palms and Easter lilies formed an altar in the parlor, and in the reception hall and living room hanging baskets and trailing vines furnished a tangle of green. In the dining room the decorations were in pink, with a large cluster of La France roses on the bridal table. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe de chine with Irish lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her veil was held in place with a sunburst of opals. Mrs. E. C. Mattison was the matron of honor and wore white Paris mill over white and her flowers were white tulips. William McCormick was the best man. During the ceremony and the reception hour a string orchestra played a program of nuptial music. At the informal reception which followed, Mr. and Mrs. Wood were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. William Wood, Sr., and Messrs. William Laird, Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. Wood left in the evening on an extended wedding trip.

The house committee of the Minikahda club has planned an attractive affair for Saturday evening, when there will be a dinner and bridge tournament at the club. There has been so much enthusiasm over the affair that there should be a long list of entries. The affair will informally open the club, which has been practically closed the last few weeks for spring cleaning and alterations.

Miss Gertrude Satterlee and Howard White Yexa, whose marriage will take place this month, were charmingly entertained at dinner last evening by Mrs. A. S. Brooks at her home on Park avenue. The young men at the dinner were mostly members of the Lambda Sigma fraternity and the appointments were carried out in the colors of the fraternity, white and blue. The centerpiece was of narcissus and at each place was a large bunch of blue violets. Covers were laid for twelve. Stanley Brooks, who is home for the Easter vacation from Newark, Conn., was among the guests. Mrs. Brooks will give the bridal dinner Saturday evening, April 21, for Miss Satterlee and Mr. Yexa.

About twenty-five of the Iota Beta Phi girls, a Central high school sorority, are having a jolly houseparty at Minnetonka this week. They went out Monday and are occupying two cottages at Fairview. The occupants of one cottage are known as "the Cambodians" and of the other are called "the fairies." They will all return to town Saturday.

Miss E. A. Jamme and a number of visiting nurses formed a luncheon party at Donaldson's tea rooms yesterday. Covers were laid for eight. After luncheon the party went to the semi-annual meeting of the Minnesota Nurses' association.

The Misses Mabel and Helen Hannay of St. Hilare are the guests of Miss Alice Brown at her home on Ninth avenue N. Miss Brown gave an informal luncheon Saturday in honor of her guests.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dahl celebrated their silver wedding Sunday evening at their home, 810 Twenty-second avenue S. About fifty friends joined in the festivities. A number of handsome gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Dahl.

The marriage of Miss Viola Sherman and James Ryan was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Andrew Nelson, 509 Seventh avenue N., Monday at high noon. Rev. Lafayette L. Thompson read the service in the presence of a small group of relatives and friends. The

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had terrible trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

bride wore a gown of creamy white over white silk, and her flowers were bride roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan went to Woodbury farm, Lake Minnetonka, where they will live.

Miss Hilda Anderson and Carl L. Marsh were married Monday evening at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. G. L. Morrill, 3856 Tenth avenue S.

For New State Laws

At the annual meeting of the Minnesota Nurses' association, held yesterday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. building, Mrs. Alexander Colvin of St. Paul the president, gave an address in which she emphasized the fact that the present object of the association is to present a bill before the legislature next fall which will provide for the registration of nurses, so that the graduate nurses will be able to work under the protection of the state laws. It is not intended to exclude non-graduate nurses from the field, but simply to give the proper value to the service of the graduate nurses. Mrs. Colvin and Miss Ida Cannon, the state secretary, spoke on the "Hourly Nurse."

Miss Bertha Ericman, superintendent of the nurses' training school at the city hospital, told of the training schools in the state. She gave statistics from fourteen of such schools, the Swedish, Northwestern, St. Barnabas, Ashbury and city hospitals, Minneapolis; St. Joseph, St. Luke's, Luther, city and county hospitals of St. Paul; St. Luke's, Duluth; city hospital, Stillwater; state hospital, St. Peter; state hospital, Rochester; Northern Pacific hospital, Brainerd. These hospitals give a three years' training course, except the Stillwater hospital, which gives only two years of training. About 124 nurses are graduated each year from the schools. Miss Ada Patterson, superintendent of St. Luke's hospital, St. Paul, spoke on "How to Control and Manage a Small Hospital," and Miss Mary Wood, a district nurse of St. Paul, spoke on "Private Nursing."

Monument Chapter. Mrs. C. B. Shove entertained Monument chapter, D. A. R., this afternoon at her home on Hawthorn avenue at a tea. The affair was one of a series by which the chapter is raising a fund for Continental Memorial hall in Washington, and during the afternoon the women tied comforters. Red and white roses and carnations made a simple and attractive decoration of the rooms and after the work was finished light refreshments were served. Mrs. Shove was assisted by Miss Mary Shove.

