GREAT WESTERN BALKS

STICKNEY ROAD JOINS OTHERS IN DEMANDING READJUSTMENT OF RATES TO COLORADO.

The Great Western proves to be another factor in the summer tourist rate agitation. No line would be his hard, it is pointed out, in case the Western Passenger association's passenger rate discrimination against the northwest in favor of Colorado is removed.

One railroad man who was interviewed on the subject disposed of it in a logical and concise manner. He said: "Who wants to go to Texas in hot weather?"

The Rock Island's home in announcing that weekly homeseeker's rates to the southwest for the summer to offset the action of the Soo line in the northwest, does not attract much attention, altho on its surface the question is a big one.

NEAR VESUVIUS

HOME FOLKS FEAR FOR TRAVELERS' SAFETY.

Actual Danger to Tourists is Believed to Be Remote, but Friends Anxiously Await Direct Word from Those Who Are Known to Be In or Around Naples.

A nervous tremor was felt in Minneapolis when reports began coming yesterday of the panic in Naples. So long as Vesuvius wrought its ruins along the slopes and towards the west and south, no fear for Naples seemed warranted, but with the collapse of the market building in the city and the heavy losses of life, anxious inquiry turned towards Minneapolis men and women in Europe, some of them in southern Italy.

The Piper party were found to be in no danger, for their members had left Naples March 17, and were heard from in Rome March 19, and as it was the intention of Mr. Piper to tour France by automobile, it is certain they are far away from Vesuvius by this time. The party comprises Mr. and Mrs. George F. Piper, Mrs. G. M. Stone and Miss Franta Soule.

In Central Italy. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eliel have been in central Italy, and are probably in Florence at this time. Mr. and Mrs. George Bagley and Ralph Bagley arrived in Naples March 30. Rev. M. D. Shutter was with them in Naples as late as April 4, when they left for Florence. They are travelers long ago who have been in the Mediterranean countries before, and no fear is entertained of their ability to take care of themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Peavey, who last heard from were at the Italian lakes, and were expected to go to the Riviera. In a former year Mr. and Mrs. Peavey went north by automobile from Naples and it is certain they will not go to Naples at the present time.

Mr. H. F. Douglas and Miss Marion Douglas were in Naples, and were expected to advise Mr. Douglas, in Minneapolis, and nothing having been received they are known to be safe and are likely to be heard from shortly, at Rome or elsewhere.

Planned Naples Visit. J. T. Barnum and Miss Barnum, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gregory and son arrived in Naples, March 29, and as they expected to remain there several days, as tourists always do, their eyes were on the beautiful bay, they must have witnessed the beginning of the eruption last week. T. B. Janney and C. B. Lyon were in Naples within ten days and surely caught a glimpse of the smoke that billowed over the volcano, an omen of the terrible disaster that was to follow.

SALOON LID FIGURES IN A DAMAGE SUIT

Is Thelander Johnson's mental derangement the result of blows struck by E. G. Dennell or the result of religious fervor?

This is the question that the jury in the case of Johnson vs. Dennell, now on trial before Judge F. V. Brown, will be asked to decide, and upon the answer depends the plaintiff's chances to get the $5,000 damages that he asks.

Johnson claims he was beaten and bruised by Dennell and then thrown out in the alley to suffer alone. Dennell keeps a beer store. He alleges this action was taken without any provocation and that he has been physically and mentally incapacitated thereby.

The facts as adduced tend to show that the plaintiff was attempting to hold some sort of a religious meeting in the saloon, and that Dennell objected to Johnson's support of Mayor Jones' "lid" policy. Words were followed by the use of physical force, and Johnson was sent to jail.

80 HORSES IN PERIL IN A STABLE FIRE

A valuable horse owned by C. E. Eichler was suffocated in a fire that started early this morning in George Miller's ivory stable at 1308 First avenue S.

The fire itself amounted to nothing, and eighty other horses in the place were taken out without injury. The night watchman discovered the fire as he was making his rounds. He opened the door to the wash rack and was nearly overcome by the dense smoke that rolled out. He immediately turned in an alarm and the department was called.

The flames were confined to one stall in the rear of the barn and were extinguished in less than five minutes by the chemical apparatus alone. Most of the firemen turned their attention to getting the horses out of the smoke.

The horse belonging to Mr. Eichler was found dead in the stall, but had not been burned. Smoke alone had caused his death.

The origin of the fire is a mystery and the only explanation offered is that someone dropped a match in the stall and the horse stepped on it, starting the blaze.

MAYOR OUTLINES BILLIARD POLICY

EXECUTIVE HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH POOLROOM MANAGERS.

In Heart to Heart Talk General Conditions Leading to Application of "Lid" Last Sunday Are Discussed, and Rules Suggested to Which Cues Men Heartily Agree.

Mayor David P. Jones has formulated a policy for the regulation of the poolroom evil and will issue it to the thirty or more poolroom keepers in the city. The policy will be strictly adhered to. He made known his plans today to a delegation of billiard and poolroom managers who not only commended them, but promised willing compliance.

The feeling was cordial on both sides. Mr. Jones informed the delegation that he had never heard a complaint against any of the exclusive billiard and poolrooms downtown. Many abuses had grown up in the so-called poolrooms in the residence districts and the situation had become so bad that in order to bring the matter to a focus the rooms all over the city were closed last Sunday, with the idea of beginning all over again. The Sunday closing was not the essential feature of the movement by any means, he said.

Resorts for Loafers. Many of the poolrooms, he argued, were simply resorts for idle young men and boys. Intoxicating liquors were sold, gambling in some form was permitted, while profane and improper language and boisterous conduct were the rule, not only on Sunday but also on week days. His sole object was to protect the boys, and there was no intention of interfering in any wise with the pleasure of the devotees of the cue.

However, all billiard rooms, no matter where located, would be required to exclude all minors from their rooms at all times, to abstain from the sale of any beverage containing any quantity of alcohol, and to exclude gambling under any guise.

The members of the delegation declared such a regulation would be of the greatest benefit to the legitimate poolrooms. They did not want their places to be known as a rendezvous for minors and loafers; neither did they want to be known as a place where the game of "malt ale" was conducted under any kind of gambling. These regulations were already enforced in the best places and the plans of the mayor would tend to raise the moral tone of all such places and attract the respectable elements of the community.

Question of License. Mr. Jones says that if the dispensers of "malt tonic" and similar preparations are required to buy a license, the same license there is no reason why they should not be required to secure a city license. The license inspector had secured samples of malt tonic containing as high as 4% per cent of alcohol. The city ordinance, however, makes no distinction between any kind of malt preparations.

By some arbitrary rule, preparations with less alcohol content are considered to be non-intoxicating, but under the laws the sale without the necessary license is prohibited and in the future this will be strictly enforced. As a matter of fact, the stuff is called "beer" by the boys and is sold in places and unquestionably much of the noisy and boisterous conduct complained of is caused by too free consumption of the malt preparations.

Billiter is Pleased. "Mayor Jones' policy in regard to the management of billiard and poolrooms is entirely satisfactory to me," said Frank Billiter, proprietor of the billiard rooms of the West End and home hotels. "I think his course has been a wise and good one. My places were closed, as were other public parlors, but if the mayor's action will result in the better management of the billiard rooms of the city, I have no fault to find. The regulations adopted by the mayor are entirely satisfactory to me."

There are no finer games than pool and billiards, and they are being recognized as the gentleman's game all over the world. As a lover of these sports, I like to see them properly managed, and any lover of these games should be of the same way. I am, therefore, glad that the mayor has adopted the better conditions. In the first-class places there will be no change, and where there is a change you may be sure it was needed."

SELL SOME TO DEALERS PRISON TWINE OUTPUT WILL MORE THAN SUPPLY FARMERS' ORDERS.

Prison twine will be sold to dealers this year quite as plentifully as for the first time in several years. Warden Wolfner, who was at the capitol today conferring with Governor Johnson and members of the board of control relative to the prison management, says it is very probable that on May 1 there will be some twine on hand at the prison subject to orders directly from dealers. This will be a departure from the long-established custom of selling twine to the consumer, and is taken to mean a reprisal against the International Cordage company, which recently installed a flax twine plant near St. Paul to combat the prison twine.

"The output of the Stillwater plant this season," said the warden today, "will approximate 13,250,000 pounds. This is quite a considerable increase over former years, and is due to the installation of additional machinery. Quite a portion of the present represents the higher grades of twine. The twine is made into six grades, and while club orders have cut deeply into the total supply, still there will be enough twine produced to care for all small cash orders that may come in direct from the farmers up to the close of the 1906 season, which is generally in this state about Aug. 15. The state plant can care for a moderate number of additional orders, and the probability there will be a surplus on May 1, from which orders direct from dealers in twine will be filled."

SCHOOL CONTRACT LET

Sidney Pratt School Addition to Cost $21,458.

At a special meeting of the board of education yesterday a contract for the construction of an addition to the Sidney Pratt school in Prospect Park was awarded to George W. Brown, his bid of $21,458 being the lowest. Plans for the four-room addition to the Corcoran school at Nineteenth avenue S. and Thirty-fourth street were adopted and bids were called for to be opened next Tuesday afternoon.