A Club Outing. The Elective Study club had a delightful outing yesterday. About seventeen of the members went over to St. Paul in the morning after a visit to the state capital Mrs. Russell E. Lawrence entertained the club at luncheon at her home on Avon street. The appointments were in yellow and white, and luncheon and refreshments were a pretty centerpiece. In the afternoon the regular program was taken up and Mrs. A. M. Harrison and D. H. Wright read papers on "Hamlet."

Ramblers Join Federation. At a meeting of the Ramblers yesterday, the secretary, Mrs. Milton O. Nelson, read a communication from the general secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, announcing that the Ramblers had been made members of the general federation.

Sunday School Teachers. The Graded Union of Sunday School Teachers will meet tomorrow evening, Y. W. C. A. assembly hall. Mrs. Norman Wilde will give a talk on "Reaching the Boys." The primary section will be in charge of Mrs. Milton O. Nelson. Miss Olga will teach the junior class and Misses Bryant and Turnbull the beginners. Miss Beatrice Longfellow will present songs. The normal lesson will be given by Miss L. A. Emery at 2:30 p.m. on "Messiah's Ministry."

NORTHWEST WEDDINGS. LA CROSSE, WIS.—Charles Ellis and Elizabeth Paas were united in marriage yesterday by Judge Brindley. The marriage of Miss Clara O'Brien and Henry Hocking took place last night at the home of the bride's parents. Marriage licenses have been issued to Albert Lister M. and Miss M. of the village of Bangor, and to Charles Temple of Onalaska and Miss May Cover of West Salem.

HIGHWAYMEN HANGED. Aldworth's Gruesome Relic—An Old Yew Tree Used as a Gallows. London Graphic.

The little village of Aldworth, which is close to Streatham-on-Thames, possesses one of the largest yew trees in England, and which has a gruesome history. This yew tree is nine yards in circumference, and hanging from one of the lower branches is an ancient rusty chain, in which the lifeless bodies of the daring highwaymen of the Berkshire downs have swung to and fro as a warning to their fellows.

In the church itself—the yew tree is in Aldworth churchyard—are a number of large earthen tombs, representing members of the De la Beche family, who held a castle in this neighborhood in the fourteenth century. The De la Beches were reputed giants and gigantesques, and if the recumbent figures which represent them are at all accurate, they must have been an extraordinary family.

THE BOOK OF PSALMS. Best-Known Book in the World—Appeals to Common Religious Feeling. London Spectator.

The book of Psalms is perhaps the best-known book in the world. No other portion of the Bible speaks to us, as it were, with a more homely charm which commends it at once to the affections. Critics and theologians have discussed in endless volumes its interpretation and its authority, but neither controversy nor controversy much affects the countless multitudes who have the psalter. It is not a book of dry and curious intellects, but with yearning hearts. What they seek in it is not learning but simple truths which make their constant and irresistible appeal. And they do so, they go home to the heart, because they come so directly from the heart. They have the inspiration which is not less divine because it seems so so much more human, because it seems so so much a message communicated from without as an outflowing from the deepest springs of being, or a revelation of thoughts written on the heart itself by the very "finger of God."

ROOSEVELT-LONGWORTH

A Copy of Combined Family Escutcheon as a Gift for the President.

New York World.

Washington—President Roosevelt has received an illuminated copy of the combined escutcheons of Nicholas Longworth and his bride. The combination—"Impalement" is the heraldic term for it—was made after some research, by Alfred Rodway, F. R. H. S., an expert in heraldry of Birmingham, England. The shield, of course, exemplifies the union of two very ancient families—the Longworths, originally from Longworth, in the county of Lancaster, England, and the Roosevelts, descended from Claes Murtenzen Van Roosevelt, who migrated from Holland to New Amsterdam in 1651. The motto is particularly happy at the moment, "Fidele pour toujours" ("Faithful always").

The Longworth arms show on a silver shield, three black dragons' heads, Y, "couped," out of evenly. The Roosevelt arms are three red roses on a green hillock. The crest is a bear's head, "couped," holding in the mouth a sword "proper"—having its natural colors.

Mr. Rodway executed for the World the arms of the late President McKinley and Mr. McKinley utilized the expert's sketches. Mr. Rodway has been in this country when Richard Mansfield revived "King Henry V." at the Garden theater in New York in October, 1900. Mr. Rodway came over with his wife to see that the scenery, costumes, arms and standards in the play were accurate in every heraldic detail. Mr. Rodway, besides being a Fellow of the Royal Historical society of England, is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Northern Antiquarians of Denmark and a member of the American Historical society, the Antiquarian Society of Canada and the Royal Italian Academy of Heraldry.