Architect E. S. Stebbins reported that he was making progress with the addition to the Corcoran school. The state has secured a continuation for two weeks for the purpose of determining whether to proceed in the probate or district court.

AUTO CLUB NAMES NEW COMMITTEES

GENERAL PLANS FOR FURNISHING ROOMS ARE OUTLINED AND SUGGESTIONS MADE AS TO SCOPE OF SERVICE EXPECTED TO BE RENDERED—MEN ASSIGNED TO SPECIAL SERVICE.

At a meeting at the Plaza last night the board of directors of the Minneapolis Automobile club elected committees for the year and took other important steps toward getting the club into running order for the season.

Owing to the fact that he is burdened with other business, W. F. Brooks tendered his resignation from the board of trustees and it was accepted. Harry E. Pence was elected to fill the vacancy. The no longer an officer, Mr. Brooks, who has wide experience in club management, will co-operate with the directors and house committee in setting the new quarters in order.

Little was done in the matter of furnishing the new quarters in the Plaza, as it was thought best to leave the details to the house committee. A billiard room with two or three tables, a parlor, several card and committee rooms and a buffet were decided upon. It was also decided that one or two attendants, under the direction of a regular secretary, would be necessary in order to get the most out of the rooms. The house committee will at once secure bids on the fittings and furnishings of the rooms, and it is hoped that they will be ready for use soon after May 1.

Personnel of Committees. The committees appointed were five in number. By a new rule, made last night, the committee chairman will act as members of the board of directors with the officers and trustees. The committees are as follows: House Committee—Parker Harding, W. A. Ramsey, Bert Fairchild, T. P. Pease and I. V. Gedney.

Membership Committee—E. J. Conner, chairman; E. L. Brown, Bert Young, George A. Rose and George Feeley.

Roads and Tours Committee—Asa Paine, chairman; George H. Daggett, E. S. Haynes, W. E. Wheeler, L. A. Fawcett, J. A. O'Brien and C. S. Pillsbury.

Laws and Ordinances Committee—E. J. Phelps, chairman; W. Y. Chute and Dr. C. H. Kohler.

Good Roads Committee—F. R. Schoonmaker, chairman; G. A. Will, George W. Cooley, John Leslie and Dr. A. P. Walrath.

Judge Andrew Holt—Default divorce and minor cases. Dickinson—Jury, juvenile and minor chamber matters.

Judge F. V. Brown—Thelander Johnson vs. E. G. Dennell, suit for $5,000 damages for alleged assault, still on trial.

AGE LIMIT IS RAISED PUPILS BETWEEN 6 AND 21 TO COUNT IN SCHOOL APPOINTMENT HEREAFTER.

In figuring school attendance for the purpose of apportioning the funds, pupils between the ages of 6 and 21 years will be counted this year. Under the old law all children over 6 and under 21 years of age were counted. The change is made by the new code.

As the code took effect March 1, after the school year was more than half over, a letting general was asked for an opinion as to which basis should be used. He holds that the code provision should govern. The effect will be to reduce the number of pupils reported, but not the amount distributed, as the ratio will be increased.

The attorney general has also given an opinion on the question of high school examinations. The law allows county superintendents to name assistants for every four townships, so as to make examinations more convenient. Some requests have been made for authority to appoint more assistants and hold examinations for smaller territory, but the opinion holds that superintendents have no discretion. They must follow the law strictly.

CAMPUS FAVORITE NAMED BY 'COEDS'

HONOR FALLS TO HENRY C. MAC-KALL, SENIOR, OF MANKATO.

Receiving 97 out of a possible 500 votes, Henry C. MacKall of Mankato, a university senior, was today declared the campus favorite by the "coeds" of the University Woman's league, and as a result he will receive in the first invitation to the April Woman's league dance, the only league function of the year to which varsity men are eligible.

MacKall's closest competitors were Fred Putnam of Red Wing, certainly a strong contender, and Richard Griggs of Virginia, Minn., who was the choice of 90 university girls.

The contest is unique on the college campus, and is the result of a determination by the league to break away from tradition and invite the men of the university to at least one of the league spring functions. In their efforts to agree upon an invitation list the girls decided to submit a list containing the names of ten university men whom she wished invited to the function.

As a result the plan developed into an interesting contest, in which the university political history. Interest centers around the contest for managing editor, and as E. A. Robinson, one of the candidates, is backed by a student faction favoring a revolution in the editorial policy of the paper, interest in the contest is not confined to students.

Edward Hall and William Hubbard are two other aspirants to the managing editorship. Both of these men are at present associate editors on the Daily staff, while Robinson has never worked on the college paper.

For the position of business manager, Frank Lyon, at present business manager of the Alumnus Weekly, is the only announced candidate and his choice will probably be unanimous. Nine students are to be chosen to the Daily governing board and the candidates are: Leonard C. Kendrick, C. Calhoun, Edward F. Swenson, C. W. Norton, George Uzzell, Alexander Barclay, G. W. Damon, George Earl, David M. Strang, Algernon Colby and Kenneth McManigal.

Forensic Society to Expand. Professor E. E. McDermott of the university faculty will leave on Friday for Chicago, where he will attend a meeting of representatives from Michigan, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Chicago, Illinois and Northwestern, called to organize an intercollegiate forensic honor society. The organization if perfected will be in debating circles what Phi Beta Kappa is in literary circles, and membership in the society will be limited to men who have participated in intercollegiate debate and oratory.

The plan originated in Minnesota, where a local forensic league has already been organized. The idea of extending the scope of the league's work and organizing an intercollegiate society has been well received by the universities of the west.

COACHMAN IS KILLED BY KICK OF A HORSE

Mason McElroy, coachman for F. B. Snyder, 915 Sixth street SE, was kicked by a horse and instantly killed yesterday afternoon while preparing for the usual Saturday family drive. The body was found by a servant who went to the barn to find out why the rig was not ready.

McElroy had been told to harness the horse and bring some work. He was found lying at the feet of one of the horses and the harness was still unhooked. Deputy Coroner Irvine was called, and a post mortem was held at the county morgue, showing that the man's breastbone and one rib had been fractured and his heart ruptured. Death had been instantaneous. McElroy was a cousin to Dr. C. E. Lee of St. Paul.

GAY MR. VAUGHAN IS FOUND GUILTY

FORMER GRAIN BROKER OF FENDEED UNCLE SAM.

Edward A. Vaughan, heard of the brokerage firm which came to a skyrocket finish about a year ago, after doing a grain business which amounted to thousands of dollars a day, was this afternoon found guilty by a jury in the United States district court of using the mails to defraud.

The arrest of Vaughan was made in Denver last winter after he had been a fugitive from justice for months, and his trial, which lasted several days, was hard fought by both the government prosecutor and the attorney for the defense.

It is estimated that by marking letters addressed to the E. A. Vaughan company as "fraud" and returning them to senders, the post office inspectors saved the people throughout the northwest at least $250,000.

Authorities at the Minneapolis post-office today announce that at least 10,000 letters to Vaughan had been withheld from delivery. These letters were all in response to circulars which the company had circulated, and almost every one of them contained remittances of money. It is conservative to say that the average of these remittances for investment was $25, and this figure makes the total $250,000. The postoffice officials believe that the fraudulent operators secured in actual cash and took away with them $50,000 to $75,000.

Yesterday afternoon the attorneys concluded their addresses, Homer Morris, Vaughan's attorney, making a strong plea for sympathy in view of the theory that Vaughan was but a dupe of others.

This morning Judge Page Morris made his charge to the jury, which consisted of five men and four women. He called attention to the opening of the case of the government against William Kendrick, charged with raising two $1 bills, one to $10 and one to $5.

MAYOR STUDIES LAMPS

Shows Cleveland Street Lamphead for Comparison with Minneapolis Lamps.

Mayor David P. Jones has on exhibition in his office at the city hall a street lamphead with an incandescent attachment. Cleveland buys the same head at $2.25 each. Mr. Jones invites a comparison between this lamphead and those installed in this city by the Patterson Street Lighting company. The lamphead is not equipped with the much-discussed governor, for the use of which the Patterson company added $1 a year on its bid for the lighting in 1905.

Apparently Mr. Jones is preparing to fight over the incandescent lighting contract. In his recent visit to the east he studied street lighting methods at first hand in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland and elsewhere, and at each place the street lighting authorities ridiculed the idea of a governor.

JEFFERSON IDEA

Everybody's Magazine. Joseph Jefferson was a strong believer in early marriages, and he never missed an opportunity to impress his convictions upon young men. In an address at Yale he said: "I abominate bachelors. The older they grow the more conceited they become. I was talking to one and I asked him why he did not marry. He parried the question by telling about different young women he had known, finding some fault with each one. But it appeared that all of them had married. 'You are in danger of getting left,' I said to him. 'You had better hurry up before it is too late.' 'Oh,' said the bachelor, 'there are just as good fish left in the sea.' 'I know that,' I said, 'but the bait isn't there danger of the bait becoming stale?'"

TOO HIGH. "Yes, kissing's often overdone." She answered him: "It's horrid when men ignore the lips of one and kiss one on the forehead." —Philadelphia Press.
